Situation Between Greece and Italy May Provoke Trouble For All European Nation.

THE KOREA GRAB

(By Charles P. Stewart.)

WASHINGTON, Sept. 14.—In the matter of the Greco-Italian dispute the League of Nations seems to have saved its face, anyway.

Italy threatened to quit the league if her Greek policy were interfered with. Yet the league couldn't let Mussolini defy it completely. It would have been too flagrant. Neither could the case be passed upon altogether. It was the first important test of the league. Indications were it would break up entirely if it didn't do something.

So it referred the quarrel to the Council of Ambassadors, consisting of the leading league members' principal diplomats. They've decided Greece must do what Italy demanded, but took some of the sting out of it by so expressing themselves that the Greeks can pretend they're submitting to the league rather than just to Italy.

England made a creditable showing during the league discussion. So did most of the smaller countries, notably the South American. But for France's evident unwillingness to offend Italy, the league might have made a better showing.

Greece is trying now to "pass the buck" to the Albanians, who have practically no friends.

More Trouble Ahead.

A dispute between Italy and Jugoslavia (Greater Serbia) is likely next. Each country thinks she ought to have Fiume. Mussolini proposed a compromise form of government of the city. Jugoslavia doesn't like it. Negotiations haven't yet been broken off, but they're likely to be any minute.

It isn't so much of the policy of Italy, as a nation, but of the irresponsible personal ambition of Mussolini that Europe is most afraid.

Mine Strike Over?

Indications are that the hard coal strike's ended—nearly.

Mine owners and miners have accepted the compromise Governor Pinchot of Pennsylvania proposed.

They were at work over the week-end drafting a new agreement. The rank and file of the workers will have to ratify it but it's almost certain they'll do so.

It isn't a permanent settlement, however,—just postpones the evil day.

Good From Evil.

In one respect the Japanese disaster did good.

Trouble was simmering between this country and Japan. It might have come to a boil, but there was danger.

Now, from sympathy with the Japanese on American's part, and from freely expressed gratitude on the part of the Japanese for America's prompt and liberal aid, it's likely this danger will be removed, at least for years to come.

Koreans Are Blamed.

It isn't ordinarily at a moment of great natural disaster that political discontent manifests itself, but it's doing so in Japan. It's said to be very serious. Koreans are blamed. The Japanese brought this on themselves by their grab of Korea and their government's methods there, but it's a terrible time for them to have to answer for it.

In the Ruhr.

French papers — not so much those in Germany—keep hinting at progress toward settlement of the Ruhr difficulty. According to rumor, French and German "big business" men are arriving at an agreement. If so, there's hope of an end to the trouble, for it's been a business dispute from the start.

RECOGNITION FOR CHAMPION TEAMS

A meeting of the City League committee appointed to arrange a suitable recognition of the exploits of the various winners in the different series of the League, together with representatives of the Rotary Club and the Kiwanis Club, the Belmont Club, the Curlers and other similar organizations will be held in the Chamber of Commerce on Friday, Sept. 21. This meeting should be largely attended.

One of the books we would like to see written is "How to Be Happy Though a Reformer."

FINE WEATHER TODAY FAVOURED EXHIBITION

Great Interest Manifested in Live Stock Exhibitions -- Judging of Sheep, Dairy Cattle and Heavy and Light Horses

DIRECTORS PLEASED

Peterborough's Industrial Exhibition went over the top this morning for the biggest day this year. The weather, while cool, was much better than yesterday, and the attendance was correspondingly increased. Directors and all who are interested in the success of the Fair rejoiced when the crowds started arriving today. Given good weather to-day and to-morrow the success of this year's exhibition will eclipse all previous years.

Judging of sheep, dairy cattle and heavy and light horses was carried out under much better conditions than yesterday, and great interest was shown by the visitors in the live stock exhibits.

Exhibition Notes.

Jumbo arrived at the Fair yesterday; Canada's biggest steer, with his height of six feet, his girth of ten and a half feet, and his weight of 3,170 pounds. Jumbo is very good-natured and a great favorite with the lad who has travelled all the way from Western Canada with him, and the men who look after his comfort. He doesn't care for Eastern hay and longs for the coarse straw of the Western prairie. He is four and a half years old, and bears the mark of the Bar C, Lazy P ranch of Wainwright, Alberta. When he went to the abbattoir to be converted into meat, they couldn't bear to kill him, and they found that he was Canada's biggest steer. Next year, he goes to the World's Fair in England, as an example of what Canada can do in the beef cattle line. In the meantime, his owners will try to put another six or seven hundred pounds onto his huge, towering frame.

Kokonimo has a half-dozen favorite snakes with him this year. There are two rattlers, a beautifully-marked diamond back and a horn rattler; a South American water mocassin, a six-foot long "blue racer," shedding its outer coat, a whip snake and a "bull" snake, mild and inoffensive, curving about its owner's arm with forked tongue darting in and out. In a box are the rattler's eggs, soft white things with crushed shells, each containing two or three small venemous things.

"Guess the weight of this Marshall mattress and get one free" is the tempting wording of the card outside the Turnbull Company's corner section in the Main Building. The mattresses shown have a very attractive appearance, offering possibilities of reposeful, softly-cushioned rest. The entire section is given over to the Marshall ventilated product, with its advertised qualities of never sagging, or spreading, or getting hard. It has sanitary tape bows to replace the old "dust-collecting tufts," and each spring is in a separate corrugated pocket of cotton. The springs are of a deeper type than generally employed, and the ticking is a special grade of fawn and white stripe.

"Made in Canada" features the advertising of this mattress, also of the Simmons beds on which they rest. These are single specimens with the appearance of solid mahogany, but they are really composed of steel, with mahogany finish. On them the mattresses are shown, with covers cut to show the filling, downy and soft.

There are various types of filling, shown in cut sections on a high stand, the cotton, with hair top, the spring-filled, the Marshall felt, the Marshalldown, with its roll edge feature that prevents sagging and spreading, and the "Chemong," the variety made especially for the J. C. Turnbull Company by the manufacturers, and named after Chemong Park and Lake.

A dainty damsel with coal-black hair, whose pyjama suit of apricot silk, touched with black, appears a little inadequate, considering the weather, reclines on the floor, lazily studying a fashion magazine, in the bedroom setting of the Cressman Company's exhibit at the Fair. In the Main Building, many passers-by pause to regard the dainty suite and its owner, whose light dressing-gown of red and blue shot silk with tiny ruffled edges, waits near her hand.

The perfectly-appointed bedroom is done in grey and blue. French grey, picked out with blue, is the color of the dainty set, the walls are done in panels of Belgian blue, flecked with gold, and the lady rests on a pretty blue and grey rug.

Swiss muslin curtains with blue dots drape the windows, flanked by lambrequins of grey and blue flowered chintz. A tall Oriental vase of Pompeian red with bouquet of red

WILHELM CUNO AT NEW YORK

Former German Chancellor Declares Germany Can Pay No More Than Last Sum Offered.

NEW YORK, September 14 (Canadian Press). — Germany can pay no more than 30 billion gold marks in reparations, the sum offered in the last proposal made by Berlin, Dr. Carl Joseph Wilhelm Cuno, former German Chancellor, declared to-day on his arrival here for a trip of several weeks in this country.

"Germans realise that Germany lost the war and that Germany, therefore, must pay for the war," he said. "Germany is willing to pay to the limit of her capacity. Life in the Ruhr districts, the industrial heart of Germany, is at a standstill."

Dr. Cuno, who is now president of the council of the Hamburg-American Line, said he was visiting the United States for the fourth time as a private citizen, and as a shipping man.

"The sole business of my trip," he said, "is to renew personal and business relations with my American friends. I have no connection with politics, which I definitely left behind when I resigned the office of Chancellor."

ANNUAL RISE SUGAR PRICE

Wholesale Cost Increases Daily During Fruit Season--Retail Will Follow

Sugar is rising rapidly in price with the arrival of the canning season, dealers in the city inform the Examiner to-day. During the last week the wholesale price has jumped to $10.57. It was as low as $9.25.

This is the periodical rise that takes place when fruit is at its best for preserving, and now, with the fruit stores stocked with the finest Crawford peaches, all classes of plums and greengages, general favorites for winter use, the price is steadily advancing.

Raw sugar, one dealer declared, is as high now as it ever was, and prospects are that refined sugar will continue to increase. He advised the buying of all sugar needed for preserving at the earliest moment in order to get ahead of the rising market.

Retailers are selling sugar in Peterboro at less than to-day's wholesale price, they having laid in stocks at the low price. When they buy more stocks, however, they will necessarily increase the retail price.

THE WEATHER.

The thermometer was down to 33 degrees this morning, the lowest this fall, and overcoats and sweaters are once more being brought into use. Soon the trees will take on their beautiful autumnal tints, and the whole countryside will be ablaze with gorgeous hues, colours so brilliant that if we saw them depicted on a canvas by the brush of an artist, we would probably say that he had exaggerated the scene. Warmer and more pleasant weather is coming, and with a few more agreeable days we will forget about our late taste of winter.—W.P.

Glasgow Will See Enormous Exodus Next Two Weeks

LONDON, September 14 (Canadian Press). — Glasgow will witness an unparalleled exodus during the next two weeks of Scottish emigrants, for more than 10,000 are booked to sail during that period.

Canada is the destination of the great majority, including a large number of farmers.

The majority of the engineers and steel workers are headed for the United States.

LLOYD GEORGE LEAVING HOME SEPTEMBER 29

Not Coming to Canada on a Lecture Tour, But to Complete Education.

TO VISIT AMERICA

LONDON, Sept. 14.—With a great past behind him and convinced that there is a great future before him, David Lloyd George, England's war Premier, hopes to sail for America on September 29. He wants to complete his education. He wants to see that America concerning which he has read so much.

"America" to Lloyd George means both the United States and Canada. He has never forgotten the Canuck soldiers, nor the American doughboys. And he wants to see the two countries in which those fighting men were brought up. He is one of the outstanding British statesmen who believe the future of the world largely depends upon what the United States and the British Empire do.

Despite his undoubted long-standing desire to make this trip, the whole thing is contingent upon circumstances. If relations between England and France have become even more critical than they are now, or if it looks as if there would be a political crisis in Parliament, L. G. will cancel all engagements and stay right here on the job.

But if the political and international barometer is set "fair" he will go to America. Parliament meets November 13 and he will have to arrange his trip accordingly.

Lectures? Oh, No!

"L. G." is not going over on a lecture tour. He will deliver no talks for money. So far as possible he will not talk at all. He wants to see and hear.

But he will probably not be able to see either our or the Canadian far west. He will land in New York and go directly to Montreal, where he will make his first set speech. It will be a formal acknowledgment of the splendid part Canada played in the war.

Other Canadian cities to be visited will be Ottawa, Toronto and Winnipeg. It is expected he will address the World's Brotherhood Congress in Toronto.

American cities on his list will probably be Minneapolis, St. Paul, Chicago, Springfield, Ill., Indianapolis, Pittsburgh, Washington, Richmond, Philadelphia, Scranton and New York. Detroit, St. Louis, Cleveland and Kansas City may be added.

Speeches Here, Too.

Two big set speeches probably on world affairs will be made by him in Chicago and New York. Springfield, associated forever with the name of Lincoln, will be the scene of a speech on that immortal. He may motor from Springfield to Indianapolis in order to see a typical American farming region of our middle west.

Richmond is chosen because it was the capital of the Confederacy and is the only typical southern town within easy reach. In Washington he will visit President Coolidge and former President Wilson.

He wants to see Pittsburgh because the steel metropolis was so important a factor in making munitions for Britain during the war and Scranton because it has probably the biggest Welsh population in America.

He will be accompanied by Dame Lloyd George, his wife, and Miss Megan, his youngest child, who is a great pal of her father's.

SAVED $150 BY PURCHASING HERE

So Toronto Man Says Who Won Dollar Day Prize

Peterborough stores and Peterborough's Dollar Day received a boost in the following excerpt from a letter written to the Examiner by D. F. Butchart of Toronto:

Sept. 5th., 1923.

Peterborough Examiner,
Peterborough, Ont.

Dear Sirs,—I bought some furniture that I saw in the window of McBride and Franks amounting to $675.00 while I was driving through your city. It looks much better and I feel that I have saved about $150.00 by buying in Peterborough. I understand there were some prizes given by your paper for Dollar Day and they have advised me that I won six dollars."

Cost $5,000,000,000 To Rebuild Destroyed Tokio and Yokohama

TOKIO, Japan, September 14 (Canadian Press). — It is estimated that the cost of reconstruction work in Tokio and in Yokohama as a result of the earthquake and fire, will approximate 10 billion yen (5 billion dollars).

A nation-wide syndicate of bankers has been organised to assist the Government in rebuilding the devastated area, and the empire is asked to devote all surplus funds for this purpose.

The banking syndicate announces that it will raise the additional money required for reconstruction by local and foreign loans.

The Bank of Japan, insurance companies, and the public have contributed 50 million yen toward relief.

Plans for feeding and housing the refugees have been completed, and the Government and people are now devoting all their efforts to a great reconstruction campaign.

BOY OF 9 YEARS WINNER OF HAM

Nineteen in Yesterday's Competition Tied, Drawing of Blanks Gives Prize to Edmon Boyler

There must be quite a number of really clever judges of weight in Peterborough city and county for of the entrants in the Canadian Packing Company's competition in the Manufacturers' Building at the Exhibition, no less than nineteen estimated the ham's weight at 18 pounds, yesterday, and 18 pounds was the correct figure at which this prize ham tipped the scales.

As on the previous day the winner was decided by an impartial drawing of the tied estimating blanks resulting in this second selected "Rose Brand" dainty going to Edmon Boyler, a little chap of 9 summers, living in Otonabee township.

The ham was weighed by Leo Black, a South City butcher.

Again this evening and all day to-morrow this estimating competition will continue, one ham each day being awarded successful contestants.

BANKS REQUIRE EXACT DETAILS

Are Willing to Finance Wheat that Pool Board Has at Lake Front.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press).—The fifteen million dollars mentioned in reports from Calgary last night as having been offered by banks to finance the operations of the Alberta wheat pool represents the maximum amount mentioned by the pool representative in negotiations in Winnipeg with the Bankers' Association, according to a prominent member of the association. He stated that the banks would be quite willing to do business with the Alberta pool in the way of financing any wheat that the Pool Board might have at the lake front at Fort William, provided, of course, that proper assurances of protection in the matter of credit were given by the pool authorities.

Before any definite arrangement would be entered into, however, the exact position with regard to elevators, personnel of the actual management of the pool and of the board of directors would have to be set forth.

The Examiner Has Bulletin Service on the Big Fight

Firpo and Dempsey are scheduled to enter the ring in New York to-night at 8.30, and the Examiner has arranged to obtain a direct telegraph report of the bout round by round. Extensive arrangements have been made to bulletin this, both at the Examiner Office and at the Exhibition Grounds. Fight fans can also obtain news of the bout by telephone.

When asking for information by telephone, if fans will remember to make their requests snappy it will assist greatly in the service. Call 1600 or 1601.

DEMONSTRATION FARM IN PETERBORO COUNTY

Peterboro Fair Directors and Kiwanis Club at Noon Luncheon on Fair Grounds Today, COOPERATION NEEDED

Lindsay, September 14.
R. Denne, Pres. of the Peterboro Exhibition:

Can't get down to Peterboro for your winter fair. My coon skin coat is still in hock. I don't expect to need it up here for a long time. Put on your Palm Beach next week and come up and enjoy California weather at the biggest exhibition outside of Toronto. Hear you have a good show, but we get the money. John Carew, President of Lindsay Fair Board. Our directors extend condolences to poor old Peterboro!

The foregoing telegram was one of two received by President R. Denne at a joint meeting at noon today of the Peterboro fair directors and the Peterboro Kiwanis Club. Just why the Lindsay President selected this happy and auspicious occasion to remind the directors of their hard luck was not explained, but any gloom it might have created was speedily dispelled, and later when some of the speakers predicted the early centralization of fairs with Peterborough as the main fair of the Midland district, Lindsay was eliminated with the rest of the smaller fairs. Another telegram also addressed to President Denne and originating from the same mysterious source, was signed "Renfrew," which left the supposition that it was from the heir to the throne. The sender expressed regret at being absent from the Peterboro fair, and concluded by inviting Tom Brown, Harry Webber and W. Steinkrauss, all fair directors, to spend a few days on the western ranch.

Getting away from the comedy it was a real family gathering with the honors about even. The members of the Kiwanis Club found out what it means to be a fair director and become personally responsible for a six thousand dollar note in the bank, representing a fair board liability, and on the other hand the Fair directors were assured by President J. A. McKone of the Kiwanis Club that the club would cooperate in every way possible to make the work of the Fair Board a success.

The luncheon was held in the St. James Church dining tent on the Exhibition Grounds and the thanks of both organizations are extended to the ladies who provided the excellent service, for the occasion. The preliminaries included a duet by Fire Chief George Gimblett and Reg. Turner that was so bad that President McKone threatened to call the police. The damage was partly repaired by Kiwanian Joe Wearing who sang a eulogy of Peterboro, which was followed by a song from Bert Caldwell, whose work in the community singing on the Exhibition grounds each day, is a feature of the show. Mr. Caldwell led the gathering in a little sing-song and then polished off the remander of the musical program with a couple of excellent solos.

In a two-minute address President McKone referred to the Peterboro Fair as one of the four national fairs of Ontario. The other three are London Toronto and Ottawa. The speaker accused the Fair Board of appropriating the Kiwanis motto 'We Build" and concluded by pledging the support of the Kiwanis Club.

Appeal for Co-operation

President Denne of the Fair Board followed with an appeal for co-operation. He spoke of the interest shown by the Kiwanis club and said it was the biggest boost the Fair had received this year. A few years ago the Fair Board started without a dollar and to-day the buildings and equipment on the Exhibition Grounds are worth fifty thousand dollars. "We are trying to make it a community effort," said Mr. Denne When the grounds needed ploughing the farmers came in and ploughed them, not for themselves, but for the benefit of the community. The fair has reached such dimensions that it now needs a manager who would be on the job from year to year. Mr. Denne suggested that the comunity get behind Mr. W. H. Bradburn, provincial member for West Peterboro and secure for this district a demonstration farm.

A Centralized Fair

In reply Mr. Bradburn, assured the directors and Kiwanians that he would do whatever he could to place a demonstration farm here, but he could not do it alone. He would need the co-operation of all citizens. "The people, said Mr. Bradburn, should be thankful that Peterboro has such a Fair Board. He recalled the time when the Fair was held in Central Park and sometime, the horsemen

A Man Revered and Loved by Employees Has Passed Away

Mr. James Richard Carter, President of the Nashua Gummed and Coated Paper Company, and Vice-President of the Canadian Nashua Paper Co., died last evening after a long fight against a hopeless illness.

Mr. Carter, while not known personally to many of our Peterborough organization, was a man loved and revered by all his employees, and our companies have suffered a severe loss in his death.

Out of respect to the memory of Mr. Carter the Peterborough mill and office will be closed tomorrow, the 15th.

COAL MUST BE A FAIR PRICE

Mayor Taylor will Advocate Steps to Protect Consumer if Necessary

"They shall not raise the price," is the attitude the City Council of Peterborough will take towards the coal dealers, according to Mayor W. H. Taylor.

He expressed the opinion to-day that there should be no increase in the retail price of coal to consumers in Peterborough as a result of the wage increase to the miners.

The only provision His Worship made was that the dealers must have a fair profit.

The prices of anthracite coal in various sizes laid down in Toronto are:

Nut—$11.85 per ton of 2,000 pounds.

Stove—$11.85 per ton of 2,000 pounds.

Egg—$11.60 per ton of 2,000 pounds.

Even with the sight increase in the cost at the mines due to increased wages, this leaves a very comfortable margin of profit, since the retail price in the city has been $18.00 per ton.

This cost to dealers in Toronto, in the case of nut coal, is made up of the initial cost of the coal, which is $8.40 per gross ton of 2,200, or $7.50 per net ton of 2,000 pounds.

To the $7.50 must be added $2.90 per net ton freight from the mines to the international bridge, and $1.15 from the bridge to Toronto, and 30 cents exchange, making a total of $11.85 per ton. The weight delivered to consumers is the net ton weight of 2,000 pounds.

In Peterborough.

The freight rate from the border to Peterborough is $2.00, and this 85 cents increase added to the cost of coal makes a price of $12.75 per ton to the dealers here.

Mayor Taylor did not say what steps would be taken to protect the consumers. The appointment of a Fuel Controller who would set a fair price is proposed in other cities.

DIED FROM INDIGESTION.

BROCKVILLE, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press.)—Norris Ferguson, aged 43 a farmer at Junetown, was found by his wife in a dying condition in a field in which he had been loading hay, and he died before the physician arrived. Acute indigestion is believed to have been responsible for his death.

REVOLUTIONARY HEAD TO FORM NEW EXECUTIVE

King Alfonso of Spain Charges De Rivera With Task--Will Crush Sedition.

MAY BE CIVIL WAR

MADRID, Spain, Sept. 14.—(United Press).—The King today charged the Barcelona revolutionary leader, Captain General Primo De Rivera, with the formation of a new Government.

A Wild Rumor.

The Paris correspondent of the Central News Agency telegraphed today that a rumor was in circulation in the French capital and Milan saying the King of Spain had been assassinated.

The corresponden added no information was available whereby the rumor could be confirmed or denied.

To Crush Sedition.

A strong Spanish naval squadron has reached Barcelona bearing orders to use the most severe measures if necessary to crush sedition, the Sebastian correspondent of Le Journal telegraphed today.

The correspondent said it was generally believed the revolt would lead to overthrowing of the Government, causing an uprising of the people and resulting in civil war.

Inspired by Hero.

The military revolutionists here today stood firm in their determination to force resignation of the De Alhucemas Government and to free the country from politicians.

Captain General Primo De Rivera, leader of the revolt, issued a new proclamation to the army, saying: "I prefer death to servitude. I am not inspired by the example of the Mussolini leader of the Italian Fascisti, but by our great hero, General Primo.

It was announced the garrisons of Aragon and Newcastille have joined the movement against the De Alhucemas Government.

King Alfonso Arrives.

King Alfonso arrived at 10 a.m. today to take charge of his revolutionborn country.

His Majesty was accorded a tremendous welcome and was received by members of the Government, civil and military authorities. Soon after arrival of the monarch, Premier Marquis De Alhucemas tendered his resignation, because of the King's request for time to consider the Cabinet's demands.

The resignation includes the entire membership of the Cabinet.

Despatch from San Sebastian to Paris states that a Spanish naval squadron has arrived at Barcelona, and it is understood that the Admiral has received drastic orders to put down revolt headed by Captain General Primo Riviera.

All communication by telephone with France has been interrupted since yesterday morning and strictest censorship has been established.

Replace Directory.

Meantime civilians of proved capacity and independent of politics will be sought to form a Cabinet to replace the directory.

The newspaper says that the present programme is to form a Government without Parliament, which will be dissolved. New elections will not be held as long as the present political conditions prevail.

The King was greeted at the railway station by the Captain-General of Madrid, members of the Cabinet, prominent members of the military establishment, and other notables.

Premier Resigned.

In leaving the station, the King proceeded direct to the palace, where he had a conference with Premier Alhusemas.

It is understood that the Premier requested His Majesty to grant the Government facilities for the punishment of military revolters in Barcelona and elsewhere.

The King refused, and the Premier thereupon submitted the resignation of the entire Cabinet.

It is understood that Primo Rivera, Captain-General of Barcelona, and leader of the military movement against the Government, will preside over a directory composed of composed of competent officials, who will assume charge of the various ministries.

Accepts Directorate.

Captain-General Primo Rivera, whom King Alfonso has charged with forming a new Government, declared this afternoon that the King, with whom he conversed by telephone, had accepted a directorate proposed by the military chiefs.

Terrible news for fish in British streams. Great Britain's unemployed is increasing.

TOBACCO AND TOMATOES ARE DAMAGED BY FROST

TORONTO, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Despite reports of snow in the northern parts of Ontario, according to official temperature reports, Eastern Canada escaped the promised frosts last night. Ottawa, with 36 above zero for the lowest during the night, boasted of the coldest weather in Eastern Canada.

Later reports indicated that half the tobacco crops and much of the tomato yield in the vicinity of Chatham was badly damaged by frost last night.

HAD NO KNOWLEDGE OF PLAN TO UNSEAT HIM

CALGARY, September 14. Canadian Press.) — "I had absolutely no knowledge of it until I saw it in the newspapers," declared A. R. Mosher, president of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, when asked regarding the report that there was a move on foot to unseat him at the convention which opens here on Monday.

PLANS OF MUSSOLINI IN REGARD TO FIUME

PARIS, Sept. 14. — (Canadian Press).—When Premier Mussolini declares the annexation of Fiume to Italy he will announce the withdrawal of Italian troops from Porto Barros, adjoining the harbor, it is learned here from an authoritative quarter. He will thus give up any claims to that port, to Sussak and to Delta, which will be left to Jugo-Slavia.

PREMIUMS OFFERED IN PARIS FOR A ROOF

Mighty Hard to Find a Place to Lay One's Head.

By JOHN O'BRIEN.

PARIS, Sept. 14.—(United Press).—When you see every day in the newspapers advertisements offering anywhere from 1,000 to 3,000 francs ($60 to $180) to some kind janitor who will find an apartment for the advertiser, it is not difficult to deduce that there is in Paris what they call a "home crisis." In other words, it is mighty hard to find a place to lay one's head, especially if there is a family to be provided for.

There are many reasons for this state of things. First of all, apartment house owners, like others who are looking for a big return on their investment, have doubled, tripled and quadrupled the rents since the Armistice. Flats which were rented at sums representing about $20 a year are now bringing a thousand. The law safeguarding occupants of apartments before the war against arbitrary increases in rent has run its course. Only those who had leases of ten or fifteen years are exempt now.

Paris Too Small.

Paris is too small for the population which has come here since the war. Foreigners are flocking to the French capital. Hotel prices are high and therefore they are looking for apartments, furnished or not. Usually they can get a furnished flat, with a pre-war rent of a couple of thousand francs a year, for five or six hundred francs a month, provided they buy the furniture, too—which means paying thirty or fifty thousand francs for something which could be bought in a furniture store for one-fifth of the price.

Everybody who has any kind of a flat is hanging onto it. When Leon Bourgeois was elected President of the Senate—a post entitling him to live in the Senate building—he had to wait four months to go in because his predecessor couldn't find a place to live. If a statesman finds himself in that predicament it is easy to imagine what the ordinary Parisian has to put up with.

When the war demonstrated that the fortifications of Paris, erected according to the designs of Vauban at a cost of many millions of dollars, were utterly useless to stop the advance of an invader, the municipal council decided to raze them and open up the suburbs. At the time there was a question of utilizing the space thus gained for the erection of homes, but opposition in the council has prevented the realization of this project.

Have N. Y. Apartments.

On the other hand, several building construction companies have started erecting a series of apartment houses on the New York system, with all modern improvements, to be purchased outright by the occupants, payments being on the instalment system, whereby the payment of rent for a term of ten to twenty years gives title to the apartment.

The municipal council itself has taken a hand in the problem and apartments for workers are being built in the outlying sections of the city at a comparatively moderate rental, considering the enormous increase in the cost of living and the improvements which are being inaugurated.

Spanish Army's Coup D'Etat Widely Supported

SPANISH GENERALS INFLAMED BY REVERSES MOROCCEAN CAMPAIGN REVOLT AGAINST GOVERNMENT

Coup D'Etat Launched B y Garrison of Barcelona Is Said to Be Generally Supported By the Army—Movement Spreads T hrough Provinces.

MADRID, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Spain is in the travail of a revolution. A military coup d'etat, originating in Barcelona, has spread rapidly through various districts and provinces of the country, and has aroused the deepest concern to the Government.

At the head of the movement is the captain general of Barcelona, Primo Rivera, a man of strong influence and powerful associations. Behind him are the officers of the army, who have been chafing for many months under the ignominy of the Moroccan campaign, and with the officers are the rank and file, who seem ready to follow their leaders to the end.

King Alfonso is believed to be at San Sebastian. There are various reports as to his probable action in the crisis, and he may even now be on his way to Madrid to take up consideration of the threatening situation with Premier Alhucemas.

TWO MINISTERS RESIGN.

After protracted meetings of the Cabinet, a message was sent to General Primo Rivera requesting him to abandon the movement for patriotic reasons, but he absolutely refused to do so. The Foreign Minister, Santiago Alba, who is believed to be particularly obnoxious to the revolting elements, has resigned from the Ministry, as well as the Minister of Labor, Felix Armaman.

The Under Secretary of War, General Bermudes Castro, informed the correspondents this afternoon that the Minister of War had a long conversation on the telephone with the Captain General of Barcelona, who informed the Minister that he had rebelled against some members of the present Government. The Captain General paid tribute to Premier Alhucemas and the Minister of the Interior, the Duke of Almodovar.

Contradictory reports are very prevalent here. Although the Under Secretary of War told newspapermen that King Alfonso had left San Sebastian by automobile for Madrid, there was an authoritative report much later that the King was still sojourning there and that he would not come to the capital until tomorrow.

Another report current was that the Government had sent warships to Barcelona, but this was denied by the Minister of Militia. El Sol announces that the Bilbao garrison has joined in the movement and seized all communications.

Madrid is Normal.

Complete quietness resigns here. The people are pursuing their normal life. Few military are seen in the streets, and the police are as usual guarding the public buildings. It is declared that the military element in Madrid is maintaining a pacific attitude, not wishing to disturb the life of the nation. Most of the troops in Madrid are confined to their quarters, and only some small groups are to be found reading the reports of the revolt. Apparently the Bourse was not affected and there was no drop in Government issues, which were in demand today, but with few sales.

Captain General Primo Rivera explains that his object is to relieve the country of the immoral policies of the present Government, and declares that the troops in Madrid and throughout Spain hope for a decision by the King removing the Ministry, which is prejudicial to the nation.

Conditions are tranquil in various parts of Spain, although disturbed in some of the provinces, which are cut off from communications.

MADRID GARRISON SENDS SYMPATHETIC MESSAGE

BARCELONA, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press).—Captain General Primo Rivera last evening made public a telegram received by him from Madrid, signed by the Captain General there and Generals Valançati, Frederic Berenguer, Debun and Sero, saying: "The Generals of the Madrid garrison, headed by the Captain General, inspired by pure patriotism, adhere to the Barcelona movement and will maintain the same attitude until the arrival of the King, who will decide."

The city and district of Barcelona are quiet. The only evidences of military activity are the occupation of the telegraph and telephone offices, the seizure of the Provincial Government offices and the declaration of martial law.

Regions of Revolt.

The military authorities affirm that the movement has gained ground in the garrisons at Catalonia, New Castile and Aragon. The decision of the garrisons in other regions is not yet known.

In a proclamation to the troops Captain General Primo Rivera declares he had rather die than bequeath to his sons the livery of slaves. In a statement to the press, Primo Rivera says he has not been inspired by Premier Mussolin of Italy, but by the historic figure of the great General Prim, who deposed Queen Isabella and became Premier and Minister of War and aided in setting up the Provisional Government in 1868.

"The programme of the new Government," said Primo Rivera's statement, "comprises reforms in Catalonia, rearrangement of the administrative divisions in Spain, and a reduction in the number of functionarics."

MORE COMFORT IN MODERN JAIL THAN IN HOMES

Average Prisoner Is Well Cared For and Labor Is Light.

JAIL IS A JOKE.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 14.—The question of corporal punishment was discussed at this afternoon's meeting of the conference of the Canadian Association of Child Protection Officers and was ultimately referred to a committee for investigation and a resolution. Most of the speakers favored the use of the lash for serious offences.

"The only thing boys of the bully type undertand is physical pain," declared M. Brackland in charge of the Vancouver detention home. "Lashes for serious offences are the only solution in my opinion."

"Jail is a joke to-day," another protection officers asserted. "Good warm clothes comfortable quarters and a moderate amount of labor result in making the average offender more comfortable than at home. Im prisonment is no deterrent to the mentally deficient. The lash to stop social crimes and burglary is the best solution."

D. S. Hamilton warned against hastly action, as he declared corporal punishment was the lazy way of correction. He felt that lashes had created more liars and sneaks than almost any other form of punishment and advocated caution before any expression of opinion was voiced by the association.

H. J. Reynolds of Regina, president emphasized the need for private boarding homes for dependent children and deplored the growth of institutions. No institution could take the place of a home and he felt sure the better way of caring for such children was to keep them in their mother's car, if possible.

Judge Ethel McLachlan, of Regina read the secretary's report, showing a slight dropping off in membership.

Says Wheat Pool Will Be Operated

REGINA, Sask., Sept. 13.— The Saskatchewan wheat pool will be operated despite the apparent failure to secure the 50 per cent. wheat acreage under control within the time limit, officials of the Saskatchewan Co-operative Wheat Producers' Limited, the firm which will handle the pool organization will recommend to the meeting of the Board of Directors here Friday that the time limit for the signing of contracts which expired Wednesday be waived indefinitely.

Officials believe the time limit was too short and that with it being set forward between sixty and seventy per cent. of the wheat acreage of the province can be assured for the pool.

CITY BONUSES COMPANY.

FORT WILLIAM, September 13— By a vote of 128 to 83 the City of Fort William yesterday passes the bylaw granting aid to the Great Lakes Paper Company, and the rural municipality of Neebing, in which a portion of the site will be situated, passed a similar bylaw by 113 to 3. The company is commencing work on the spur tracks to the property to-day.

Trades Congress Considers All Workers Are Against War—Reports Carried.

Moore's Appointment.

VANCOUVER, B. C., September 13. — It was decided after some discussion by the Dominion Labor Congress to-day, to urge all the unions to support the Congress Journal, either by voluntary assessment or use large enough numbers to defray the large deficit already incurred.

During the discussion which followed several suggestions were offered to save the publication from suspension Secretary P. M. Draper suggested that a one cent per capita tax per month if collectable, would solve the financial problem. Other delegates states the journal was not sufficiently representative of the workers, that its editorial policy was antagcnistic to the workers' party.

This view was combatted by those who declared that the editorial policy was dictated by the annual conventions throughout the executive.

Another report of the Executive Council was carried endorsing the appointment of President Tom Moore to the directorate of the Canadian National Railways, although the ideals of labor were not com-

ITALY GIVES DEFINITE PROMISE WITHDRAW FROM CORFU SEPT. 27

Yields to Pressure of World Opinion Opposed to Her Retention of Greek Territory.

STATEMENT ISSUED.

PARIS, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press).—The danger of the peace of Europe from the Italian occupation of Corfu ended tonight when, after another difficult session, the Ambassadors' Council came to a full agreement. Italy finally consented to evacuate Corfu before the end of September.

It is understood they are to leave the island by September 27. It is also understood the Council agreed that if on the date of evacuation the Inter-Allied Commission of Inquiry reports that Greece has not done all possible to discover and punish the assassins of the Italian members of the Greco-Albanian Boundary Mission, the 50,000,000 lire deposited by the Greek Government shall be paid over to the Italian Goernment as reparations.

Up to almost the last moment the Italians insisted that the Powers ought to take Premier Mussolini's word as to the evacuation, and leave it to him to fix the exact date after the regulation measures had been carried out.

Assurance to World.

The British Minister insisted quite as strongly that public opinion throughout the world ought to be assured by a definite arrangement that would put an end to the talk that Italy intended to remain in Corfu indefinitely. He asked that the Italian Premier choose a fixed date which would be early enough to set all speculation as to Italy's intentions at rest.

The Allies assured the Italian Ambassador that the greatest diligence would be exercised in pursuing the inquiry into the assassination of General Tellini and the other members of the Italian Boundary Commission and pleaded with him to urge Rome to accept the desire of Great Britain and fix a precise date for the evacuation of Greek territory, so as to relieve the world of anxiety. The afternoon session was postponed until six o'clock and then again at 6.30 o'clock in order to give time for the Ambassadors to communicate with their Governments.

Official Statement.

Two more hours were occupied by the Ambassadors at the evening session before they could come to an agreement, but eventually it was announced with an air of great relief that Italy had agreed to evacuate. An official communique issued soon afterwards said:

"The Ambassadors' Council has adopted a solutio nwhich it considers such as will put an end to the situation created by the assassination of the Italian delegation. The solution will be immediately transmitted to Athens, and also communicated to the League Council and will be made public tomorrow at noon."

The members of the Commission of Inquiry will leave tomorrow to take up their work with instructions to pursue their investigations with the greatest energy.

PRINCE DEPARTS ON WESTERN TRIP

Remained Only Five Minutes in Montreal Last Night.

QUEBEC, Sept. 13.—His Royal Highness, the Prince of Wales, (Lord Renfrew), and his companions, left the Ancient Capital this afternoon on a special car attached to a Canadian Pacific Railway train, bound for the Prince's ranch in Alberta.

The people of Quebec who have been at pains to enable His Royal Highness to preserve insofar as possible his incognito of Lord Renfrew, refrained from undue congregation at the station, and there was no demonstration when he stepped into Lord Shaughnessy's special car "Killarney," which has been placed at his disposal for his trip across Canada and back again.

Ten Minutes at Ottawa.

MONTREAL, Sept. 13. — Lord Renfrew's train reached Outremont, a suburb of Montreal, at 7.45 p.m., standard time, this evening. There was a halt here of five minutes while engines were changed. During the wait there were no demonstrations, His Royal Highness remaining in his private car. At 7:50 p.m. the train pulled out for Ottawa, where it is due to arrive at 10.50. It will stop there ten minutes before resuming its journey for Chalk River, which it is scheduled to reach at 2.40 tomorrow morning.

BYNG'S MESSAGE TO THE JAPANESE

Announces Canadian Appropriation of $200,000.

OTTAWA, September 13. Canadian Press. — The Governor-General has sent the following message to the British charge d'affaires, at Tokio:

"My Government will be grateful if you will convey to His Imperial Majesty the Mikado, the deep sympathy of the government and people of Canada with the government and people of Japan in the appalling disaster which has befallen them. I can only hope that reports which have so far reached the world have over estimated the extent of the tragedy. I am to add that my government have appropriated the sum of $200,000 for the purchase of supplies for the alleviation of the distress and suffering caused by the earthquake and its results."

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 14, 1923.

A BANNER LAST DAY.

The Peterborough Industrial Exhibition closes tomorrow, and if the weather conditions are at all favourable the attendance for the final day should be by long odds the largest of the week.

Some of the best features of the programme, in addition to the usual events of the other days, have been kept for the closing day.

With exhibits outnumbering those of other years and outdistancing them in quality, with a programme of unusual variety and merit, the efforts of the directors to make this year's Exhibition a record-breaker have been hampered by the weather.

Thursday's attendance was kept down by the unseasonably cold blasts from the northwest and the threat of rain that more than once was momentarily fulfilled.

A bumper crowd for the final day will offset the effects of the bad weather conditions and round out a remarkably fine Exhibition.

Every resident of city or county who can visit the grounds tomorrow should not fail to show by their attendance that they are behind the Exhibition.

Let the final day be the banner one.

TOMORROW'S TAG DAY.

The people of Peterborough and visitors from the surrounding country who are in the city tomorrow will be asked to donate $2,000 by means of a tag day to the funds of the Children's Aid Society in order that the work of looking after the neglected and dependent children of the district may be successfully executed.

There should be nothing half-hearted about the response.

For many years the Children's Aid Society has gone ahead with its humanitarian endeavour to give the underprivileged child a new start in life.

What organization could have a more worthy motive or merit a greater measure of public support?

The tag day offers the public an opportunity not only to endorse but to assist in the work, and the method chosen, which was originated so far as Peterborough is concerned by the Children's Aid Society, divides the responsibility among so many people that the burden need not fall heavily upon any one.

The objective can be easily reached if there is the general co-operation there should be without constituting itself a drain upon any particular individual.

It is a community affair, and the canvassers should have an easy task in view of the widespread appreciation of the very able work that has been accomplished by the Children's Aid Society.

THE POSTAL EXHIBIT.

The Postal Department in arranging an exhibit such as is being shown at the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition has adopted a policy that should bring good results.

Besides acquainting the public with the manner in which a modern Post Office functions, something about which there is very little general knowledge, the exhibit is of very great value as an educational factor inasmuch as it offers many useful tips as to the proper way to take advantage of the facilities offered by Canada's postal service.

Most people who view the exhibit are amazed not only at the number of ways in which the Post Office can serve the public, but also over their own shortcomings in regard to the proper addressing of their correspondence, and other details of the same kind.

The pointers that are furnished by the exhibit if generally followed would make the work of the postal employees much lighter and would speed up the service to an appreciable degree.

Hitherto Government displays at fall fairs have been confined largely to the exhibits of the Department of Agriculture.

Hon. Chas. Murphy has demonstrated that other departments have something of public interest to show, and a useful story to tell the people of Canada.

GOING AFTER IMMIGRANTS.

The Minister of Immigration announces the inauguration of a more aggressive immigration policy for Canada, and the dropping of many of the restrictions that have been in force for some years.

It is presumed that the effects of the new policy, the details of which Hon. Mr. Robb does not divulge, will not begin to be felt until next year.

The winter is not a desirable season in which to dump a lot of new citizens in Canada, and doubtless there is no intention on the Government's part of moving very actively along this line until early in 1924.

Considerabe time, however, has been lost in getting the wheels moving.

While Canada has been marking time other of the British overseas Dominions have been successful in attracting thousands of immigrants of a very splendid type.

The United States, too, is now the home of numerous Britishers, many of whom could have been secured for Canada had they felt that there was a welcome for them here and an opportunity to succeed.

We need men of that calibre in Canada—and it is with relief that the announcement that at last we are going to try to get them will be received.

THE COAL STRIKE SETTLED.

Common sense has won the day in the anthracite dispute and today there is a feeling of greater stability and security in the coal mining industry than has prevailed for years past, says the Montreal Star. While both sides still await formal ratification of the agreement reached yesterday, the strike which began on September 1st is over and in a few days work will be resumed under the new arrangement.

An all-round increase of ten per cent. is to be added to the wage schedule and a committee of enquiry is to sit to investigate the whole question of wages which Governor Pinchot has declared is "honeycombed with inequalities, antiquated and haphazard." The only question that now remains for settlement is how this increase in wages shall be distributed and what percentage of the added amount shall be borne by the patient public. When the proposal was put forward as a basis of settlement by the Governor of Pennsylvania it was estimated that the ten per cent. would mean an addition of sixty cents to each ton of coal sold by the retailer and the suggestion was made that of this amount the operator should bear ten cents and the public fifty cents. Such a proportion seemed grossly unfair to the consumer, but not being a party to the dispute and not being organized for strikes or lock-outs, there was little chance of the third party making more than a verbal protest.

Governor Pinchot now suggests that the transportation companies should bear a share of the cost by reducing freight rates on coal from the mine. While Mr. Pinchot is delving into this subject of anthracite coal and the cost of production, he might run down the rumors of the large profits made last year by wholesalers, retailers, jobbers and brokers, the vast army of non-productive labor that stands between the mine owners and the householders, and, it is generally believed, is largely responsible for the high cost of the product.

ESCAPING FROM PRISON.

The number of desperate attempts that have been made at jail-breaking, capped by the one at Kingston on Monday, presents a serious case for officials at these institutions, says the London Advertiser.

The tendency of the times is to make a prison term as helpful as possible to those placed there. There are many jail officials who desire to see the men, on the day of discharge, leave with a better outlook, a stronger frame and a determination to go straight.

If a man comes out, though, only to start in where he left off, the only purpose achieved is that society has been free from his mischief in the meantime.

Prison wardens and guards are faced with the fact that there are always those around who have only one idea, viz., to get out, and they are not going to be very considerate in the means they employ if this can be accomplished.

This class, and it is large, are punished, but not reformed. The only reformation that comes to them is that they hated the restraint; they disliked the simplicity or the monotony of the meals, and they say "never again" as they walk out at the end of their sentence. Their fear of going back there is greater than any respect they have for the law.

It is very seldom that word of a jail delivery finds any sympathy with the public. The men who are put there have had a fair trial and an impartial hearing. The public, after all, has more respect for the man who is prepared to stand up and take his medicine.

A BLACK EYE FOR COLLECTIVE BARGAINING.

After seven futile weeks, during which the British export and import trades and an enormous number of workmen, directly and indirectly, have suffered irreparable injury, losses in cash and hardship which will never be made up, the dock strikers in London have returned to work completely defeated, but still defiant, says Barron's Weekly. The cause of the strike was the reduction of their wages by a shilling a day, based upon the lower cost of living and under the agreement of their own Transport Union. The men repudiated both the agreement and their leaders. They established an outlaw strike which was highly effective in the respect of swelling the number of unemployed, which had been steadily reduced in the past two years. In the ports of Hull, Grimsby, Bristol and Cardiff the strike collapsed after a time, but continued mischievously effective in London, thanks to the action of two parish boards, those of Polar in the east and Bermondsey in the southeast of London, who granted poor law relief on a most liberal scale to the strikers. It is even said, with figures to back the assertion, that the relief amounted to more than the average wage in a trade where employment is by no means continuous.

Note how the final collapse was brought about. The taxpayers of the two parishes concerned brought actions individually against the guardians of the poor, the majority of whom are socialists of the noisiest type. When these guardians discovered that there was a lively chance of the court holding that they were disbursing their own money, they stopped the generous stream of poor law relief and the dockers decided to go back to work. The case is perfectly simple and is commended to the attention of labor leaders and employers of labor in this country. It gives an ugly black eye to the whole theory of collective bargaining. If continuity of employment is not assured and the collective bargainers chosen by the men themselves are to be repudiated at will, the contract becomes valueless.

The case for collective bargaining was never a good one, for the reason that the name of it was not commonly honest. There is the startling instance of our own anthracite strike with the demands thereto attached to show that collective bargaining is suspiciously like collective blackmail.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

The weatherman evidently imagined the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition was a winter fair.

"Yes, we have no straw hats," is the chorus the cold weather has made popular.

The number of entries in the Baby Show at the Exhibition offers evidence that at least as much attention is being paid to the welfare of the little ones as to the care of livestock.

A victory for the Board of Works tug-of-war team tomorrow should not be construed as evidence that there is considerable "pull" in the civic machine.

Louis Angel Firpo, who meets Jack Dempsey tonight for the heavyweight championship of the world, is known as the "Wild Bull of the Pampas," but there are many who think that the biggest bull of all was allowing Firpo to meet the champion so soon.

Remember the Children's Aid Society tag day tomorrow—a chance to assist a most worthy cause.

If Lord Renfrew accepts all the invitations he is receiving in Canada he'll have to have his leave extended.

Some people will be inclined to believe that the hold-up of a service station proprietor by motor bandits was merely poetic justice.

CHICAGO WHEAT.

CHICAGO, September 14 (Canadian Press). — Huge crop estimates from Canada led to sharp breaks yesterday in the price of wheat, and September delivery in Chicago dropped to below $1.00 a bushel. The close was weak, 1 5-8c to 2c net lower, with December $1.02 7-8 to $1.03, and May $1.08 3-8 to $1.08 1-2.

Corn finished 5-8c to 1 1-2c down, oats 1-8c to 1-2c off, and provisions at 5c to 17c decline.

With the wheat market here showing little or no power to rally in the face of extremely bearish opinions, current as to a rapid increase of the Canadian crop movement, liquidation sales on the part of holders attained considerable volume. The downward swing of values met with no lasting check and lowest prices of the day were ruling at the close. It was contended in some quarters that the latest forecast of Canadian wheat production for 1923 implied that the world could easily be supplied with wheat and flour without any contribution from the United States. Another much-talked-of view was that North America could alone supply the 1923-1024 import requirements.

In addition to Canadian developments, word of another increase of the domestic visible supply of wheat was expected next Monday. It was asserted also that trans-atlantic demand for wheat from the United States would at least temporarily be lessened as Canadian wheat arrived at export positions. Late reports from Winnipeg said country purchases of wheat in Western Canada were running at the rate of 3,000,000 bushels a day.

Predictions of a liberal movement of new corn to Chicago had a bearish effect on the corn market, despite predictions of frost. Oats held relatively steady in the absence of any rural offerings.

Provisions were weak in line with hog values.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, September 14 (Canadian Press). — The feature of the domestic cash grain market was the good demand for all grades of oats available and a fair business was done with the tone of the market firm. There was no change in the flour situation. The tone of the millfeed market remains firm. The market for rolled oats was steady. The condition of the baled hay market is unchanged. Prices for all grades of eggs were fully maintained. A fair trade is reported in potatoes. The tone of the butter market was easy, with prices a fraction lower.

The cheese market was dull.

BUTTER PRICES.

MONTREAL, September 14 (Canadian Press). — At the Quebec Agricultural Co-operative Society auction sale held here yesterday there were 900 packages of creamery butter offered ,of which 375 packages No. 1 pasteurised creamery sold at 36 1-4 cents per pound, 350 packages No. 1 creamery at 35 1-2 cents per pound, and 175 packages No. 2 creamery at 34 1-4 cents per pound.

WINNIPEG CATTLE.

WINNIPEG, September 14 (Canadian Press). — Receipts, 900 cattle and calves, 550 hogs and 135 sheep and lambs.

The market held steady again this morning, but few desirable cattle were available, prices having advanced 25 to 50 cents from the opening of the week.

The hog market was unsettled and weaker, packers bidding $10.50 for thick smooths, a drop of 50 cents from yesterday's close.

The sheep and lamb market was quiet, with prices ranging from $6.00 to $7.00 for lambs and $6.00 for sheep.

EGG MARKETS

OTTAWA, September 14 (Canadian Press). — Reports point to eggs that will grade specials and extras being insufficient to supply the demand. Storage eggs are being taken out freely to fill part of the demand. Two cars of storage firsts are rolling Toronto and North Bay, and one car of mixed fresh Toronto from Winnpeg.

Toronto unchanged.

Montreal steady, specials 47 to 48, extras 40 to 41, firsts 35, seconds 30.

Winnipeg firm and unchanged. Dealers quoting delivered extras 32 to 34, firsts 27, seconds 22.

Saskatchewan dealers quoting delivered extras 30 to 31, firsts 26, seconds 21.

Alberta and British Columbia markets unchanged.

MEXICAN WHEAT CROP IS BELOW LAST YEAR

MEXICO CITY, Mexico (By mail to United Press).—Mexico will produce about 124,000,000 kilos of wheat this year, acording to unofficial reports.

This is about forty per cent less than last year, observers say, blaming general condition. One of the outstanding features of this year's crop is the importance of wheat grown in the Yaqui valley. Recent estimates place the wheat crop of this alley, in the southern part of the state of Sonora, just below Guaymas, at 115,000 sacks, of 220 pounds each. This is compared to 78,000 sacks in 1922.

Canadian interest are making an effort to establish themselves in the wheat market here and are requesting, according to reports, that the duty on wheat imported to this country be cut to two cents per kilo. The duty is at present four cents per kilo.

No action has been taken on this reported request up to the present time as 5,000 tons of wheat grown in Yaqui Sonora is being brought to this city. It is believed that this wheat is given a hearing.

American flour is selling on the east coast of Mexico for approximately ten dollars per barrel.

BEAR STOLE SALMON.

SARANAC LAKE, N.Y., (United Press).—Adirondack bears are still ready to take desperate chances in obtaining a fish dinner. One recently broke into the storehouse of a big camp in the Newcomb section and carried away a keg of salt salmon. Guides who followed the trail found Bruin had walked man-fashion and carried the keg in his forepaws.

So eager was the bear for the fish, however, that it carried the keg but a short distance before knocking in the head with its paw. The guides fond the keg, but the salmon was gone.

Money Thrown Away!

Specialist charged $13½ a week. $1 worth of Zam-Buk Saved Her Leg.

"I had only one week of the 'special' course of bad leg treatment supplied in my own city, and it cost me $13½ in coarse ointments. It was simply money thrown away," writes Mrs. James Elsworth, 902, Selkirk Ave., Winnipeg.

"The ulcers first appeared on my left ankle, and they spread from the top of my foot up to the knee. Laid up in bed helpless with pain, I was treated by five different doctors. I persevered with their lotions and ointments until I felt positive there could be no cure.

"Then one day I was brought a sample of Zam-buk. Even this small quantity was decidedly soothing, and it encouraged me to get a supply from the druggist. Perseverance with Zam-buk proved wonderfully and thoroughly effective. The irritation and the pain were speedily subdued; the ulcers were thoroughly cleansed of poisonous matter and the leg permanently healed."

Zam-buk, the magic herbal balm, is equally good for eczema, ringworm, poisoned wounds, pimples, boils, abscesses, piles, cuts, burns, scalds and all skin injuries. 50c. all dealers.

BIRTH CONTROL IS UNNATURAL

Priest Opposed Clinic For That Purpose Advocated As Welfare Measure.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 13.—The establishment of birth control clinics as a means of promoting better domestic relations and curtailing growing child dependency, was advocated as a welfare measure by G. B. Clarke, of the Winnipeg Social Welfare Commission in an address to Child Welfare Conference here today. Provision against hasty marriages were suggested by Mr. Clarke who declared that one centre issuing of marriage licenses instead of the hundreds in each city as at present, would help to remedy matters. He recommended a waiting period of two weeks between application and issuing of licenses and publication of the names of the contracting parties in the public press before the ceremony. He also urged the use of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in rounding up deserting husbands. Few steps were taken by the police to apprehend these deserters and he believed the Mounted forces provided the necessary machinery.

Opposition to Mr. Clarke's views on birth control was voiced by Father J. Haley, superintendent of charities, Roman Catholic diocese of Toronto Such measures were unnatural, he said. It was not in the case of large families where desertion and unhappiness were to be found, but in those where there was either one child or none.

Stricter immigration requirements for juveniles was recommended in a resolution at the annual meeting of Child Protection Officers Association this morning when speakers declared the present system, particularly as regards girls between the ages of 16 and 20, were deplorable. The delegates expressed strong exception to the admission of feeble minded children or children of feeble minded parents. They recommended help in obtaining respectable employment for girls coming from the Old Country, licensing of dance halls and boarding houses.

Addressing the problem child division, during the morning, Father Haley declared millions of dollars could be saved to the state and much misery obliterated if mentally deficient persons were prevented from marrying. He advocated farm colonies for the feeble minded which would segregate them from the rest of the community.

DECLARED SOCIAL LIFE FREER AND HAPPIER IN DAYS OF GRANDMOTHER

The Experience of Elders Adduced By Rev. F. G. Joblin, of Stirling, in An Address at Sunday School Convention.

Held at Springbrook.

(Special to the Examiner)

MARMORA, Sept. 13.—A very bright and enthusiastic convention was held in Springbrook Methodist Church on Tuesday, September 11th.

The afternoon session was opened by devotional exercises by the pastor Rev. D. R. Clare, then the chair was taken by Mr. L. Weaver, president of the Association, who gave words of welcome to the delegates and a short review of the year's work.

Each school was called upon to give a report (not statistical). These reports dealt with the encouraging features of the schools and also points of failure and opened up points of discussion.

Some good points.

(1) A blackboard review by the superintendent.

(2) Occasionally, to have a report to the amount of the collections and the cost of the periodicals and thus make an appeal that the income meet the expenditure.

(3) That promotions take place regularly.

(4) Regular workers' conferences.

The boy problem was one of the difficulties. One speaker said that many fathers were to blame for the failure of boys' mid-week activities that the fathers did not give the boys time for these things.

Next followed reports from the Department superintendents on their work in each school. A strong appeal was made for more teacher training classes.

In the case of physical disease the best physician possible is secured but when we come to spiritual affairs we do not exercise the same care in securing trained teachers.

Missionary Education

Missionary education and systematic giving was emphasized, also the need of continuing temperance teaching in our Sunday Schools was emphasized as this need is not passed but just as important as ever.

After a lengthy discussion, it was decided that in future all reports should be for the year commencing August 1st so all reports would be uniform.

During the afternoon Miss Bessie Conley of Stirling, delighted the audience by two well-rendered solos.

The ladies of Springbrook had prepared an excellent supper for all who could remain and a couple of hours of social intercourse followed.

Evening Session

The evening session was opened by devotional exercises by Rev. C. W. Barrett of Stirling.

The special music of the evening was given by Rev. and Mrs. Towle of Bonar Law, who sang two enjoyable duets.

Rev. F. G. Joblin of Stirling, as the first speaker. His subject was "The place of the Sunday School in Community Life."

At present the drift cityward from the country is tremendous. In a certain 40 years, in Ontario 248,000 people left the farmer for the city, and in the same 40 years, the little county of Durham, (Mr. Joblin's birthplac) lost 10,963 to towns and cities. These are not retired farmers but the youth and backbone of the farm.

The causes, he claimed were (1) attractiveness of city life. (2) shorter hours. (3) privilege of enjoyment.

One suggestion to help this was that the farmers would give one-half day every two weeks, during the summer to their boys and girls and hired help for recreation and a good time.

A number of old people were asked the question, "Are people as happy as 40 years ago?" and in every case the answer was "no."

Why? (1) More freedom in social life in olden days. They didn't spend half an hour in front of the glass before going out for a visit nor was it necessary to wait for an invitation before having a social visit with an neighbor.

(2) The telephone of the present day is the means of intercourse instead of the social visit.

This exodus to the city will have a tremendous effect on the future leadership of the country.

Statistics show that at present, 70 per cent. of the leaders of to-day were raised on the farm.

What has this to do with Sunday Schools?

Criterion of Success

The success of the Sunday School is judged by its relation to the community it serves. Our business is (1) to Christianize the community—not to get the community into the church but the church into the community.

(2) Not only help the youth to resist temptation but see there are fewer temptations to resist.

(3) Put something in place of the foolish pleasures of the present day.

(4) Do the work now. It is up to the Sunday School to make country life attractive to the Young People by means of week day exercises.

In this way, the Sunday School is developing patriotism. Canada for the Canadians.

Next as the awarding of the Banner to the Sunday School, holding the highest points according to the O.R.E.C. Standard Springbrook Sunday School, which had the banner last year was the successful Sunday School with St. Mark's, Bonar Law, a close second.

An invitation from Rylestone for the convention next year, was received and accepted.

Officers Elected

The officers for the coming year, are as follows:

President—L. S. Weaver, Stirling
1st Vice-Pres. — B. C. Tucker, Harold.
2nd Vice-Pres.—H. Rutherford, Bonar Law.
Sec.-Treas. J. F. Baker, Bonar Law.

Department Superintendent

Children's Division, Miss Myrtle Thompson.
Young People's Div. (Boys) Mr. Carman Sine.
Young People's Div (Girls)—Miss Florence McEwen.
Adult Division— Mr. Ed. Pyear
Home Depart.— Mrs. T. J. Thompson.
Teacher Training—Mrs. Alf. Williams.
Missionary—Mrs. J. A. Bissonette.
Temperance.—Mr. F. S. Pearce.

Concluding Address

Rev. C. E. McIntosh of Campbell, Provincial Representative, gave the closing address of the evening. His subject was "Jesus the Master Teacher." Jesus did not teach so much by preaching or writing but in quiet round table talks he impressed hs messages on the lives of those who became the writers of his messages.

The results of his method are proven (1) In the lives of his disciples. (2) In the wonderful spread of Christianity.

Jesus studied four books.

(1) Old Testament—In many of his teachings we find him quoting passages from the old Testament.

(2) Book of Nature —Jesus knew nature and makes many references to nature (the lilies of the field); (the eagle); (mustard seed); to illustrate his teachings.

(3) Book of Life—Jesus was a boy raised in a poor home and was accustomed to the plain simple life. We see this illustrated in the woman putting the leaven in the three measures of meal and how it worked—a common incident in the home.

Book of God—Jesus read the Book of God and interpreted it in the words, "Our Father."

Jesus not only knew the Bible, but also the spirit of it.

Methods of the Master Teacher—

(1) Jesus adapted himself to the people he was teaching.

(2) He lived the spirit of God. We can do the same in business, recreation and neighborly doings.

Mr. McIntosh closed with a strong appeal to follow Jesus the Master Teacher in our teaching, and Sunday School activities.

Found Squaw's Body in Soldier's Coat

KENORA, Ont., September 13. — The body of a squaw wearing a soldier's coat was found last week floating in Shallow Lake, north of the English River, on the way to Red Lake. There were no marks of violence, according to the advices received by the authorities here.

This apparently disposed of the report that a soldier's body had been found in Shallow Lake and that another body had been found lower down as the police sent out to investigate found only the body of the squaw.

CAVAN NEWS

CAVAN, Sept. 14.—Mr. and Mrs. C. Jewison, Toronto and Mrs. Harry Barnard, Bailieboro, were guests of Mrs. F. M. Staples on Wednesday.

Mrs. Rae, Lindsay, visited Mrs. Jas. Keegan for a few days this week.

Mrs. Syer and Mr. Coulter, Millbrook were guests of their sister, Mrs. Eber Syer for a few days.

Mr. T. A. Kelly visited Peterboro on Thursday remaining over until Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Staples, Mrs. Touchbourn and Mr. Eugene Touchburn visited Manvers friends on Sunday.

Several cars with Manvers people passed through on their way to the Oshawa-Bethany game in Port Hope on Wednesday.

Furs and fur coats will be about three arguments and one crying spell higher this fall.

How to Keep a Child Healthy

A GENERATION ago parents thought that sickness was a part of a child's life, but we know better now. The secret is in the food the mother allows the child to eat, and in watching that elimination occurs regularly two or three times a day. Mrs. W. E. Margeson, Centreville, N. S., and Mrs. Pratt, 45 Gillson Ave., Runnymede, Toronto, always keep a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin in the house, ready for use, and avoid many of the ills to which children are subject.

A Substitute for Physics

Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin is a scientific compound of Egyptian senna with pepsin and suitable aromatics. The formula is on every package. You will find you do not have to force children to take it, and it is much better for them than castor oil, calomel or coal-tar drugs like phenolphthalein even if covered with sugar or chocolate. Laxative Syrup Pepsin is mild and gentle in action and your child will have an easy passage without griping or strain. It does not contain narcotics, and you can give it with absolute safety to an infant at the breast.

"Magic" in a Teaspoonful

Every store that sells medicines sells Dr. Caldwell's Laxative Syrup Pepsin, and the cost is less than a cent a dose. Give half a teaspoonful to any ailing baby or child at night when you put it to bed and you will find a happy, laughing youngster in the morning. Take Laxative Syrup Pepsin yourself when constipated, and give it to any member of the family young or old, for any ailment due to constipation, such as biliousness, headache, lack of appetite, sleeplessness, bad breath, cankers, fever sores, indigestion, and to break up fevers and colds. Stop that first sneeze or sniffle and you will have a healthy winter.

THORNTON SAYS C.N.R. EARNINGS SHOW INCREASE

Net For First Half of Year Higher By $4,439,228.

IMPROVE SERVICE.

MONTREAL, Sept. 13. — Commenting on a despatch from Ottawa containing the assertion that considering the entire Canadian National Railways System in Canada and the United States, there was a betterment to the extent of $4,172,000, for the first half of 1923, Sir Henry Thornton, chairman of the National Railways, issued a statement pointing out that for the first half of 1922 the system as a whole was operated at a deficit of $2,925,997.17, while for the first half of 1923 this deficit was turned into a surplus of $1,512,231.73, or an increase in net earnings of $4,438,228.90.

Sir Henry declares that the administration has pursued a policy of rigid economy wherever thought to be necessary, "but it has been found necessary to spend money to improve the service, increase its business and generaly add to its gross receipts; it has not only done so, but will unflinchingly continue to do so."

OPPOSE WAR

pletely met. It was regarded as a forward step however, on the part of the government to give this measure of recognition to organized workers.

Use of Militia.

The convention approved efforts to amend the Militia Act to the end that the only authorities permitted to requisition or call out the militia in aid of the civil powers should be either the municipal council of the district wherein the riot occurred or is anticipated or the government of a province; in either case those making the requisitions bearing the cost. It was also suggested that the Federal Government should be given discretionary powers as to their compliance with the requisition.

Strike more Effective.

The proposal that educative efforts be directed against war was passed after some discussion. While not opposing the recommendation, Malcolm Bruce, Regina, was of the opinion that it was not education that was wanted. The workers were all against war. The only effective means of combatting it was the general strike and that was what the convention should support. The mere issuance of anti-war stamps, posters and pamphlets, as proposed, he declared, would not meet the situation.

Aldreman E. Woodward of Victoria, agreed with Mr. Bruce. He said it was only too evident that education was needed and the proposal of the executive council was along the right lines.

Temperance Forces in Difficult Light.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Sept. 14.—(Canadain Press.)— "In the matter of prohibition we have never stood confronted with a more serious and critical situation," Rev. Dr. T. Albert Moore, General Secretary of Evangelism and Social Service of the Methodist church, told the Brockville district Methodists here to-day. In Ontario, he said, the prohibition forces are standing in a very difficult position and he predicted that within a year, if not earlier, the province would be in the thick of another referendum campaign upon the Ontario Temperance Act. The Department, he added, is being "humiliated beyond measure" by financial handicaps and for the first time in its history is being operated upon borrowed money because of the failure of the church to render its adequate support.

FEDERAL POST FOR M'MURRAY

North Winnipeg Member Appointed As Solicitor-General.

OTTAWA, Sept. 13.— (By Canadian Press.)—Official announcement of the appointment of E. J. McMurray, Liberal member for North Winnipeg, to the vacant post of solicitor general in the federal government was made this evening. Mr. McMurray becomes Minister without portfolio and Solicitor-General, and is therefore a member of the Privy Council, as was his predecessor in office, Hon. D. D. McKenzie. The date for the by-election in North Winnipeg has not yet been announced.

SUDDEN DEATH OF PUBLISHER

W. S. Given, Editor of the Millbrook Reporter, Passed Away Without Warning Last Night.

MILLBROOK, Sept. 14. —Millbrook was bereaved of one of its most prominent citizens when W. S. Given, Editor of the Millbrook Reporter, died suddenly in his home at 10 o'clock last night.

Mr. Given had not been in good health since last winter when he was seized by influenze while on his way from Shreveport, where he had been visiting his son. About three weeks ago he suffered a relapse, and last night he expired without warning.

The deceased was about 65 years of age and was prominent in all fields of civic and fraternal endeavour. He was Reeve of the township for three years and also served as Town Clerk and Division Clerk. In fraternal circles he was a member of the Masonic Lodge, the Oddfellows Order and the Canadian Order of Foresters.

As a prominent member of the Conservative Association in which he served for many years, Mr. Given did good work on behalf of the Conservative cause.

Mr. Given conducted the Millbrook Reporter, a weekly newspaper, for about 25 years, and through its columns was an ardent advocate of the town he represented. The Old Boys' Re-union, recently held, had no better advocate than the deceased publisher.

There are left to mourn his decease, his wife, a daughter and two sons: Mrs. (Dr.) Ellis, Sherveport, Louisiana; Reg. Girven, Toronto; and Harvey in Stettler, Alberta. Mr. and Mrs. Given visited the last named this summer.

A Montreal Man Says He Spotted Convicts.

BROCKVILLE, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press.)— Leo Schalek, Montreal, a tobacco salesman, reported upon arrival here by motor yesterday afternoon, that he had seen two of the escaped convicts from Portsmouth Penitentiary beside the C.N.R. tracks six miles east of Portland yesterday morning. The men were evidently walking the tracks towards Smiths Falls and as Schalek drew near hid themselves in bushes nearby. They were wearing their prison trousers and straw hats, but had procured black coats. From the exceptional height of one of the men, Schalek identified him as the prisoner Slade.

Knicker Cape Suits

Knicker cape suits for the "messy winter months" have made their appearance. The capes are sufficiently long to conceal the knickers completely.

Knit Wear Colorful

Paris dictates a riot of color for knitted outerwear this fall. Lacquer reds, Chinese blues and ginger reds are among the leading shades.

LAMENTING CRIME ONLY CONDONES IT

A Citizen Has Duty to Society, Says Lawyer of Delorme Trial.

MONTREAL, September 13. — "Every man who sees a wrong and merely laments: 'Why doesn't someone do something?' that man is responsible for the disorder of the world. When there is a breach of the peace, known to an individual, which should be prosecuted; if that individual sits back and does not assist prosecution, he is assisting crime."

These were two of the thrusts made in an address here before the Kiwanis Club to-day by R. L. Calder, K.C., Crown Prosecutor, whose conduct of the long drawn out Delorme trial this summer made his name known through out the Dominion. The above statements were prompted by an indictment made by Mr. Calder of citizens and organizations that declined to do their part in cooperating with the officers of the law to reduce crime. He pointed out that the matter of taking the initiative in the prosecution of offences against the law was in the hands of citizens or organizations, and not the function of the Crown which was to assist, not to initiate.

LAKEFIELD VILLAGE AND THE DISTRICT

John Condon Passed Away After Extended Illness—Personals.

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 13.— Last week there passed away a highly respected resident of the village in the person of John Condon, aged 68, who for the past sixteen years had resided on Chippewa street removing from Douro, where he had resided all his life previously. Mr. Condon had been in failing health for some time and several weeks ago went to St. Joseph's hospital in Peterboro for treatment but his condition was to enfeebled to respond and he died there. He was possessed of a very kind hearty and many sterling virtues which endeared him to his neighbors who grieve over the loss of a kind friend. Mr. Condon was a devout member of St. Paul's Catholic church. Mr. William Condon is a brother. Interment took place on Douro cemtery.

A wedding which possess a considerable amount of local interest was solemnized at Watertown, N.Y., when Miss Anita Louise Comper, daughter of Mrs. E. E. Redmond of Watertown was united in marriage to John K. Lennox of the same city. The ceremony was performed by Rev. E. N. Burgess of Zion Presbyterian church on Monday, September 3. The happy couple spent a week in Kingston with Mr. and Mrs. George Lennox, parents of the groom. They will reside in Watertown.

Mr. Lennox is an old Lakefield boy and his friend here will add their congratulations on the happy event.

Personals.

Mrs. E. H. Northey was in Toronto last week visting friends.

Miss Sylvia Holmes returned this week from a months' visit to Peterboro friends.

Mr. W. C. Weaver who for the past fifteen months has been the accountant of the local branch of the Royal Bank has been promoted to the branch in Prescott.

Mr. Robert Bullock of Katherine street has returned from a splendid visit to friends in the United States and Western Ontario.

Miss Myrtle Little returned form Toronto on Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hendren and family have returned from a months' sojourn at Stoney Lake.

Mr. Joseph Lemay returned from a visit to friends in Toronto on Monday.

Among the recent graduates of Nicholls' Hospital, Peterboro, is Miss Freda McIlmoyl, a daughter of Mrs. Laura McIlmoyl of the village.

Mr. Keyes of Toronto, was in the village on Tuesday.

Miss Edna Braden has returned from a visit to Toronto, Rochester and Buffalo.

Mr. and Mrs. T. B. Marling spent a few days at Point o' Rocks, Stoney Lake, last week.

Mrs. J. C. Harvey and W. C. Harvey have returned to the village after a summer spent at the lake.

A. Larrington of Toronto was in the village on business on Tuesday.

Jack E T. Langley returned on Saturday to the Royal Military College, Kingston, where he will enter his third year.

Kenneth F. Routley of Peterboro passed through the village on Tuesday en route from Stoney Lake.

Mrs. W. C. Finnemore, Jr., of Toronto is visiting her sisters, the Misses Griffin.

Miss Dorothy Langley left on Thursday for Bishop Bethune College, Oshawa to resume his studies.

Melville Fitzgerald of Iowa City, Iowa motored to the village last week and was the guest of his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. James Mahood.

Mrs. W. A. Nixon, Misses Maude and Zetta and Master Solan, returned home on Tuesday after spending the summer in Sudbury and other points in Northern Ontario.

Miss Irene Young of Young's Point was in the village on Tuesday.

E. A. Burgess of Norwich, Ontario is visiting friends in the village.

Theodore Manning of Cobourg was visting friends in the village last week.

Messrs. J. R. Dodworth, Stanley and Paul Dodworth passed through the village on Monday en route to Stoney Lake.

Mrs. J. W. Botterill is a present in the hospital in Peterboro very seriously ill. His many friends in the village hope for a speedy recovery.

For Sanitary Homes

There are numerous uses in every household for Gillett's Pure Flake Lye. It costs very little but gives valuable service in cleaning and disinfecting sinks, closets and drains; softening water and making laundry soap; destroying vermin; cleaning dirty floors, greasy pots and pans, etc.; removing old paint, and for scores of other purposes. Avoid inferior substitutes. Ask your grocer for the genuine—

CROPS ARE FAIR AT JANETVILLE

Threshing Everywhere and Grain Turning Out Well — News and Personal Paragraphs.

JANETVILLE, September 14. — Anniversary services will be held in connection with the Presbyterian Church next Sunday. The services will be conducted by Rev. G. S. Gervin of Millbrook, and will be held in the Presbyterian Church in the afternoon and in the Methodist Church at night. Owing to the incapacity of the Presbyterian Church to accommodate a large crowd, the pastor and officials of the Methodist Church offered their building for the Sabbath evening.

The choir of the Methodist Church at Fleetwood will furnish music for the occasion.

Public Schools.

The Public Schools of the village are in full swing, and we have two new teachers. The schools have been painted and generally repaired, and have the appearance of activity.

Continuation School.

A great boon has come to the village in the new Continuation School. It has been in operation about two weeks, and has from 12 to 14 pupils.

This school will afford two years' High School work to scholars who have passed the Entrance, but are too young to leave home, and will also be a great curtailing of expense by allowing scholars to board at home while attending High School.

Young People's Work.

Young people's work will begin in the Methodist Church on Friday evening next by a social evening and a great young people's rally.

The Crops.

Notwithstanding the unparalleled drought of the past three months, the crops are "not too bad." Threshing is on the hum, and we learn that the grain is turning out very well. Corn has developed wonderfully since the rain began a month ago, but the buckwheat is likely to be caught by early frost, although we have no right to predict such possibilities.

Late potatoes have great promise, and dairy products are abundant. Fruit is scarce owing to the dry weather, but the gardens seem to be as good as usual.

Personals.

Rev. Mr. Walker is in Port Hope for a much needed rest.

Mrs. (Rev.) Ross has returned from camping at Bass Lake with Mr. and Mrs. Diamond of Steenburg.

While Rev. and Mrs. Ross were away for holidays, the Ladies' Aid found they way into the parsonage, and had a wonderful surprise for Mrs. Ross on her return. All was painted and shining.

Mrs. John McGill is improving in health, but does not gain strength quickly.

Our new school teachers, Miss Boawn of Wingham and Miss Gray of Millbrook, have made a fine impression. Miss Boawn teaches in the Continuation Department.

FLOWER SHOW AT EXHIBITION NEEDS MORE ROOM JUDGE SAYS

Best Effects of Display Lost By Crowding — Special Commendation For Jordan Brothers and Several Other Exhibitors

THE PRIZE-WINNERS

Mr. Fred Adams, of Toronto, who judged the flower show at the Exhibition, made the following annotation in one of the books which he returned to the secretary:

"Exhibits as a whole too crowded. Double your present space urgently needed. In all collections arrangement should be taken into consideration and points awarded thereon."

The directors have realized the steadily increasing requirements of the floral section of the Exhibition, and have been deterred from making permanent accommodation only by the demands of other departments which have been traditionally given priority.

Mr. Adams compliments some of the exhibitors upon phases of their showing. Referring to the splendid display of Jordan Bros., he says:—"This exhibitor highly commended for the general good quality shown, and especially for the interest taken in the number of entries."

Jordan Brothers were the only prize winners in the professional class, and were awarded the first prize in each of the ten sections of this class. They were the best group of greenhouse plants, also collections of coleus fuchias ferns begonias, rex and flowering, geraniums in pots, gladioli, and floral basket and floral design.

Mr. Adams wrote the following comment on J. H. Callonder's excellent collection of gladioli which were displayed but not entered in the competition: "The exhibit of gladioli by J. H. Callander is particularly drawn to the directors' attention, and highly commended."

Mr Adams pointed out that the aster collection was much too crowded. Lesser number show to better advantage, he also suggested. He recommended a separate class for primulini, instead of including them with the gladioli, and advised a condition that the actual stems should not exceed 15 inches in length, bloom not included.

George W. Downer, winner of the first prize in zinnias, was highly commended by the judge, but he pointed out that in the hand bouquet competition for Dave Jordan's prize some of the entries were much too large and were not properly tied.

The flower show this year brought out a few new exhibitors who did surprisingly well. John Edgar broke into the pansy collection for first prize which W. H. Young has been carrying off for a number of years, and Alpine MacNab is credited with the first money for the best bouquet of wild flowers. A. E. Prest, Lansdowne street, won the gladioli collection honours, and in a number of other classes he also led the field.

GET AROUND THE LAKE REGULATION

OTTAWA, September 14. — The liberal construction placed upon the new Lake Shipping Act by the Grain Commission and confirmed by the Justice Department, is expected to overcome the objecton of the United States shipping interests and permit them taking part in the wheat crop movement down the lakes.

One American rate to Buffalo filed yesterday at 4 cents from Fort William for a ship with a capacity of 365,000 bushels. A chart supplied by the Grain Commission indicates that 200,000,000 bushels will have to be moved by December, and places at 140,000,000 bushels the carrying capacity of Canadian vessels. Meanwhile steps to provide for the shortage have to be taken, and if they were not successful the situation would be serious, but it is claimed that American shippers have been under a misapprehension as to the real meaning of the Act, and that when this is cleared up will come in, as one did yesterday.

The impression which has prevailed is that all lines have to post their rates for each shipment on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange. The Act really provides that such rates must be filed with the Grain Commission as interpreted by the Commission, a telegram to the Board advising that a contract has been made and quoting the rate or a copy of the "charter party" suffices to comply with the Act. Moreover, this, it is said, will be treated confidentially and not made public. The tabulation of such rates, called for by the Act, is for the Minister of Trade and Commerce and not for public use.

What is necessary to be posted on the exchange and with the Grain Board is the cargo space allotted by brokers. It is held to be unnecessary to designate the ship. This proviso, while objected to by the brokers, is not considered a particular concern of the vessel owners.

If the Amercan shipping should keep out of the lake grain movement, the situation undoubtedly would be serious, but it is believed here that with misapprehension of the Act removed this shipping will come in at the vital period.

ISSUES STATEMENT ON CHURCH UNION

TORONTO, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press.)— Signed by Principal Gandier, Moderator of General Assembly, and by Rev. Dr. G. C. Pidgeon, convenor of the Assembly's committee on church union, a statement was issued yesterday to ministers, members and adherents of the Presbyterian church in Canada covering the Assembly's action on church unibn and requesting ministers to submit same to their congregations.

"The question of church union is now finally settled," it reads, "and settled by the church itself, and proposed legislation when secured will simply give effect to civil law to union as agreed upon by overwhelming majorities of our people, our presbyteries and our assemblies."

This statement is issued in obedience to instructions given by the last Assembly.

It is emphasized therein that "the Presbyterian church in Canada is a free church," and that it has acted in strict accordance with its constitution and laws in deciding to enter union. Hope is expressed that these who have hitherto consistently opposed union may now ask themselves whether the time has not come to accept the final decision of their church. It is urged that "even where individual judgments differ from the will of the church, it is surely the duty of individual members to fall in line with the majority of their brethren rather than bear the onus of disrupting the church and perpetuating needless divisions. Unless this principle is conceded, organized democracy in either church or state becomes impossible."

INTERNATIONAL UNIONS.

World's Secretary Addresses Trade at Labor Congress.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 14.—A great many of the problems confronting labor, including the eight-hour day, must be solved internationally, declared J. R. Brown, secretary of the International Federation of Trades Unions, in an address before the Dominion Congress this afternoon.

President Tom Moore he said, had attended a number of the federation conferences and his services were recognized as a very valuable contribution to the world trade union movemnt.

Th federation was conducting a big "no war" campaign which was bearing fruit. When Poland prepared to make war on Russia, affiliated members were asked to refuse to handle munitions for Poland and war was prevented. When the monarchists in Germany attempted a coup, a general strike had spoiled their plot in a few days.

A Steel Industry For the Western Province.

LONDON, Sept. 14. —(Canadian Press Cable.)—Hon. John Hart, minister of finance for British Columbia, who will leave for Canada this week, has informed the Canadian Press that he has been greatly encouraged by the attitude of the leading representatives of the British iron and steel industries towards the development of the mineral resources of British Columbia.

Mr. Hart said he was impressed by their enthusiasm for the scheme of establishing on a large scale an iron and steel industry in British Columbia.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid Held Opening Meeting --Personal Mention.

CAMPBELLFORD, September 14 —The first regular meeting of St. Andrew's Ladies' Aid since the holiday, on 13th September, with an attendance of twenty-one. After the usual routine of reports and business, Miss Bonnycastle sang "Killarney" in her usual good voice, and Mrs. Hume gave a very interesting talk on prayer being the life of all church work. After this, there was a half-hour of social intercourse and light refreshments were served.

Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Dolman are visiting Mr. and Mrs. F. C. Fox at Oshawa.

The many friends of Mrs T. E. Moffat, of Tweed, late of Campbellford, will be sorry to hear of her illness. She has been taken to Ottawa for a second operation, and there is little hope of her recovery.

Mrs. A. L. Malcolm and children returned home yesterday after a week's visit in Toronto and Port Perry.

Miss Mary Patterson is visiting friends in Toronto, Markdale, and Eugenia Falls.

Mr. and Mrs. John O'Shea announce the engagement of their daughter, Laura, to L. F. Collins, of Campbellford, the marriage to take place in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Empson and their two children, Mr. Robert Empson, and Mrs. Hurvid motored from Cannington and spent the day with the former's mother, Mrs. Empson, who is spending a few weeks with Dr. Lilian and Mrs. L. G. Young.

Mrs. E. Cochrane and son Lionel have gone to Toronto to reside.

Charlie Lee, the proprietor of the Royal Cafe, has gone on an extended trip to China.

Miss Evelyn Weston has accepted a position on the Public Schooi staft at Sault Ste. Marie.

Miss Sara Nevin has returned from a three weeks' visit with friends in Tonawanda, Buffalo, and other places of interest in New York State.

Mr. and Mrs. George Ivey, Jr., are moving thi sweek from th bungalow on Front Street to an apartment in the Townsend Block.

Miss Helen Campbell has returned from her holidays, and has taken up residence with Miss Wood, Booth Street.

Mrs. Rheinhart (nee Miss Dorothy Colville) has been in town recently.

Mr and Mrs. Harry Bertrand are moving to Norwood. Mr. Bertrand has a position with the Watkins Co. for Norwood and district.

Mr. J. Ernest Birks, druggist, has purchased the building which he has been using as a drug store. He intends fitting up the upstairs as an apartment and residing there.

Mr. Joel McArthur, butcher, has purchased that part of the Frederick block now occupied by Mr. John Gay as a grocery. He will still rent the store and carry on butcher business where he is.

B. C. H. Becker, of Brighton, insurance and real estate agent, was in town yesterday.

Among those who attended the Peterborough Fair were Mr. and Mrs. T. Varcoe, Mr. and Mrs. Merrills, Mrs. Nesbitt, Miss Archer, and Mrs. D. A. Mitchell.

Mr and Mrs. Clarence Long are home from Detroit.

Mr and Mrs. L. Winter, of Rochester, N.Y., are visiting the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Cameron Grand Road.

Mr. Robert Greenly was at Healey Falls yesterday.

SHOE INDUSTRY HERE DEVELOPS

Home Product in Front Rank in Style and Material.

The wonderful development of the shoe industry in Canada has placed the home product in the very front rank in style, material, workmanship and finish. The best evidence of this lies in the fact that nearly ninety-five per cent. of the shoes worn in Canada to-day are Canadian made.

Canadian shoe manufacturers have at their command all the resources in materials, machinery and skilled workmen possessed by the United States or Great Britain. The fact that Canadian leathers find a ready market in both these countries is a guarantee of its quality.

Formerly some excuse existed for the use of foreign made goods on account of a somewhat more extended range of sizes and width especially in women's fine shoes. Today a complete range of styles and widths to suit all needs will be found in medium and high grade goods "Made in Canada" at prices that compare favorably with any foreign market.

With skilled Canadian workmen and the most modern machinery and methods it is no longer necessary to send abroad for our fine shoes. Let us keep our skilled workmen in Canada.

A SCHOOL FAIR HOPE TOWNSHIP

The List of Frizewinners --6 Schools Entered the Parade.

MILLBROOK, Sept. 14. — The schools of Hope township held a successful rural fair at Garden Hill on Thursday afternoon, the unfavorable weather diminishing the attendance considerably though the number of exhibits was larger than at either of the precding fairs this week. Of the eight schools in the district, six entered the parade, Colonel Odell and Captain G. Adkin, of Port Hope, being the judges and expressing themselves as much pleased with the precision in marching, banners, uniforms, drills, etc., the manner in which the work was done being especially credtiable in view of the fact that in this district, as in others, several new teachers have been engaged this year and the latter have found themselves handicapped by the brief period for preparation.

The display of fancy work, baking, flowers, vegetables, fruit, etc., in the tent was unusually good and gave the judges some difficulty in deciding upon the awards in the various classes. The directors chosen from the pupils of the different schools, were: Harvey Palmer, S.S. No. 10; Elmore Scott, No. 11; Ina Bell, No. 12; Edna Mercer, No. 13; Ruby Wilson, No. 15; Arthur Mercer, No. 16; Violet Bell, No. 17; Irene Beatty, No. 18.

The winners in the parade were: Osaka, S.S. No. 10, Miss Sleeman, teacher, 96 points; Elizabethville, S. S. No. 13, Miss Grant, teacher, 84 points; Perrytown, S.S. No. 12, Miss Noble, teacher, 81 points; Oak Hill, S. S. No. 18, Miss Sanderson, teacher, 72 points; Beech Hill, S. S. No. 15, Miss L. Findlay, teacher, 65 points ;Pine Grove, S.S. No. 16, Miss Cochrane, teacher, 54 points.

Only one school, Perrytown, entered the physical culture competition.

GOOD RACES AT THE BIG FAIR

What Departmental Judge Thinks of the Peterboro Exhibition -- Larger Crowd Thursday

Yesterday's attendance at the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition did more than anything else to indicate the greater interest being taken by the citizens of the city in this annual event. The attendance was not as large as on the second day last year, but it was much larger than might have been expected considering the condition of the weather.

The figures were 5,373 all day yesterday; 5,601 on the corresponding day last year.

The principal attraction yesterday afternoon was the horse racing in the 2.15 and named classes.

In the 2.15 class, four heats, the following were placed:

First—Major Hal, by Star Hal, owned by Stan. Blewett, of Peterboro, and driven by J. Sutherland and Jones, finished 2—1—1—1.

Second—Bucko, by Bengara, owned and driven oy R. Elmhurst, Lang, finished 1—4—4—4.

Third—Polly Stout, by Colonel Forster, owned by R. Elmhurst, Lang, and driven by Albert Bone, finished 4—2—2—2.

Fourth—Bub, by Hal E, owned and driven by Charles Moyse, Port Hope, finished 3—3—3—3.

Time for the 2.15 class: 2.20, 2.24¼, 2.24½, and 2.24½.

The judges found it necessary to unseat driver Sutherland and awarded Jones $10 for driving the horse to win.

Charles Moyse, driving Bub, was thrown from his sulky at the take off in front of the grand stand, but escaped injury. His unguided horse caused apprehension as it raced beside the other drivers, who gradually slowed until Bub was caught.

Named Race.

The 2.30 class was withdrawn for yesterday and a named race substituted. The placing was:

First—Mack R, by Bobby Patch, owned asd driven by Steve. McQuigg, Havelock, finished 1—1—1.

Second—Lady Manor, by Lord Direct, owned and driven by R. Elmhurst, Lang, finished 2—2—2.

Third—Prince K, by Prince Arundel, owned and driven by Charlie Fife, Lang, finished 3—3—3.

Fourth—Herman W, by Herman Winger, owned and driven by Ed. Jones, Peterboro, finished 4—4—5.

Fifth—Alta Dewey, by Alta Dewey, owned by Dr. Robertson, Peterboro, and driven by W. Brown, finished 5—5—4.

Drawn—Zulo, by Tim Alert, owned by O. B. McIlvena, Warsaw, finished 6—6—drawn in the third heat.

Time for the named race: 2.29¼, 2.29½, and 2.31.

Splendid Races.

The starter, R. W. Stewart, of Newmarket, said the races were splendid. While not so fast as some, he said the events were well contested.

The judges were Gus. White and Merton Storey. Timekeepers: Fred. Jones and George Lipsett. Clerk: Charles Schooley, Peterboro.

For the named race the purse was $300, and for the 2.15 class $250.

Racing terminated in heavy rain at 6.20, and was delayed throughout by intermittent showers.

J. H. Davidson, secretary of the Cobourg Summer Horse Show, and Departmental judge, said this is the best Exhibition he has attended this year. Mr. Davidson has a big circuit, covering all of the Province of Ontario, and his opinion is not ligthly given.

"The quality of the stock is good," he said. "This is quite the best County Fair I have been at this year, and is as good as any I have ever attended."

The senior Salvation Army Band supplied the music yesterday at the new band stand.

Automobiles from Ohio, New York, Smith's Falls, Toronto and many other cities in Ontario and the United States were parked in the Exhibition Grounds.

An added attraction promised was a parachute drop from an aeroplane, but Webber Turner stated last night that this has been unavoidably omitted. A telegram received by the Board reported that the apparatus was burned in a fire at Queebc, and the owner, C. R. Farley, is unable to fulfil the contract.

To-day's racing is in the 2.20 and 2.30 class, with purses of $250 each.

At 8.30 o'clock to-night, when Firpo and Dempsey enter the ring at New York, the Examiner will open a bulletin which will report the bout round by round.

POWER RATES CUT BY HYDRO ELECTRIC

Large Number of Western and Central Ontario Localities Are Beneficiaries.

TORONTO, September 14. Canadian Press. — The Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario yesterday handed out a statement giving the names of three cities, thirty-five towns, seventy villages and one township, all located with several exceptions, in Central and Western Ontario, which are to receive immediate benefit power rate reductions. Windsor, Chatham and Owen Sound are three cities awarded rate cuts by the Hydro officials' annual readjustment to an operating cost basis.

74 THOUSAND BODIES CREMATED IN TOKIO

WASHINGTON September 14.—Canadian Press.—Seventy-four thousand bodies were cremated in Tokio up to September 10th, the Japanese embassy was informed yesterday in despatches from its foreign office dealing with the earthquake and re casualties. It is estimated that there were one and a half million casualties in the catastrophe.

More than two hundred thousand are said to be dead.

Batteries Turned on the Eclipse

The Mount Wilson Observatory Battery of Astronomical Instruments focused upon the total eclipse of the sun near San Diego, Calif. All were mounted on a revolving platform operated by a clock motor.

(By Jack Jungmeyer.)

SAN DIEGO, September 13. — On 10th September "the moon swallowed the sun," as a solar eclipse was once fearfully interpreted, the mysteries of the sun's halo or corona was probed by the most powerful astronomical instruments ever assembled for such an event.

Along the path of total shadow, sweeping across the Pacific, skirting the extreme south-western edge of California and on through Mexico, a dozen famous observatories have established field stations. The eclipse lasted slightly more than three minutes in any spot, and elaborate rehearsals and precautions had been made to make the most of the precious seconds.

It is during such brief intervals, often spaced years apart in civilised lands, that the astronomical world has a chance to make records of the sun's gaseous outer envelope, then clearly distinguishable from the main solar body which is screened by the moon.

And it is from such records that valuable additions are being made to the scientific story of the universe and of human life on this little grain of gyrating dust.

Outer Envelope Mysteries.

The exact nature of the sun's outer envelope has yet to be definitely determined, and the present eclipse will be utilised chiefly for that purpose, just as the one last year, observed in Australia, was studied chiefly as a test of the Einstein theory of curved stellar light. Extending some two and a half million miles from the sun's surface, more or less at different periods, is this gaseous substance, unlike anything on earth. It has heat and luminosity.

Several instruments never before trained upon the corona during an eclipse were employed by the Mount Wilson Observatory field staff, at San Diego, such as the interferometer and the radiometer, the latter so delicately sensitive to heat that it would react to a candlelight 8,000 miles distant.

While astronomers plied their implements at San Diego, Catalina, Ensenada, and points in Mexico, chickens and animals went to sleep at midday on 10th September. Stars were visible in the path of artificial night, and ordinary spectators, trainbinoculars and smoked glasses, momentarily echoed that ancient terror which once hurled men prostrate under the eerie gloom.

Elaborate Preparations.

The most complete set of instruments were wielded by the Mount Wilson Observatory representatives at Point Loma and Lakeside, near San Diego. The Point Loma instruments, all mounted on one revolving table, include direct photograph telescopes, spectrographs, interferometer and radiometer. At the instant the moon's surface began to slide over the sun, a timekeeper began to toll off the seconds with each of a score of men taking his cue for the insertion and removal of plates and the necessary time exposures.

Other observatories represented at points in the path of totality were Yerkes, Washburn from Wisconsin, Goodsell of Minnesota, Lick of California, McCormick of Virginia, the University of Paris, Sproule of Pennsylvania, Flagstaff and the University of Arizona, Potsdam of Germany, and several Mexican institutions.

Again in 1941.

This same position eclipse will occur again on 21st September, 1941, and will then be total through the region of the Philippines and Siam, each recurrence moving westward by about 18 hours. The last was seen in Egypt in 1905. Other positions have, however, occurred since then.

ECLIPSE DATA.

Shadow cast by the moon when directly under the sun will be approximately 100 miles in diameter.

The shadow will travel south-easterly, passing over all the islands off the Southern California coast, with the Island of San Clemente exactly on the central line of the shadow path.

Eclipses, such as the one of 10th September, occur on an average of one every twenty-two months, most of which are inaccessible due to the shadow path falling over the ocean or in the Arctic and Antarctic wastes.

More than 100 scientific bodies representing most of the foremost universities and astronomical bodies of the world have been located at vantage points where the shadow will be visible in its totality on mountain peaks in the area to be totally eclipsed.

An early historical reference relates that when the two learned Chinese astronomers named Hi and Ho forgot to calculate an eclipse under the Emperor Tshun-Kang, the people were plunged into fear when darkness covered the earth and all time reckonings thrown into confusion. As penalty for their negligence the Emperor had the astronomers' heads removed.

Peace was declared and a battle between the Medes and Persians halted, 28th May, 5885 B.C., when the sun was suddenly blotted out in the midst of the fighting, causing the ancients to believe that the gods disapproved of their struggle and the bloodshed.

During the eighteenth century solar eclipses were looked upon with superstition, medical authorities even going to the precaution of sealing all wells to prevent them being contaminated by the poisonous mists which were believed to emanate from the eclipse shadows.

FAILED

In July, 1406, business firms failed, totaling the whole country. Their liabilities exceeded their assets by about 19 million dollars. Or, in other words, their creditors apparently will lose 19 millions after the dear departeds' books are wound up.

In July, 1913, a normal year, there were 1065 failures. Liabilities exceeded assets by 16 million dollars. Prices were lower and a dollar represented twice as much materials and actual business in 3933 as it does today.

So, in the matter of commercial mortalities, general business is functioning about normally.

CELLS TO BECOME SCHOOLS IN NEW EDUCATION PLAN.

Greatest Step Forward in Prison Work is Project Named the Intra-Wall Correspondence Schools.

COLUMBUS 12 Sept.—(Associated Press).—Born in the mind of Chaplain T. O. Reed of the Ohio penitentiary as he watched men brood in their cells during idle time an idea which those who are fostering it declare has been hailed as "the greatest step forward in prison work in years" shortly will be put into execution in penitentiaries of the country.

The project has been named the Intra-Wall Correspondence Schools and its object is to provide means whereby convicts in their cells may obtain an education in whatever they wish.

Chaplain Reed has operated such a school in the Ohio penitentiary for 14 months. The students number 1 600 out of a population of 2 500.

Now with the aid of Napoleon Hill of New York publisher of a monthly magazine Intra-Wall Schools are being established in the federal prison at Altanta Ga. and a budget of $1 500 000 has been set to extend the work to every penitentiary in the United States.

According to Mr. Hill the greatest employers of labor in the United States have endorsed the plan and have assured him that every man turned out by the Intra Wall School and vouched for by its officers will be given a position in the work for which he has fitted himself as soon as prison gates close behind him.

They also have assured him declared Mr. Hill that nothing will be made known of the graduate's past life and that he will take his place on equal terms with all other employes.

"What we want to do" said Mr. Hill "is to meet mentally these men who are shut off from the outside world. We're going to prove to them that they have something to look forward to then put in their hands the tools with which they can carve out their future."

Wardens and chaplains of penitentiaries in every section of the country have agreed to support the schools and governors of 45 states have endorsed them. Mr. Hill has agreed to donate $2 500 to each school as it is founded. National headquarters of the system will be established here, with Chaplain Reed as director.

As soon as the Atlanta school is functioning a third will be established in the Fort Leavenworth Kansas prison and after that two states will be taken at a time.

An administration building to cost $100 000 is planned for Columbus.

The method is the same as that of recognized correspondence schools. At the Ohio penitentiary the lessons have been turned out on a hand press by the prisoners. The idea has taken such hold there according to Chaplain Reed that it is not unusual to hear men calling to each other from their cells "I got 95 in arithmetic today; boy I beat you."

Red-headed girls are supposed to be the vogue this winter. Better get you a couple.

ASSEMBLY KILLS MOVE TO RELEASE GANDHI

SIMLA India Sept. 12.—(Associated Press).—A resolution calling for the early release of Mahatma Gandhi and other political prisoners was defeated after a heated debate in the national Legislative Assembly in its present summer session here.

Seshagiri Iyer speaking in behalf of the resolution gave a brief history of the political movement in India beginning with the inception of the National Congress in 1885. The European war he said gave us an impetus to democratic ideals which was supplemented by the announcement made in Parliament in 1917 that the British government intended to introduce legislation for the "gradual development of self governing institutions" and the "progressive realization of responsible government." Mr. Iyer pleaded that "honest and sincere patriots who chose the role of non co operators for what they believed to be the service of the country and who single mindedly devoted themselves to that service should not be allowed to rot in jails."

Sir Malcolm Hailey representing the administration opposed the motion saying: "Heaven knows that I wish to keep no man in prison longer than it is necessary to satisfy the claims of justice and the interests of peace. I have no animus against any of these misguided prisoners. I only guard the peace and contentment of India. I believe that one thing we should have to fear if they are released in the recurrence of that widespread disorder which characterized India during the last two years."

The resolution was lost by a vote of 40 to 22.

91 ENTRANTS AT BABY SHOW

Big Contest Tent at Exhibition Almost Swamped Yesterday—94 Boys, 42 Girls.

The Baby Show tent at the Exhibition yesterday was almost swamped with the number of entries. In yesterday's class from six to eighteen months of age, a total of 91 babies, with 49 boys and 42 girls came in for examination, and they made a showing of which Peterboro and the district should well be proud. The percentage among the competing babies was so high that the judges were unable to make a final decision, and agreed to leave the matter over until next Tuesday, when a minute and detailed examination of the high-mark infants will be made at the Well Babies' Clinic rooms in the G.W.V.A. hall on Murray street, commencing at 2 p.m. Examining physicians and referee doctors will be present, and the final decision will then be made.

There are six prizes in this section three for girls and three for boys.

In the girl babies' class, three small ladies came very close to perfection, and they will all receive a prize, the only difficulty in their case being the order in which they shall come. others of girl babies who will come to the Clinic on Tuesday for re-examination of their infants are: Mrs. James Milne of Campbellford Mrs. Joseph Gentille, 471 Parnell street and Mrs. Fred Austin care of Wm. Shields, R.R. No. 2 Peterboro.

The Boys' Section

In the boys' section the children of eight mothers. will have to be re-examined as follows: Mrs. Gordon Eason, 217 Prince street, Mrs. Payton 33 Benson avenue, Mrs. H. McMann 32 Lafayette avenue, Mrs. Shewen Burleigh Falls, Mrs. C. Barringer, 226 Murray street Mrs. Alf Weatherhead, 9 Cricket Place.

The majority of the entrants were from Peterboro and majority, also were babies whose mothers are constant attendants at the Well Babies' Clinic and who have pofited by advice and instruction received there. The spectacle of nearly a hundred infants most of them smiling and happy, all dressed up in their best bibs and tuckers that met the eye of the casual observer of the Baby Show tent yesterday was one of the most attractive features of the Fair. They cooed and gurgled and made eyes at admiring visitors in the most approved manner, just as if they knew perfectly well that a good deal depended on exemplary behavior.

Eight From Country

Eight babies were from outside the city limits, four boys and four girls one each from Havelock, Lakefield, Fraserville, Indian River, Downer's Corners and Burleigh Falls and two from Campbellford.

The lowest award made to one from each class was seventy marks. All others ranked from eighty-four marks up, and in the ninety marks and over section there were twenty-nine girl babies and thirty-three boys. Which means that sixty-nine per cent if the total of girl babies shown and over sixty-seven per cent of the boy babies were practically perfect children while the balance were eighty-four per cent. perfect.

The babies have a very scientific and thorough examination, with twenty marks each awarded for weight, feeding, clothing, absence of physical defects and absence of bad habits such as thumb-sucking, etc. There was no fuss at the Clinic yesterday. The proceedings were carried out in an orderly and methodical manner each mother on arrival receiving a numbered ticket which gave her a place in the examining schedule. Mr. Harvey Staunton acted for the Fair Board in keeping order and Mrs. Wm. Galbraith, assisted by Mrs. F. C. Neal, acted as secretary. Mrs. R. J. Devey and Mrs. J. Black also assisted materially in the work, and Mrs. G. M. McCartney and Miss E. Davidson were nurses in attendance. Examining physicians were Dr. Phyllis Young and Drs. Eastwood, Carmichael McDougall, Harvey.

To Avoid Confusion

To avoid confusion, the Baby Show managers have decided to make another change in the awarding of prizes. As the final agreement with regard to yesterday's prize winners, and possibly also, to-day's awards, will not be made until re-examination of the high-mark babies is made at the Well Babies' Clinic next Tuesday afternoon, it has been decided to make all awards of prizes in every section at the same time.

Presentation of Prizes

Presentation of prizes in all classes of babies shown at the Fair will be made at the Well Babies' Clinic on next Tuesday afternoon, September 18th. from two o'clock on, and members of the Fair Board Drectorate will be present also when the prizes awarded by them and by private donors will be given.

The GRESSMAN Company Limited

Chic

Handbags that impart a finishing touch to the Suit or street frock costume are smartest when flatest and are frequently of black patent and often of smoke colored suede.

Wraps

It's easy to smile when sharp winds blow if you can snuggle down in the collar of one of these fur trimmed Wraps. The rich pile fabrics with their soft fur trimmings are lovely to touch. The designs also are very intriguing with their long, slim silhouettes sometimes broken by little circular surprises and others show bias insets of self material running to the point of waist; trim mings of Isobel Fox, grey quirrel or beaver with matching cuffs.

French

Gloves in the clever new styles assembled here. Many have tiny flaring cuffs attractively embroidered or beaded. Mode mole, beaver and dark greys are glove colors, agreeable to new suits and wraps.

Suits

Fall is the ideal time for a Suit. When the wind blows one is warm and comfortable and still very trim. Many of the smart fall models are elaborately trimmed in a way that makes them very luxurious Embroideries, soutache braid worked in intricate designs with embroidered motifs are also extensively used.

Glimpsing the Fall Fashions

THE silhouette that the coming Fall casts before us is eagerly sought by all women. For do they not herald what Paris decrees? It is for this that Milady awaits without, breathlessly and on tip toe, that no detail may be lost of this all important announcement.

New Colors

Sandalwood — Rich light brown.
Hindu—A very dark brown.
Besque—A light tan.
Kings Blue—A very bright blue.
Smoke—Greyish brown.
Luxor—A brilliant blue.

Hosiery

Hose that best perform their fashion duties are colored to blend with new costumes These show all the newest greys, tans and browns in silk and you should see those in all wool and silk and wool. They're different, too.

Linens

Direct from the bleaching fields of Ireland, georgeously beautiful pieces by the yard and many that are neatly hemstitched in such forms as cloth runners, and trays and we must not forget to mention those georgeous damask cloths in the Willow pattern and others that you will find just as enticing. So now when friends make merry as the festive board let Old Bleach Linens lend their spotless beauty to the occasion.

Interesting piéces shown on our street floor.

Millinery

Entirely different in outline—distinguished not alone by distinctive design and excellent quality but also you are getting the latest Parisian modes in trimmed millinery. There are multitudes of attractive velvets, galy trimmed in the seasons most appropriate colors.

A fascinating display of Parisian models for Fall now on exhibit.

New Materials

Roshanara Crepes—Silk or wool filled crepes.
Poiret Twill—A very fine twilled woolen.
Brocades—Byzantine patterns; metallic traceries.
Creep Satins—Lustrous fabrics promise favour over dull.

Shoes

Footwear fashions show appealing newness Slippers of fall will provide final touches of comfort and smartness to many costumes, There are countless shades of brown and sand that blend beautifully with new costume colors. Heavier oxfords are shown in browns.

Velvets

Fall has settled upon Velvet, these soft, richly colored fabrics will lend themselves beautifully to new draping effects and fashion exquisite frocks for day and evening. They range in colors from light browns, reds, blues to a deep cerise in costume velvets and velveteens.

Three-piece suits of Velveteen are decidedly a la mode and very dressy.

Neckwear

Smart neckwear wins many a frock success. In this day of the lace trimmed dress how nice it is to rip one collar off and have another fresh to slip on. Frills, tailored bits of daintiness, plaited nets, straight collars, tuxedos and round ones. Indeed they have powers to transform a frock from tailored type to afternoon dress and vice versa.

The Epaulette is something decidely new in collars. We have them.

Frocks

Its just the dress for an afternoon tea. Of course, it can be worn for a bridge game or a little informal dinner party quite as nicely Many of these new Dresses are characterized by simplicity of line with an added interest of unusual sleeve insertion and unexpected trimmings.

Heavy Canton crepe, satin faced charmeuse, satin and Georgette are popular materials.

Outfitting

The girl who goes away to school. Clothes, Clothes! What a large part of the school miss' thoughts they do take up! An interesting subject always, they must be most thoughtfully planned when one is going away to school. Daughter will want clothes of the smartest for her numerous activities. The Store's collection, assembled especially for her, will fill her needs adequately and at a favorable cost.

Woollens

Likeable English weaves. Sports clothes—skirts, suits and coats. That is the first suggestion of these new Woolens, so gaily striped so smartly woven. New tan and grey wool cantons await quick transformation into wrap around skirts. Interesting velours and Bolivias and Marvella clothes promise other warm and attractive clothes for one's own and the children's winter days.

Tricotines have become popular and incidentally smarter in new top-coat fabrics.

Skirt and Sweater Combination

A separate skirt is the foundation of many costumes when worn with a dainty blouse or a sweater the result is always pleasing. The college girl long ago adopted this combination as one of her favorites because its serviceableness and attractiveness. It can be worn to the office, to the classroom, or for a morning twosome on the links, mostly plaids and small checks, many showing pleats.

Silks

Fascinating Silks for Fall costumes have been arriving daily. Now there is a full array of beautiful materials that will be displayed in our silk department Saturday. Every woman, curious as she must be to see what this new season has in store, is most welcome to this showing. She will enjoy it thoroughly and derive much interesting information therefrom.

What more lovely for a young girl than a bouffant evening frock of chiffon shot taffeta.

New Gordon Chamois Cloth Gloves, 98c Pair

And these are French too that you cannot mistake for they strikingly pretty embroidered backs that only the nimble fingers from that far land could do and there is a certain daintiness in their tiny flare cuffs with strap wrists. In order to create added interest to our Fall showing of smart apparel these will be sold tomorrow at 98c.

Women's Silk and Wool Hose 95c Pair

Drop in on your way to the exhibition and have us send you a few pairs of these fall and winter silk and wool Hose. T'would be foolish to miss an opportunity such as this for they all have double soles and heels and this is a new line just received into stock with the hordes of new fall merchandise that is daily pouring into our store. The color range includes dark grey, polo and beige.

BRITISH OCCUPATION OF GERMAN PORTS PLANNED

Counter-Move to French Seizure of Ruhr Planned to Meet Situation Suggested By Sir Charles Ross.

By SIR CHARLES ROSS, Bart.

LONDON, Sept. 14 (United Press).—M. Poincare has chosen to cloak his disagreement with the British note of Aug. 11 in a document of unprecedented length, containing a whole school of red-herring. But beneath this cloud of words, the official French position is clear.

It would minimize her attitude to say that M. Poincare merely shows himself firm in essentials. Not only does he refuse to budge an inch; he refuses the slightest concession to any other point of view. He is indeed, ready to talk further, but he bangs the gate on anything which can make further talk of any use. Every British suggestion is either flatly or tacitly rejected. More than this, in effect he repudiates the French debt to England by refusing to pay until Germany has paid a sum which every economist and every politician who has studied the question knows she is capable of paying. That stripped of diplomatic verbiage, is the plain sense of the Poincare note.

Premier Baldwin and Lord Curzon, after many postponements, are squarely up against the ultimate decision Great Britain has laid down certain fundamentals in the present European crisis as of vital interest to herself; she has offered serious financial sacrifices in return for the concession by France of these fundamentals, and threatened to take "separate action" if France remained obdurate.

France will have none of our offer. She frankly declines even to consider doing any of the things in return for which we offer to cancel the bulk of an indebtedness amounting to five billions.

If we had wanted to let France smash up the continent and stand aside while our trade went to ruin on the ground that we could not afford to interfere, that choice was open to us until Aug. 11. It is not now open.

"Separate action," then, is inevitable. What form is that action to take? Attacked by an unpatriotic press, for the first time in generations a British Government, faced by a foreign crisis of the first magnitude, has not behind it the solid support of the country. It has not been possible, owing to opposition even in the Cabinet itself, to elaborate an agreed plan of action to meet the contingency that has befallen.

It has been suggested that the Government's tentative schemes, excellent if brought forward at the right time do not, as we understand them, now go far enough.

An international commission to assess German capacity to pay can only report that that capacity depends upon when France leaves the Ruhr.

The proposal put forward was that "separate action" should embody a guarantee by this country of the territorial boundaries of the German Reich, and the occupation by Great Britain, conjointly with any of the allies who might join her, of the German ports.

The suggestion touched the French in a sensitive spot. They know well enough how they would fare in a scramble for reparations, with German exports and imports in British hands, and the Ruhr in theirs! Returning to domestic critics, we are told that it is absurd to criticise the French grabbing territory, and then to do the same thing ourselves But if France tears up the treaty as she has done, and our rights with it; if we are compelled to pay America the war's one indemnity, if France refuses, as she does refuse, to meet her bond to us, are we not then entitled to help ourselves as best we can? What else does "separate action" mean?

Acceptable to Germany?

We believe British financial control of Germany would be accepted by the German people themselves, as we certainly think it would be in Germany's interests to accept it.

Before we could collect duties at the German ports we should have to see to it that German finance was sufficiently stabilized and German industries sufficiently supplied with raw materials to do business with the outside world in spite of France in the Ruhr.

For a time we should be helping Germany, rather than Germany helping us. In the end we should get our 14.2 milliards of gold marks, in itself a matter not of the first importance, and we should have kept Central Europe from falling into chaos, and provided markets for ourselves.

By that time, in all probability, M. Poincare would have vanished like an evil dream, and France would supplicate for her share of the reparations under collection, a plea that we should probably generously grant, after deducting that little matter of the French debt to England.

If, instead, she continued her present course, France would have fallen into such an economic welter that, having rescued Germany, we should in ten years' time have to lead a salvage expedition, in our own commercial interests, for the restoration to their rightful place in the world of our misguided friends across the Channel.

CITY OF KANSAS IS INVADED BY NEGROES

By LINCOLN QUARBERG.
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 14 (United Press).—The traditional problem of the South—the negro and his status in the economic and political structure—confronts the North today.

The negro migration, which has left the South in the grip of an economic crisis, is creating congestion in Northern industrial centres and raising other racial questions, as yet unrecognized by the Northern white, but keenly felt by the black men.

Twenty-five thousand negroes, who deserted their Southland homes, have already passed through Kansas City en route to Northern cities, according to estimates of leaders in the colored race here.

The exodus has just begun, according to the negro leaders, who hail the migration as the "real deliverance" of the black men from what they declare was industrial and political prosecution.

Black laborers, many of them accompanied by their families, arrive here on every train from the South A majority of them pass through to other cities, where the industrial demands for cheap labor are more pressing.

Here the negro influx has created its own peculiar problems It has become chiefly one of living quarters for the pilgrims from Dixie Definitely segregated by custom, the 10,000 colored inhabitants of Kansas City's "black belt" welcome the invading "brethren" with a fraternal feeling.

Crowded Quarters

But the negroes here were already living in crammed quarters, and as the invasion grows the homes of the colored people become more crowded As many as three and four families share single apartments and small houses purchased or rented from whites on the border of "darktown" where the color line is being pushed back gradually and the black domain is being widened

"Kansas City, through custom and tradition, has set up its own peculiar barriers for the black man, but as the migration grows, difficulties are certain to arise," C. A. Franklin editor of the Kansas City Call, leading negro newspaper here, declared.

"The attitude of Kansas City whites toward the black man is one of intolerance and prejudice. It is not publicly or openly declared, but its spirit is manifest, and the negro feels it deeply."

NEW RENDERING OF BIBLE TRIED FOR CENTURIES.

Same Controversy Has Been Going On For At Least Six Hundred Years

CHICAGO, Sept. 14 (Associated Press).—While ministers and laymen are discussing the translation of the new testament by Professor E. J. Goodspeed of University of Chicago, into every day English, a long row of ancient Bibles at the Newberry Library here offers evidence that the same controversy has been going on at least 600 years, according to Pierce Butler, authority on early printing.

The Newberry contains virtually all the originals on the subject of how the Bible should be rendered in English. Many of them are suggestive of the old days when translating the Bible did more than cause criticism of the translators.

The first one published in English was Wiclif's new testament, 1380, manuscripts of which are extremely rare. The only reason that Wiclif died in his bed was that he had so many followers that nobody dared touch him, said Mr. Butler Like Professor Goodspeed, Wiclif and his disciples wanted a translation in every day speech.

This is an explanation from the 60-page defense of the plan which appeared in later editions: "First it is knowe that the best translation is out of Latyn into English, to translate after the sentence, and not oneli after the wordis, so that the sentence be as opin, either epenere, in English as in Latyn, and go not fer from the lettre."

Although this ancient manuscript is not at the Newberry the Bible of the next man who tried his hand at what he called "plough boy English" was William Tyndale, who later met death for his act. Not the least of the criticisms made against him was that he eliminated various terms dear to the hearts of the clergy.

Then came Myles Coverdale, 1537, who got out an English edition with the authority of the king and with the loved terms replaced. Two years later came the so-called Great Bible.

There are many other Bibles in the Newberry collection that recall vigorous criticism. The Bishops' Bible, 1568, pleased as a translation, but the pictures shocked the devout—Leda with her swans sprawled across a page, and a cut of the earl of Leceister, whose relation to the subject was considered somewhat dubious.

The Geneva Bible, translated by Protestant refugees after the accession of Queen Mary, still bears the name of "The Breeches Bible," because in the story of Adam and Eve the first man and woman are said to have made themselves breeches from fig leaves. The Douai Bible was printed by the English Catholics in 1609-10 refugees in their turn. This version is said to be an almost literal translation of the Latin Vulgate.

It is sometimes known as the "rosin Bible," because the familiar line, "There is no balm in Giliad," is translated "There is no rosin in Giliad." In another version the construction is "There is no treacle in Giliad."

"All translations should be made into every day English," Mr. Butler said. "Modern scholars know that the Greek of the new testament is vernacular Greek, that is, the Greek of the people, and not the literary language. Why, then, should not English translations be in homely every day speech?"

STINNES ON THE STAGE.

BERLIN, (United Press).—Hugo Stinnes has arrived. The German financial wizard appears as the hero of a new farce written by Hanns Budendey. The leading part of the grotesque playlet represents Stinnes. The three-act comedy is a take-off on present conditions in Germany. Naturally, since Stinnes is one of the leading characters in German life today, he assumes the most important role as a character of a play.

COMING COUNCIL TO MARK NEW ERA IN CATHOLICISM

All American Cardinals and Bishops Will Be Detained in Rome For a Long Time.

(By CAMILLO CIANFARRA)

ROME (By Mail to United Press)—As is its custom and in keeping with its old traditions, the Holy See is gradually acquainting the world with the true purport and importance of the event which, under the name of Ecumenic Council, is destined to mark a new era in the history of the church and, incidentally, detain in Rome for a long time all the American cardinals and bishops.

The announcement of the Ecumenic Council was made in few words by the Pope himself in the allocution delivered at the last secret consistory. The announcement gave no details and it was a month later that the church organs announced that the coming council would easily eclipse the last one, that of 1869-70.

A Long Council

Such councils, which only the Pope can call and are actually called only when grave questions affecting the church are to be discussed and settled are very rare events in the history of the Catholic church. In two thousand years only about twenty are registered, and the most important one was that of Trent, called by Clement VII. The church was then going through the gravest crisis in its history owing to the advent of Lutheranism and the Reformation. The council, which lasted from 1545 to 1563, and in the course of which five Popes died, sifted the whole dogmatic matter of the church and drafted out the present constitution and the largest part of the canon laws.

The second long one was that of Basle, which sat from 1431 to 1443.

As to the agenda and duration of the coming council, very little has so far been revealed. Catholic officials say that the Pope is enthusiastic and determined to hold the council during his Pontificate.

The opening date is also uncertain, but the Pope has repeatedly told to his collaborators that he will personally question all the bishops of the world on their visit to Rome in 1925, which is a Jubilee year, and will afterward set the date. Christmas day, 1925, has been suggested as an appropriate day for the opening of the council.

As to the agenda, very little has been said except that this time no dogma would be discussed, and the council would confine itself to religious questions and the education of the modern priests.

Last One Hurried

During the last few days Vatican circles have discreetly hinted at probable important debates. As is known, the council of 1870, besides ratifying the dogma of the Immaculate Conception, and establishing that of the infallibility of the Pope, closed its works in September in great hurry, owing to the capture of the city by the Italian troops and the dethronization of the Pontiff as ruler of the Pontifical States. The council branded the fact as an act of military robbery, and practically bound Pope Pius IX. to defend to the last the patrimony of the church.

Vatican prelates explain that the Roman question dates from that day, and that it is only another ecumenic council that can authorize the Pope to renounce the territories once belonging to the church and empower him to sign a treaty of peace with Italy.

Harmonize Policies

But will the Roman question be placed on the agenda? The question is hard to answer today, but as the council will undoubtedly revise the policies of the church from the point of view of harmonizing them with modern times, a decision on the subject is extremely likely.

As to the duration of the coming council, very little can be said now. The one that closed in 1870 opened late in 1869 and would have continued for some months yet had not the Italian troops entered Rome on the 20th of September. What is certain is that over 1,200 bishops out of the 1,500 existing will be in Rome, and that the council will be presided over by the Pope himself. The proceedings will be strictly secret.

BARON RENFREW PASSED THROUGH SUDBURY

SUDBURY, September 14. Canadian Press. — The special Canadian Pacific Railway train bearing Baron Renfrew and his party towards his ranch in Alberta, passed through here to-day at 8 a.m., sharp on time. Curtains were drawn on all windows of the sleeping cars and the few people gathered at the station did not get a glimpse of the royal tourist or any of his party.

TRIVIALITIES.

(By Berton Braley)

Son, when you deal with womankind,
Unless you'd be a lemon in
The game of love, you'd better find
What pleases most the Feminine.
Though your devotion be expressed
In toiling all life through for her,
The things a woman likes the best
Are little things you do for her.

A little keepsake now and then,
A bunch of flowers sent to her,
A note in which you gently pen
A bit of sentiment to her;
Praise of a hat, a gown, her eyes,
Will make gray skies clear blue for her;
Oh, greatly does a woman prize
These little things you do for her!

Be kind and strong and clean and brave;
But still, let me recall to you,
That oftentimes a girl will crave
Things which seem very small to you.
A smile, a trivial act polite
Will make the world seem new for her.
You keep the love-lamp burning bright
By little things you do for her!

Conference on Child Welfare

WINNIPEG Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press).—The cost to the community of crime is emphasized in the report of the committee re Juveniles in Penitentiaries presented today at the Canadian Conference on Child Welfare now in session here. The necessity of drastic action with a view to nullifying the tendency toward ill-doing in the very young and the need for improving the environment of unfortunate children are among matters dwelt upon. Treatment rather than punishment the committee urges and playgrounds for the young rather than penitentiaries for the older delinquents.

The report states that a large number of those now serving sentences in Canadian penitentiaries are less than 20 years old. Last year in the Kingston Penitentiary there were 388 inmates under 20; 82 under 18 and there were 18 who were less than sixteen years old. There are at present over 1 600 young people in Canadian industrial and reformatory schools. The committee also assert that a large number of the younger people now in the penitentiaries have already served terms in such institutions or in jails.

"We find offenders doing evil simply because they have never known good" the committee reports as a result of its investigations and it insists that by segregation and proper care the majority of juvenile criminals may be reclaimed and made good citizens.

The committee refers to a report made recently to the Canadian Bar Association recommending that when a boy is discovered to have unmistakably wayward tendencies he should come under the jurisdiction of a probation officer and be guided beyond the pitfalls of boyhood and until such time as he has learned to appreciate the good and follow the good and avoid the evil. Reference is also made to the same report in which it is stated that conviction of a crime costs the government an average of $1 200 to which has to be added maintenance in prison and the loss to the community of the man's labor. The report states that if a like amount were spent in an endeavor to help the fallen very few would be sent to prison.

The recommendations of the committee accordingly are that ever ycommunity should foster home life and give all children a better and happier childhood. Every community should provide supervised playgrounds for winter and summer sports as well as summer camps. In the appointment of jail and prison officers policemen and policewomen and similar public officials regard should be had to their qualifications in preventing misdoing especially in co-operating with schools attendance officers and probation officers. That all penal and reformatory institutions should be freed from political or other adverse influences. Teaching in the schools which will make them attractive places to boys and girls and the training of teachers to realize the preciousness of childhood and their unparalleled opportunities in building for the future.

CHAIN STORES CREATE A BUSINESS ROMANCE

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.—(Associated Press).—One of the greatest romances in American retail business has been the growth of chain grocery stores, 20,000 of which now transact slightly less than 10 percent of the nation's retail grocery business, estimated at $20,000,000,000 annually. If the present ratio of growth is main ained, this will be increased to 25 percent within the next five years.

Economy of operation by reason of the fact that the business is transacted on a cash basis with a heavy turn-over and small profits, and the rapid development of American suburban and community life, have been the two main factors responsible for this tremendous growth. Scientific investigation has revealed that a community of 1,000 persons will permit the operation of a chain store grocery at satisfactory profits, though one store can serve several times that number.

The first chain grocery stores in the country were viewed with suspicion on the theory that the lower prices they charged meant inferior products. This feeling, however, has to a large extent disappeared, mainly due to the fact that the chain stores have offered nationally advertised articles at prices below those charged by independent grocers.

The pioneer in the chain store field was the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company, which was established in 1858. This concern now has more than 8,000 stores doing an annual business of approximately $250,000,000. Unlike a number of other chain store concerns, the ownership and control of this organization has remained in the hands of one family.

The second largest chain grocery firm is the Jones Bros. Tea Company, which started with one store in Scranton, Pa., in 1872, and now has 620 stores in 200 cities, doing an annual business of approximately $40,000,000.

The Jewel Tea Company has 527 branches from which 21,864 wagon and motor truck routes operate in 43 states. Scattered throughout the country also are more than 300 Piggly Wiggly stores, although they are not all owned by the same corporation.

Perhaps the greatest chain store concern in the country outside the grocery field is the F. W. Woolworth Co., which started with one store in Lancaster, Pa., in 1879 and now operates more than 1,200 stores doing an annual gross business of over $167,000,000. The United Cigar Stores have approximately 2,450 stores.

Other large chain store concerns are the J. C. Penney Co., operating 382 department stores doing an annual business of more than $50,000,000; the S. S. Kresge Company with 212 stores and annual gross business in excess of $65,000,000; Schulte Retail Stores Corporation with 239 stores in 1922, doing an annual business of nearly $25,000,000; the United Drug Company with more than 250 stores; the G. R. Kinney Company operating 131 shoe stores; the McCrory Stores Corporation with 165 stores; the S. A. Kress Co., with 150 stores and the Melville Shoe Corporation with 62 stores.

WOMEN ON THE POLICE FORCE

TORONTO, Sept. 14.—County Clerk R. W. Phillips, interviewed as to the rumor that women might be added to the police force of York County, said that while nothing definite had yet been done he himself believed that women officers could work more effectively than men in some locations and situations. It is his intention to bring this subject before a meeting of the York County Police Commission with the object of preparing the way for possible action next summer.

The county, Mr. Phillips thought, could readily be served by policewomen scouting the secluded and wooded outskirts of the city.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

DAVY DEER'S HORNS

"Quick! Quick!" he shouted. "You're needed, Mr. Gallop."

Chatterbox Magpie came flying toward Mister Gallop's cave, squaking like a horn with a bad cold. "Quick! Quick!" he shouted. "You're needed, Mister Gallop. Davy Deer's got his horns caught and can't get loose. Mister Hunter Man is coming up the mountain on his horse and he's got a big gun. Oh, do hurry!"

"Chatterbox, you're a nice fellow after all," said the cowboy fairy. "You're a good friend to all the mountain folk, it's a fact, even if you are a rowdy. Yes, I'll help Davy right away. Come on, Nancy and Nick, we'll start for the place at once. You'd better fly over to the trail where Mister Hunter Man is riding, Chatterbox, and do what you can to hold him back.

The Twins came at once and got on their little fat ponies as fast as they could climb.

Then the three of them dashed away toward the place where Davy Deer was.

But after all, they couldn't get near enough to Davy to do him any good, for deer can go places that no pony can set his feet.

"We'll have to get off our ponies and crawl over on our hands and knees," declared the fairyman. "It's too bad you wore riding boots today, Twins, or you could have wished yourselves over the steep places with your magic shoes. Be patient, Davy!" he called. "We'll be there in a minute."

Mister Hunter Man came riding up the mountain path, up and up and up, looking everywhere for Davy Deer. He never suspected that Chatterbox Magpie had told on him and was looking at him at that very minute from a tree on the high cliff over his head.

Suddenly the air was filled with dust and stones all around him. "Oh, there's something in my eye!" he cried. "I'll have to get off my horse. I can't see a thing!"

And it took fifteen minutes to find it and get it out.

Just the fifeen minutes that Mister Gallop and Nancy and Nick needed to reach Davy and to whittle away the branches that had caught his long horns!

When Mister Hunter Man reached the place, there wasn't a soul there. Just a lot of broken branches and some footprints all around.

"I wonder what all this means?" he remarked in a puzzled voice. "I wonder if there was a deer here lately!"

Chatterbox Magpie was holding his sides, he was laughing so hard. He knew.

Large Family Wiih a Sting

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Sept. 14 (Canadian Press).—A complaint was turned in to the city hall recently which has kept City Clerk McNaughton guessing. The complainant set forth that a certain hornet had built itself a house under one of the wooden sidewalks and proceeded to raise its rather large family, and the family was now annoying the subjects of the King by prodding them with their sting.

As a rule the city clerk has little difficulty in allocating complaints to their proper department, but here was a host of peculiarities. Should the case be referred to the poundkeeper, as being one of unruly animals running at large, or to the sanitary inspector, as a nuisance and a menace to health? Or would it be better to notify the chief of police, since the realm was being disturbed? Another thought was that it came under the department of the street commissioner, because they were obstructing the sidewalks, but this was negatived by the fact that they had built a house without a permit, so that the building inspector was clearly the man to interfere. Ald. Darrell's industrial and entertainment committee was well used to dealing with strange visitors, but it might come under the ken of the fire chief, since the place was evidently being made pretty hot, and again, if any damage had been done, there was the claims committee to refer to it. So far the hornets are still in position and the various departments are scrapping among themselves for the privilege of not monkeying with the nest.

WOOD BUCKLES.

Buckles of wood are seen on the newest pumps. Some are carved and others are left quite plain.

RELISHES AND SAUCES

All sorts of delicious conserves and jellies can be made with grapes. Personally, I think there is no grape like the Concord. However, this is a matter of "taste." Whatever variety of grape is at hand can be used.

Pectin (which forms jellies) is found in all fruits, but is at its best when the fruit is not quite ripe. This is peculiarly true with grapes. As the grapes ripen more sugar is formed and ripe grapes are too rich in sugar to make perfect jelly. Choose fruit that is just beginning to turn to make a firm grape jelly that will be free from crystallisation.

The weather has much to do with the properties of fruit. A dry, hot summer means a fruit richer in sugar than a cold, wet season. If fruit is gathered after a rain, there will be more water to boil out, to obtain the pure fruit juice.

These things should be taken into consideraton and allowed for in boiling the juice and the proportion of sugar used.

Grape Jelly.

Wash and pick over grapes. Remove from stems and put in preserving kettle. There will probably be enough water on the fruit to prevent burning. Crush a few with a wooden potato masher and bring slowly to the boiling point, shaking the kettle to prevent sticking. When the grapes are hot crush with the potato masher and simmer for thirty mnutes. Put in jelly bag and let the juice drip. If a clear, sparkling jelly is desired, do not squeeze the bag. Let drip as long as there is any juice. Measure juice and put in the preserving kettle. Boil gently for eight minutes and add as much sugar as there was juice. Boil five minutes and pour into sterilised jelly glasses. Cover with paraffin when cold.

Grape Conserve.

Five pounds grapes, five pounds of sugar, one pound of raisns, three oranges, one cup of chopped nut meats.

Wash grapes and remove from stems and then pulp. Cook pulps and skins separately. Put the pulp through a strainer to remove seeds. Add to skins with sugar juice of oranges and grated rind of one and one-half oranges and raisins. Cook fifteen minutes and add nuts. Cook five minutes longer or until thick. Pour into sterilised jelly glasses and cover with paraffin when cold.

Grape Relish.

Four pounds grapes, four pounds brown sugar, three cups vinegar, two teaspoons allspice, two teaspoons of cloves, three teaspoons cinnamon, two teaspoons nutmeg.

Wash grapes and remove from the stems. Put all ingredients in preserving kettle and cook until soft, about forty-five minutes. Rub through a colander. Boil pulp until thick and pour into sterilised jelly glasses.

Spiced Grapes.

Five pounds grapes, two and one-pounds sugar, three teaspoons cinnamon, two teaspoons allspice, one-half teaspoon cloves, one cup cider vinegar.

Pulp grapes and boil skins until tender. Cook pulp and put through strainer to remove seeds. Add to skins with sugar, spices, and vinegar. Boil for ten minutes. Pour into sterilised pint jars and seal.

FAME OR OBLIVION FOR FIRPO THE ARGENTINE IN BATTLE OF GIANTS

Will the Challenger's Right Dethrone Dempsey From the World's Championship To-Night.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press).—Two modern gladiators—Jack Dempsey and Luis Angel Firpo—will match their speed, courage and punch tonight in the greatest of their careers—a "battle of the Continents,"—in which that greatest prize of the ring, the heavyweight championship of the world, will be at stake.

Dempsey, holder of the title, king in the squared circle for the past four years, will go into the conflict with his bronzed, grim-visaged South American opponent, an overwhelming favorite, among close followers of the game, to win, and to win decisively. But while expert analysis of the firght—the "dope"—all point toward victory for the champion, those who have followed the meteoric rise of Firpo—his climb from obscurity to fame, fortune, and a chance at the world's championship, believe that his "mighty right" may upset calculations and bring triumph to the "Wild Bull of the Pampas"

Rivals Carpentier Fight.

Attracting the greatest interest of any international encounter for ring honors since the Dempsey-Carpentier battle two years ago, the 15-round battle at the Polo Grounds—home of the New York Giants—tonight promises to rival as a spectacle that historic struggle in which the champion vanquished his rival from France.

A throng of more than 90,000 will pay approximately $1,340,000 to witness the fight, according to Tex Rickard.

The promoter announced that but a few thousand reserved seast remained unsold tonight. When gates to the arena are opened at 4.30 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, 5,000 unreserved seats will be put on sale.

Seats Range Up To $150.

Meanwhile, however, ticket speculators were reported to be doing a thriving business, despite the combined efforts of federal, state and local officials to check their activities. Ringside seats were said to be available in the theatrical district at prices ranging from $80 to $150 apiece.

The influx of fans from all parts of the country, as well as from many other points of the globe, early this evening had crowded larger hotels close to their capacity, with indications that tomorrow would witness an even greater impouring of ring followers. It was estimated more than 30,000 would invade the battle ground. They came from south, east, west and north, from lands as far away as Australia—men, and many women, from all walks of life.

Argentine Delegations.

Perhaps a hundred of Firpo's countrymen have made the long journey from the Argentine to see their favorite fight for the highest of pugilistic honors.

Odds Favour Dempsey.

Wagering on the outcome of the fight, which so far has been comparatively light, gained impetus with the arrival of thousands from out-of-town. The confidence of the majority in Dempsey's ability to win was reflected in the odds, which lengthened on the champion with reports of several large wagers at three to one he would be the victor.

The fighters, resting in seclusion over-night, were pronounced in perfect condition. Dempsey arrived late this afternoon after breaking camp at Saratoga Springs, N.Y., and went at once to a hotel. Firpo, who returned yesterday from his training quarters in Atlantic City, N.J., spent the day at his uptown apartment except for an hour or two this afternoon when he attended a reception given in his honor by the Spanish Society. The fighters will meet tomorrow for the first time when they weigh in at the offices of the State Athletic Commission at 2 p.m.

Grim Test For Both.

For both warriors, tomorrow night's encounter will be the greatest test their fighting mettle has ever had, in the opinion of experts who have followed the careers of both men. Dempsey, hailed as a "man-killer", a "superman," after his spectacular knockout of JessWillard for the heavyweight title in 1919 at Toledo, has had comparatively little strong opposition since then. He knocked out Billy Miske, Bill Brennan and Georges Carpentier, but last July, after an absence of two years from the ring, he failed to stop Tommy Gibbons, a light heavyweight, winning on points in a fight that went the limit of 15 rounds, in the little boom town of Shelby, Montana.

Critics who have seen the champion in training declare that he is the Dempsey of Toledo, that he has regained the height of his form.

Firpo Dangerous.

But Firpo, many believe, will prove far more dangerous than critics generally concede, admitting the faults in his footwork, his scientific ability, these observers place their reliance in the undaunted courage of Firpo, his grit under fire, and the terrific power in his right hand—the thrust that dropped Bill Brennan, Jack McAuliffe, II., and Jess Willard, among others.

Dempsey, they say, will face in Firpo the hardest hitter of his career, and one of the gamest men the ring has ever known. And when the Argentine unleashes the fury of his attack, they predict the champion's utmost in defensive skill will fail to check its force.

Starts About 9.30.

Under a change in the program, the title match tomorrow night will start at as close to 9.30 o'clock, Eastern Daylight Time, as possible, instead of 10 o'clock.

The 12-round match in which Gene Tunney will defend his light heavyweight title against Leo Gates, an Indian boxer, originally slated as the semi-final, will be held after the main bout.

Three preliminaries, starting at 8 o'clock, will bring together lesser known heavyweights. They are between Mike Burke and Al. Roberts, both of New York, six rounds; Leo Brown, of Australia, and Dan Bright, of England, six rounds; Jack Burke, of Pittsburgh, and Bill Reed, of Columbus, Ohio, eight rounds.

PUZZLING PLAYS

THE PLAY

Here is another situation produced by the infield fly rule.

There are runners on first and second and one out. The batter swings hard at the ball and sends a high fly to the infield in the direction of third base.

The umpire immediately rules infield fly.

The catcher, third baseman and shortstop all start after the ball. It would have been an easy catch for any one of the trio, but in the confusion resulting from all three players calling that they would take the ball, t drops to the ground untouched, no player coming even close to making the catch.

The ball strikes about ten feet fair, midway between third and the home plate. After striking the ground, without touching any of the players it englishes over the foul line and comes to rest in foul territory.

What is it; fair or foul, and what about the base runners?

THE INTERPRETATION

If the ball, after striking midway between third and home along the foul line, and without touching any players in the field, came to rest in foul territory, it is a foul ball.

When the umpire ruled infield fly, it seemed certain that the ball would remain fair, would surely be caught by one of the players in the infield. Failure to handle the ball by the team in the field, permitting it to strike the ground, and then roll into foul territory between third and home, made it a foul ball.

There was nothing for the umpire to do, other than reverse the infield fly decision, rule the ball foul, send the runners back and make the batsman hit over again.

U.S. TENNIS DOWN TO SEMI-FINALS

Norton of South Africa Qualified Over R. Norris Williams.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press) — William W. Johnston, San Francisco, holder of the world's title; Francis T. Hunter, New Rochelle, N.Y.; William T. Tilden, II., national champion, and B. I. C. Norton, South Africa, today reached the semi-finals in the tournament for the lawn tennis championship of the United States. Johnston defeated F. T. Anderson, of New York; Hunter beat Robert Kinsey, San Francisco; Tilden disposed of Manuel Alonso, Spain, and Norton eliminated R. Norris Williams, Philadelphia, captain of this year's United States Davis Cup team, in the fourth round.

In the semi-finals tomorrow Johnston will meet Hunter and Tilden will play Norton.

Norton unexpectedly came through in a brilliant five-set victory over R. Norris Williams, of Philadelphia, captain of this year's American Cup team.

Williams was beaten by the courageous and resourceful play of the South African, who, blocked at one type of game, constantly switched his play to garner points.

The score of Norton's victorious match was 1-6, 6-3; 6-4, 3-6, and 6-4.

FIGHT FEATURED BY NEWSPAPERS OF PARIS

PARIS, Sept. 14. — (Canadian Press)—The Dempsey-Firpo fight holds a place on the first page of all the Parisian newspapers, which are printing columns of details of the battle, and also photographs of both the fighters. The fight is creating the greatest interest ever evinced in a pugilistic encounter in the history of boxing, with the exception of the Carpentier-Dempsey battle in Jersey City.

ATHLETICS WIN OVERTME GAME

Ruth Scores 36th Home Run Off Chicago — One Behind Williams.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 13. — Philadelphia won a hard-fought, eleven-inning battle from St. Louis today, 3 to 2, when Miller singled in the eleventh scoring Hale. Danforth pitched a fine game for St. Louis despite defeat. Heimach of the Athletics gave way to a pinch hitter in the ninth and Harris finished the game. Score:

St. Louis.. ..010 000 010 00—2 9 0
Philadelphia .001 000 010 01—3 9 2

Danforth and Collins; Heimach, Harris and Perkins.

Eight Run Lead.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—The New York Americans easily defeated the White Sox in the third game of the series hert to-day, the score being 9 to 5. The victory assured the Yankees of victory over Chicago in the series.

The Yankees started off with an eight run lead in the first two rounds, knocking out Blankenship in the second.

Ruth hit his thirty-sixth home run of the season off Blankenship in the first inning, leaving him one behind Williams of the Phillies. Score:

Chicago.. .. ..000 100 040—5 8 4
New York .. ..260 000 01x—9 12 1

Blankenship, Thurston and Croust; Bush and Schang.

Ejected From Game.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 13.—Walter Johnson gained the decision over Sylvester Johnson to-day, Washington defeating Detroit 7 to 3. The game was marked by free hitting on both sides, neither starter on the mound finishing the game. Harris was ejected from the contest in the first inning for protesting a decision. Bluege moved from third to Harris' place and was forced a little later to leave the game when a ball took a bad hop and struck him in the face. Score:

Detroit .. .. ..100 010 100—3 13 4
Washington. . .301 102 00x—7 12 3

S. Johnson. Pillette, Olsen and Bassler; W. Johnson, Russell and Ruel.

Used Five Pitchers.

BOSTON, Sept. 13.—The wildness of Uhle in the eighth inning was largely responsible for Boston's 9 to 8 victory over Cleveland in the first game of the series here to-day. Boston used five pitchers. The home run of Brower into the right field stands in the eighth was one of the hardest hit balls seen here this season. The score:

Cleveland. .. ..310 111 010—8 13 1
Boston. .. ....302 000 13x—9 12 2

Uhle, Edwards and O'Neill; Piercy, Fullerton, Howe, Ferguson, Murray and Picinich.

HOME FROM SECOND ON SACRIFICE FLY

Carey of Pittsburgh Duplicates Feat of Frisch, the Flash.

PITTSBURGH, Sept. 13.—Pittsburgh and Brooklyn divided a double header here this afternoon, Brooklyn winning the first game 7 to 4, and the Pirates the second 6 to 3. In the first game Adams was hit hard in the first three frames and gave way to Hamilton. Brooklyn broke a 4 to 4 tie in the ninth by pounding in three runs. The feature of the second game was Carey's scoring from second on Barnhardt's sacrifice fly to deep center in the third inning. This was the second time that this feat has been accomplished at Forbs Field, Frisch of New York turning the trick four years ago. Scores:

First game:
Brooklyn.... 201 000 103—7 16 0
Pittsburgh ... 101 110 000—4 12 0

Vance and Taylor; Adams, Hamilton and Gooch.

Second game
Brooklyn..... 000 101 001—3 9 1
Pittsburgh.... 111 020 100—6 9 1

Henry, Dickerman and Taylor; Cooper and Schmidt.

Gained Half a Game

CHICAGO, Sept. 13.—Cincinnati closed its road trip today by defeating Chicago, 5 to 3 in ten innings, making a clean sweep of the two-game series and gaining one-half game in the pennant race.

Great batting by Harper and Duncan the latter making five hits in five times at bat, helped the Reds to victory. Going into the ninth inning a fan behind Harper drove the ball into the bleachers for a homer, which tied the score. The visitors then bunched hits off Aldridge and went ahead. Chicago tied it up again in ninth but Cincinnati won out in the tenth on a rally in which Harper drove home the winnng run and Duncan cracked his fifth hit, a double which sent home another marker.

Scores:
Cincinnati.. 100 000 002 2—5 14 1
Chicago.... 000 101 001 0—3 15 1

McQuaid, Keck Donohue and Hargrave; Aldridge, Osborne and O'Farrell.

SHOCKER SUSPENDED.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press)—Urban Shocker, star twirler of the local Americans, has been suspended for ten days, and fined, for his refusal to accompany the Browns on their present tour, Bill Friel, business manager, announced today. Shocker refused to accompany the team because he was denied permission to take his wife on the trip. The amount of the fine was not made public.

Dempsey the Pick of Brazil Sports

RIO DE JANEIRO, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press)—Interest in the Firpo-Dempsey fight exceeds that taken in any previous sporting event.

The sentiment here as to who will be the winner in tomorrow night's fight in New Yprk is divided, but a majority of the followers of the sport pick Dempsey as the winner.

The newspapers will publish special fight editions and also are arranging for telephone and wireless services.

FINAL STATEMENTS BY THE BATTLERS

Both Fit and Confident and Have No Alibis to Offer.

NEW YORK, Sept. 13.—Pre-battle declarations of confidence in their conquering ability were flung out tonight by Jack Dempsey and Luis Angel Firpo.

Dempsey said: "I have trained hard for this match because I expect it will be a tough one. I do not pay any attention to those who expect Firpo will be an easy opponent. I am NOT holding him lightly, but I do NOT fear him. I am in good condition and if beaten will have NO alibis to offer. If I can end the fight in one round. I'll do it, because I can't take any chances with him."

Firpo said: "I am in good shape. I feel like fighting as I never have before. In the ring there will be many voices raised against me; some will be shouting for me. In far-off countries where Latin tongues are spoken, they will expect me to win. I am confident; I AM NOT AFRAID. If I am knocked down again and again, I will come up again and again. There will be NO towels tossed from my corner. I think I will conquer Dempsey."

INDIA TIGERS LOSE.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press)— The Orange County four defeated the India Tigers, 10 to 5, in the semi-final round in the international polo tourney on the Philadelphia Country Club field at Bala today.

PROFIT SHARING ACTORS.

By GUS M. OEHM

BERLIN (By mail to the United Press).—Leading German actors andactresses under the leadership of the famous producer, Max Reinhardt, have established an "actor's" republic"—a sort of theatrical Utopia.

Each will share and share alike in glory and dividends, regardless of the part he or she may be given in the current play. Everyone will work for the common glory of the stage and everybody will be satisfied no matter if his or her lines consist of merely of "Yes, My Lord," or three-fourths of the speaking part of the play.

Reinhardt has just taken over the management of the Josefadt theater in Vienna and has created a theatrical organization of the best talent in Germany and ustria to participate in his Utopian undertaking.

The list of actors and actresses who are to share in his enterprise reads like a German theatrical Whos Who.

FEARED BURIAL ALIVE.

DERBY, England (United Press).—In a will disposing of his estate, worth $190,000, John Henry Toham directed his physician to pierce his heart through his back in order to prevent the possibility of being buried alive.

SCOTLAND YARD WIRELESS.

LONDON (United Press).—Scotland Yard's wireless school for detectives has proved so successful that police cars are being built with standard wireless equipment. They will be used this Winter in tracking down criminals, particularly auto bandits and others who attempt to leave the scene of their crimes by motor.

PARNHAM'S STRING OF WINS UNBROKEN

Baltimore Pitcher Registers Seventeen in a Row.

BALTIMORE, Sept. 13. —When Reading was defeated in the first game of this afternoon's double-header, 12 to 9, Rube Parnham, local pitcher, registered his seventeenth consecutive victory and his thirtieth of the season, despite the fact that he was relieved by Thomas in the eigth inning. The Keys hit three Oriole flingers hard and took the second contest, 10 to 5.

Max Bishop took the lead in the International League home run race in the first game by smashing two balls into the bleachers, giving him a total of 21. Connelly, of the visitors, gathered his nineteenth circuit smash in the second melee. Scores:

First Game:
Reading.. .. .100 020 600— 9 14 4
Baltimore .. ..126 110 01x—12 15 3

13 Inning Duel.

JERSEY CITY, Sept. 13. — The Skeeters overcame a four-run lead in the windup to-day of the series with Newark, and won in the thirteenth when Donelson singled and scored on Holt's hit to deep centre, after Greenae fumbled Sheridan's relay to the plate. The score was 5 to 4. Score:

Newark ...200 002 000 000 0—4 7 3
Jersey City 000 002 020 000 1—5 15 0

Nossett, Ellis and Devine, Greenae; Hanson and McCrae.

Ran Up 19 Hits.

ROCHESTER, Sept. 13.—Rochester batted Hill for fourteen hits in six innings here to-day and then bunched five more off Parks to win the first game of the series here with Syracuse by 10 to 2. Cliff Brady broke a bone in his face when a ball bounded and struck him during fielding practice. Barnes played second base. Score:

Syracuse. .. ..000 001 010— 2 10 2
Rochester .. .200 311 03x—10 19 2

WORLD'S SPEED RECORD.

U.S. Naval Aviator Flies Over 244 Miles an Hour.

MINEOLA, N.Y., Sept. 14. — A new world's speed record of 244.15 miles an hour was established yesterday by Lieut. Harold J. Brow, U.S.N., in a navy Curtiss racer, flying over a 1-kilometer course at Mitchel Field.

The record announced was the average of four trips across the measured course, two in each direction. On one trip with the wind the plane went 255 miles an hour. The test was from a level start without the aid of a drop from height. Lieut. Brow will pilot the machine in the coming Pulitzer races in St. Louis.

NO ULTIMATUM FROM ITALY TO JUGO-SLAVIA

ROME, Sept. 14.— (Canadian Press.)— Stefani Agency, semi-official news dessiminator, says that no ultimatum from the Italian Government exists, nor was one handed to Jugo-Slavia, with regard to settling the status of Fiume.

September 15, it is added, was fixed by Rome and Belgrade governments as the date for exchanging decisions received by a mixed Italo-Jugo-Slavia Commission, but this date was not considered as being a final proposition, and there is nothing to prevent the two governments from extending the date.

NO TRACE WHATEVER OF ESCAPED CONVICTS

KINGSTON, September 14. Canadian Press. — Asked last night concerning the reports that one or more of the convicts who escaped from the penitentiary last Monday, were supposed to have been seen at Napanee, Gananoque and Portland yesterday, Penitentiary officials stated that they had carefully investigated the rumors and found them groundless.

No results were obtained from the search yesterday and the officials have not the slightest clue as to where the convicts are.

FRENCHMAN SEES COMING OF A NEW REVOLUTION

By JOHN O'BRIEN.

PARIS (By Mail to the United Press).—"Is France Facing a Revolution?" is the title of a book written by the Comte de Fels, a noted economist, which is causing wide comment.

M. de Gels, reviewing the history of the revolution of 1793, sees signs in the present position of France which justify his assertion that the actal financial condition of the country cannot be prolonged without an outburst. Nevertheless, he does not predict an armed revolt against the existing regime. He foresees, or rather, proposes, a peaceful revolution.

France needs money to balance the annual budget. So far, this operation has been accomplished by bookkeeping. The debt is still there and will be until Germany pays up. The fact that the budget has been divided into recoverable expenditure—meaning what France has advanced for the restoration of the devasted regions—and ordinary expenditure is simply a device to keep the accounts straight.

Comte de Fels proposes that the State sell its monopolies, such as the tobacco and match concessions, the State-owned railroads, the national forests, the Government buildings, the elegraph and telephone services, to private companies, which would operate them at a profit, pay taxes and leave a large gain for the State.

CONVICTS IN CHARIVARI

Sing and Shout in Cells and Reuse to Stop.

KINGSTON, Ont., Sept. 14.—The convicts at the Portsmouth penitentiary had a high old time last night. They created a lively disturbance by singing and shouting and the guards had quite a time trying to keep them quiet. After the lights were turned out at nine o'clock the convicts persisted in singing and refused to stop when ordered to do so. Convicts have been confined to their cells since the escape of their fellow convicts and they are tired of the confinement and this is the cause of their singing and yelling. They have quite a grouch and are trying to take it out on the guards.

SPORTS ANTIDOTE FOR BOLSHEVISM

By CAMILLO CIANFARRA.

ROME.—(By Mail to United Press).—Vincenzo Lancia, the developer of the present motor car of that name, has just announced that experience has convinced him that sports and athletics in general are the best antidote to bolshevism and radicalism. He says that sporting organizations are the best means for holding together the crews of the modern large industrial plants.

"It was after I read in the papers what sporting clubs were doing for some of the large English, French and American industries that I started to encourage sports among the men working in my factories," Lancia said. "The sporting periodicals of the country lent me their most cordial co-operation, and in less than two years three of Turin's largest employers of labor came to the same conclusions. Today the Michelin rubber tire plant and the Fiat automobile works, to say nothing of large number of smaller plants, all have built gymnasiums, where their men spend the evening training for matches between the teams of the different organizations.

"The idea was to take the men away from the wine shops, where they gambled their earnings, and "red" clubs, where they listened to the demagogues who were constantly preaching socialism.

"The Fiat organization includes a football club which, though less than two years old, has to its credit a number of victories. The Fiat has a campus so large that several hundred acres are devoted to truck gardens, cultivated by the men themselves, who divide the products. The campus includes two tennis courts and a velodrome.

"The gymnasiums include baths, reading rooms and billiard rooms. Senator Agnelli, director of the Fiat works, has just organized a club of alpinists, and this summer many alpine peaks will be scaled.

"We have also found," Lancia said, "that athletics greatly benefits our men physically, and that in turn benefits production. My personal opinion is that the money spent for cups and gold medals to be contested for by the sporting clubs of the industrial plants, is one of the best paying investments that a far-seeing employer of labor can make."

AVERAGED 45 MILES AN HOUR IN REGATTA RACE

BUFFALO, Sept. 13.—(Canadian Press)—Virolin, II., Robert Ringling's runabout, with an average time of 45 miles an hour, turned in the best performance in the first day's racing in the Buffalo Launch Club's Regatta on the Niagara River Course today. The Chicago racer distanced the other eight starters in the thirty mile heat of the 90-mile free-for-all race for the International world's Championship Trophy. The Virolling II. covered 30 miles in 43.07 minutes and on its fastest lap, the fourth, did 45.5 miles an hour.

Muketeer I., driven by Horace E. Dodge II., of Detroit, finished second, and Bone Dry, driven by Clarence S. Sedway, of Buffalo, came third.

WHITEHOUSE AND BRADLEY BATTLE

Champion Teams Play at Riverside Park Tomorrow Afternoon.

Pitchers Frank Whitehouse and "Chuck" Bradley promise an interesting contest for the ball fans at Riverside Park to-morrow afternoon when the Lakeviews and Maple Leafs hook up in an exhibition game at three o'clock. Both teams are in good fighting trim, and to-morrow's game should be as good as a championship fixture.

EXCELSIOR RUGBY PRACTICE ON SATURDAY AFTERNOON

The Excelsior Rugby team held another good practice last night in preparation for the coming season. There was a good turn out but there are also a number of others who have not been out as yet but will be in the course of the next few practices. Another practice will be held on Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock at Central Park and it is hoped that all members will be out in uniform. Any players who are desirous of turning out with the Excelsiors are requested to be out on Saturday afternoon if possible. Next week the team will be getting down to the steady grind of four practices a week.

90,000 WILL SEE THE BIG FIGHT

Stage All Set for Bout to Decide Boxing Championship of the World.

NEW YORK, Sept. 14.— (Canadian Press.)—When Jack Dempsey, kingpin heavyweight of the world, and Luis Angel Firpo, wild bull of Pampas, step into the ring at the Polo Grounds at 8.30, standard time, to-night, it is expected that more than ninety thousand fight fans will be in attendance.

The bout is scheduled for fifteen rounds, but nearly all experts to-day state that it will not last that long and that the champion will put Firpo away in quick order. Indeed, some predict that Firpo will hit the dust in the first three minutes of the fighting. Of course, most of these predictions come from those who still believe Dempsey the greatest fighting machine of all time. They count on furious attack immediately the bell rings and a sudden finish of the bout with Dempsey's terrific left hook to the jaw. There are others who think differently, but the man from Argentine is facing his ordeal without the backing of experts.

Dempsey was forced to quit the Belmont hotel last night by the back door and spend the night in the apartment of a friend because of attention paid him by the curious and idolizers since he came to New York. He was up early this morning, went for a stroll and had a hearty breakfast and expressed himself as being in perfect physical condition.

Examining physicians were frank in saying after testing both fighters that they regarded Dempsey as the "superior athlete" to the Argentine, although they admitted the margin was small. Their opinion was not communictaed to Firpo.

Mr. Muldoon's added suggestion that both boxers be "well shaved" when they climbed through the ropes was agreed to by Dempsey, who usually comes into the ring with a thick stubble on his face. He was wearing a light beard to-day. Firpo, who arrived sporting a young pine forest, argued the point with the chairman and was permitted to come in, dodging the barber.

After waiting fifteen minutes in the commission's offices, Dempsey departed and thus will not meet his Argentine rival until they face each other in the ring to-night. They have never met.

Firpo arrived half an hour late. He made the indicator scale tremble at 216 1-2 pound mark and then stepped over to be measured.

TWEED OUT OF O.B.A.A. SERIES

Brockville eliminated Tweed from the O.B.A.A. Intermediate race when they won the second game at Tweed by 10 runs to 5. The heavy hitting of the Easterners won the argument for them, Brockville collecting no fewer than seventeen hits. A muff in the Tweed outfield with the bases full in the third gave Brockville a chance to score four runs, and the lead was too much for Tweed. The score by innings was as follows:

	R.	H.	E.
Brockville 014110003	10	17	1
Tweed 200012000	5	11	3

Brockville and Picton will now clash, the first game in Brockville to-morrow and the winner will meet the winners of the Oshawa-C.G.E. series for the Eastern Ontario honors.

C.G.E. TEAM IN OSHAWA TO-MORROW

The C.G.E. team will journey to Oshawa to-morrow for the first game of their series with the Motor team of that town in the third round of the O.B.A.A. intermediate semi-finals, and will likely be followed by quite a number of their faithful supporters in their efforts to advance a step further in defence of their title.

The Electricians will be at full strength and should give a good account of themselves. They claim they were away below their real form on Saturday against Orillia and from now on are out to show the fans.

The following C.G.E. players are requested to meet at the corner of George and Wescott streets at 11.15 Saturday morning when cars will leave for Oshawa; Ross, Frost, Galbraith, Dugan, Rose, Barrie, Ranger Jackson, Mc Carney, Hall, Webb, McPherson, Rogers and Primeau.

FINE WEATHER

roses makes a note of contrasting color, carried out in the rose-shading of the night-light, and the dull blues and greens of the soft wall fixtures. On the chiffonier, with its tiny gilt knobs, and the low dressing-table, are toilet accessories in French ivory.

A rich living-room interior forms the background for the exhibit of Richard Hall & Son, Limited, at the Peterboro Fair this year. Dark shades in furnishings blend with the subdued notes of brown and black that drape the three models shown. A complete interior shows a tiled flooring with handsome rugs, a brick mantelpiece, and wide windows hung with curtains of brown velvet and cream net and several attractive pictures, from R. J. Soden's stock. A richly-upholstered Chesterfield and chairs carry out the illusion and there are tall piano lamps, shaded in heavily-fringed green and gold silk. Pale wall-papering and overhead light fixtures complete a luxurious setting that occupies a large corner section of the Main Building.

Winter coats of the new fashona cloth, silky and lustrous, clothe two of the figures. One is in dark brown, full length, with collar of beaver and large ornament at the front fastening. With it is worn a trig hat of panne velvet, in cloche shape, with band of heavy gold embroidery and side trim of cog feathers.

The second coat is in black, trimmed in original fashion with horizontal bands of self fashona on sleeves and coat skirt, which flares in a circular sweep at the bottom. It has semi-fitting sleeves and large collar of grey squirrel fur. The hat is a moderate large model in black velvet with soft crown.

A large flaring shape of black panne velvet, with glycerined ostrich falling over crown and brim is worn by the wax lady who appears in a handsome afternon gown of black moleskin crepe, whose large angel sleeves are composed of green cut velvet.

Music for the vaudeville show is being supplied daily by the Peterboro Melodie Band.

Alberta coal has already found a place in the thoughts of the people of Peterboro, judging by the thousands who have signed the petition for lower freight rates. Everyone who has the interests of cheaper and better fuel in mind is urged to sign this petition, after seeing the successful coal exhibit.

Fruits and Vegetables.

Considering the prolonged dry spell that menaced garden products and fruits for such a length of time during the past summer, the display in the agricultural products section at the Fair this year is commendable. Green cedar boughs and green foliage in festooned arches decorate the big tent, where, according to experts, there is a showing of threshed and sheaf grain much bigger than last years' exhibit.

The central table holds an imposing array of vegtables, tubers, legumes and roots. Freshly-washed and neatly disposed, they are attractive-looking eatables. Potatoes and beets show cut sections, the former piled high in bushel baskets. The cauliflowers are worthy of special note, and there is a good showing also of tomatoes. Pumpkins come in gigantic samples, cabbages in ball head and Savoy varieties, and squash in varying shapes of green and gold. There are glistening, monstrous red and green peppers, melons, musk and water, and long overhead strings of white and red onions. Mangels lie in long even rows aagainst the wall, blood-red and green, with the yellow sugar mangel and the cowhorn turnip in twisted shapes. The celery is firm and good looking. Double yellow and white sunflowers, like enormous asters, fill a large bowl in the centre of the table. Grains of many varieties fill bags at either side of the tent.

Against the farther end stand the sheaves of oats in competition for W. H. Merrill's special prize, by lady exhibitors. Ingenuity and artistic effect are visible in these, one tall specimen showing the roots having its length twined about with gilt tinsel and pink, frilled crepe paper, another showing purple grapes and golden berries, still another with crimson poppies among the yellow grain heads.

Stock of oats and corn are shown for competition, massive specimens, and there is a quantity of tall Sedan grass for forage, in one corner.

Huge cheese, round and yellow, occupy a table and butter in crocks and prints, is in a glass case. The apples have a splendid showing, in reds and greens and yellow transparents, the 'Gaino,' the apple of Ontario, exhibiting some fine samples of firm red fruit.

WEDDING BELLS

CHASE—CHARLEBOIS,

At St. James Methodist Parsonage, 163 Romaine street, Peterboro, on Monday, September 10th, a quiet wedding ceremony took place when Miss Berladine Charlebois was united in holy wedlock to Mr. Roy Harrison Chase, both of Peterboro. The sacred rite was solemnized by Rev. J. D. Richardson, M.A., pastor of St. James Methodist church.

THE LOCAL POLICE HAD CHASE AFTER FUGITIVES

Kingston's escaped convicts were reported on the Norwood Road last night, and a party of police, under Chief S. Newhall, rushed to the spot to intercept them, without result.

At 9 o'clock Chief Newhall received a telephone call saying that residents in Norwood had noticed three men answering the descriptions of the escaped convicts, and saying they had departed from the town.

Two cars were immediately obtained and ten policemen were conveyed by different routes to the Norwood Road, where an exhaustive search was made. The posse returned at 5 o'clock this morning without having seen the suspicious characters.

DEMONSTRATION

would cut corners by running over the gravestones that were there at that time. He thought it would be possible to do away with the smaller fairs in time and combine them into one large exhibition.

The Farming Industry.

Mr. G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., said the farmers are the largest exporters in the Dominion. Canada's crop this year was estimated at one billion bushels of wheat and a huge quantity of other products. A few years ago he was not impressed with the Peterboro fair, but since that its star has been in the ascendancy. Only recently he was told by a prominent stockman that Peterborough had one of the best stock fairs in the country, and the same has been said of the poultry exhibit. The aims and objects of the fair board are worthy of support, said the speaker, and if an effort was made next year to bring various public bodies together, including the County Council, he would bring at least fifty guests at his own expense, in this way the work of the Fair Board would become better known and appreciated.

In conclusion President Denne reminded the gathering that of forty-eight directors on the Fair Board, only one is paid, and that is Secretary Fred Hall, who receives two hundred dollars for a year's work.

From each of the other forty seven directors ten dollars is collected each year. Mr. Kenne suggested that the Kiwanis Club interest itself as an organization in the proposal to erect a caretaker's house on the grounds. Kiwanian McKone intimated that this would be given consideration.

URGES USE OF LASH

WINNIPEG, Sept. 14.—(Canadian Press.)— Lash for serious offences was strongly urged as the only deterent at yesterday's session of Child Welfare Conference here. The only thing that boys of the bully type understood was physical pain, said M. Brackind, in charge of the Vancouver Detention Home.

"Jail is a joke to-day," said the protection officer. "Good warm clothes, comfortable quarters and a moderate amount of labor in making the average offenders more comfortable than at home. Lash to stop social crimes and burglary is the best solution."

CERTAIN SESSIONS MUST BE PRIVATE

LONDON, September 14 (United Press) — The question of publicity of the proceedings of the Imperial Conference is receiving a great deal of consideration as the opening day approaches.

While it is generally admitted that certain sessions must be private, especially those centering on Imperial defence and foreign policy, yet it is generally accepted as a principle that as far as possible the widest publicity should be given to the economic discussions.

The method would be, as in previous conferences, that the results of the daily discussions should be communicated to the representatives of the press by an official of the conference, but this is not regarded as satisfactory by the newspapermen, who think that at the preliminary sessions, when the entire question is brought up, they should be freely admitted.

It is rumoured that the Canadian delegates favour the complete exclusion of the press from all the sessions.

THEATRES

AT THE ROYAL.

"ROB ROY" AGAIN CROWDS THE ROYAL—MANY TURNED AWAY.

The production, "Rob Roy," in the parlance of the theatre, has "caught on" with Peterboro picture lovers. The Royal was crowded to the doors again last night, and no doubt will be for the balance of the week. The film is worth seeing because it really takes one back to Scotland of the old days. The illusion is there. If you were a lover of the old romance of 'Robin Hood,' you did not feel that you had seen that picturesque hero living in Sherwood Forest when you came away from witnessing the Fairbanks' film. It was not "Robin Hood" at all, the "Robin Hood" of legend, but merely our old friend Doug. If you thought Doug. more important than "Robin Hood," then the picture was highly satisfactory; if you thought "Robin Hood" more important than Doug., then you were not so well pleased with it.

But there is illusion in "Rob Roy." It may be partly due to the fact that the cast contains no familiar faces, but at least the man who plays the role of "Rob Roy" Macgregor fits the part perfectly. He makes you feel that you are watching "Rob Roy," and not a modern actor wearing "Rob Roy's" clothes.

Patrons are advised to see it to-night and avoid Saturday crowds.

UP IN THE AIR.

Cameramen, as a rule, are not expected to risk their lives in taking pictures. Harry Perry twice risked his in "shooting" scenes for Tom Forman's production, "The Broken Wing," which opens next Monday at the Royal Theatre. Perry had to twice ascend 5,000 feet above the clouds, in a violent storm, for unusual picture effects in one of the scenes of the airplane thriller.

TRANS CANADA THEATRES LIMITED

AT THE GRAND.

"LISTEN TO ME" PRESENTS GORGEOUS STAGE SETTINGS

The stage settings of our most pretentious musical productions are often spoken of as "Out-shining everything that has gone before." This expression may be applied in every sense of the word to Le Comte and Flesher's big musical extravaganza, "Listen To Me," which is coming to the Grand Opera House, Wednesday, September 19.

Two acts and seven scenes are required to present this novel musical offering. It opens with a night of gaiety in Times Square, New York City—J. Lucifer Devil, accompanied by his aid the six temptations mingle with the throng along Broadway. A transformation conveys the party to Hades, where Satan assigns punishment to the condemned. He divulges the secret of his scientific discovery obtained on Earth and his lurid palace dissolves into the realm of ice and snow at the North Pole, gulfs become crests, craters changing to glaciers and ovens to mountain peaks. The lurid glow softens into the pale silvery beams from the aurora-borelis which descends up on the fantastic land of the Midnight Sun with inspiring sentiment. This scene is followed by another transformation embracing the fairylike qualities of "Peter Pan" to entrancing candyland, where wrongs are righted and enstrangements reconciled. It requires tons of scenery, properties and electrical effects with the aid of numerous mechanics to properly stage the wonderful scenes in this gorgeous extravaganza.

THE ERNIE MARKS STOCK CO.

That popular organization of entertainers, the Ernie Marks Stock Company successfully opened a 3-day visit to the Grand Opera House last night, with a fine presentation of the very amusing farce comedy "Let Jimie Do It." Mr. Marks has gathered together a very capable company, the majority of whom are new to Peterborough, and last night's large audience enjoyed their work. "Let Jimmie Do It," is one of those bedroom farces, written for laughing purposes only in which the action hinges around the complications that arise out of the theft of a series of babies. There are a host of laughable situations and funny lines, and the Marks organization succeeded last night in extracting the last ounce of fun out of the farce. Miss Marie Clarke did admirable work as the young wife Zoie. Jack Mark scored heavily as the unlucky Jimmy and Herbert O'Connor was successfully cast as the husband. The other parts were well looked after and the specialties between acts found much favour. To-night the Marks Company will present the modern success, "Rebecca of Sunnybrooke Farm."

AT THE CAPITOL.

"Soft Boiled," with Tom Mix and his wonder horse, Tony, is the feature picture at the Capitol Theatre for this week, in a production that has the real Mix touch, a combination of thrills and laughs. It is different from the usual run of this popular star's photo dramas, and specializes in the comedy element. Tom is the hot-tempered nephew of a hot-tempered old gentleman, breaking canes as an outlet for his fiery wrath, but determined to prevent his nephew from following in his own footsteps. A fortune comes to the hero if he can control his temper until the first of May, and a combination of aggravating circumstances intervenes to make him forget the prize. His sweetheart is the star dancer in a cabaret restaurant, whose proprietor will benefit financially by Tom's lack of self control. The wily villain goes after the girl and the hero rescues her in the popular manner. The attraction in the picture lies in the interest of the audience in watching Tom's struggles to preserve his calm demeanor and the thrilling exploits in which he figures with his wonder horse Tony.

The comedy is a laughable affair with a new touch. Dr. Jekyll and Dr. Hyde have a santiarium for nervous patients. While Dr. Jekyll strives to cure them, his partner makes them do everything that will keep them invalids, with snow baths for the rheumatic, and jazz dancing for those afflicted with insomnia.

WEDDING BELLS

MARKEE—FRANKS.

A quiet wedding was celebrated on August 22 at St. Mary's Anglican Church, Oak Bay, Victoria, B.C., by Rev. G. H. Andrews, when Dorothy, daughter of the late John Franks and Mrs. Franks, of Victoria, formerly of Moose Jaw and Regina, Sask., was married to Charles S. Markee, son of Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Markee, of Netonset, Ill. Following the service the bridal party repaired to the home of the Hon. Walter Scott and Mrs. Scott, Wood Lawn Crescent, where a wedding breakfast was served.

Mr. and Mrs. Markee left for a honeymoon trip up the Island, and later will make their home at Douglas Lodge, Vancouver.

Mrs. Markee is a niece of Thos. Franks, 481 Homewood Avenue, Peterboro.

CAREY—HEFFERNAN.

The marriage was solemnized on Tuesday morning at 8 o'clock in the Church of the Sacred Heart, of Mary the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Michael Heffernan, and George A., the youngest son of Mr. R. M. Carey, both principals resident in Otonabee. Rev. Father J. J. O'Brien, cousin of the bride, officiated. Following an exceedingly dainty wedding repast at the home of the bride's parents, to which one hundred relatives sat down, the happy couple left via the 3.50 C.P.R. train on a trip to Toronto, Niagara Falls and other Western Points.

Among the guests present there were Miss Lottie Clark of Chicago, Mrs. P. Torpey, of Detroit, and Mrs. D. J. Moher, Toronto.

The high esteem in which the young couple is held was clearly testified to by numerous and costly wedding gifts.

JAMES P. FITZSIMMONS.

LINDSAY, Sept. 14.—The death occurred at Windsor on Thursday of a former resident of Peterboro, in the person of James P. Fitzsimmons. The deceased, who was in his 44th year, was born in Ops Township, and moved with his parents to Peterboro in 1899. He was engaged for a time at Fanning's laundry, and afterwards became manager of "Mac's" cigar store. In 1919 he left Peterboro for Windsor, where he was employed in the blue print department of an automobile plant. He is survived by his wife, who was Leta May, of Peterboro, two children, seven sisters and two brothers.

The late Mr. Fitzsimmons was a cousin of Mrs. J. T. O'Connell and Mrs. F. R. J. Macpherson, of Peterboro.

CASH FORFEIT BY GREECE TO ITALY

PARIS, Sept 14 — (Canadian Press)—The Council of Ambassadors is understood to have decided that if on September 27, the day set for the Italian evacuation of Corfu, the commission of inquiry thinks Greece has not done everything in her power to bring assassins to justice, Italy shall receive a deposit of fifty million lire made by Greece, under terms of settlement decided upon by the Council.

The text of the note addressed by the Council of Ambassadors to Greece, has been officially communicated to the League of Nations, with a covering note, expressing the opinion that the situation created by the assassination in Greece of General Telline and others of the Italian commission may be considered to have been regulated in a satisfactory manner.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Editor of the Examiner.

"Dear Sir,—May I be granted a little space in the columns of your valuable paper to set forth some facts relating to a suggestion in a recent issue of the Examiner by Councillar Allan for the erection of a municipal building as a war memorial to those of our community who served in, and those who lost their lives, in the World War?

The suggestion brought vividly to my mind the circumstances surrounding the strenuous effort put forth by Councillor Dorie and myself to have the property known as the Ogilvie property, and now owned by the town, converted into a community building and memorial hall, for which plans and specifications had already been obtained.

It is a well-known fact that Mayor Meyers and his Council of 1922, after receiving a very substantially signed petition of the citizens of Campbellford asking that the said property be converted into a municipal building, went to the trouble and expense of securing plans, specifications and estimates from architects, Messrs. W. and W. R. Blackwell, of Peterboro, for the reconstruction of the building for the said purpose. The estimated cost by the architects was to be $6,497.

Nothing further was done in the matter until after the municipal elections of 1923, when it was again brought up in Council, after a proposition had been received from the Militia Department of the Government offering to repair the building and lease it for a term of years at a rental of $10 per month for the use of the local company of the Militia.

To this proposition I voiced my objections unless the Government would guarantee to erect thereon in five years a modern and standard armouries, for which the property was first purchased.

To such a guarantee the Government refused to commit themselves, but again advanced the proposition of leasing the property for a term of three years, with an option of leasing for another three years at a rental of $10 per month.

I strenuously opposed the acceptance of this proposition, contending the inadvisability of placing the property under Government control for six years when it was such an economical and desirable property to convert into a municipal building and memorial hall, the construction of which the Council should and might very soon undertake when the plans and estimates were already in their hands.

It is needless to say that my contention was overruled, as seen by the following vote in Council:

A resolution for the acceptance of the Government's proposal was moved by Councillors Allan and Meiklejohn, and supported by Mayor Meyers; Councillors Carter and Cole also voting yea. Opposed to the resolution of acceptance were Councillors Dorie, Wilkinson and myself, all three voting nay.

The point that arouses my curiosity at present is to understand the motive in Councillor Allan's sudden conversion and change of mind after laboring so recently to defeat such a favorable opportunity of securing the economical construction of a municipal building and memorial hall on such a good location.

After the success of his support in tying up the property in question for six years, perhaps Councillor Allan could suggest another site as favorably situated and as economical of construction.

Personally, I favor the scheme of a municipal and memorial hall combined.

I thank you, Mr. Editor, for the above space. Yours truly,

J. A. Anderson,
Reeve of Campbellford.

TWO WOMEN IN REVOLVER DUEL AT FALL FAIR

One of the Participants Dead and the Other Under Arrest -- A Triangle Case.

SHOT TO KILL

CHILDRESS, Texas., Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press)—Mrs. S. A. Maxwell is dead and Mrs. Albert Whiteside is under arrest following an "eternal triangle" episode. When they met on county fair grounds yesterday one of them remarked "you old hussy" and both dived their hands into their bags. Mrs. Whiteside was quicker and drawing revolver fired five shots into Mrs. Maxwell's side. "Send for Albert Whiteside" said Mrs. Maxwell as she collapsed. She died last night.

TRADES CONGRESS CLOSES SESSIONS

Another Attack Made on John Lewis by Miners' Delegate.

VANCOUVER, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press)—Concludiug session Trade and Labor Congress resolutions passed urging searching investigation into affairs home bank and asking amendments to bank act. Ontario workers were also asked to encourage interchange of cards between American Federation of Labor and Canadian unions.

Former Secretary Maclachlan of Nova Scotia mine workers led another attack on John Lewis, President of Mine Workers International. He said miners were on eve of victory when Lewis jumped in.

THE EXHIBITION REQUIRES BOOST

It is Up to Citizens to Turn Out in Force Tonight — All Attractions Open Until Midnight.

Having provided the best program of sports; the best and biggest midway and the best list of entries in the history of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition the Directors are laboring under a handicap imposed by the adverse weather. This is the only item necessary to the success of the Exhibition that the Directors cannot control—that and the attendance. Having done all in their power, and successfuly too, to provide a super entertainment, the Directors look to the citizens of Peterborough to urn out in force tonight and join with them in overcoming the deficit in attendance caused by the rain and cold on the first three days of the Fair.

Tonight is the last opportunity to see the splendid vaudeville performance. No doubt remains in the minds of those who have witnessed it that it is the best that ever came to Peterboro.

The midway will be open tonight until 12 o'clock and everything will be in full swing throughout the grounds.

There are only four fossil forest areas in the world, three being in the United States, the other near Cairo, Egypt.

Spanish Revolution Is Now Clearing Up

MADRID, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press)—Situation throughout Spain today is tranquil, new military and civil governments is functioning strikes which were called yesterday in various trades have now ceased and business is apparently as usual in most centres. King Alfonso is acclaimed everywhere as monarch and peace maker.

It was announced after conference between King Alfonso Primo Rivera that Spain for time being would be governed by directorate of generals made up of representatives of every military district in Spain under presidency of Captain General Primo Rivera. Absolute quiet prevails throughout Spain, according to advices from the provinces.

GERMAN MARK NOW BRANDED AS WORTHLESS

Can't Compute Them 100,000,000 to Dollar—Banks Strike Them Off Lists.

THE LAST BREAK

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—The German mark, which ten years ago was competing with the British pound sterling for leadeship as the world standard in international currency exchange, has sunk to so low a level that its value can no longer be computed, and American banks are now beginning to strike the mark off their lists of foreign exchanges.

The first of the major banks of Wall Street to scratch the mark off its foreign exchange lists was the National City Bank which abandoned all effort to adjust its figures on foreign bills to the rapidly shrinking paper mark. The further break in the last week marked the end of this bank's effort to continue the mathematical toboggan and Thursday its record of foreign exchange dealings contained no trace of mark transactions. In seven days, the mark had declined from approximately 42,000,000 to the dollar to an extreme low figure of 145,000,000.

Other large American banks, it became known Thursday, are considering a similar step and action by them is expected at any time. Insurance companies discontinued dealings in marks several months ago.

The record of the German mark shows a recession from its par value of four and a quarter marks to the dollar in 1913 to 1,500 a year ago. Since then the mark has gone down rapidly, and Thursday's closing quotation was nearly 100,000,000 marks to the dollar, a figure that represented a sharp rally from the preceding day's close.

The National City Bank did not formally announce its action, but the absence of a quotation on marks in its daily record of foreign exchanges indicated that such action had been taken. Inquiry at the bank then revealed that the foreign exchange department had received instructions to discontinue all dealings in the German currency. Demand for marks has died to practically nothing in the last few weeks save for the nominal amount purchased for tourist requirements. For three weeks there has been no sizeable purchase here or abroad, according to the foreign exchange dealers, and even speculators have left the debased currency to itself.

Until six months ago there had been fairly steady buying of marks, both for commercial and private accounts. Speculators, composed of many thousands of persons with moderate savings, purchased the mark from a date following soon after the armistice. Many transactions of this kind were made at or around the 7 cent figure, and when the mark got down to 1,000 for $1 there was another inrush of orders for the speculative accounts of amateur "investors." The total cost to Americans of this venture in foreign exchange speculative was large. One of the reported sellers of marks was the German Government, but this could not be confirmed.

Last March the German Government made a costly effort to stabilize the price of the mark, and at that time a number of "investors" again made purchases, acting on the suggestion that the mark was about to advance and that through making purchases then they might reduce their losses and probably make a profit, in addition. A few weeks later the German Government had to withdraw its figurative peg under the weight of heavy selling orders, and since then the downward course of the mark has continued.

The latest "break" in the mark covers the seven days ended Thursday. The cause was comprised of reports that Germany would soon discontinue passive resistance in the Ruhr with, as another factor, the vast increase in note circulation. During the week the mark receded from 42,000,000 to the dollar to approximately 145,000,000 to the dollar, and Thursday the quotation varied from 111,000,000 to 90,000,000 to the dollar, a range that made mark dealings extremely difficult.

POWER SUPPLY IS GOOD HERE AT LOW PRICE

Cost Here in Peterboro Compares Favorably With Other Cities--Deficit on This Section.

NO DEGREASE HERE

Regarding the decrease in power rates announced by the Hydro Electric Power Commission of Ontario on Thursday, H. O. Fisk, manager of the Peterboro Utilities Commission told the Examiner to-day that no decrease is expected in this city.

Peterboro rates are already lower than in most of the surrounding municipalities, and are only a trifle higher than in Toronto where thousands more horsepower are used.

Peterboro's rates are 2½ and 1¼ cents per kilowatt hour domestic as compared with Toronto's 2 and 1.

No Decrease Anticipated.

Robert Hicks, chairman of the Utilities Commission, interviewed today, stated that no decrease is to be anticipated for some time. There is a deficit on this system incurred some years ago which operates against a reduction.

THE STOCK MARKET HAD A HARD WEEK

Prices Dropped to New Low Levels on Current Reaction.

NEW YORK, September 15 (Special to The Examiner). — Bearish influences were in the ascendancy at the week-end in the stock market, and prices among the speculative leaders dropped to new low levels on the current reaction. In view of the fact that professional pressure was directed against the industrial stocks, Wall Street drew the conclusion that the selling indicated a slackening in the pace of general business. However, the weekly mercantile reviews reported underlying confidence in the general trade situation, despite the continued irregularity in demand and prices.

The loss of technical strength from Friday's midday rally and short covering in the early dealings were indicated by the way stocks appeared to sink of their own weight, with no special incentive for selling. Republic and other independents dropped sharply following the further break in Steel Common to a new low on the current reaction at 88 1-8. Some necessitous selling was in evidence among the recent pool favourites. Mallison, in which an unstable long following was built up after the Japanese earthquake, was exceptionally active

However, this company appears to have good prospects unless the damage in Japan was more widespread than is now estimated. Heavy selling proceeded through the last hour, and the lowest prices of the session were reported in the final dealings

Mack Trucks dropped to a new low level on the movement at 75 3-8 and Studebaker at 100 7-8.

U. S. Steel 88 1-8 off 1-2, Gulf States 77 3-8 off 1-4, Republic Steel 44 off 1-2, Baldwin 115 3-4 off 1 5-8, American Locomotive 69 3-4 off 1-8, American Woollen 82 7-8 up 3-4, Studebaker 100 7-8 off 1 1-4, Kelly-Springfield 29 1-4 off 1 1-4, Anaconda 39 1-2 unchanged, Baltimore and Ohio 47 3-8 off 1, Northern Pacific 56 off 1 1-4, Southern Pacific 86 1-8 off 3-8, Great Northern Pref. 54 1-8 off 1 1-4. Reading 73 5-8 up 1-8.

COMING.

Charles Edward Ashburner, who was the first American city manager, becomes city manager of Stockton, Calif., at a salary of $20,000 a year.

For taking charge of a property of similar value, a corporation would pay him at least five times as much.

CHEKA TERROR TOOK TOLL OF 50,000 LIVES

Russian Bolshevist Forces Struck in the Night to Plant Fear in Peoples' Hearts.

MYSTERY VS. HORROR

By Walter Duranty

LONDON, Sept 15—The "Cheka" or Extraordinary Commission for the Suppression of Counter Revolution to give it its full official title, ceased to exist as such in the early part of last year when it was brought under the control of the Ministry of the interior on the same lines as the American Department of Justice or the British Scotland Yard. A new title, "Gay Payoo," or State Political Administration is now in common use but few non-Communists Russians can speak the word "Cheka" without a shudder.

Created soon after the Bolshevik revolution the "cheka" was developed by Dzenzhinsky — the mild-eyes enthusiast of ruthless and fanatic energy—with the same executive efficiency as he has shown in the past two years in reorgahizing the railroads. In his hands it became not a political police force alone but the veritable sword of the Soviet Government. Its picked battalions rushed to every danger point first in the cities and later on to the front against White generals. Its armed agents were in every large town and on every railroad. It conducted court martial in the army through "flying tribunals," where they came unheralded to crush mutinies before the plotters knew they were suspected. Finally it carried as a great political organization with its own prisons, its own tribunals and its own firing squads.

To this day there are people in Moscow who make a detour rather than walk the pavement in front of 2 Lubianka, the headquarters where the prisoners of the "Cheka" were first examined, so deep was the terror it evoked.

Created Terror Deliberately

There is no doubt that Bolshevik leaders deliberately created this feeling in the minds of the superstitious Russians. The "Cheka" operated at night arrested persons and vanished and their fate remained a mystery Its very name was taboo, and strange, horrible stories were told of the manner of its executions. No man knew who might be one of its agents nor into what a careless word might involve him and his family.

Valuable as the effect thus produced may have been to the Soviet Government in difficult days in 1919, when its fate seemed hanging by a hair the subsequent reaction in Russia and more especially abroad did it infinite harm. The bogey it had created became the symbol of its murderous rule and fantastic stories were told of millions of "Cheka's victims. Hideous blood baths and executions en masse.

In point of fact it is doubtful whether the total number of "Cheka' executions throughout the whole period up to 1922 surpasses 50,000. I once asked a group of bitterly anti-Bolshevist Englishmen, most of whom were in Russia when the revolution occurred in which all lost dear friends or property, what they estimated the total "Cheka" executions at. No one put the figure higher than 100,000 for the whole country. The majority placed it much lower —one quoting as an analogy the French Revolution, whose victims the great historian Michelet estimates at 4,000—put it as 20,000. Though lives were cheap in Russia and the "cheka" leaders pitiless indefending the revolution when in danger they would have defeated their own object by the wholesale slaughter of workers and peasants on the scale reported abroad. Nor are such men as Dzerzhinsky or Latsis—now head of the State Salt Trust or Uuschlitt—the present chief of the Gaypayoo—the bestial butchers they have been depicted. In remarkable monograph on terrorism Latsis declared that the object of "terror" is to create the maximum effect at the minimum cost. "Thus it is better," he said, "to execute ten twenty or even one hundred persons immediately at a critical moment than by hesitation, either merciful or anxious to allow a rebellion to break out which would cost thousands of lives before it was suppressed."

On these rounds Latsis is said to have given an opinion against the death sentences on the Catholic priests last summer. "They should have given an opinion against the death sentences on the Catholic priests last summer. "They should

REPORT UNFOUNDED OFFICIALS ASSERT

No Difficulty Existing Between Jugo Slavia and Italy.

BELGRADE, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press).—"All reports circulated in last few days alleging that tension existed in relations between Jugo-Slavia and Italy, because of interruption of work of Fiume conference committee, are unfounded" says statement issued by Foreign office. It adds that "desire of both countries for an agreement is undiminished."

Statement was called forth by report in Belgrade newspaper that Premiers Pachitch and Mussolini would meet at an early date to seek solution on question.

Another announcement confirms rumors of postponement of decisive action by Italy.

NOTED DIVINE TO BE HERE SUNDAY

Dr. Campbell Morgan Will Preach in Local Churches Twice Each Day.

A letter was received this week by a local citizen from a prominent business man in Toronto. It reads as follows:

"I notice in one of the daily papers that the great English preacher, Dr. Campbell Morgan, is to be in Peterborough the week of 16th September to 21st September, and I am especially anxious that you should both go and hear him on Sunday in whatever church he may be preaching. GO EARLY, as the church will be jammed, and get a good seat. If you do not think that he is by all odds the greatest preacher and interpreter of the Bible you ever heard in all your life, I have nothing more to say.

"There is not a church in Toronto one-quarter big enough to hold the crowds who throng to hear him. When he was at the Metropolitan, one had to go at 15 minutes to 6 at night to get in, and the service often started long before 7 o'clock, so great were the crowds. He is not at all sensational, but he has such a wonderful knowledge of the Bible from cover to cover that his sermons are an inspiration. If you have to get a cab to go, get the cab and go, no matter if it is raining cats and dogs, and I am sure after you hear him once that you will go every night that he is in Peterborough. He is a wonderful preacher, and the best I ever listened to. Be sure and go early, and get near the front, as you will not want to miss a single word."

Dr. Morgan will preach in Peterborough twice each day next week. The afternoon service will begin at 3.30 in St. Paul's Church, and the evening service at 8 o'clock in the Opera House, George Street Church.

BRITISH QUAKE VICTIMS REACH VICTORIA TODAY

VICTORIA, B.C., September 15 Canadian Press). — British victims of the recent Japanese earthquake disaster, to the number of 29, will reach here to-morrow on the liner President Jefferson, according to a wireless message received by Premier Oliver to-day from the captain of the ship.

These people will require immediate financial assistance, the message adds.

HERE TO-MORROW

DR CAMPBELL MORGAN,
Who will be in Peterborough to-morrow and all next week. On Sunday Dr. Morgan will speak in St. Paul's Church in the morning and in George Street Church in the evening.

COAL DEALERS EXPLAIN HIGH COST OF COAL

It is Difficult to Purchase Coal From the Line Companies Across the Border.

PROFIT VERY LOW

Coal dealers interviewed to-day regarding the price of coal opened up another phase of the situation, which explains the high price of coal to the consumer. Only a few dealers in the city can purchase coal at the prices quoted in the Examiner yesterday, which is the line companies' price. The majority of the dealers must buy through jobbers because their companies refuse to supply them.

Figures given to-day indicate that when the dealers sold coal at $16.50 they paid from $14.50 to $14.75, and in July when coal sold at $18 a ton it cost the dealer $16.05 laid down. At present the coal that sells for $18 costs $16.35 a ton.

If the coal dealers in Peterboro could buy coal from their supply companies they would pay only $12.75 a net ton. Being compelled to purchase from the jobbers they pay $16.25 a net ton delivered in Peterboro.

Lost Last Year.

One of the city dealers said to-day that he closed last year's business with a deficit of $2,000. Besides the cost of the coal and freight there are delivery, storage and many other overhead expenses to be considered, he said. In unloading, itself an expensive operation, there may be found a loss of two or three tons of dirt, for which the dealer pays coal rate. In some cars the dirt loss is as high as five tons. Delivery charges are high on small lots, a run of some miles being necessary at times to deliver a half ton of coal.

Since the first of April this year which marks the opening of the coal season, one dealer has not received one ton of line company coal, but has obtained all his supplies from jobers at the high rate.

RESIDENTS LEAVE FOR JERSEY CITY

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Popham and Family Will Be Missed in City.

In the departure of Mr. and Mrs. Guy H. Popham and family this week for Jersey City N.Y., Peterboro loses most estimable citizens, who have been residents of the city for nearly sixteen years and who, during that time, were of great service in many activities pertaining to community welfare.

During their residence here, Mr. and Mrs. Popham built up a reputation for constant charitable endeavor and unceasing interest in good works that might be summed up in the words of an old friend, who said "You never had to tell them twice about any deserving charity. A hint enough, to either one. You would be sure to get a basket or money for a needy family or a good cause without any talk about it."

Mr. Popham's interest in community advancement and good work was widespread. Although seldom acting in an executive capacity, he was actively interested and a generous giver to many enterprises. Mrs. Popham was a life member of the Red Cross Society, president of the Catholic Women's League for some time, and a member of the ladies' board of the Peterborough Health Association.

Their many friends in Peterboro will unite in the wish that Mr and Mrs. Popham and family may at some time in the future decide to once more make their home in the city.

NO POWER SHORTAGE THREATENS PETERBORO.

That the rumours of a shortage of electric power through low water are altogether unfounded is the information received from a reliable source to-day.

The Examiner's informant stated that Stoney Lake is only eight inches below the summer level, and there is a possible two feet to draw on in Buckhorn Lake.

This should do away with the apprehension regarding the power supply, which, unless untoward events occur, will be ample

Armed Bandits Made Clean-up of Jewelry

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press)—Jewelry said to be worth $20,000 and $500 in cash was stolen by two armed bandits in holdup at Fraiberg Jewelry Company this morning. The bandits covered Frank Fraiberg, his brother Henry and bookkeeper with revolvers, compelled the president to open the safe scooped up jewelry and cleared out.

BRISK DEMAND LOCAL MARKET

Late Shoppers Did Not Find Much in the Way of Fowl--Good Run on Wild Grapes.

The farmers' market had plenty of buyers this morning. In the basket section, the supplies were cleaned out shortly after eleven o'clock with a few lone fowl and a basket or two of butter remaining for late shoppers. Butter sold all the way from 40 to 35 cents a pound and aggs were 40 to 35 cents a dozen. Chicken was 30 and 35, with duck the same price and hens were 25 cents a pound

There was plenty of corn of excellent quality on sale this morning. A new and popular arrival was the "Stone's Evergreen," a large, white, even-kernelled variety that sold for 40 cents a dozen at one stall, and 30 cents a dozen at another. Bantam corn was 15 and 20 cents a dozen.

The apple vendors did a brisk trade. The tendency of customers to test their product keeps these gentle men constantly on the alert and many a lady buyer has the 'sample' habit in the extreme. Wealthies were 50 cents a peck St. Lawrence 60 cents and the strawberry apple 45 cents. A good-looking green cooking apple was selling for 40 cents a basket.

A cart that drew many attentive men customers was the one where wild grapes displayed at 50 cents a basket. The tame grapes were 25 cents a measure and there was a crowd around the melon cart where musk melons were selling at 15 and 20 cents apiece or small samples at three for a quarter, and watermelons at 25 cents each.

Potatoes were somewhat scarce. The visible supply were good-looking specimens selling at $2.25 and $2.50 per bag.

Little Yorkshire piglets were $12 a pair and $5 apiece was the price asked for the ones with a dash of Berkshire strain.

Pears were $1.25 a large basket; peaches 65 and plums 70 cents. Red and green peppers, large and small were 50 and 25 cents a dozen.

Pickling onions were 25 cents a quart celery 10 cents a bunch, and tomatoes were plentiful, at 55 cents a basket.

The colored gentleman from British Guiana who says "hocus pocus janiocus" over a dollar bill and converts it almost instanteously into a veritable two-dollar greenback had a crowd for his cheerful harangue, that deals mostly with the many good qualities of an expert corn-removing paste.

WELCOME FOR COSGRAVE.

DUBLIN, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press)—Thirty persons were slightly hurt last night in enthusiastic demonstration to President Cosgrave, returning from League of Nations.

FELL FROM A PLANE.

DYTON, Ohio, Sept. 15.—Major E. L. Napier flight surgeon at McCook Field, was instantly killed this morning when fokker plans he was driving fell to earth.

Machine Spanking To Take Place of Sentences to Jail

WINNIPEG, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press). — A spanking machine, which would have instruments varying from a broad paddle to a cat-o'-nine-tails, and so geared as to be administered with different degrees of severity, was advocated to take the place of jail sentences for first offenders under the criminal code, by Crown Prosecutor R. B. Graham, K.C., to-day.

Mr. Graham is serious about the proposition. The incorrigible offender could be 'machine' spanked and then sent back to his work and then put to the job of supporting his family.

ALBERTA COAL MISSING OVER NIGHT AT FAIR

Was the Most Popular Exhibit at the Fall Fair -- Many Sign the Petition.

SUPPLY DISAPPEARS

The exhibit of Alberta coal at the Peterborough Exhibition has evidently taken very well with the Fair patrons who have been interested in its showing during the last three days. In fact it has already become so popular in the city that certain of the residents probably nervous over the prospect of not being able to get any more within a short space of time, made away with the visible supply outside of the tent last evening.

During the dark hours of the night the pile that was supposed to contain a three days' supply disappeared. Whether the souvenir craze has attacked a number of the citizens at one and the same time, whether they became so enthusiastic about the merits of the Western product that they couldn't bear to be without it in the home, or whether they were merely actuated by a laudable desire to give it a private and personal test in the domestic range nobody knows.

Probably the words of the silver-tongued gentleman who accompanied the showing and who promised passers-by during these bleak days that if they would step into the tent and "get warm for the rest of your life" had something to do with the exodus, but which to-day leaves a vacuum in the place where yesterday reposed a sizable pile of about five hundred pounds of Alberta semi-hard black diamonds. Such a prospect would prove a powerful temptation to chilly ones.

So the first Alberta coal to arrive in Peterboro had a warm welcome, in more ways than one and the exhibitors re compelled to do with a small supply they have in reserve, just enough to keep the stove alive and let the furnace go out.

Over four thousand names have already been signed to the petition which waits for signatures at the tent where Alberta coal is being demonstrated.

F. HOLMES WINS YESTERDAY'S HAM

Twelve Contestants Tied --2119 Estimating Blanks Turned in.

Two thousand one hunded and nineteen estimating blanks in competition for the prize Rose Brand ham given away by the Canadian Packing Company, Limited, at the Exhibition were handed in yesterday.

And for the third time the result proved a tie, twelve competitors estimating the ham's actual weight, 9 pounds 14 ounces.

This time the prize was weighed at Jopling & Sons' meat store, George Street, the winner being decided by an impartial party, who drew the estimating blank tendered by F. Holmes, 116 Hilliard Street, to whom yesterday's ham goes.

Of the twelve tieing competitors, one came from Ida, one from Millbrook, and another from Brownton, the remainder being city residents.

This competition remains open till ten o'clock to-night, and yet another visitor to the Fair will win a meat dainty in the premier class.

Believe Italy Will Postpone Action Until Proposed Conference Is Held

SERBS ORGANIZE.

BELGRADE, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Indications here today were that Italy has postponed her proposed decisive action regarding Fiume, which the Jugo-Slav Government believes will take the form of annexation of the free city.

It is not expected now that the proclamation will be made tomorrow, which was the date set by Premier Mussolini, but that he will wait until there is an opportunity for the friendly conference urged in his letter to Premier Pachitch, which was read before the Council of Ministers, presided over by King Alexander, yesterday.

Opposed to Annexation.

The Jugo-Slavian newspapers do not approve annexation as the beginning of an imperialistic campaign by Italy. They compare it with the policy carried out by Austria-Hungary, which policy they say caused the downfall of the dual monarchy.

The presence here of Marshal Franchet D'Esperey has given opportunity for the Jugo-Slavs to display their friendship for France, which seems particularly warm and enthusiastic in the present emergency.

The Fiume crisis has given added impetus to the movement among the Serbian youths, who are grouping themselves into a patriotic association called the "Omnaladina."

Government Assured.

Funds have been flowing into the treasury of this organization during the last few days, the list of subscribers including the names of several Cabinet Ministers.

The newspaper Politina, which is usually well informed, says today:

"Our Government has assurances that no change can intervene in the Fiume affair, which might mean that Italy will not undertake a course that will lead to annexation."

THE BLIND MAN'S EXHIBIT AT FAIR

Things Pretty and Ornamental at Basketwork Booth.

"The Blind Man's Exhibit" is the somewhat pathetically-worded sign over a small side section in the annex to the Main Building. But the blind man himself, J. R. rownlee, of 612 Chamberlain street, and his assistant, Wm. F. Cornwall, of Browntown, do not look pathetic. On the contrary, there is an air of businesslike cheer about the little booth, with its careful examples of fine handiwork in reed and cane accessories, its proprietor working busily at a reed basket.

There are things pretty and ornamental, plain and useful, finished with careful precision by the supple fingers that carry the eyes of the blind man in their tips. Trays of all sorts; cake and sandwich serving trays with gay chints under glass, pin trays holding picture postcards; slender, graceful flower holders with long handles, done in two-tone effect of grey enamel and gilt, tall floor lamps and table lamps in the brown-stained ware; jardinieres and work baskets and reed tables; ferneries with elaborate reed embroidery valances, flower-pot holders and big, round jardiniere stands; boudoir lamps, souvenirs of many kinds, they all congregate here in a pleasant, pretty exhibit of the skilful work of careful, laborious hands.

Mr. Brownlee has given three prizes for competition at the Fair, including a large tray, valued at $6, for the best lady driver, a 12 x 18 tray with oak bottom, valued at $3, for the best loaf of bread from any flour, and a tray, 12 x 18, with oak bottom, valued at $3, for fancy work exhibit.

Greeks Pleased In Settlement

ATHENS, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press).—The Greco-Italian incident was virtually closed today when the French Minister to Greece called at the Foreign Office where formal note was taken of the various measures of reparations ordered by the Council of Ambassadors, including the evacuation of Corfu by the Italians September 27.

The assurance that the Italians would quit Corfu has created intense satisfaction in Greek circles. The newspapers, however, refrain from commenting upon the situation as it now stands, confining themselves to reprinting western opinion on the controversy.

WINNIPEG FIRE INJURES THREE

Factory and Five Dwellings Destroyed at Loss of $250,000.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press)—Fire which broke out in the blacksmiths' shop of the R. A. Smart Mfg. Co. in Elmwood, a suburb, raged for two hours yesterday afternoon, and before brought under control destroyed the factory and lumber warehouse of the company, five dwellings which were struck by flaming brands, damaged four dwellings and caused injuries to three people. The damage is estimated at a quarter of a million dollars.

HEAVIEST CLAIMS AGAINST GERMANY.

Dominion Steel Company Presents Account For Seventeen Million.

MONTREAL, Sept. 15.—Nearly $17,000000 is to be asked from Germany by the Dominion Steel Corporation and six of its subsidiary companies, and the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company to cover losses & Coal Co. to cover losses sustained owing to operations of the Great War. Torpedoed vessels under charter; chartered steamers requisitioned; costs of substituting requisitioned vessels; losses of contracts and war risk premiums are the headings under which the claims are listed.

Hearings of these claims, the largest aggregate by far of all the Dominion applications of this character began here to-day before the Hon. Dr. William Pugsley Commissioner appointed by the Government to investigate and report on all Canadian war reparations claims. The actual total is $16,711,170.

The legality of an item of $1,133,667 claimed by the Dominion Coal Co. in respect of chartered steamers requisitioned by the British admiralty was discussed. Hector McInes K. C. of Halifax, for the company explained that the ships had been specially constructed for the purpose of the trade and the company had been forced to buy substitute ships of inferior type. As a result the whole business of the company fell off.

DOWN THE RIVER WITH THE CAMPERS

NORTH MONAGHAN, Sept. 15.—Summer has gone, and the campers have folded their tents, like the Arabs, and silently stolen away. No pomp or ceremony marked their departure this year; corn was counted amongst the lucuries, and not to be wantonly eaten by the boilerful.

In Crawford's Grove a few white tents still appear, but their owners are not always in evidence.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Hall have returned to the city, but still feel the lure of camping, and occasionally spend a week-end at their cottage.

Mr. E. E. Lord removed his cookhouse this week, the sole remaining evidence of his connection with the Grove and pleasant days spent there this summer.

Mrs. Mowry and daughter, Helen, have returned to their home in the city, and Mrs. Patterson is breaking camp preparatory to following them soon.

Mr. and Mrs. Millard are still occupying their cottage, and have signified their intention of remaining during September, if the weather proves suitable.

At Braundport all is quiet.

J. T. Braund's family come occasionally to spend an evening or a week-end at their cottage.

Across the river, "Pleasant View" camp is still open, and down the banks of the Otonabee a few stragglers yet cling to their summer mode of living. Perhaps an extra blanket or two is needed these cold nights, but the lure of the open is upon them, and they are loathe to leave it. Here and there a naked flagpole or a path of white-washed stones leading to nowhere in particular, bear mute testimony to the campers' desertion. The river is quiet and bare; the boats that lined it on both sides—the green and red canoes, brown skiffs and unpainted punts—are packed tightly away in their own houses, awaiting the swift rush of next summer's waters against their heels.

Typhoon is over in Hong Kong. It doesn't matter, but the place sounds like an auto coming.

BRITISH UNITY AN EXPERIMENT FOR THE WORLD

Continuance of British Commonwealth Test of Feasibility of Wider Union.

CANADA'S COURSE.

LONDON, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press).—An article in the London Spectator by John Evelyn Wrench, editor of the monthly journal of the Overseas League, dealing with the recent survey appearing in the London Observer of public opinion in Canada towards Empire development, says that whether the Imperial conference comes to any important decision or not, the broad fact remains that probably during the next thirty years the ultimate destiny of the British Empire will be decided, because within that period, for better or for worse, Canada will have answered the question, "Quo Vadis?" (Whither goest thou?).

Canada's Choice.

There are three alternatives before the Dominion of Canada, says Mr. Wrench's article—firstly, free nationhood within the British Commonwealth; secondly, an entirely independent republic; thirdly, incorporation with the United States.

"In the last resort the Canadian people will be actuated in making their decision by reason of self-interest as is natural and inevitable. If in the long run they would be better outside the British Empire, sooner or later they will cut the painter. So far none of the Canadian isolationists has made out a case which carries conviction."

The British Model.

Continuing the Wrench article says: "If ever the vision of a federation of mankind is to come true it surely will be easier to envisage co-operation among all peoples of the earth after the Britannic league of nations have demonstrated its feasibility. If the British Commonwealth were to break up and its self-governing nations become independent republics, adhering to the doctrine "Ourselves alone" the whole welfare of civilization would be imperilled."

HARVESTERS MOVE TO LUMBER CAMPS.

Heavy Employment in New Ontario Extensions.

SUDBURY, Sept. 15.—(!Canadian Press)—Private employment agents here report movement of labor from western havest fields to Northern Ontario camps has already started and camp crews were being filled up with the good class of labor. There is demand for French Canadians for woods work but mining and construction camps prefer foreigners. This week C. N. R. extra gang totals 1284 and C.P.R. passed 1500. Foleyet lumber camps took 400 this week. C.P.R. is using 700 on Kipawa extension and C.N.R. 600 at Long Laccut-off and 250 moving division Point Grant to Nashina. Kirkland Lake Camps expect several hnuderd more than next week.

OSHKIGMONG NEWS

OSHKIGMONG, Sept. 15.—After spending two weeks' vacation here Dr. Walhouser of the city of New York left for home. Being a real sportsman the doctor said that good sport is found at Chemong. Every day he went out he returned satisfied with his day's fishing. He was a guest at the Chemong House.

At present the Chemong House is filled to its full capacity. Among the guests are the visitors from Geneva, Ohio, Fred. Chapman, W. J. Doran, Wm. Gault, Ray Gilbert and Dr. F. J. Dounty.

Last Tuesday at noon two sisters, who have not seen each other for thirty-five years, accidently met in Peterborough—Mrs. W. Blaker of Zeba, Mich., arriving via the C.P.R. and Mrs. G. Goose of Scugog via the G.T.R. Time had so changed their appearances that they did not recognize each other at first, and it was little time before they knew that they were sisters. Both ladies came to Chemong, where they were met by their numerous friends and entertained. After supper the visitors enjoyed themselves with their old friends, recounting reminiscences. Mrs. Blaker expects to make a prolong visit with her daughter, Mrs. Joe Whetung, Jr.

The directors of the annual Fall Fair in Chemong are making arrangements for a very attractive event. The date is fixed for October 3 and 4. There will be new features worthy of attraction.

MARTIAL LAW IN TULSA APPLIES TO NEWSPAPERS

TULSA, Okla., September 15. — A military censor took up his post in the editorial rooms of the Tulsa Tribune, an afternoon newspaper, at noon to-day. He ordered "proofs" of all the news matter relating to Governor Walton and martial law in Tulsa county to be submitted for his approval.

CANADA NOW IN CONTROL.

All Conditions Point to Successful Marketing of Wheat Crop.

OTTAWA, Sept. 15.—Canada is in practical control of the world's wheat market for the next five months, according to a statement issued here today by T. K. Doherty, Canadian commissioner in the International Institute of Agriculture.

This statement is based upon the assumption that all optimistic news is exhausted, various adverse factors are to develop, the world's old stock of wheat is well cleaned up and that only eleven million bushels is left from last years' Canadian crop.

Would not be Without Zutoo Tablets At Any Cost

Mr. A. O. Norton, the millionaire Jack Manufacturer, of Boston, who recently died, was a great "booster" for Zutoo Tablets.

He suffered from headaches from childhood and when he found Zutoo Tablets stopped these headaches in a few minutes and left no bad effect, he began recommending them to his family and friends. In an unsolicited letter, Mr. Norton says in closing:

"My family use them when ever needed with equally good results. I have frequently given them to friends who were suffering from Headache and they never failed to give quick relief. I always carry Zutoo Tablets in my grip on the road and WOULD NOT BE WITHOUT THEM AT ANY COST."

KING ALFONSO THANKS CATALANS FOR THEIR ALLEGIANCE TO CROWN

Madrid Under Martial Law and Provinces Are Quiet While Military Director Confers With King.

Form New Government.

BARCELONA, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press)—Captain General Primo Rivera, who is to head the new military directorate in charge of the government, left late this afternoon for Madrid to confer with King Alfonso.

Before starting for Madrid General Primo Rivera said the military directorate formed in Madrid by Generals Cavalcanti, Deban, Farro and Frederic Berenguer, would be modified and completed immediately under his presidency.

Gen. Primo Rivera added that he was unable to say how long the directorate would be in power or how long he would remain in Madrid. At any rate, he said, he would not relinquish the Captain-Generalship of Catalania.

MARTIAL LAW IN CAPITAL.

MADRID, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press)—Martial laws has been proclaimed and the streets of Madrid are picketed by the military.

Primo Rivera, the head of the military revolt, and, who is to form the new government, has instructed the military judges to institute proceedings against Santiago Alba, former Foreign Minister, and has issued a proclamation inviting all Spaniards to declare themselves on the political morality of the former Minister. It is reported that Senor Alba is a refugee in Biarritz.

The Captain General of Madrid today visited former Premier Alhucemas and notified him of the King's mandate declaring a state of siege throughout Spain.

QUIET IN PROVINCES.

CERBERE, Spain, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press)—Quiet prevails throughout Catalani, Tarragona, Garona, Figueras and puigcerda, with the exception of some harmless firing in the streets of Barcelona. The military government has ordered the police and gendarmerie not to carry arms, hoping thus to prove their pacific intentions.

Telephone and telegraph communications are still intact but subject to severe control by the authorities. Military officials today visited the newspaper offices in Barcelona and censored many articles.

King Alfonso sent a telegram to Barcelona garrison thanking them for their loyalty to him and the country.

WARM CONTEST FOR M'MURRAY'S SEAT

Labor and Conservatives Grooming Candidates For Bye-Election.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press)—A political campaign, which promises to be one of the keenest staged in this city for some years is expected to result from the elevation of E. J. McMurray, M.P. for North Winnipeg to the post of Solicitor-General for Canada, and Minister without Portfolio. Labor and Conservatives are already laying plans to place candiates in the field. Alderman A. A. Heaps, a Labor member in the City Council for a number of years, and John Queen, leader of the Labor party in the provincial legislature, are mentioned as possible nominees while it is thought that Dr. R. M. Blake, former member for North Winnipeg, will be nominated by the Conservatives for the by-election. The date for the election has not been set, but likely will be held late in October.

A BAD ACCIDENT TO APSLEY STAGE

APSLEY, Sept. 15.—A serious accident occurred to the Apsley stage on Thursday evening. When rounding the corner at Norman Wilsons, about seven miles from Apsley, something went wrong with the steering gear, and the truck it is reported turned a complete somersault. The driver, Dave Tucker and Alice McFadden, a young girl, the only passenger, was thrown headlong, the later sustaining a fractured leg. Tucker was severely bruised and shaken up, and the truck itself was badly wrecked. Dr. Shepherd was called to the scene of the accident, and helped the injury above mentioned, no further particulars of the victims' conditions at the time of writing having been learned.

AMENDMENT OF LEAGUE WOULD GIVE IT TEETH

Proposal to Render Mutual Assistance If Attacked By Another State.

ONE STIPULATION.

GENEVA, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press). — Progress was made today in the work of the League of Nations Assembly on the proposed international pact of mutual assistance, the aim of which is maintenance of world peace, when several more articles were approved by the commission on the reduction of armaments.

Amendments to Article 2 of the pact, suggested by Christian L. Lange of Norway, Secretary of the Inter-Parliamentary Union, were rejected after long discussion. This article is practically a duplicate of the famous Article 10 in the covenant of the league which aroused so much debate in the United States Senate.

Must Comply With Pact.

As approved today, it calls upon the signatories to furnish assistance to another state which is attacked on the condition, however, that the country attacked has conformed to the pact stipulations concerning the reduction or limitation of armaments.

THE JUDGES' REPORTS.

Reports of judges in different departments of the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition all tell the same story, "Overcrowded, not enough accommodation."

The cattle exhibit has overflown into the open air, the horticultural display, according to the expert who judged it, should have twice as much room, the new poultry building is none too large to accommodate the large number of birds in the show.

These conditions indicate the remarkable growth of the Exhibition.

The accommodation in all these departments is much greater than was provided a few years ago; and when additional space was made possible it was thought that the wants of the Exhibition for a long period ahead were provided for satisfactorily.

Already, however, the Exhibition has caught up to and passed the available accommodation.

The entries have increased by leaps and bounds, indicating the widening popularity of Peterborough's Fair among the wide-awake exhibitors of Ontario.

Nothing shows the great expansion of the Peterborough Industrial so unmistakably as the recommendations of this year's judges that more space be devoted to the various departments.

It is a feature of the annual affair that should not be overlooked.

THE STRESEMANN OFFER.

Chancellor Stresemann's proposal to make the private German pay is only another version of the French demand that adequate domestic taxation be imposed on the German people, says the Montreal Star.

The fact that Stresemann admits that the money is there, is tantamount to a confession that the French contention has been right. M. Poincare is certain to drive this nail home, whatever reply he may make to the German offer. It will be quite beside the question to say, as Stresemann already has, that private German property is not pledged in the Treaty of Versailles to meet Germany's obligations. This is true, but the taxing powers of the Reich are pledged, and taxing power can levy as heavily as it chooses on private property.

If the French accept this proposition, it will show a very genuine willingness to meet the Germans halfway. They will first ask, we should imagine, to be told very definitely—and shown—just how much of this private German wealth will be available. We may be certain they will not be bought out of the Ruhr for any small sum. But if both parties are tired of the struggle—of which there seem to be signs—they may take this way out.

But they will be most unlikely to surrender their guarantees till they get the money. Stresemann must be prepared to yield on this point. But the question is: Can he yield? Will the industrialists of Germany accept a crushing capital levy, and the jingoes accept humiliation in the Ruhr, all at the same time? This is, perhaps, the basic question under all the others.

KEEPING THEM IN CANADA.

The Examiner has referred on several occasions with approval to the efforts being made by the Department of Immigration to obtain employment for the winter season for the harvesters who recently came out to Canada from Great Britain.

Some 12,000 Britishers made the pilgrimage to the West, and all reports describe them as being of a very fine type who should, if it is found at all possible, be retained as citizens of Canada.

Recognizing that nobody in Canada receives so much and such persistent advice about running their business as the farmers, the Examiner is not anxious to add its voice to the chorus.

Just as almost everyone imagines he knows all there is to learn about running a newspaper there are vast numbers of people, expert and otherwise, who are able to give the agricultural community counsel on any of its problems.

Yet, at the risk of being considered in this class, the suggestion is brought forward—it is approved by immigration officials—that by engaging a larger proportion of their labour by the year farmers could avert much of the loss caused by harvest labour shortage, and at the same time relieve the urban unemployment crisis during the winter months.

A better class of farm labour would be developed by an all-year policy than by merely depending upon finding help during the busy season, and most of the 12,000 British harvesters could likely be absorbed if such a policy were to be adopted by those who are in a position to carry it out.

THE SOO'S OPTIMISM.

Members of the Provincial Dailies Association who visited Sault Ste. Marie last week have returned glowing over the faith of the people of that city in the future of the Sault district and over the hospitality extended to the visitors by the whole community.

Every resident of Sault Ste. Marie seems to feel that he is living in the finest city in the world, and that the prospects before the district are the best offered anywhere.

They have faith in themselves and their city, faith in their industries, confidence in their future.

The visiting newspaper men failed to uncover a pessimist.

Not one individual came forward to state his belief that the Soo was going to the dogs.

On the other hand, coupled with the most genuine hospitality, was a tide of optimism that even carried the newspaper men off their feet.

The people of Sault Ste. Marie are, however, not without their problems.

The outstanding question now—and confidence in its early and satisfactory solution no doubt accounts for much of the enthusiasm of the northerners—is that of providing a domestic supply of iron ore for the furnaces of the Soo.

The report of the Special Committee appointed by the Ontario Government to enquire into this phase of the situation puts the case in a nutshell when it declares "we have succeeded in establishing a steel industry that is a credit to Ontario, that is exerting and must continue to exert a very important influence upon our future expansion, and that during the last two years of the war stood between us and failure in the manufacture of munitions.

"Proud as we are of this record, the fact must be recorded that in Ontario and for all Canada no iron ore is being produced, and this important industry so far as this Province is concerned is based wholly upon a rapidly dwindling foreign supply that is within reasonable distance of extinction."

The committee finds that under proper conditions the ore could be produced in Ontario.

The Ontario Government is counted upon to act upon the recommendations of the investigating body, and Sault Ste. Marie awaits action with deep interest.

A successful solution of this pressing problem means much to the whole Province.

THE U.F.O. VIEW.

The decision of the committee representing the elected members to proceed with the calling of a Provincial convention on a "broadened-out" basis will occasion no surprise. It was apparent that Mr. Drury's plan to build upon the farmer movement a new "Progressive" or "People's" party had the approval of most, if not all, of the Government supporters in the last Legislature, and the recent conference of elected members and defeated candidates revealed an equally strong sentiment in favor of definite party organization. Their representatives on the joint political committee found the U.F.O. executives unresponsive, but content to stand aside. As was pointed out in the Sun recently, the U.F.O. executive approached the proposition with its hands tied. Strictly speaking, it had no authority to enter upon the discussion of political organization. Certainly it had no mandate to endorse a proposal directly in conflict with the resolution passed at the last annual U.F.O. convention. Under the circumstances all its members could do was to take the position that the elected members were free to organize a new party if they chose to do so, but that the U.F.O. as an organization could not participate, whatever its members individually might do.

The decision to proceed with the building up of a "Progressive" party—if that name is chosen—will be received with mixed feelings throughout rural Ontario. There is unquestionably a strong body of opinion, particularly in semi-urban ridings, favorable to the abandonment of the farmer label, but it is equally true that many thousands of farmers feel that the turning of their movement into a new party will be the first step in a return to the conditions from which they revolted in 1919. Between the two divisions of opinion there is a gulf that cannot be bridged, since in the last analysis they have entirely different objectives. One insists that nothing worth while can be accomplished without the attainment of political power, and, logically, contends that if power is to be attained there must be a union with other elements of the population, even if it involves compromises here and there, as it necessarily must. The other makes adequate representation for agriculture its objective, believing that such representation, if vigorous and intelligent, is able to accomplish as much, if not more, for the farming community as a partnership in government that may or may not be a dominant one.

Apart from these two general viewpoints there is that of United Farmer Club members, who regard the formation of a Progressive party as a means for the getting the U.F.O. "out of politics." With a party organization built up in each riding independent of the U.F.O. clubs the latter can, they believe, again become non-political, or, more strictly speaking, non-partisan, as they set out to be in the first place, making their appeal to Progressives, Liberals or Conservatives on educational, social and economic grounds. Those who have given serious thought to the future of the U.F.O. in this Province will find much sound sense in this view. If the U.F.O. is to become the important factor in rural life that it should be, conferring the benefits it should be able to command, it must be built upon co-operation among all farmers, irrespective of politics. It is just here, however, that the weakness of the Progressive party plan presents itself. With the proposed organization effective, the U.F.O. clubs will, theoretically, be "out of politics." Actually, in a majority of cases their membership will be in politics as Progressives instead of as "Farmers." In some cases, undoubtedly, the clubs will be able to make a clean break, leaving their members feeling free to support any political party without a sense of disloyalty to their fellows, but those who are behind the new party plan are building upon the hope that the clubs in the main will transfer their allegiance to Progressivism—or continue it, as they prefer to put it. If the rank and file of U.F.O. membership gives allegiance to a Progressive party, as their own creation, slightly changed, they will, to all intents and purposes, have become a party appendage. So long as this Progressive party remains a third party in which farmers who were formerly Liberals and Conservatives can find common ground, the full effects of the change will not be apparent, but when, in the course of time, it either absorbs or is absorbed by the Liberal party—its warmest advocates predict the former, while admitting an ultimate return to two-partyism,—what sort of appeal will Farmer clubs be able to make to Conservative farmers—what hold will they be able to exercise upon those who have remained in membership?

If a Progressive party becomes a fact, as it seems likely to do, this problem may work itself out. Separated from the machinery of politics the clubs may turn with new vigor to the other tasks before them. But, in the meantime, the situation presents possibilities that call for thoughtful consideration on the part of every United Farmer.—The Farmer's Sun.

Mental Patient Kills Employee of Hospital.

WEYBURN, Sask., Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press)—Walking into the room of Frank Levis, an employee of the Weyburn Mental Hospital, Fred Dawson, one of the trusted patients without warning struck him across the head with a sharp carpenter's axe, inflicting wounds which resulted in instant death. Levis was killed Wednesday afternoon but information of his death was not disclosed until today. A report is being submitted to the Attorney-General's department.

TORONTO CATTLE.

TORONTO, September 15. — There has been a distinct improvement in the cattle marketing conditions this week over the past few weeks. There was a comparatively lighter run for the opening market on Monday, and the average quality was better than that of the previous week. In the butcher section, a good active demand for choice handy weight steers sent prices up in this class from 15c to 25c. The advance was not so marked in other classes of cattle, but there was an improvement in the general tone of the market all round which carried prices good and steady through the balance of the week. Heavy coarse cattle were not much in demand, but several loads of choice quality well finished heavy steers sold to local packers for the export beef trade to New York, one load extra choice topping the market for this week at $8.60. Other loads in the same class sold well from $7.75 to $8.35. The general run of choice handy butcher sold steady throughout the week at from $6.50 to $7.00, with a few extra choice lots up to $7.20. A fair kind of butcher, mixed steers and heifers, sold steady from $6.00 to $6.50. Common stuff from $4.00 to $5.00. Choice fat cows steady from $4.50 to $5.00.

Heavy export bulls, $4.00 to $4.50. Light rough bulls, $2.00 to $3.00.

The export trade to British markets continues rather quiet, but there is a limited demand for good quality store cattle for export at around $6.00 to $6.50.

There is some inquiry for stockers and feeders for Ontario farms. Choice feeding steers, 900 to 1,000 pounds, are quoting at $5.25 to $5.50, and common stocker steers and heifers at from $4.00 to $5.00. Some light Western heifers were selling around $3.50 to $4.00.

Sheep and lambs have held generally steady to firm under moderate receipts, top lambs going up to $13.00.

Calves, steady from $10.00 to $11.00.

Hogs declined another 50c in the week-end markets, going down to a basis of $9.25 f.o.b. and $9.85 fed and watered.

Fall Trade Prospects.

Following the general better tone to the market this week, live stock dealers and commission men look to a steady improvement from this out for the fall trade. With moderately heavy receipts for the next week or two, dealers see no reason why prices should not hold steady to firm at the prevailing or a little higher level.

Statistics of the Union Stock Yard receipts for the month of August show a total of 30,302 cattle, as against 29,075 for the month of August, 1922. For the year up to date, the totals show for the Toronto market 244,509 cattle, as against 222,179 for the same period last year. It will be recalled that last fall season saw the cattle pretty nearly cleaned out, owing to shortage of feed in the West. This year's total receipts from all quarters so far exceed those of last year. It would seem, therefore, that there cannot be a very large surplus of cattle left in the county and with a steady domestic and export demand through the fall months, there should be little fear of prices no holding firm, with good prospects that they may go higher.

WINNIPEG CATTLE.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press)—Receipts: 530 cattle, and calves, and 130 hogs.

The cattle market opened at firm prices for killing classes on a fairly active trade. Stockers and feeders were in good demand at steady prices.

The hog market was unchanged, thick smooths weighing up at $10.50 and select bacons at $11.55.

The sheep and lamb market was inactive.

EGG MARKETS

OTTAWA, September 15 (Canadian Press). — Cable offers are being received at 37 1-2 f.o.b. for storage firsts. Several exporters are asking 38. A market letter dated London, England, 31st August, is interesting to note the following:

"Irish are practically out of the running for best quality as current arrivals from that source of supply are most unsatisfactory both as regards quality and condition."

The market is higher for fresh specials. One car of fresh firsts reported rolling Montreal costing 37 1-2 Ontario shipping point cases returnable.

Toronto unchanged.

Montreal specials jobbing 48, extras 40, firsts 35, seconds 30.

Manitoba and Saskatchewan markets unchanged.

Alberta receipts a little heavier, prices steady.

British Columbia local fresh extras 40, firsts 36, at country points, jobbing extras 44, firsts 41, pullets 35, storage firsts 35.

Chicago spot 34 1-2, refregerators December 29 7-8.

CHICAGO WHEAT.

CHICAGO, September 15 Canadian Press). — Notwithstanding numerous upturns, wheat averaged lower in price yesterday largely as a result of increasing arrivals of new wheat at Winnipeg. The market here closed unsettled at the same as Thursday's finish to half a cent down with December 102 5-8 to 102 3-4 and May 108 to 108 1-8.

Corn finished at a range varying from 1-8c to 1-4c decline to 1-4c advance.

Oats 1-8c to 1 4c up, and provisions at 5c to 22c gain.

With advices at hand that receipts of new wheat in Winnipeg to-day would total 1,400 carloads as against 930 yesterday and 233 a week ago, buying orders here failed to follow advances in price. Purchasing was confined largely to houses that had been on the selling side of late, and were in position to collect profits. The facts that values had fallen about 4 1-2 cents from the recent high point attracted some notice, but failed to stimulate sustained buying. On the other hand bears estimated that the Canadian farmers marketed 3,700,000 bushels at country points on Thursday and 3,000,000 bushels the day before, and that the average would exceed 4,000,000 bushels within a short time.

During the late dealings especially, wheat here showed a downward tendency with indications pointing to increased hedging pressure. Exporters were said to have been good buyers early at Winnipeg, but the seaboard continued to emphasise mention of relative slow demand from Europe. Bulls meanwhile got some comfort from an official estimate that the carry-over of old wheat in Canada is 11,700,000 bushels, compared with 19,462,000 bushels last year.

Corn was easy with wheat, despite complaints of damage by frost.

Oats were firm owing to scantiness of receipts here.

Higher quotations on hogs strengthened the provisions market.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, September 15 (Canadian Press). — A moderate amount of business was done in cash grain on spot here to-day with the tone of the market firm. There is a steady demand for flour. A good business continues to be done in millfeed, and the demand for rolled oats was steady. The tone of the baled hay market continues firm. There is no change in the local egg situation.

Demand for potatoes was steady. The butter and cheese markets were quiet.

QUEBEC BUTTER AUCTION.

MONTREAL, September 15 (Canadian Press). — At the Quebec Agricultural Co-operative Society auction sale held here yesterday, there were 750 packages creamery butter offered, of which 375 packages No. 1 creamery sold at 35 1-2c per pound, while 36 1-4c per pound was bid for 200 packages No. 1 pasteurised creamery with 361-2c per pound asked and 34c per pound was bid for 175 packages No. 2 creamery with 34 1-4c per pound asked.

..... NO SALE OF CHEESE. .....

MONTREAL, September 15 (Canadian Press).—At the United Dairymen's Co-operative auction sale of Ontario cheese held here yesterday, there were 2,258 boxes of cheese offered, but no sales were made. The price bid for No. 1 white was 22 1-2c per pound and for No. 1 coloured 22 3-4 cents and 22 13-16 cents per pound, while 22 cents per pound was bid for No. 2 white and 22 1-4 cents per pound for No. 2 coloured.

CHICAGO CATTLE.

How You May Secure an Independent Income

Plan to enjoy your later years in independence. Ninety-seven out of every one hundred people at the age of sixty-five years are dependent, in whole or in part, upon others for support. Don't be one of the ninety-seven.

You may provide yourself on very easy terms with a Canadian Government Annuity.

These Annuities may be of any value from $50 to $5,000 a year. You may begin purchase at any age, but the earlier you begin, the smaller the payments.

For instance, a man who at the age of thirty years commences paying at the rate of only sixteen cents a day, and continues these small payments up to the age of sixty-five years, will then be entitled to receive an income of Five Hundred Dollars a year, to last as long as life, even though that passes the century mark.

There are Plans of Purchase by which you may protect the interests of your wife or dependants. In any event, if you die before reaching the age when the Annuity begins, your heirs will receive all that you have paid in, together with 4% compound interest. No medical examination is required.

WHO PRESENTED GREEN LADY TO THE PRINCE?

Quebec and Society Visitors Asking Who Foisted Representative of New York Yellow Journal on Royal Visitor's Attention — Charming Debutantes Ignored.

BY LUCY S. DOYLE.

QUEBEC, Sept. 15.—Who made it possible for the representative of a sensational yellow press picture sheet in New York to gain access to Lord Renfrew at a dance at the Chateau the night of his arrival in Canada?

As the press people waited in the Chateau courtyard for Lord Renfrew to give them his promised pose before his departure, the photographer belonging to the Prince's Vamp dance partner grew cocky:

"Well our woman certainly put it over all the rest of you," he crowed. "That girl is certainly clever. She danced with the Prince, over and over again."

"How often did she dance with the Prince?" asked a movie photographer.

"Four times," said the Green Lady's camera man.

Going Too Strong.

"I think that was too much," said the film artist, "that was going it too strong."

"Who did you fix?" grinned another picture man speaking in a whisper.

But the Vamp lady's camera man did not hear him.

All Quebec is wondering?

Some of its most charming debutantes had been bidden hurriedly to the Chateau for the impromptu dance at which Lord Renfrew would open the new ball-room of the magnificient castle on the hill.

But though the most noted Quebec belles wore their most captivating frocks they were not favored by the incog. Prince.

True, a Prince—especially if he be incognito — may dance with whom he pleases. But that does not help a disappointed debutante, particularly when a lady who looks like a movie actress fox trots four times with him and has a permanent location practically all evening in the place reserved for him to sit—and then beckons two lady friends to join the charmed circle.

"Who is she?" aristrocratic Quebec whispered.

About the room were certain American guests at the hotel. They were gentlefolk of some of the best old families of South New England and New York.

"Who is she?" they echoed while She and her friend smoked so cosily with the heir to the British Throne as smart Quebec danced before him.

"I only hope she won't turn out to be an American," whispered a millionaire's wife from Boston.

But, alas, the "clevr" lady's address on the Chateau register was "New York."

"Who is she?" was asked at the hotel desk as the "Green Lady" called for her key about two a.m. the night of the Chateau dance.

"We've orders not to give her name out," said the clerk.

Just here "Imogene Stanley" caught our eye on the register. Somehow that "Imogene' 'suggested the "Green Lady's" idea of a costume that might captivate a Prince.

Hunt Was On.

The hunting season was really open.

Investigation showed the lady had a room in the tower of the Chateau and it was not the number marked on the register so a bird dog that was with us sniffed out.

Later copy to New York of "What the Prince said to me", was despatched.

Next morning at half-past ten a reporter interviewed the "Green Lady," as she was breakfasting in bed.

Good morning, Miss Stanley," was the greeting.

"I thought you were the chambermaid," was her sweet rejoinder. "But now that you know my name (she refused it to us eight hours before), you'd better go. I danced with the Prince but I prefer to remain a mystery. No, I am not connected with a newspaper."

Here the interview closed.

Unknown To Entourage.

Downstairs man after man supposed to be officially connected with Lord Renfrew's trip denied he knew anything about "her."

Soon she came downstairs with her two feminine friends of the evening before. Our bird dog followed her and we followed the mother and daughter. They went downtown to a jeweler's store and went in to get some hands put on our dollar watch. They bought a cigarette holder, such a nice one.

Meantime the "Green Lady"—it seems to be her lucky color, she had on a bright green headache band—went for a walk on the terrace with Major-General Trotter. Shortly after she returned.

Though the New York vamp could have passed for 16 if you didn't look too long in the evening, by daylight she could have been twice that age.

Real Name Disclosed.

"She does these stunts, you know," said a New York newspaper man. "Her real name is Mrs. Austin, I think."

How did the New York yellow press woman interview the incognito Prince?

Men surrounding Lord Renfrew first denied they knew who she was. Then they denied anyone knew she was a newspaper woman.

When the Prince paid an incog visit to a noted Virginian hotel Bill Nye, chief of the State secret service, accompanied him and planted "gentlemen guests" through the hotel who knew all who encountered him.

Why was Lord Renfrew subjected to a press interview by a New Yorker, and representatives of Canada's press refused all access, as he was on an incognito tour?

Burrell's Denial.

Sir Godfrey Thomas declared the Hon. Mr. Burrell introduced the lady. An official insisted that this was correct.

From Ottawa, however, comes a denial from the Hon. Mr. Burrell.

How did the yellow journal lady get to the Prince in such a way that he even told her his matrimonial plans?

CANADA HAS CONTROL OF THE WHEAT MARKET

No. 4087 THE PROPRIETORS

AMENDMENT

M. Lange's amendments provided that all international treaties should be filed with the league for registration and publication, and that all the signatory states should accept the compulsory jurisdiction of the Permanent Court of International Justice. Countries refusing to abide by these conditions would not be entitled to help from their fellow-countries.

Cecil Objected.

Lord Robert Cecil was among those who opposed these amendments. He thought it unnecessary to obligate the signatory states to compulsory arbitration when there was a chance to settle disputes between nations by direct negotiation. He also thought that insurance upon the publication of treaties might prevent the adhesion of certain Powers.

He was happy to say, however, that this letter amendment would not stand in the way of adhesion by the United States, for America's hostility to secret treaties are well known, and as for Germany, the Berlin Government had already registered all treaties with the league.

BABY'S OWN TABLETS OF GREAT VALUE

Mrs. Hermadis Chagnon, Ste. Theodosie Que., writes: "Baby's Own Tablets have been of great value to me in keeping my little one well and I would not be without them." Thousands of other mothers say the same thing. They have learned by actual experience the value of the Tablets in regulating the bowels and stomach; banishing constipation and indigestion; breaking up colds and simple fevers; and keeping the baby free from the many simple ailments of childhood. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

INTERNATIONAL FREIGHT SHIPMENTS SURCHARGE

It is announced by the Dominion Railway Commission. During the same period the rate on international passenger business will be based on two per cent exchange.

The rate of exchange quoted in Montreal to-day for New York funds covering the two weeks in question was two and thirteen-thirty-seconds per cent.

BEER CLUB SUPPLYING A PROBLEM FOR COAST

Liquor Supposed to Have Been Bootlegged in the United States Really Did Go to Mexico, According to Official Papers.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Sept. 15.—Beer clubs are supplying the big problem agitating Government circles on the coast right now. The clubs operating with color of law under the theory of private locker supply have sprung up all over the province. A storm of protest has been raised.

The Government is contemplating a beer plebescite, and its ranks are divided. The traffic wants an open beer and wine hotel and restaurant referendum; the middle course advocates want the government to open eer parlors under government sale and control, while the other side declare the government sale of booze is sufficient and want the law on the beer clubs enforced so strictly as to wipe them out.

The booze scandal now buzzing over the coast relates to the accumulated fund of forfeited exporters' bonds. Some pine hundred thousand dollars was in the government's rest account representing bonds put up by interests exporting liquor ostensibly to Mexico. The bond money would be returned to the exporters as soon as they produced evidence of customs papers showing the shipment delivered to Mexico as the manifests provided.

But since the booze was usually sold in the United States coast cities this official evidence could not be supplied. Then came the consolation by which one big company got control of the expert business and with the fabulous amount of the forfeited bonds in sight a scheme was initiatd to have this returned to these who made the deposits.

Through a well-managed organization, papers were ultimately secured from Mexican authorities certifying that every one of these ship cargoes had been delivered as provided by the bond, to customs officers in Mexico. Nearly a million dollars was returned to the combination controlling this traffic.

Now some of the politicians in the know are asking where the money went for they insist the booze vessel owners would never have been permitted to absorb it all. The biggest booze scandal that ever shook the continent is said to be opening up this neck o' woods.

COBOURG AND DISTRICT

COBOURG, Sept. 15.—J. Kenney the big centrefielder led the rest of the Cobourg players in the batting averages of the regulars of the Cobour gball team for the past season, with only Central Ontario League games counted. Turpin was a close second with 12 points behind. Higginbotham came third in the list. Turpin and Drennan led the rungetters with 20 each. Thompson came third with 15 and Skitch had 14. Jackson and J. Kenny had 13 each.

Fire Did Much Damage.

That a little fire kindleth a great matter was exemplified recently in an experience that befell Mr. and Mrs. Isaac Alcorn, who have come down to this district from Haliburton. They have lost heavily by the burning of a block of pines on their farm at that place. The fire was caused by a party of men who were at work setting fire to a hornet's nest. Fire fighters worked for forty-eigh hours to put out the blaze before getting the fire under control, and the town was threatened.

Several Motorists Fined.

Two motorists from Hastings, one from Belleville and one from Lindsay pleaded guilty at Port Hope to exceeding the speed limit and driving without lights and each contributed to the public treasury.

Missionary Conference at Port Hope

A conference of chairmen of districts and missionary secretaries and other prominent missionary workers was held in Port Hope Methodist church yesterday for the purpose of discussing the needs and problems of the missionary situation. There morning, afternoon and evening sessions, each of which was both interesting and helpful. Interesting speakers were made by Rev. E. W. Morgan, returned mssionary from China and S. Takigawa, a Japanese student from Victoria College, Toronto.

Harvest Late in New Ontario.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Jibb and family New Ontario, are visiting Mr. Jibb's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Jibb and with other friends in Coldsprings and district. When they left the north country there had been two weeks of almost continuous rain and harvest had not yet started generally. The crop is stated to be afair one, and will be fairly satisfactory, if it can be safely harvested.

The Late Christopher Carruthers

The funeral of the late Christopher Carruthers took place on Tuesday from his late residence, Provincial Highway, east to Cobourg Union cemetery. Mr. Carruthers was a well known farmer and breeder. He had been in poor health for four or five years and seriously ill for the past few months. His wife before her marriage, Margaret Butters, died in 1909, and one daughter, Irabella, predeceased her father. Surviving him are three sons, Walter of Cobourg; Malcolm of Yorkton, Sask., and Neil on the homestead. Mr. Carruthers was a son of the late William Carruthers, who came from Scotland to this country and settled near Baltimore many years ago. He has always lived in this locality where he was highly esteemed. The funeral services were conducted by Rev. W. A. Bremner, Cobourg.

Cobourg Ball Club Held Banquet.

The Cobourg Baseball Club held their annual banquet at the Baltimore hotel here, when about sixty sat down to an excellent supper, at which Mr. Jack Toms presided. Occasion was taken at an opportune time to present Mr. Jack Toms with a gold watch chain and charm. A vote of thanks was tendered the secretary, Mr. Delanty. Mr. C. R. Bummow's services to the club was also acknowledged. Mr. Roy Dodge presented the financial statement, which showed a balance on the right side. Addresses were made by representatives of the Matting-Felt, Langslow, Dye Works and C.N.R. teams and the latter was congratulated upon winning the 1923 championship. Music and other features added to the enjoyment of the evening.

Local and Personal.

Mr. and Mrs. Glen Lonsdale, Flintoff, whose marriage took place at Oshawa on Wednesday of last week, were in Cobourg on their wedding trip. The bride was Miss Hazel Annetta Cooper, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cooper of Orono.

Mr. Ben Ring has been transferred from Colborne to the office of the Canadian National Railway at Bowmanville.

A man came up in police court at Port Hope, charged with not having proper brakes on his car. He had been previously warned by the traffic officer to have his brakes repaired and had failed to comply with the request. Upon explaining to the magistrate why he had not done so he was allowed to go upon paying the costs of court.

Many friends of Mrs. Joseph Harper, Camborne, who was suddenly prostrated by a stroke a couple of weeks ago are pleased to know that she is improving nicely and is now able to be up.

Mr. Charles T. Barnes has been appointed local manager of the Hydro Electric Power Commission at Oshawa.

Mr. W. B. Unsworth of Hollywood, Cal., is visiting his sister, Mrs. J. T. Daley at Port Hope.

SAYS SPANKING MACHINE WOULD REDUCE CRIME

WINNIPEG, Sept. 15.—A spanking machine, which would have instruments varying from a broad paddle to a cat-of-nine tails and so geared as to be administered with different degrees of severity, was advocated to take the place of jail sentences for first offenders under the criminal code, by Crown prosecutor R. B. Graham K.C. to-day. Mr. Graham is serious about the use of some sort of a machine instead of the infliction of corporal punishment by the human hand and believes such an innovation would materially reduce the crime record. The offender could be "machine" spanked and then sent back to his work and the job of supporting his family. Only the incorrigible offender would be jailed under this plan.

FARM CROPS SHOW UP WELL AT FAIR

Splendid Array of Farm Products Figure in Prize-List of Exhibition.

One of the exhibits at the local Exhibition which calls attention to the ingenuity of the farm young ladies, was the display of decorated sheaves of oats. Mr. W. H. Merrell of this city donated the prize for this class.

This year there were only six entries which is less than last year, when nine completed. Two of these six were undersize and immature.

The sheaves stood bravely in a row in the vegetable tent, flaunting their gay colors before the world. One in particular bore an attractive decoration in red and white tissue paper—representing the Horn of Plenty—from whose mouth overflowed fruits and flowers. The rest were gay in trappings of tinsels, artificial and natural fruits and flowers, autumn leaves, flags, berries, wild grapes and pine branches. Half concealed near the top of one sheaf, with is wings spread ready for flight, poised a "King Billie" butterfly—which added a realistic touch to the autumnal assemblage.

One of the most interesting exhibits at the Exhibition—to farmers at least—is the display of roots and corn.

In some respects, this year's crops have been poor, but the samples on display could not very well be better even with ideal climatic conditions.

One of the samples for wihch thi summer's climate has been ideal, was a shoot of Sudan Grass, grown by Mr. Kenneth Denoon, of North Monaghan. This grass has attained a height of 8 feet. Until recently it was unknown in Canada, and has just been grown in Peterboro' for the last four years. It is proving to be a welcome addition to our list of fodders. Another exhibit which drew the attention of many was a species of turnips known as Kohl Rabbi, grown by Mr. Gerald Wood, of NorthMonaghan. In appearance it is like a hard cabbage with turnip leaves sprouting from it. It tastes like a turnip, but it nice served with butter. The greatest dairy turnips known as the Cowhorn variety, were 18 inches long—Canadian Gem or Universal turnips were represented as being the hardest and most serviceable turnip known. The mangels were the Davish Studstrup —and said to the world's leading variety.

A new variety of corn, known as "Gardener's Sweepstake" was tried out by H. G. Webe, of North Monaghan, and made a splendid showing. Two other types of ensilage corn were "Bountiful" shown by J. J. Mortimer, of Otonabee, and "Pride of Nishna" shown by Melville Johnston, of North Monaghan.

A handsome silver shield on a mahogany background, plus $5.00, did not go begging for a winner at the Exhibition. This shield was donated by the Gardner Seed Co. of Rochester, N.Y., for the best stocks of oats and corn.

H. G. Webber, of North Monaghan, was the lucky winner, scoring with his display of "Sweepstakes" corn—the new variety—and "Royal Banner" oats.

Gordon Mann, of Smith township came in second, receiving a prize of $5.00, with a display of "Gardner's Bountiful" corn and Royal Banner oats.

Mr. Ferguson, of North Monaghan also made a good showing, receiving the third prize $3.00. The corn was Gardner's Bountiful and the oats Royal Banner.

A fourth competitor, was Melville Johnston, also of North Monaghan.

Mr. oJhnston's corn was 13 feet high, standing 6 inches to 10 inches higher than that of the winning stocks, but the cobs were too light and immature. The oats were the "Granary Filler" variety.

Despite the gloomy forecasts as to the result of this year's harvest, North Monaghan farmers had a splendid showing at the Fair, and carried off many of the prizes for the best grain, roots and vegetables. There were also many entries in the livestock classes, with a fair sprinkling of the rewards coming in their direction.

Teh farm ladies also were represented, carrying off a fair share of prizes in butter, bread and fruit.

Same London burglar robbed a jail three times, but failed to escape with any policemen.

WOULD NOT HAVE ULCER CUT OUT OF STOMACH

Took "Fruit-a-tives" Instead and this Medicine made from Fruit Juices Relieved the Trouble.

MAPLEHURST FARM, HILLHURST, P.Q.

"About 25 years ago, I began to have trouble with my Stomach.

Three years ago, I consulted one of the best specialists in Montreal. He said I must go to the hospital, have an Ulcer cut out of my stomach and gall stones removed. I was then 74 years old. I said "NO."

Then, I began to take "Fruit-a-tives".

I am so much better that my old friends often ask me what I have done to myself to look so well. I am gaining in weight and enjoying life very much." H. W. EDWARDS.

"Fruit-a-tives" is made from the juices of apples, oranges, figs and prunes, combined with tonics, and gives quick relief in stomach troubles.

This fruit medicine actually strengthens the stomach muscles and enables the stomach to give out sufficient gastric juice to digest the meals.

"Fruit-a-tives" also correct Constipation and Biliousness from which so many Dyspeptics suffer.

THE GRAIN ROUTE TO PACIFIC COAST

MEDICINE HAT, Sept. 15.—When interviwed here today E. W. Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway was asked as to the development of the western route via Vancouver as an outlet for prairie grown grain he replied, "if the steamship rates on grain from Pacific ports and from Atalntic ports continue in the same relative basis we look for a steady increase in the amount of grain which will find an outlet through Vancouver. The railway company is neither hostile nor unsympathetic. Experience of the past two years has proven that to prevent congestion and the useless tying up of equipment the permit system is necessary and as far as I can determine it works out to the advantage of the producer and involves no loss of traffic to the seaport. The best evidence on the latter point is that no steamship has even had to wait an hour for a grain cargo at Vancouver through failure or fault of the railway company and there is not the slightest evidence to support the view that to flood the railway terminals at the coast and to choke the elevators there, would stimulate traffic by that route. I should think that such conditions would have a contrary effect.

MAJOR HAL WON A SECOND RACE AT EXHIBITION

Second Day's Races Run Off Under Better Weather Conditions—Herman E. Won 2,30 Class With Three Firsts.

EXHIBITION NOTES

Friday's improvement in the weather conditions was reflected in the attendance at the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition, which totalled 7,755, as compared with 8,731 last year, and 5,373 on Thursday this year. The weather continued cold all day, the thermometer showing a high of 65 degrees and a low of 33.

The grand stand was well filled for the performance last night, and the hearty applause which followed the acts showed that the quality of the vaudeville was appreciated.

Racing opened yesterday afternoon with a win in the 2.20 class by Major Hal, winner of the 2.15 class on Thursday. The races were again hotly contested.

Results: 2.20 class, purse $250—

Major Hal, bay gelding, by Star Hal, owned by Stan. Blewett, and driven by James Sutherland, 2—1—1—1—1.

Bub, bay gelding, owned and driven by E. Jones, 1—3—2—2.

Bucco, brown stud, owned and driven by R. Elmhurst, 4—2—3—3.

Lloyd George, bay gelding, owned by E. Jones and driven by W. McDowell, 3—4—4—4.

Time: 2.21½, 2.24¼, 2.24½, 2.24½.

Track-side experts said Lloyd George's chances were good but for lameness. He displayed good racing form.

Herman E Wins.

2.30 class, purse $250—

Herman E, bay gelding, by Herman Winger, owned by Art. Elmhurst, Indian River, and driven by Wm. McDowell, 1—1—1.

Lady of the Manor, sorrel mare, owned and driven by R. Elmhurst, 3—2—2.

Herman W, sorrel gelding, owned by Ed. Jones, driven by Fife, 4—4—4.

Time: 2.24¼, 2.27½ and 2.25.

To-day's race will be in the 2.12 class.

Firpo-Dempsey Fight.

Commencing with the entry of Firpo and Dempsey into the ring, the Examiner conducted a bulletin service during the short bout. The results were announced by bulletin at the Manufacturers' Building only a few minutes after each blow was given in New York, and almost as quickly as the 90,000 spectators at the ringside realized that the bout was over, the audience in the grand stand here was informed of the result of the fight. A bulletin service was also given at the Examiner Office.

Exhibition Notes.

The senior Salvation Army Band again supplied the music at the new band stand.

While the cool weather kept many people away, it did not dishearten 7,755 citizens, who were glad they attended. One lady took her three children home last night at 10.30, and when asked as they were going through the gate whether they had enjoyed it, the general chorus was "You bet."

TO MAKE ALBERTA COAL ECONOMIC POSSIBILITY

TORONTO, September 15 (Canadian Press). — Acting Premier W. F. Nickle, K.C., with the Hon. Lincoln Goldie, Provincial Secretary, held further conference with a C. N. R. representative in the offices of the Attorney-General yesterday afternoon relative to the freight rates upon Alberta coal into Ontario.

According to the Hon. Mr. Nickle, the discussions left him some hope that Ontario would be accorded special rate which would make the use of Alberta coal in Ontario an economic possibility.

MOORE AGAIN HEADS TRADES CONGRESS

Re-elected President Over His Opponent, Jack Kavanagh.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Tom Moore was re-elected president of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, and London, Ontario, was chosen as the place of next year's convention at yesterday's sessions of the congress.

There were two names placed in the nomination for the presidency for the ensuing year, that of Mr. Moore and Jack Kavanagh, the "Radical" of Vancouver. The vote was 136 for the former and 40 for Mr. Kavanagh. P. M. Draper, of Ottawa, was re-elected secretary-treasurer by acclamation.

The three vice-presidents elected were: John T. Foster, Montreal; Parm Pettypiece, Vancouver, and A. J. Crawford, Vancouver. Mr. Foster was elected on the first ballot, Mr. Pettypiece on the fourth, and Mr. Crawford on the sixth ballot.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Methodist Choir Extends Formal Welcome to New Pastor and Wife—Presentation for Bride-Elect

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 15. — The members of the choir of the Methodist church held a social session in the Sunday School room last evening after usual weekly practice the object of the gathering being to extend a formal welcome to Rev. Wesley and Mrs. Elliott and those who have joined the choir since the summer vacation. The new pastor and his wife and the other guests of the evening were certainly given a cordial reception which was highly appreciated. There were upwards of 100 in attendance the audience including friends of the choir members. Mrs. R. T. Cowell presided and the opening number of the program was the presentation of handsome bouquets to Mr. and Mrs. Elliott who were welcomed to their new home. Mr. Elliot made a graceful acknowledgement of all the kindness which he and Mrs. Elliott have received since coming to Campbellford.

Members of the choir who have seen 10 years or more of service, were presented with buttonhole bouquets and in further recognition of their good work were plentifully showed with confetti by their associates until a stranger might have been forgiven for arriving at the conclusion that a marriage ceremony had just been performed. Some of the ladies in the choir privately admitted that they had been associated with that body for over 25 years, which goes to show that a quarter of a century ago members were taken in at a tender age.

The members who were specially honored last night for length of service were Dr. H. O. and Mrs. Richardson, Miss G. Payne Mrs. I. T. Frederick, Mrs. F. J. Smith Mrs. C. W. Turner Dr. Lilian Young and Walter Long.

The Programme

An excellent musical and literary program was then rendered as follows.

Piano duet—Mrs. I. T. Frederick and Dr. Lilian Young.

Vocal Solo—"Tosti's Goodbye,"—Mrs. Leonard Parish.

Duet "When the Wind Blows off the Sea", Mrs. C. W. Turner and George Lucy.

Solo, "The Lotus Flower," — W. Collinson.

Recitation, "In My Grandfather's Day,"—Mrs. A. E. Wragge.

Duet, "The Battle Eve"—Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Parish.

Solo, "Annie Laurie," (by special Request)—Mrs. Ed. Bates.

The speech of the evening was made by Dr. H. O. Richardson, who after a short recital of reminiscences stated that he had never heard of a choir singer getting into the criminal class. He accounted for this by reason of the fact that a musical education tends to elevate a person above the sordid things of life. Sometimes during the years that have passed the doctor has concluded that he has outlived, or outsung his usefulness and almost made up his mind to step aside, but last night he admitted that he never felt less of the mind as membership in the choir was growing in interest.

Lest any wrong impression might be created in the minds of outsiders by the doctor's self-deprecatory reference to his own value to the choir it may be stated that he is still on the sunny side of existence, and going rather stronger than ever.

A Guessing Contest.

After the musical programme a guessing contest was held. Each member of the audience was furnished with an illustrated card, a badge or a flower, and the test was to guess the title of the song suggested by the illustrations. For example a picture of the unfortunate and long suffering Jiggs, and his frazletempered spouse, typified that old favorite "When Yon and I were Young Maggie." A verdant spray pinned to the coat of A. L. Malcolm represented "The Wearin' o' the Green," and a faded rose worn by a young lady suggested the lyric the singing of which brought operatic fame to the late Emma Abbott.

Dainty refreshments were served by the ladies and a social function thoroughly enjoyed by all, came to a close at a late hour.

At Christ Church.

Rev. G. C. Clarke, rector of St. Augustine church, Toronto, will preach at both services in Christ Church on Sunday, September 23. It is possible that Mr. Clarke will be appointed to the charge here to succeed Rev. C. E. Clarke, who recently went to Belleville. The members of the church have other clergymen in mind but the officials say that the prospects are that Mr. Clarke will get the appointment. He is one of the most successful clergymen in the Toronto diocese and the members and adherents of Christ church are urged to turn out to hear him.

The service next Sunday will be conducted by Rev. A. E. Davies of Toronto.

Gift to Bride-Elect.

Miss Helen Wood, on Thursday afternoon, entertained the members of the Bemersyde Chapter I.O.D.E. to tea in honor of Miss Ruth Diamond, in view of her approaching marriage. The Regent, Miss Hazel Atkinson, in a few well-chosen words, expressed the Chapter's regret in losing one who is a charter member, and who held the office of treasurer for seven years and the office of secretary for one year.

On behalf of the Chapter, Miss Wood presented Miss Diamond with a silver pie served and cold meat fork.

Although taken completely by surprise, Miss Diamond made a suitable reply. A very enjoyable afternoon was spent by all.

Miss Florence Shannon also entertained a number of young lady friends to tea in honor of Miss Diamond.

Goes to California.

B. I. Gibson, who recently sold his boot and shoe business to A. J. Amour, has decided to locate in California, and with Mrs. Gibson will leave for that State some time in October. He has purchased an orange grove at Highland, Cal., and will devote himself in future to the raising of that fruit. Mr. and Mrs. Gibson have a number of relatives from Canada located at that place and engaged in the same line of business, and all of them have made good.

Dr. G. F. Gibson, their son, who received his public and high school education here, has disposed of his dental practice in Picton, and will accompany his parents to the Sunny South, where he will resume his profession.

Mr. and Mrs. Gibson are among the oldest and most highly respected residents of Campbellford, and their departure will occasion genuine regret on the part of a host of friends.

CAVAN CELEBRATED A SILVER WEDDING

Mr. and Mrs. William Pritchard of Cavan Township Honored by Friends and Neighbors

MILLBROOK, September 15. — A social gathering of unusual interest was held in Cavan Community Hall on Friday evening, when a large number of friends and neighbours came together in honour of the silver wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. William Pritchard, two citizens of the Township who are regarded with the highest esteem and affection.

The occasion was a delightful surprise for the guests of the evening, and was carried out with the utmost cheeriness and goodwill from the time the chairman, Mr. B. F. Carley, stepped on the platform and called the gathering to order, until the last song was sung ,and one of the most enjoyable evenings in the history of the community was brought to a happy conclusion.

Among the items on the programme were vocal solos by Miss K. McCartney, of Bethany, Miss A. Ryley being the accompanist, and by Mrs. (Rev.) G. S. Gervan, Millbrook; Mr. and Mrs. Gervan also sang in duet, Miss Gussie Clarry acting as accompanist.

A unique number was a solo, with original words especially composed for the occasion, by Miss Annie Tinney, of Cavan, and a rather unexpected selection, but one heartily encored, was the unaccompanied solo by Mr. J. H. Paul.

Addresses were made by Rev. R. T. Richards, Rev. G. S. Gervan, Dr. A. Jemison, and Mr. James Douglas.

Considerable merriment was aroused by the presentation of a silver "star" to Mrs. Pritchard, by Mr. Carley, with the neat speech that she deserved a "star" for living twenty-five years with her husband, the latter being the recipient of a silver "Cross," with the natural implication that, as is the manner of men in such cases, he had borne the "cross" during that long period of married life.

Particularly interesting was the "Vision of Twenty-five Years Ago," when Miss Lola Carley, dressed as an old-fashioned bride, and Ross Carr, in equally old-time groom attire, came upon the platform and were showered with confetti, a good old-fashioned charivari following their exit from the stage. Miss G. Clarry played the wedding march for their appearance.

The bride and groom of twenty-five years were saved the embarrassment of being called to the platform, but the real presentation of the evening took place when Mr. J. Newton read an address, and Mr. Carley, on behalf of the friends and neighbours, presented them with a handsome silver tea service, and a full set of sterling silver flatware, including knives, forks, spoons, etc., the design of standard pattern—all forming a most attractive and useful gift.

The address was as follows.

Mr. and Mrs. William Pritchard.

Dear Friends,—We are here this evening to celebrate the twenty-fifth anniversary of your wedding day. The occasion presents an opportunity for your friends and neighbours to express their appreciation of a quarter of a century of neighbourliness, friendliness, generous actions, and splendid example of "getting there, even if you haven't time." Therefore we take great pleasure in presenting you with this gift as a slight mark of our esteem, and to commemorate your silver wedding.

The hope is also expressed that your "golden wedding" anniversary shall be reached as happily and as successfully as the present one. Your many absent friends we know would like to be with us. But they are here in spirit just the same, and join heartily in all good wishes. As brevity is the soul of wit, we ask you to accept this gift, and the sentiments expressed in the spirit of love and goodwill. And we all feel that they will be appreciated accordingly.

Signed on behalf of friends and neighbours. B. F. Carley.....

Cavan, September 7th., 1923.

Mr. Pritchard replied suitably on behalf of his wife and himself, thanking the gathering for their kind remembrance, especially the spirit which prompted the tangible token of their affection and esteem. The singing of "For He's a Jolly good fellow" relieved the feeling of embarrassment which naturally accompanies an occasion of this kind and also gave the audience an opportunity of putting their real sentiments into the hearty manner in which the chorus was rendered.

Supper was afterwards served in the basement, the abundance of appetising good things provided being an expression of the hospitality for which the Cavan folks are famous A special bridal table was arranged in the centre of the room, streamers of green and white being caught from the ceiling to the four corners and all the decorations in similar colors making it a delight to the eye while the beautiful wedding-cake, and the dainty horse shoes placed as favors at each plate added to its attractiveness. Two other tables were set for the eighty-two guests who sat down to supper, the "bride" placing the knife in the cake, according to the usual custom before it was cut and served at the different tables.

Speeches and a time of general good fellowship, followed with a dance for an hour or more in the auditorium upstairs before a pleasant evening which will long be remembered, was brought to a close.

BRIGHTON FAIR A BIG SUCCESS

Exhibits Numerous and of High Order in Every Department — Attendance Broke Record.

(By A Staff Reporter)

BRIGHTON, Sept. 15.—President A. A. Wade and Secretary-Treasurer Cecil C. Fiddick of the Agricultural Society here, who have put in so many days of hard work preparing for the Fall Fair have every reason to feel gratified over the success which crowned their efforts yesterday. The exhibits were numerous and of a high order in every department, the attendance overshot the record and the financial results were all the most sanguine official hoped for. The gate receipts alone totaled $499.90 and B. C. H. Becker, who handled the money at the entrance when he made his returns to Mr. Fiddick, added from his own pocket the 10 cents required to bring the total up to an even $500.

The Horses.

There is no getting away from the fact, it is becoming more apparent at the county fair every year, that the breeding of heavy and light horses is not what is was in former years. The automobile and the farm tractor have brought about these conditions.

In the Brighton district the Percheron appears to be growing in favor as a general purpose and agricultural horse and the display in this class yesterday, made by W. J. Codrington, was far above the average. He had them there of all sizes and ages every animal a perfect type, and thy won in all eight red tickets.

Fred Denyes of Brighton got first for a heavy draft team, and George Herrington of Hilton, first for the best agricultural team.

The special prize offered by Major Belford, M.L.A., in the carriage class went to James Fox of Wooler.

Gordon Thorne of Hilton won first for the best carriage horses 3 and 2 years old. Frank McAuley, Wooler and James Fox of the same place, showed respectively the best single horse and team in the class.

The Cattle.

There were few cattle shown, although the Brighton district is noted as the home of some splendid dairy herds. Carmen Baker who lives just outside the corporation limits has a barn filled with pure bred Holsteins that are notel all over the province as milk producers, but Mr. Baker rarely enters his stocks for competition and was not represented at the Fair yesterday. Nearly all of the exhibits in this department were Jerseys.

Warkworth Represented.

Warkworth farmers were well represented at the Fair. James Coyle carried off a number of prizes for poultry and the best exhibit of short wool sheep and made by breeders from that district; C. H .Curtis carrying off nine prizes in competition with so well known a breeder as J. R. Garbutt of Belleville. J. G. Honey of Roseneath, reeve of his township, won six firsts and six seconds for his pen.

There was a fine display of fruits, flowers and vegetables, of ladies fancy work and of cooking.

The Races.

As usual at all Fairs the chief attraction was the horse races everybody chowding to the track when these were called. The judges were: George O'Tice, Belleville, starter; Dr. Hancock of Colborne and R. Brightman of Orland, Judges; Thomas Cheer and C. Ross of Brighton, time keepers.

The veteran owner and driver, W. Elmhirst of Keene lead by Cy Winger entered in Class A race, finding himself up against Liberty Patch, owned by A. Tinney of Cobourg, and Harry H. belonging to Dr. Johnston of Port Hope. Cy Winger took the first two heats easily and won the third but finished under the whip a barely half length ahead of Liberty Patch, who forced the winner to the best time of the race, 2.29½. Harry H. got third money.

Second Race.

There were three starters in the second race, Single Line, the grey and venerable campaigner owned by J. Vasseau of Trenton, a horse 15 years old if ever a racer reaches that age; J. G. Spinsky, owned by W. Appleyard of Cobourg, and Minnie, the property of S. J. McIntosh of Cobourg. The grey took the race in straight beats without being crowded. "Jimmy" McIntosh made a brave struggle for second place and managed to finish behind the leader once, but the other Cobourg horse beat him twice to that position. The best time in that race was 2.31.

Catcher Strong Injured.

There was a baseball game between Brighton and Colborne, the final score being 15 to 6 in favor of the former. During the preliminary practice Catcher Strong of Brighton was so seriously injured in a collision with another player that he had to be taken home in a car. His place behind the bat was taken by First Baseman Ross.

GALT, Sept. 15. — (Canadian Press)—While working in a steel wire cage at the Newlands and Company plant, packing down fluffy cotton, James Holland, aged 19 married, was turned into a human torch when a piece of steel or match passing through the picker with rags ignited the cotton and a sheet of flame shot into cage. His clothing was burned off him. Recovery is doubtful.

MARTIAL LAW IN ALL PARTS SPAIN

Permanent Cabinet Composed of Civilians Expected Over Week-end.

MADRID, Sept. 15.— (United Press)—Martial law was in effect throughout Spain today, with the military revolutionists firmly in control in all parts of nation.

Meantime Captain General Primo De Riveria, leader of the revolutionists, charged by the King with the formation of a new government, had started conversations, for organization of a new ministry to succeed the Alhucemas cabinet.

It was expected a permanent cabinet composed of civilians, would be organized over the week-end.

SECOND HAND CAR PROBLEM UNKNOWN ACCRDSS ATLANTIC AND OTHER THINGS DIFFER

American Dealer, Returning From England, Summarizes Many Differences in Motor World of the United Kingdom.

OWNERS DON'T TRADE CARS IN EVERY YEAR.

Motoring conditions in England are quite different from those in the United States and Canada. To begin with cars are more expensive. The basis and rate of taxation are compartively very high. Cars once bought remain in the hands of the original owner for a number of years and the hundreds of used cars constantly on the market here find no counterpart there.

Partly by virtue of this latter fact trade conditions are different too. In Canada as in the United States the problem of the used car is a big one both with the dealer and every car owner. In England they do not constitute a problem. Values remain fairly high and cars retain marketable values up to the end of their serviceable days because relatively there are fewer of them. Then too very few dealers will take an exclusive franchise. They prefer representing any number up to half-a-dozen or even more different makes of cars on the ground that it is much easier to supply the wants of a customer.

Auto Business

Tom Botterill a successful automobile merchant from the other side of the line commented on these things on his recent return to this country from England and accompanied his remarks with a general commentary on conditions in the automotive industry in England. "General business is improving somewhat in England" Botterill tells us "and the automobile business particularly has had quite an impetus this year in spite of the fact that taxation has been quite heavy.

"More than 200 makes of motor vehicles are sold in England. This is due to so many automobiles imported from Europe many of which we know little about on this side of the Atlantic. Consider that there are cars made in France Belgium Germany Italy in considerable number and quantity. Add to this the cars made in England and then add the great volume of cars exported to England by Canadian and American manufacturers.

"This very clearly shows the point to which competition is growingthere in the number of cars. In America we had on record in April this year 112 makers of passenger automobiles, in active operation.

Cannot Afford Big Car

"The average Englishman cannot afford to buy a large motor car," is another fact brought out by Botterill. Registration figures and close study of the history of the automobile industry make it quite plain that large cars of high cost are not the volume sellers in America. This condition has aided competition in this country. It accentuates competition in England.

Very few dealers in England handle one line of cars as an exclusive agency. This fact, brought out by Botterill's study, would seem to indicate that keener competition, affected by low-priced market possibilities, tended toward a necessity for an automobile dealer to handle more than one line of cars.

"It is almost impossible to get the English automobile dealer to push any one line of cars," he says. "This arises from the condition that there are comparatively very few cars in the high-price class sold in England. The average dealer says: 'No, I will not sign up exclusively. I will simply sell my customers anything they may ask for.' Consequently he usually represents at least a dozen makes of cars. It is one of the reasons why the American manufacturer with representation in England has difficulty in marketing there the number of cars of which he should really dispose.

Keeps It For Years

"It seems that the sales of cars in England run mostly to very small ones, or to the Rolls-Royce class. In other words, the wealthy man in England will buy the very best car he can get. The man of moderate means will be satisfied with a small car, with a very small motor, averaging 30 to 40 miles per gallon of gasoline. This avoids the heavy taxation on horsepower which is the English method, and it also saves on the cost of gasoline, which is higher than in America. The result is that you see all kinds of small cars, and the observer steps right from those to the cars of the Rolls-Royce type, which are seen in numbers.

"The English motiorists buy cars that are well made and keep them for a number of years. You will not find them trading cars every year or so, as we do in America, partly because they have not the means to be extravagant, and, secondly, that the road conditions are so good that the Englishman uses his motor car essentially for transportation. As long as it will run without a heavy upkeep cost he will continue to use it. This accounts for many automobiles we see which have headlights that must be lighted with a match. We see all manner of brass radiators and windshields, types so old that in America they would be considered obsolete.

"The English are great users of trucks and char-a-bancs. The roads are full of these large vehicles. The char-a-banc is a cart with seats, and is a counterpart of our busses and motor stages. It is an immense advantage to the inhabitants of rural towns, enabling them to have cheap transportation. This road transportation also enters into, as an element of, the problems of motor vehicle merchandising, for it obviates the necessity of an individual buying a car in many instances."

Did Not See Accident

Mr. and Mrs. Botterill drove about 4,000 miles in England. He remarks that during all of their stay they did not see a single accident.

"This is largely due to the fact that every driver is considerate of every other driver. There seems to be no particular speed limit. The whole thing is that the drivers must be careful, resulting in comparatively few accidents, even in a city of the size of London. The way traffic is handled in London was a revelation. The traffic officer's word is law. And they handle an enormous amount of traffic without apparent difficulty. The Royal Automobile Club of London is by far the most influential automobile club in the world. They have a perfectly wonderful building in London, and their activities extend throughout Europe.

"The R. A. C. has a traffic man at every important crossroad in England. The duty of these men is to give information to the motorist, and also to help him in case of trouble. They are intelligent men, very efficient, and are paid by the R. A. C.

"These and other things make touring in England a great pleasure. They have excellent roads, which are constantly kept in good condition. The roads are all carefully signed, and the guide books issued by two of the tire companies are very well done indeed. One of these is the best I have ever seen. It gives not only the route to everything in Great Britain, but also a description of all the interesting towns, list of principal hotels, golf courses, and everything of interest. The Englishman may proceed slowly in certain things, but there is no question that whatever he does he does thoroughly. We could get many valuable lessons from their business methods."

FINE SHIPS $600,000 FOR SURPLUS ALIENS

Government Also Decides to Admit 2,000 Who Arrived Just Before Midnight, August 31.

WASHINGTON Sept. 15.—Through a decision of officials of the Department of Labor and the Bureau of Immigration the immigrants who arrived in New York last Friday about midnight before the September quota was open will be admitted to this country but on condition that the steamship companies forfeit $200 for each person admitted as well as the money for each passenger's voyage.

No option is left to the steamship companies. They will not be allowed to carry back to Europe and Cuba the immigrants they brought to the United States in excess of the August quotas. The heads of the department and the bureau announced tonight that there was no question that the four ships arrived here before midnight instead of immediately afterward as was their intention.

Notification was sent to Henry H. Curran Commissioner at Ellis Island this afternoon that the persons brought here by the Esperanza of the Ward Line Braga of the Fabre Line Byron of the Greek Line and Esthonia of the Baltic-American Line would be allowed to land but that the companies must be penalized under Section 6 of the Quota Law. In order to relieve an "impossible situation" the Commissioner was instructed that quotas would be authorized to cover the immigrants but it is not yet known in Washington to what month these quotas will be charged.

Ships Liable Under Law

Under the particular section of the Immigration law steamship companies importing aliens in violation of the quota law are fined $200 for each individual and must also give to the immigrant his passage money which in the present instance is estimated at an average of $100. The exact number of immigrants is not known here but is is estimated at 2 000. On this basis the steamship companies would have to deposit $600 000 with the Government.

BOOZE CRAZY

Twice as many Americans were driven crazy by liquor last year as in 1921. This is claimed by numerous insanity authorities, including Dr. Horatio M. Pollock of New York State Hospital Commission.

It means that booze is steadily getting more poisonous, rather than that people are drinking more in spite of prohibition.

The old-time rum-hound who "saw snakes" had it easy compared with the victim of bootleg hooch. Dr. John A. Houston, head of a state hospital for the insane in Massachusetts, reports:

"The patients who now come to us after alcoholic drink has rendered them insane are in a condition almost wholly different to that of patients whom we took in before prohibition.

"Our alcoholic insane today are in a much more confused mental condition and they are very sick physically. They do not have the hallucinations and fears which characterized the alcoholic insane in former years. But the most notable thing is their awful physical sickness.

"This is, of course, due to the poisonous drink which they have taken. They are in such a condition that they are really, at least for a time, a puzzle to the diagnostician."

There have always been a great many grades of liquor. Drunkards in the old days knew that certain brands of whisky "packed more headache" than others. At the bottom of the list is bootleg, and that is why so many veteran drunkards, knowing liquor and sampling the sort that circulates today, have gone on the water wagon.

Even when comparatively "pure," bootleg liquor at its best is green liquor. In saloon days every self-respecting bartender apologized if the whisky were less than seven years old.

TEN COMMANDMENTS

1. Drive on the right side of the road; it's just as good as the left.
2. Slow down when approaching a cross-road; it is nearly as dangerous as a railroad crossing.
3. Look out for children. You can never tell what they will do and you are always in the wrong if you hit one.
4. Try to help instead of hinder the traffic officer; he is there for your good and he's got a tough job.
5. Be sure that your "dimmers" really dim; it's no joke driving into a blinding glare as you probably know.
6. Read and obey the warning signs; they are not put up as ornaments.
7. If you feel you've got to speed do it where it won't kill anybody but yourself.
8. When making minor repairs stop where your car may be seen from both directions; otherwise you may stop longer than you anticipate.
9. Speeding around corners is a straight route to the hospital. Don't race past a stopped street car. Some day the jury may call it manslaughter.
10. Use discretion. The fact that you had the right of way won't bring anybody back to life least of all yourself.—Issued by Ontario Safety League.

Your Health

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

Keep Fit

When we stop to realize that there are approximately 800,000 deaths every year in our country from preventable causes, a serious attempt should be made to cut down this figure.

Without health to pursue your daily profession or occupation, you are poor. With health, think of how much better equipped you are for life's struggle.

The first consideration is physical fitness. Don't forget it for an instant. It is a fact that disease and unsanitary conditions are the leading factors in causing poverty.

Cost of Ignorance

Ignorance and superstition go along life's pathway hand in hand. Their companions are poorly nourished bodies and moral depravity. There are many thousands of people in this land today mourning the loss of some loved one whose death was due to ignorance.

The three working forces for the betterment of health conditions in individuals and the public at large, are the scientist, physician and the public. They must fully co-operate to secure what we all desire—a high moral standard and healthy bodies free from disease.

This is not to be secured in parts of our country alone, but as a whole. The high as well as the low should be taught the need of all available instruction on disease and its prevention.

Think Health

Do you think these conditions can prevail in your own household and your own community? Be an optimist and say yes. With the thoughts of all people in a community turning to a common cause and with one accord converging on the thought of health, in fact a positive program of health, it can be done.

Carry the demand as far as health examinations, at given periods, if you can. The result will justify any time or expenditure. This will eventually cause the community to turn from the dread of disease to the promise of health.

Every day will be one of right living. This will mean efficiency and in the fullest sense happiness.

FAIR BOOSTED BY BABY SHOW

Yesterday's Attendance Demonstrated Beyond All Question Popularity of Feature—208 Entries

Yesterday's attendance at the Baby Show and Contest held at the Peterboro Fall Fair demonstrated beyond all doubt the universal popularity of such a feature. Despite the chilly weather, mothers came during the three days from a dozen outside places and from all over the city and district, to enter their infants. Yesterday's total of 89 entries in the class from eighteen months to three years, brought the aggregate of the three days up to 208. At the Toronto Exhibition, with fine weather conditions, and in a city whose population numbers nearly 539,000, the entries totalled only 475. Peterboro, with its population of only about one-eighteenth that of the Queen City, had nearly half as many attendants at its Baby Show. The large percentage of infants who received high marks also should be a source of civic pride.

A Pleasant Feature.

A pleasant feature of yesterday's session was the presence of a director of the Lindsay Fair Board. Lindsay evidently realizes that it has much to learn from Peterboro. The gentleman admitted with candor that Lindsay could not hope to carry out a baby show with the scientific precision of Peterboro, but made notes of tent arrangement, details of management, etc., which he said would be copied by Lindsay directors as far as possible, in an endeavor to imitate in a small way the success of Peterboro's baby contest.

A real boost for the Well Babies' Clinic, if such were needed, was the excellent condition of the children, seventy-five per cent. of whom had registered previously at the Clinic. None of the entries received a lower percentage than seventy, while yesterday's entrants ranked slightly higher, the lowest mark for the boys being 75 per cent., the lowest for the girls 76 per cent. In the total of 89 entries, there were 40 boys and 49 girls, and the number of babies who received a high decision was so great, with so many ties, that the previous day's decision was again repeated, to have a number re-examined at the Clinic on next Tuesday afternoon.

Report next Tuesday.

Mothers who will report with their babies for re-examination next Tuesday are:

Girl babies—Mrs. Alex. Darling, Hall's Glen; Mrs. Mathias, 192 McDonnel street; Mrs. Parkinson, 19 Braidwood avenue; Mrs. Duffus, 431 George street; Mrs. Kelar, 549 Patterson street; Mrs. Pearson, 598 Chamberlain street; Mrs. Hillman, 194 Auburn street; Mrs. Sullivan, 95 Landowne street; Mrs. Cunningham 154 Lock street. Mrs. Wellwood, 20 Benson avenue; Mrs. Neary, 221 Perry street; Mrs. T. Davis, 785 George street; Mrs. Louden, 201 Brock street; Mrs. Henderson, 364 Brock street; Mrs. J. K. Shechy, 366 Simcoe street; Mrs. Torrance, 469 Murray street.

Boy babies—Mrs Mackness, 239 Princess street; Mrs. J. Condon, Charlbond Apts., Charlotte street; Mrs. Bruce Clark, 662 Rogers street, Mrs. Crerar, Bethany; Mrs. Jones, 281 Romaine street; Mrs. Smith, Lakefield; Mrs. Akers 195 Auburn street, Mrs. Kellan, Young Street, Claraday P.O.

Of the boy babies entered, 27 received percentages of over 90, making a total of 67½ per cent. judged nearly perfect. The girl babies out of a total of 49 entrants, had 35 who received over 90 marks, or a percentage nearly perfect of almost 72 per cent.

Yesterday's Entries.

Entries yesterday in the class of infants from eighteen months to three years, came in from all over the city, and from Millbrook, Bethany, Lindsay, Lakefield, North Monaghan, Claraday, Hall's Glen, Otonabee, Keene, Norwood and Hastings.

Physicians in attendance at the Baby Show yesterday were Drs. Morgan Ray Scott, Sutton, Lauden, and Dr. Jessie Birnie. Attendants were Mrs. G. McCartney, Mrs. S. ... Touchburn and Miss E. Davidson.

Assistants in registration and general supervision were Mrs. F. C. Neal Mrs. William Galbraith, Mrs. R. J. Dever, Mrs. J. Black, the Misses Agnes Carmichael and Greta Giles, and Mr. Harvey Staunton.

Dr. Morgan kindly provided tea for the assistants, who had a hard three days' session at the big tent, with its multitude of mothers and infants. The doctors in attendance during the entire contest gave splendid service, giving up afternoons to the work, which was carried out with careful precision.

Exclusive of the high-mark infants already menitoned, children who came under the ninety marks and over class, were as follows:

Girl babies of Mrs. O. Cox, R. R. No. 2, Otonabee. Mrs. E. Armstrong, 70 Robinson street; Mrs. Herb Miller, Keene; Mrs. McDonald, 527 George street; Mrs. Doleman, 39 Lafayette; Mrs. Smith, 575 Bethune; Mrs. Wright, Norwood; Mrs. Stoneberg, 87 Park street; Mrs. Davis, 92 McDonnel street; Mrs. Allison, 877 Water street; Mrs. Lancashire, 215 Rubidge street; Mrs. Bartley, 127 Rubidge street; Mrs. Harrington, 242 Simcoe street. Little Points

There are many little questions of manners and politeness that are simple enough to us grown-ups that are puzzling to young folks who have not yet acquired the years and experience that make such things second nature, or give them the poise that enables them to ignore breaches of such rules with unconcern.

Into Experience come so many of these queries that Nancy Brown has gathered them up into a list and asked me to answer them all at once tor her. Here they are in tabulate form:

1. What does one reply when someone says: "I am glad to have met you?"

Just "Thank you" is sufficient.

2. Who walks ahead into the theater, the elevator, or dinjng room of a hotel?

The gir lleads in all such places, also coming out, in order that the man may see that she is cared for and protected from the crowds. Coming out of a street car the man precedes, in order to be ready to help her over the steps.

4. Where does the man walk when he is with two ladies?

On the outside of the walk.

5. Who speaks first, the lady or the man?

The lady.

6. Should a man remove his hat in the elevator if women are there?

He should.

7. What is the correct form of introduction?

Miss Blank, this is Mr. Brown, or my friend, Mr. Brown, or, if it is an elderly man and a young girl, the reverse.

8. Who orders at a cafe or public dining table?

The girl tells the man what she wishes and he orders, or she may ask him to select for her, though that may be awkward for him, unless he knows her very well, and what she likes. Otherwise he may feel that he must order a great variety in order to be sure and have what will please her. If the girl wants anything more, like water or butter, she asks the man to order it for her.

9. What does a girl say when a man tells her he has enjoyed the dance?

"Thank you" is sufficient; or she may tell him she enjoys it too, if she knows him well enough.

10. Shall she ask him in when they reach home after the show or party?

If it is not too late, she may, but she may make it evident by her manner that she does not expect him to accept. He will understand.

11. Shall she ask him to call or shall he ask to be allowed?

He asks, unless they are old friends when she may feel free to ask him.

12. Shall a girl call a man on the phone?

Never at his place of business, and at home only when she is engaged to him, or an old friend.

13. Should he carry her coat for her?

Yes, though it is not serious if he does not.

CLAIM $17,000,000 FOR LOSSES IN GREAT WAR

MONTREAL, Sept. 15. — (Canadian Press).—Nearly $17,000,000 is to be asked from Germany by the Dominion Steel Corporation and six of its subsidiary companies, and the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company, to cover losses sustained owing to the operations of the Great War. Torpedo vessels under charter, chartered steamers, requisitioned vessels, losses of contracts and war risk premiums are the headings under which claims are listed.

"NIGHT RIDERS" OF THE YEAR 1923!

Here are some the pilots selected by Uncle Sam to fly night mail planes from Chicago to Cheyenne, Wyo. Never before in aviator's history has such an attempt been made. Beacon lights will guide the men across the stretch. Left to right: E. L. Allison, H. T. Lewis, D. C. Smith, Frank Yager, Jack Knight and J. F. Moore. Other men who will fly in the air mail service are: R. G. Page, L. H. Garrison, W. C. Hopson and Captain White. These men are important links in the air mail service's proposed 30-hour New York-to-San Francisco service. Following a period of trial flights, Uncle Sam will institute a regular schedule.

Good Books to Read

(F. M. DELA FOSSE)

One of the chief merits of the open-shelf system in a Public Library lies in the fact that it enables the reader to borrow the literature which appeals to him. He can imbibe more knowledge in half an hour by walking along the shelves and examining the books than a whole course of catalogue study could give him. But a greater merit lies in the fact that no matter how desultory a walk along the shelves of a library may be one's attention is bound to be arrested sooner or later by some outstanding title which will produce a train of thought that cannot but be beneficial to one's mental equipment.

I remember, years ago, being attracted by the title ot a book on the shelves of a library in a private house in England. The book was Seward's Anecdotes. I read it from cover to cover, and am thankful that I did so, for it gave me a taste for the reading of biography which has gone on increasing with the passage of time.

During the past year we have added some splendid biographies to our Library. Chief among these may be mentioned the lives of the late American Ambassador, Walter H. Page, Lord Northcliffe's Life, the Lives of the Prime Ministers of England from 1721-1921 by Bigham, and a very fine volume on Queen Victoria by Strachey. But one does not need to turn altogether to biography to gain an interest in public characters. Diaries and journals can prove just as interesting as biographies, as the diaries of Pepys and Evelyn, the Paston Letters and the Creevey Papers can testify.

But there is probably nothing quite so good as biography to awaken ambition in a boy. History will excite his patriotism ,the reading of travel books will broaden his sympathies and help to interest him in the welfare of his fellow-man, but it requires a knowledge of the struggles and temptations and victories of the great ones of the earth to urge him to emulate their examples in an endeavour to attain to like prominence. Although success can come only to a few as regards the material prizes of life biography teaches us that there is golden success even in failure, and that thousands who have lived and died by the wayside on the road to achievement had striven on with inflexible resolution to reach their varied goals.

The value of courage, indomitable resolve, and high-mindedness are only a few of the principles inculcated by the reading of biography, but these possessions are enough in themselves to prove a man to be a man of worth among his fellows.

DID YOU KNOW—

THAT the cloche—in felt or velours—and the tam—in black or colored velvet is the accepted millinery fashion of the hour?

THAT the under-the-arm purse is still the reigning favorite, though the chiffon velvet pouch hand bag will be a much featured model?

THAT all signs point to a grey season, so far as handwear is concerned, and the leading shades of this color are squirrel and kit fox?

THAT buckles of cut steel—designed so that they slide on the strap of the shoe—are being shown? They are worn a bit to one side.

THAT novelty dotting on novelty meshes is le dernier cri in veiling? The sort that is bought by the yard, rather than the made veil, is preferred.

THAT camel's hair fabric is no onger camel in color, but is being dyed all kinds of unusual color. It is a much featured fabric in sportswear.

THAT there is a decided return to ornamentation, so far as the neckline is concerned? Matching collar and cuff sets are "in" again.

DICKENS AS AN EDITOR

LONDON (United Press).—The rarely mentioned fact that Charles Dickens once edited a daily newspaper the London "Daily News" was brought out recently when a trial specimen copy of the first number published under his editorship was sold for $50. The first number was issued January 21 1846 and contained several articles contributed by Dickens. He retained the editorship of the paper for only three weeks.

WILSON AND CHAPLIN IN BRAZIL'S BIG TEN

U. G. KEENER

RIO DE JANEIRO (By mail to United Press) —Ex president Woodrow Wilson and Charlie Chaplin known to Latin America as "Carlitos" are the only North Americans figuring among the ten most interesting men to Brazil from a news standpoint according to a canvass of the leading editors of this country made by the United Press.

Edison and Henry Ford are of course well known and are to a certain degree of interest but not as much so as several Europeans.

The consensus of Brazilian editors as to the ten most interesting men places Pope Pius XI. at the head of the list. Brazil is largely Catholic. The others agreed upon by the Brazilian editors besides Pope Pius XI. Wilson and Chaplin are:

Almeida president of Portugal; Mussolini; Clemenceau; Lloyd George; Zaballos ex foreign minister of Argentina; Lenine; King Albert of the Belgians.

President Almeida of Portugal is a most interesting figure to Brazil on account of the large Portugese population here. On his recent visit to this country he was given an unprecedented popular ovation.

King Albert after becoming very popular in the war visited Brazil and since then can be regarded as not only one of the most interesting men from a news standpoint but also as one of the best beloved men of the world as far as the Brazilian is concerned.

Zaballos formerly foreign minister of Argentina was at one time regarded as Brazil's most dangerous enemy and consequently anything Zaballos does or says stirs up widespread interest in this country.

The editors agree that the five most interesting women are Norma Talmage Queen Elizabeth of the Belgians Pola Negri Queen Helena of Italy and Trancisci Bertini the Italian Tragedian and the first favorite of the Brazilian movie fans.

Of the five women Norma Talmadge is by far the most popular.

VALUE OF BLOOD

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 1 (United Press).—The question of the value of a pint of blood is scheduled for settlement in San Francisco courts, sometime in November.

At that time the suit of Leona Pearl Standiford against the estate of Mrs. C. P. Hilliard (both of San Francisco) will go to trial.

Miss Standiford says a pint of blood —or a pint of her blood at least—is worth $2,500. She quotes the heirs to the Hilliard estate as valuing it at only $15.

Miss Standiford set forth in her complaint that she gave a pint of her blood in a transfusion operation in an attempt to save the life of Mrs. Hilliard. An infection, she alleges, followed the operation and she must have money for medical treatment.

THRILLS TO HER MEANT LIFE

Now Police Call Chicag o Girl a Bandit Queen.

CHICAGO, Sept. 14.—To be thrilled was all Marie Dubois wanted. Thrills, for her, meant life. Well, she's had her share, police here ayer. They call her the Bandit Queen.

Twenty-two years of age, slim, demure, looking forever like a Quakeress, Marie is lodged in jail, along with 10 men, alleged members of a notorious gang of auto bandits, one member of which is said to be involved in the killing of "Moss" Enright, Labor leader, some months ago.

"I did go along in a car all right when they went out to make stick-ups," police declare Marie says, in that strange language credited to bandits.

And right here another strange angle of a strange case injects itself.

Never Saw One.

It seems these alleged bandits thought it was all right to go a-banditing, and even to take a girl along. But let her witness one of the actual holdups! Good gracious, no! That would never do!

"But I never did see a robbery," she declares, "they wouldn't let me go near."

She said she came to Chicago from New Orleans after the death of her parents four years ago. She has one brother, she said, who lives in South America.

"Often," she continued, "I went along with them just for the thrill. Then I grew tired of it and stayed at home."

It was "while staying at home," police charge, that the girl took complete charge of the loot gathered in by members of the gang.

"I was in my first hold-up by accident. We were out in Jimmy Vinci's (one of the men arrested) car and they made me hide in the bottom until they got a roll of money. I was scared — but after a while I liked it.

"I loved Roy Palmer (alleged king of the gang of which she was the alleged queen, and with whom she was said to have lived as his wife).

"But if I ever get out of this jam, I'll blow Chicago and go to South America where my only brother lives."

Likes Adventure.

Then she grew wistful. And officers listening, wondered if the craze for adventure was in her case an inherited trait.

"I wonder if he has found his adventure?"

Vinci is, according to police, the confessed driver of the auto from which "Moss" Enright, labor leader, was killed some months ago.

Marie is almost alone in the world. Her parents are gone—died when she was four years of age. Only her brother remains.

Sometimes it seems to those who talk with her as though she wants to cry, like any other girl. And then when those moments of "weakness" creep upon her, she appears to grip herself. Crying, her attitude plainly says, is not the role for her.

Police feel sorry for this queen "Bandit Queen."

"Just bad company," explains Lieutenant Grady. "Marie isn't a tough girl. Simply got in with the wrong crowd."

IN NEW ORLEANS

NEW ORLEANS, Sept. 14.—Here's good news for those who may incline to the sentimental. Bleeding heart shamrocks may soon be available in other places than St. Roch's cemtery, where they have attracted hundreds of thousands of sightseers there, anxious to view the strange floral phenomenon.

The bleeding heart shamrock have a history. All New Orleans believes the legend about how, many many years ago, death parted a bethrothed couple and how the grief-stricken swain killed himself upon the grave of his sweetheart. His blood stained and three leafed clover that grew there and the next year the clover came out with a perfectly formed heart of a reddish brown color in the center of each leaf. From year to year it has continued to spread and so far as known it grows only in St. Roch's cemetery and in the national cemetery at Chalmette.

To date it has been impossible to grow these shamrocks except by transplanting. But the seed will soon be on sale if the experts who have set about to accomplish the feat can establish a cross with the ordinary clover which will retain the red heart in the center. It is hoped to have the seed on sale by the first of the year so that the shamrocks may be hale and hearty by March 17.

* * * *

Trouble is brewing. along the banks of Bayou Katherine, adjacent to New Orleans. Napoleon Herbert is angered at his "Cagan" neighbor, Pierre Bourdon, because of the latter's pet alligators.

A few days ago they broke under the fence and strolled over to the Herbert marsh, where Napoleon was training a couple of spaniels for the coming duck season. When the gators tried to return they were so full they couldn't get under the fence. So they curled up and went to sleep on the Herbert property.

Later it was discovered Herbert's dogs and two of his best sows were missing. While the amphibians were snoozing, Napoleon threw a chain about their necks, attached it to the family flivver and dragged them to his barn. He demands $125 for his dogs and sows and until the money is forthcoming he will keep the alligators.

SAYS WOMAN CAN RUN FAIR AS WELL AS MAN

What One Secretary and Manager Has to Say About Running Show.

CARTHAGE, Mo., Sept. 14.—"It's a mistake to believe that farmers want to see risque shows and gamble at fairs. They prefer to see good livestock."

"Running a fair is a business and an all-year job even though the fair lasts only four or five days of the year."

"A woman can run a fair as well as a man if she puts the same amount of fight and energy into her work."

These are the declarations of Miss Emma R. Knell, for 22 years secretary and manager of the Southwest Missouri Fair held here annually.

In this part of Missouri almost everyone calls it "Miss Emma's fair." That is a tribute to a woman's efficient management of the institution.

Until recently Miss Knell was the only woman secretary of a fair in the country. Now there are three or four others, she says.

Inherits Business.

A quarter of a century ago Miss Knell's father, Edward Knell, started the Southwest Missouri fair mostly because of his love of race horses and fine stock.

From her father Miss Knell inherited that same love of fine animals. From the day she took charge, after her father died, the fair began to grow and now it attracts thousands from two dozen southwest Missouri counties each year and, unusual for a fair, more than pays its own way.

No Gambling.

"It's clean from first to last," the secretary boasts. "I find that farmers, their wives and their sons and daughters do not really care for risque shows and that they prefer not to have gambling devices on the ground.

"I find that the best horses can be obtained for the races without having open gambling on the results.

"I find race-horse men sometimes called 'hard boiled,' really are gentlemen at heart. I never have had trouble with race-horse owners."

WHEN IS A GIRL READY FOR COLLEGE?

When is a girl ready for college? The question is asked in thousands of homes along about this time each year when family conferences are being held to decide whether or not daughter should go on into higher educational institutions.

Mother may say, "I think she had better stay out for a year until she becomes more mature before going away to school, where she will make new friends."

Father probably will say, "Well, it costs a heap of money nowadays to send a girl to school, but—might as well get it over with; let's send her this year."

Answering the question at a conference of deans of women of the Universities of Missouri, Minnesota, Indiana, Maine, Texas Women's College and other institutions, F. Louise Nardin, dean at University of Wisconsin, says:

Up to Girl

"A girl is ready for college when she has learned how her mind works and how she can make it work better; when she has acquired a spiritual inwardness and certitude in life."

Easy going attitudes assumed by parents of girls about to enter colleges and universities were scored by Dean Nardin and she was backed up by the other educational leaders.

"Because they have finished high school, parents consider that the girls are automatically prepared to take the next step and enter college. They do not think of weighing the kinds of habits, ideals and capacities for choice their daughters have acquired," said Dean Nardin.

Recommendations

To overcome the present situation, the deans recommended three remedies.

1. Students should not be allowed to discontinue the study of Latin and mathematics.

2. Pupils having high term grades should not be permitted to miss examinations.

3. Systematic accounts of how time is spent—in study, sleep and recreation—should be kept.

High schools and preparatory institutions could aid in carrying out the three recommendations, it was suggested.

Elimination of Latin and mathematics from the compulsory studies in high schools would defeat every purpose of schools, it was believed. The two studies, the deans held, are essential in making students learn the power of concentration.

SOME WATCH!

In the spring of 1913 Grimes Trumbo of Elizaville, Kentucky, lost his open-face gold watch while plowing, it being supposed to have been plowed under. It was given up as a total loss, but this spring while Mr. Trumbo's brother was plowing that same field, he plowed up the watch. And the remarkable part of it is that they took the watch to the shop and found that all it needed was to be cleaned up, and not a speck of rust had attacked any part of it.

CARS EQUIPPED WITH 4 BRAKES SET NEW RECORD

McLaughlin's Beat Official Safety Tests With Margin to Spare.

EDMONTON Sept. 15. — Portage avenue was the scene of the police test of the four wheel braking system that is the standard equipment on the 1924 McLaughlin cars and several hundred spectators witnessed Paul Welch shatter the safety limits that are set by the Canadian National Safety Council and the police departments throughout Canada.

Two tests were carried out one on dry pavements and one on wet. In each test the McLaughlin car fully demonstrated that the four wheel braking system is capable of giving one one hundred per cent. more protection in case of emergency than cars equipped with the old style two-break system.

One of the features that Welch showed on Saturday was driving at a twenty-five mile an hour clip without his hands on the steering wheel and coming to a full stop in the short distance of 29 feet 9 inches without any perceptible skid. This demonstration of driving and braking without any control of the steering which was for the purpose of showing that the front brakes do not grab and interfere with the desired directional steering of the car.

The following are the limits set by the C. N. S. C. and the police departments throughout Canada including Edmonton and the distances taken by the McLaughlin car to come to a stop while driving at the different speeds.

Official Limits

(Tests always carried out on dry pavement)

10 m. p. h. takes 9 ft. 2 ins.
15 m. p. h. takes 20 ft. 8 ins.
20 m. p. h. takes 37 feet.
25 m. p. h. takes 58 ft.
30 m. p. h. takes 83 ft. 3 ins.
35 m. p. h. takes 113 ft.
40 m. p. h. takes 148 ft.

McLaughlin Six
(dry pavements)

10 m. p. h. took 2 ft.
15 m. p. h. took 10 ft. 1 in.
20 m. p. h. took 16 ft. 8½ ins.
25 m. p. h. took 27 ft. 1½ in.
30 m. p. h. took 33 ft. 8½ ins.
35 m. p. h. took 41 ft. 3½ ins.

McLaughlin Six
(wet pavement)

10 m. p. h. took 3 ft. 11 ins.
15 m. p. h. took 11 ft. 9 ins.
20 m. p. h. took 20 ft. 8 ins.
25 m. p. h. took 29 ft. 9 ins.
30 m. p. h. took 42 ft. 9 ins.
35 m. p. h. took 59 ft. 1 in.
40 m. p. h. took 90 ft. 6 ins.

McLaughlin Four
(dry pavement)

10 m. p. h. took 2 ft. 9 ins.
15 m. p. h. took 11 ft. 9 ins.
20 m. p. h. took 22 ft. 3½ ins.
25 m. p. h. took 28 ft. 5 ins.
30 m. p. h. took 40 ft. 2 ins.
35 m. p. h. took 58 ft. 8 ins.

All these tests were carried out under the supervision of Chief of Police Shute Sergeat Smith police traffic officer and F. H. Needham automobile editor of the Edmonton Journal.

Before and after the tests the speedometers on the cars were tested by Traffic Officer Smith and found to be registering correctly.

COURT SHUTDOWN OF LUMBER FIRMS SETS PRECEDENT.

Missouri Scores Complete Victory Over Business Combinations Known As "Open Price Associations."

JEFFERSON CITY, Mo., Sept. 15 — (Associated Press).—Missouri has scored a complete victory over the new form of business combinations known as "open price associations," in a suit brought by Attorney General Jesse W Barrett against the St. Louis Lumber Trade Exchange. The Missouri Supreme Court ousted each of the nineteen St Louis lumber companies composing the Exchange, assessed fines totaling $96.000 and ousted the Exchange itself.

The court sustained the attorney general in holding that the combination violated the State anti-trudt laws even though it did not directly fix prices. So far as is known it is the first decision of any State court on the points involved and follows closely the decision of the United States Supreme Court last year in the hardwood lumber cases, according to Attorney General Barrett.

After the anti-trust decision of Federal and State courts some fifteen years ago holding that it was illegal for competitors to come together and agree upon prices, lawyers over the country began searching for a method which would keep within the law and yet advance the interests of their clients, the attorney general said

A plan was found which has been generally called "The open price association plan," according to Mr Barrett, whereby competing companies formed a central association with a manager and secretary and reported to it all prices on sales by members The association regulated the terms of credit and the general business practices of its members, and provided for cooperation that went far but stopped short of the actual fixing of prices Books were written describing the plan as "The New Competition," and it was believed, the attorney general said that the method would be proof against prosecution by the State or Federal authorities.

Attorney General Barrett maintained that the net effect of the plan was to lessen the full and free competition which the Missouri laws require and to impose upon the public much higher prices. The court in a sweeping decision declared that the Missouri statutes forbid not only agreements to lessen competition, but agreements which tend to lessen it The decision said that the very creation of a system of machinery which can be improperly used, is in itself a violation of the Missouri law. The court found that the increased cost of lumber was due to other factors as well, such as higher freight rates and greater labor costs, but condemned the umber exchange in most positive terms.

MUST HAVE BABIES TO BE BEAUTIFUL SAYS FRENCHMAN

By WEBB MILLER

PARIS, Sept. 15 (United Press).—"To be really beautiful after girlhood, American and other women must learn that they must have babies—and must nurse their own babies."

Such is the dictum of Dr. Brettmon, French beauty specialist.

"Contrary to the usual belief a woman cannot be really beautiful in middle age unless she has had babies," said Brettmon. "The Venus must have had several babies—she could not have been as beautiful as statue indicate unless she had.

"The widespread custom of feeding babies by bottle is fatal to rich ripened feminine beauty. The act of nursing a baby is nature's own way and acts upon certain glands and the body in such a way that the whole facial expression is softened and beautified as nothing else can do it. Also the same act improves the complexion through action on the glands.

"The American girl is wonderful, but I notice that too frequently the American woman does not retain her beauty past girlhood. If she has babies and nurses them herself and observes the ordinary rules of health, there is no reason why she would not retain that beauty and ripen it.

"A woman who has never had babies will never be really lovely in the way nature intended, no matter what she does.

"I know there is a prevalent belief among women that child-birth will ruin their figure. It is not only true if proper care is taken, but on the contrary normal child-birth enhances the natural beauty of the figure. It is what nature intended and she developed the human frame with that end in view. Therefore it is ridiculous to think otherwise."

A giant camera is being installed at Yerbaniz, Mexico, to check up the Einstein theory. Many wonder, what good will it all do, if the theory is proved either true or false?

An answer to this comes from the Smithsonian Institution, which reports that one scientific endeavor, observation of the stars, is being used to supply correct maps, to fix boundary lines between nations, to guide ships, and to determine seafaring matters relating to high and low tides.

The higher science of today is used in everyday life tomorrow.

How about prices? Wall Street Journal prints an article with this headline: "Wheat and cotton prices off 30 per cent, rubber 27 per cent, from March."

It lists other articles, showing a price drop of 20 per cent on the average—a fifth. Wholesale prices, of course, but retail prices eventually will respond to them.

WOMEN FROM FORTY TO FIFTY

Will Be Interested in Mrs. Thompson's Recovery by Use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Winnipeg, Man.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has done me good in every way. I was very weak and run-down and had certain troubles that women of my age are likely to have. I did not like to go to the doctor so I took the Vegetable Compound and am still taking it right along. I recommend it to my friends and to any one I know who is not feeling well."—Mrs. THOMPSON, 308 Lizzie St., Winnipeg, Man.

When women who are between the ages of forty-five and fifty-five are beset with such annoying symptoms as nervousness, irritability, melancholia and heat flashes, which produce headaches, dizziness, or a sense of suffocation, they should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is especially adapted to help women through this crisis. It is prepared from roots and herbs and contains no harmful drugs or narcotics.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from roots and herbs, has for forty years proved its value in such cases. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Rail Expansion

Project Will Connect Interior With West African Ports—Bicycle's Part—Pioneers Relied on Machines Immune to Tsetse Fly.

Plans to connect Katanga, in the Belgian Congo, with a West Africa coast port, emphasize the extreme range of civilization in this mid-continent colony, says a bulletin of the National Geographic Society.

Motor roads network a region where campers still build fires by night to ward off the lions, and where native savages chant, "white man, white man, we'll dance tomorrow with your head on the end of the spear."

Bantu tribesmen do business with calico money; Elizabethville, the colony's capital, has both a Belgian and an English bank, seven hotels, five hospitals, and its streets, avenues and boulevard would do credit to a European city.

Railroad building in Katanga is in keeping with the excellent communications rapidly established in an area not long ago called Africa's most inaccessible part. The Congo colony has the natural advantages of the 10,000 miles of navigable waters afforded by the Congo River and its tributaries.

Steel rails and macadam highways supplement these water routes, but in is to the humble bicycle that Belgian Congo owes its initial development. The tsetse fly was an effective bar to domestic animals, hence pioneer whites first carved out wheel tracks instead of bridle paths.

The present rail outlet from the Katanga interior is the line from Bukama to Cape Town and to Beira, on the east coast. The project now under way will link Bukama to the Benguella Railway, already running into Angola from Labito Bay.

This shorter haul has a world interest as any one realizes who has watched Congo's river craft laden with palm oil, cocoanuts, ivory, rubber and sugar.

Rich in Mines

Once the Congo River bed was an inland sea, but even then the Katanga plateau was high and dry. Today much of Katanga, which is as large as California and South Carolina together, is free from the tsetse fly, hence cattle thrive there. The soil is fertile. However, Katanga's chief asset in the eyes of modern states is her mines, particularly her noted copper bolt. Tin, iron and coal also are mined and gold is found.

Even in modern Elizabethville representatives are in evidence of the two million or more Bantu natives, who range from jungle head hunters and the forest pygmies to the Swahili language group, whose literature has been the subject of close study. The ethnologist holds the Congo's chief riches to be in natives whose tribes, languages and development stages are exceptionally diverse.

To the layman on a street corner of Katanga's capital the passing show of natives has the interest of a museum —the man who wears ivory rings on this fingers, the woman with a metal circlet in her nose, the people who file their front teeth to a point, some who subsist on arrow root and others who hunt game with poisoned arrows. For the expert these types have a deeper interest. Each is a chapter in the fascinating story of human progress.

Small Farms Sold. Problem of Negro.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., Sept. 15(United Press).—Farm negroes migrating north won't return as long as they find work. So the southern planters, foreseeing the doom of the many-acred plantation, are attempting to induce the white man of moderate means to settle down on small farms

W. H. Dick president of the Southern Alluvial Land Association, will hold a conference at Washington this month with immigration officials on a proposal to revise immigration laws to allow bringing to the south larger numbers of Irish, Scotch, English, German and Scandinavian immigrants.

Members of the organization, according to Dick, are in some instances furnishing "reliable white farmers," with mules, implements, seed, credit for necessities and allowing him one-half of the crop as tenant.

A Chicago mill and lumber company recently sold 50,000 acres of logged-off land to 700 purchasers. the average size being 70 acres. Terms to the purchasers ranged from one-sixth cash payment with the balance in five years, to no payment for five years, provided the purchaser paid taxes and interest and put a certain number of acres under cultivation.

The Alluvial Association announced its belief, after a survey of labor agencies throughout the north, that the negro wouldn't return as long as he has work.

What the south will do in the next three months, with 38,200,000 acres of cotton which must be picked by hand, is problematical. If too many have left, the cotton-planter is in bad straits.

CANNED APPLES

If you happen to possess an apple tree full of apples now why not can some for winter use when the fresh fruit is not at hand?

Canned apples are quite as good in apple sauce cake as fresh ones. They can be used for sauce in puddings and make a very good pie when pie "timber" is scarce.

Can them with or without sugar. If canned with sugar they will require no sweetening when used.

Canned Without Sugar

Pare core and quarter apples. Be sure to cut out all blemishes. A bruised spot in an apple will not cook tender but will become hard and tasteless by cooking. Put into preserving kettle with enough cold water to cover and cook until tender but not broken. Put into sterilized cans and seal. The cans must br brimming full and the fruit and sirup boiling hot when sealed. Wrap a towel around the cans to prevent breaking the can and burning the hands. Wring towel out of hot water and entirely cover can.

To use for pie drain apples from juice arrange in pie shell and sweeten to taste.

For sauce put contents of can in sauce pan add sugar to taste and heat thoroughly.

Or apples can be put up by the cold pack method.

Cold Pack

Wash apples. Dip in boiling water for two minutes. Remove and dip in cold water. Drain. Pare quarter and core. Pack in sterilized cans pour over medium thin sirup and boil 20 minutes in hot water bath outfit.

Medium thin sirup is made by boiling three cups of sugar and two cans of water until the sirup is "sirup-y" or about four minutes.

And here is a recipe for apple sauce cake:

Apple Sauce Cake

One cup sugar ½ cup butter and lard mixed 1½ cups apple sauce 2 cups raisins 3 cups flour 2 teaspoons soda 1 cup nuts ¼ cup shredded citron 1 teaspoon vanilla 1 teaspoon lemon juice 1 teaspoon cold strong coffee 1 teaspoon cinnamon ½ teaspoon cloves ½ teaspoon allspice ½ teaspoon nutmeg ¼ teaspoon salt.

Cream shortening and sugar. Stir in apple sauce. Sift one cup flour over raisins. Stir into first mixture. Sift salt and soda with remaining flour. Add spices nuts and citron and stir into first mixture. Add vanilla lemon juice and coffee and mix thoroughly. Turn into a deep well-buttered and floured brick pan and bake 1½ hours in a slow oven.

This cake can be wrapped in oiled paper and stored in a tin box for indefinite keeping.

Sour apples can be used to make a delicious relish to serve with meats.

Apple Relish

Eight pounds apples 3 sweet green peppers 2 small onions 1 pound seeded raisins 1 tablespoon salt 2 cups cider vinegar 1 pound brown sugar 2 lemons 1 tablespoon mustard seeds 1 tablespoon ground ginger ½ teaspoon cayenne pepper.

Pare core and chop apples. Mince onions. Remove seeds and white fibers from peppers. Slice lemons very thin removing seeds. Put all ingredients in preserving kettle and cook gently until thick. Pour into sterilized jars and seal while hot.

SEARCHING FOR BODY

LONDON, Sept. 15.—(Associated Press).—An American institute of learning, Georgia University, has petitioned the ecclesiastical authorities for permission to do some digging in the Cranham Church, near Upminster, Essex, to find out if the remains of General Oglethorpe are there. If the body is found, the university will ask further permission to ship it across the Atlantic and place it in a shrine at the institution.

There is no doubt he was buried in the church. There is a tablet to his memory on which it is recorded that he was born in 1696 and died in 1785. An account is given also of his achievements. In June, 1732, with twenty associates, the General obtained a charter for the settlement of the Georgia Colony from King George II. He was the friend of many distinguished men of his time, among them Walpole, Goldsmith, Boswell, Burke and Pope. The last enshrined his name in a couplet.

ODDITIES IN NEWS

DOLLAR

The dollar is worth only 65 cents now, on the 1913 basis, says Professor Irving Fisher. He means that $1 now will, on the average, buy only as much as 65 cents bought in 1913. He has wholesale markets in mind. But the situation is almost identically the same when it comes to retail prices—cost of living.

This is a sad blow to the man who saved dollars in 1913 and now finds them worth only 65 cents apiece. But there's no use getting discouraged. For the rule is beginning to work in the opposite direction—the 65 cents saved today will be worth $1 later, in buying power. You'll realize this, in full, about 1950. Far off? It'll be here before you realize—and it'll come when most of us will need the money more than at any time in life.

Inside Germany, this interesting situation which speaks for itself: In 1913 Germany had 51,536 plants employing 2,033,000 men in metal transforming, chemical and mechanical construction. In 1921 she had 64,346 such factories, employing 2,432,000.

The situation is believed to have improved steadily since 1921. Indemnity or not, Germany has a good start at being the first European country out of the woods—barring, possibly, England, and that's doubtful.

LONGER

We Americans are gluttons for punishment seem to thrive on trouble. The Census Bureau reports that the average length of life increased three and a third years during 1921 a year of hard times.

One reason for this is that we fight harder to live when the struggle for existence becomes more severe. Nothing is more consuming even fatal than a "soft life."

SEVEN WARSHIPS AWAIT JUNKING IN NAVAL YARD

PHILADELPHIA Sept. 15 — (Associated Press).—Seven war vessels at the Philadelphia Navy Yard are to be scrapped under the provisions of the Treaty for the Limitation of Armaments recently approved. They include two cruisers and five battleships.

The cruisers are the Constitution and the United States which had been under construction at the navy yard for some time. They are to be scrapped at once acetylene torches being used to cut them to pieces. A little later workmen will start on the five battleships consigned to the international junk heap. Four of them the Minnesota South Carolina Michigan and New Hampshire are out of commission and have been lying in the storage basin at the navy yard for months. The fifth the South Carolina will have a fitting end to a long career for she will be taken to sea and sunk in tests of various deck and under-water attacking methods lately devised by the Navy Department engineers.

An eighth battleship the Washington which was under construction at the New York Shipbuilding Corporation's yard in Camden N. J. also will be shattered by the gunfire and torpedo attack of the Atlantic fleet.

ENGLAND SEEKS WAYS TO PUT IDLE MEN TO WORK

The Spectre of Bankruptcy Hovers Over England Because of Her Problem of the Workless—Public and Railroad Work Suggested.

(By LYLE WILSON)

LONDON, Sept. 15 (United Press).—Premier Stanley Baldwin is being bombarded with a multitude of suggestions for the cure of unemployment.

Reliable estimates that two million workers will be thrown on the Government for support within the next five months, together with their dependents, indicates the urgency of the situation.

From both extremes of political thought and from the middle comes the advice to the Premier.

The Labor Party has long advocated the use of a considerable portion of England's private wealth for the payment of her public debts, thus trimming taxation and strengthening the home market.

At the other extreme of political sentiment is a demand that chaos be ended, somehow, someway, and England's channels of trade freed from the grip of European economic disruption. In between are plans of specific import.

The sceptre of bankruptcy through sheer inability to work hovers over England. The problem seems to resist expedient. It does not react to promises. It defies employers and workers alike.

Baldwin's Government is moving to the relief of the unemployed by pushing a project to extend the Port of London docking facilities, by conditional subsidies to house builders and similar measures.

England is not satisfied with the plans of the Government.

Labor Party's Plan

The Labor Party, recognizing the futility of expecting Baldwin to adopt their capital levy scheme, has outlined a comprehensive plan of internal improvement which would absorb the labor of hundreds of thousands of workless men and boys.

Labor demands the reorganization of the country's electrical power supply by the construction of a co-ordinated system of generating stations, the immediate building of schools, canal improvements and the adaptation of roads, bridges and harbors to the needs of modern traffic.

"All work enlists some skilled services," J. R. Clynes, Labor M. P., declared in advocating the policy of his party, "and to build a bridge or to construct a sewer calls for the work of the iron molder, steel smelter, and the like, as well as of clerks, surveyors and architects. If we could now employ on manual labor half the men who are out of a job, their service would go far to absorb most of the other classes who are unemployed."

Sir Allan Smith, leader of the House of Commons industrial group, and therefore eligible to speak for employers, disagrees with Clynes only slightly. Thus two extremes of parliamentary thought agree substantially on the necessity and method of relieving unemployment.

The Employer's Plan

The railways, Smith declares in a letter to Premier Baldwin, are now possessed of four times their normal reserve.

Smith points out that these sums are not functioning toward decreased freight and passenger charges and argues that to turn them into permanent improvement would, in the long run, provide the greatest possible return.

Unlike Clynes, Sir Allan is particularly concerned with the plight of skilled labor.

Premier Baldwin replied to Smith that His Majesty's Government were fully alive to the urgency of the situation, but that "a real and lasting cure for unemployment lies in the restoration of stable conditions throughout the world and the development of new markets."

No more illuminating exposition of the Premier's careful conservation could be had than the foregoing statement. Baldwin is fundamentally opposed to divert public money into the normal channels of private funds. He shrinks from committing his Cabinet to paternalism. He is four-square for the individualism of the last century, minus, of course, the abuses which grew up with it.

Economic Chaos and Cause

Baldwin sees European economic chaos as the keystone of English unemployment and he means to attack the seat of the disease and allow the surface symptoms to right themselves when the organic sickness has been cured.

Baldwin's hypothesis of the genesis of English industrial conditions is generally accepted as accurate. He is urged, however, to alleviate the results while attempting to root out the cause.

In another letter to the Premier, Sir Allan Smith urges on the Government a full resumption of trade with Russia.

An order for from two to three million pounds sterling worth of goods would result, Smith believes. Baldwin has not yet accepted this suggestion and probably will not.

The fact, however, that the Premier's cousin, F. L. Baldwin, is heading an unofficial delegation of business men, at present investigating conditions in Russia, makes it likely that the Premier will hear more of some such a plan.

The substance of objections to the system whereby unemployed persons are subsidized for idleness is that the same money spent for permanent improvements would bring a lasting benefit to the country and at the same time provide work and food for the persons whom it now merely feeds.

Whether unemployment is symptomatic of general European disruption, or is a thing apart from that deeply seated affliction, the urgent need for remedy is unquestioned.

An English government capable of providing work, and that quickly, might reasonably expect to remain in office during the whole life of the Premier who achieved the miracle.

MAKE NATIONAL RAILWAYS A SUCCESS

CALGARY, Sept. 15 (By Canadian Press).—Characterizing the United States Railway Labor Board as "a greater menace to railway employes than any other combination of individuals on the North American continent," A. R. Mosher, President of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employes in his address at the Biennial convention of that body here this afternoon, expressed satisfaction that the organization he headed had been the first to succeed in breaking some of the United States' Board's power to determine wages in this country.

The president of the brotherhood called upon the membership to meet the appeal of the Canadian Government for co-operation towards making the National Railways a success. While expressing the view that the deficits facing the Government lines resulted through "too much of the money spent in building finding its way into the pockets of contractors and crooked politicians," Mr. Mosher pointed out that failure to secure the successful operation of the railways would undoubtedly throw still heavier burdens upon the backs of the workers of Canada and employes of the Government system in particular.

Service and publicity were recommended to the brotherhood by its president as more satisfactory means of improving working conditions than direct action. "The strike," said Mr. Mosher, "is in the case of an essential public service like transportation, too powerful a weapon for use in any ordinary circumstances. Furthermore, in the case of the Government lines, the public is both the receiver of the service and at the same time the employer, so that those of us employed on government lines work for the public in a double sense. The way for us to get the best possible wages and working conditions is first, to deserve them, and second let the public know that we deserve them. That is, the keynote of our policy in attaining the second of our objectives—best possible wages and working conditions—must be service and publicity. Our golden rule for success, therefore, is this: Give the best possible service to the public; strive for the greatest possible improvement of this service; help fellow members and strengthen the brotherhood in every possible way; and make known to the membership and the public what we are doing and trying to do."

Continuing along this line, Mr. Mosher indicated some of the means by which the railway employes could carry out the policy he advocated. He urged them to study wage conditions and felt that experts should be engaged to give attention to economic matters, the collection of data and the compilation of statistical information. He believed there should be systematic collection of railroad data embracing operating figures, financial facts, traffic problems and operating methods. This material, the president thought, should not only be collected but should be digested and made available for general use in terms which could be understood by anyone. If this were done the brotherhood, he felt, would be ready to meet government officials, railway officials or anyone else in the discussion of railroad subjects.

"For example," said Mr. Mosher, "you all know what powerful enemies of public ownership of railroads there are in Canada and what a great volume of propaganda there is to discredit the value of the government lines and to magnify the burden of debt which the ownership of railroads puts upon the citizens of the Dominion. Now you believe, and I believe, and many others believe that ownership of these railroads is a good thing for Canada. But it isn't sufficient to call the enemies of public ownership liars—we must prove they are wrong if we are to be of any real service either to the people or to ourselves. I am convinced we can prove it but require the assistance of the skilled expert to do it most effectively."

Mr. Mosher reminded the brotherhood that it had repeatedly gone on record as favoring public ownership of railways and other public utilities. Under these circumstances he argued it was the duty of the workers to demonstrate the soundness of the principle they advocated insofar as they could with justice to themselves.

The president urged members of the brotherhood to think for themselves and not be satisfied to accept things as presented to them without giving them mature consideration. He deprecated any tendency to unjust criticism within the ranks of the organization but opined that constructive criticism was helpful and much to be desired.

During Mr. Mosher's address he touched on many details of the brotherhood's activities. He felt it was now in the strongest position it had enjoyed since its begining and that there was every prospect of continued prosperity.

One [illegible] touched upon by the president after he had made his introductory observations was the activities of the United States Railway Labor Board which he criticised at some length. He accused the American tribunal of aiding railway managements "in their attacks upon the pay envelopes of the workers." Referring to the board he said: "It is a United States Government tribunal which has made itself ridiculous in the eyes of every right-thinking person on this continent by declaring that a lively wage for workers was impractical and impossible."

Mr. Mosher claimed that while the United States Railway Labor Board had no direct jurisdiction in Canada its decisions were being applied in Canada by railways in Canada and that employes in this country were as much affected by its judgments as were the workers across the line.

LONDON England Sept. 11.—Interviewed on her arrival in this country Mrs. Mary Ellen Smith of Vancouver (who has been sent to England by the Federal Government to give a series of lectures and talks on Canada's opportunities for settlers) said she had just been to the Lancashire County Show held in Liverpool.

"I was proud to see Canada so well represented" said Mrs. Smith. "Her various fruits grains ores and other products were presented in a most attractive form and the exhibit was drawing large crowds to the stand.

"The number of people who were passing in and out asking for literature and the eagerness with which they were seeking information convinced me of two things. The first is their strong desire to make a new start in a new land; the second is the great need for an active educational campaign on the part of Canada throughout the British Isles and the necessity of making the Dominion and all that she has to offer more widely known."

GUILMANT HAD HIS TROUBLES

Guilmant the famous French organist was the last man in the world to be superstitious. However one evening at a dinner party at his villa the chicken was served in a casserole. The conversation drifted to the subject of appendicitis. Suddenly one of the guests remarked that the enamel with which the casserole was lined was liable to chip off and should it happen to be swallowed would produce appendicitis. Immediately Guilmant sent for a hammer and was not content until the casserole with its enamel lining was completely in ruins and not a bit of it as large as a pin head remained. Then with a sigh of relief the Master exclaimed: "Never again will a casserole be seen on my table."

Following a course of lessons in German a young man applied to Guilmant for organ instruction in Paris. The prospective student arrived at the studio in high spirits for the first lesson. Guilmant requested him to demonstrate his ability. Seating himself at the organ he started to play using tremendous physical effort. He trampled on the pedals and when about to use full force hands and feet combined Guilmant with tears in his eyes put his hands gently on the young man's shoulders and said: "Please don't break the organ. My father built it."

GHOSTLY SOLDIER WIPED OUT

BATH England (United Press).—Bath Abbey's famous ghostly soldier has been wiped out. Some months ago a curious outline of a full-kitted soldier struggling under the weight of his pack began to take form on the dank walls of the abbey. The fame of the manifestation drew hundreds of visitors daily. The abbey authorities decided to treat him as they would any other spots and had him rubbed out. Mystics expect him to return.

MONTREAL Sept. 15.—At the convention held in this city recently of a large New York life insurance company with 342 agents present there were seven women who belonged to the "$250 000 Club."

It has been the practice for some years for this company to hold a convention of agents who during 12 months obtain and pay for business to the amount of $250 000. For those energetic agents who have been so fortunate as to write new policies to the sum indicated the company provides transportation and all necessary expenses to whatever city has been selected for the gathering.

These conventions alternate between East and West and of the eight gatherings organized three have been in Canada.

SLAVES IN BRITISH EMPIRE

When the League of Nations approaches the question of slavery a memorial will be laid upon the table from England, supported by Lords, Archbishops, Members of Parliament and others, including George Bernard Shaw and Israel Zangwill, proclaiming that slavery obtains today in three African areas involving altogether over 1,000,000 slaves, in systems under which a definite and saleable property right is established over the persons of the slaves.

Evidence is quoted from official sources to support this statement and regret is expressed that the League of Nations is not yet prepared to accept trustworthy evidence from comissionaries, travelers, and merchants. The three principle areas to which attention is drawn are Abyssinia and the mandated areas of Southwest Africa and Tanganyika.

The committee suggests that steps should be taken to secure the conditional entrance of Abyssinia into the League of Nations, and thereby "confer upon Africa the greatest blessing which has yet visited the Dark Continent—namely, entirely disinterested but effective assistance in evolving a self-governing African State, free from the institution of slavery."

The Point of Contact

THERE'S a simple catch in the familiar phrase that tells how the world beats a path to the door of the man who makes a better mouse-trap.

The maker of anything, if he is to win the plaudits of the world, must not only manufacture a superior product, but must also let folks know of his achievements. He must point out just why his mouse-trap, his automobile or his shaving cream is better than his neighbor's. He must advertise.

Advertising is the point of contact between the man who makes something and the man who wants something. Through an advertisement, a manufacturer can tell you in a few short minutes all you want to know about the article or the service he has to offer.

This newspaper is constantly full of ideas that other men and women have thought out for your personal benefit. Fail to read the advertisements and you remain in ignorance of countless products that would make life easier, happier and more interesting for you and your entire family.

Advertising gives you news of the latest and best things made—with word as to what they will do, what they cost and where to get them. Think of all you miss when you overlook the advertisements

PARTY FOR JAMES BAY SHELTERED FROM RAIN

Lieutenant-Governor and Premier Make Last Stage of Railway Journey in Ancient Coaches.

COCHRANE, Ont., September 15. —Island Portage, via Cochrane, September 15. — Lieut.-Governor Cockshutt, Premier Ferguson and party are weatherbound at mileage 43 on the James Bay extension of the Timiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway. They will remain here for the day at least.

The usual serenity of a construction camp has been disturbed by the enforced entertainment of a distinguished party. In addition to high officers of state, there are railway officials, engineers, rivermen and Indians to the number of twentyone. The entire party had shed habiliments of civilization and outfitted, if need be, to go as far as the North Pole. Here they are now "all dressed up and no place to go."

Raining Every Day.

Weather conditions are exceedingly disappointing for the trip to Moose Factory. A cold, penetrating rain fell nearly all day yesterday. In fact for over a month, it is said, there have been only two days at Cochrane when it has not rained.

During the trip from Cochrane to end of steel on Thursday afternoon there was a continual drizzle.

The partial left their palatial train at Cochrane and continued the journey to Mileage 43 on a train consisting of a baggage car of exceedingly doubtful age and stability and a coach which was proudly displayed as the first private car owned by the T. and N. O. Railway Commission. It must have been one of the cars which Commodore Vanderbilt sold when they were too old for use on the New York Central in its early days. This means that when these cars were sold to Jim Hill he was the only man who had the harihood to use them. As the coach in question is now owned by a contractor from Minneapolis, it might be possible to trace its ancestry. Even at that it had a certain charm for Col. Alex. Fraser, who is travelling in the dual capacity of official secretary and Provincial Archivist.

The End of Steel.

A locomotive off the track held the "James Bay Special" back for an hour and a half, and it was well after dark when the party reached the end of steel. This is at Island Portage, about 43 miles north of Cochrane, and near the location of the three million dollars power development of the Hollinger Mine on the the Abitibi River. From here to Abitibi Canyon (Oil Can Portgage), the end of the present contract, the distance is about 27 miles. From Mileage 43, where the party embark on the river to Moose Factory, the distance is approximately 140 miles.

There are 21 people all told in the party, which comprises: Lieutenant-Governor Cockshutt, Colonel Alex. Fraser, A. D. C., Premier Ferguson, George W. Lee, Chairman of the T. & N. O. Ry. Commission; Rev. H. J. Cody, E. J. Zavitz, Provincial Forester; L. E. Bliss, timber expert; Dr. Duncan Campbell, Chief Surgeon of the T. and N. O. Ry.; W. R. Maher, Chief locating engineer, Charles McLean, assistant locating engineer, two river men and nine Indians.

Carrying Heavy Packs.

In addition to a tremendous amount of dunnage, there is 2100 pounds of supplies. These are alloted on the basis of six pounds per day to each man. Thus with 2100 pounds of supplies and perhaps 500 pounds more of camping equiment, including a silk tent which the official secretary intends to use as an office at Moose Factory, and five 20 foot freight canoes, each capable of carrying a ton, the Indians will have no small task piloting the party over the 140 miles to Moose Factory.

There are six portages on the way down. The longest is at Abitibi Canyon where the rapids extend for eight miles. There are other smaller rapids which may not necessitate portages owing to the high water due to the rains of the last month.

It will be unfortunate if the state of the weather forces the abandonment of the trip. It is the first time that the titular representative of his Majesty has gone to the farthest point north of the province of Ontario. It will be a disappointment as well to the thousand or so Indians and other denizens of that district who are expected to gather at Moose Factory to meet the Lieut.-Governor and the Premier. I will be a further disappointment to those who love ceremonial for a brass cannon of great antiquity has been placed in front of the flag pole at Moose Factory, and in all probability some of the powder of the Hudson Bay Company would be used to give the customary salute of 15 guns to which the Lieutenant-Governor is entitled on all great occasions.

TASTEFUL HOME REMOVES GROUCH.

Happier, Better Husbands Will Result If Furniture and Walls Are Artistic.

(By MARIAN HALE

NEW YORK, Sept. 15 .—Have a care for the wall paper if you would hold your husband. The quarrel you had last night may have been due solely to the large yellow poppies on the dining-room wall.

For husbands just can't be discontented in tasteful homes, says Mrs. Penrhyn Stanlaws, the noted artist's wife. She's setting out to prove it. Having converted an old farm house into a lovely bit of colonial beauty for her own use, and having for years "made over" her friends' homes, she's embarking on an honest-to-goodness career as interior decorator.

"Nobody can tell," she says, "the suffering golden oak living-room 'sets' have caused.

"Men may not realize it, but they're the first victims of ugly furniture, garish wall paper and glaring lights.

"After a hard day's work, a man has a right to a restful home. His ash tray should be at his elbow, magazines and papers on the table, he should have an easy chair, a hassock, and a soft light to read by."

Any woman can have beauty in her home, thinks Mrs. Stanlaws.

"Why not eat in the kitchen?" she queries. "Any kitchen can be lovely if it is sweet and clean, with gingham window curtains and a flower pot on the sill. Kitchen chairs can be painted. I bought five once for $6.50 at a junk shop. Painted, they were lovely.

"It's just as easy to have beauty in the rest of the house. Clear out all furniture except what is absolutely needed. Forego the gold framed picture you were going to get. Spend the money on plain wall paper.

"Hunt up a bit of chintz, put it in a cheap wooden frame and paint the frame one of those funny Chinese reds. Buy a $1.89 vase—one with soft yellows, greens or browns—and put a single flower in it. Set a book and a shaded lamp near by. You'll have a corner as lovely as a chapel niche."

When you've done all this, she avers, you'll have a happier, better husband.

Change of Water Change of Diet Change of Climate Cause DIARRHOEA

Mr. Fred Falmer, 217 Dalhousie St., Brantford, Ont., writes:—"When I first went out to the North-West the water played havoc with my bowels, and being in a remote spot I could not get anything to give me relief for any length of time.

I wrote and told my wife about the time I was having and she sent me a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and I cannot speak too highly of it for what it did for me.

Whenever the children have any bowel trouble from eating fruit or drinking strange water, which they have done for the past five years, living in the country, the only remedy we use is 'Dr. Fowler's', and nobody should be without it as it cannot be beat for instant relief."

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has been on the market for the past 78 years, you don't experiment with now and untried remedies when you buy it, but be sure and get 'Dr. Fowler's' when you ask for it, as a substitute may be dangerous to your health.

NOW THEY KNOW WHY

TOKIO, Sept. 15. — (Associated Press).—The members of the Azuba Middle School baseball team believe they have discovered why they have been losing their games lately.

They decided they wanted baseball uniforms such as are worn by American teams. They saw a photograph of the Cleveland American team in a magazine and took it to a tailor and told him to make uniforms for them just like those of the "Indians."

The uniforms were made. Then the Azubas began to lose. A fan from American saw the Japaese playing and asked them why each of them wore a band of crepe around his left arm. The Japanese denied they were in mourning and said they assumed the black band was part of the uniform.

It was learned the photograph of the Cleveland team was taken while its members were in mourning for batter Chapman who died after being hit on the head by a ball.

RELIEVE INDIA'S HUNGER

LUCKNOW, India, Sept. 15.—(Associated Press).—The work of building the Sarda canal is now in full swing. This canal is part of a huge irrigation scheme in the central provinces which ultimately will bring 1,750,000 acres of land under cultivation at an estimated cost of $29,000,000.

More than 27,000 men are now at work on the project, and completion is expected in four years. With it will come relief, it is hoped, from the grain famines in central India.

TAXES LOW HERE

LONDON, Sept. 15. — (Associated Press).—The Channel Islands are getting better and better every day from the point of view of the earthly bachelor. Here there is no income tax, no corporation tax, only a nominal state tax, no early closing laws, no prohibition, and now the legislature has refused to pass a bill which would allow women over the age of 30 to sit as members of the House of Deputies.

SYMPTOMS OF DEBILITY

How to Tell Whether Your Blood Needs Revitalizing.

The symptoms of general debility vary according to the cause, but weakness is always present, a tendency to perspire and fatigue easily, ringing in the ears, sometimes black spots passing before the eyes, weak back, vertigo, wakefulness caused by inability to stop thinking and unrefreshing sleep. The cause of the trouble may be some drain on the system, or it may be mental or physical overwork, sometimes insufficient nutrition due to digestive disturbance.

If you have any or all of these symptoms try building up the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and as the new blood courses through your veins there should be an increase in your appetite, a better digestion and soon a renewal of strength and vigor.

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail, postpaid, at 50c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

APPLYING SCIENCE TO EVERYDAY LIFE

Chemists Unpacking Test Tubes in Preparation For National Meeting.

MILWAUKEE Sept. 15 (United Press) —Several hundred chemists from all parts of the United States and foreign countries are unpacking their test tubes and torts today in preparation for the national meeting of the American Chemical Society which will open here September 10.

Revolutionary processes in the scientific baking of bread reforms in the teaching of chemistry in high schools and the elimination of waste in the manufacture of paper are the chief subjects to be discussed.

Officials of the society said that the sessions would result in disclosing amazing post-war advances in chemical science.

A variety of problems are scheduled to be solved by the several divisions. The chemists are going to devote themselves to investigating agriculture and industries such as leather and rubber to determine what assistance they can render.

Agriculture and Bread

Two joint forums by the agricultural and food divisions will be features. The industrial forum will be devoted to bread. Dr. E. H. Barnard of Minneapolis will preside.

The fertilizer division will discuss fertilizers and crops with N. A. Noyes of Westfield N. Y. leading the discussions.

Chemistry's influence on the paper industry will be shown at a meeting of the cellulose division. Sewage and sanitation employment and community service will come up before the teachers and professors at their meetings.

Representatives from Harvard the University of Virginia Columbia University New York University and Mellon institute will confer on new method of teaching chemistry.

Dr. R. A. Gortner of the University of Minnesota and Dr. W. T. Bovie of Harvard have prepared a symposium of bio-physical chemistry.

Recent developments involving animal experimentation and making what is described as a great advance in the science of bread making will be announced at the bread symposium. The developments it is said are of vital economic interest because 60 000 000 barrels of flour will be turned into bread this year.

MAYOR FOR ONE DAY, BOY'S REFORMS FAIL

KINSTON N. C. Sept. 15 (United Press).—"They wouldn't give me time enough to inaugurate all of the reforms I would like to introduce to this jazzy town" was the only complaint of Person Nicholson 17 years old who acted as mayor for a day of this town of 14,000 population.

"They didn't give me time to do anything for the town" Nicholson protested. "I'd like to see hooch and petting parties and some other things eliminated. I would like to see the police force dressed like Nicaraguan generals."

Nicholson's only act as mayor was to increase the speed limit to 25 miles an hour after he had been elected by other high school students to run the city for a day. Roland L. Blow was chosen to be police chief and juvenile alderman held council sessions.

"There was only one drawback to a happy occasion" said Blow. "When Nicholson and I walked up to be inaugurated the band played that thing about Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean. I believe that was malicious."

RELISHES AND SAUCES

COOKED FRESH SWEET CORN.

Of course, corn is delicious "au naturel," right on the cob, but there are innumerable other ways to serve fresh sweet corn that are quite as delicious.

Corn puddings or souffles, creamed corn and stewed corn, fried corn and baked corn combined with other vegetables, all these ways aid in providing variety to late summer menus. The woman in the country will welcome any suggestion that may be different in the way of serving vegetables.

Country Creamed Corn.

Cut the tops of the kernels and scrape out the hearts. Put in a saucepan with 1 tablespoon butter for each cup of corn, ¼ teaspoon salt and ⅛ teaspoon pepper. Add just enough milk to make moist and cook over a slow fire, stirring constantly until very hot. Add cream to barely cover and continue cooking for eight minutes, stirring constantly. Serve at once. This is a dish "fit for a king" and to my mind much nicer to serve to guests than corn on the cob.

If corn is not fresh from the garden a little sugar should be added to replace the natural sweetness. Corn very quickly loses its sweetness after picking.

Fried Corn With Peppers.

Six ears corn, 2 green peppers, 2 tablespoons butter, ½ teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 cup milk.

Cut corn from cob. Scald peppers and rub off thin outer skin. Remove seeds and white ribs. Cut in shreds. Melt butter, add corn and peppers, season with salt and pepper and cover with milk. Cook slowly until milk is absorbed. Brown slightly and serve very hot.

Corn Souffle.

Six ears corn, ½ cup soft bread crumbs, 4 tablespoons butter, ½ cup milk, 1 teaspoon salt, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 2 yolks of eggs, 3 whites of eggs.

Melt butter, stir in bread crumbs and milk and cook, stirring constantly until smooth. Add corn and cook three miuutes longer. Season with salt and pepper. Beat yolks of eggs till thick and lemon colored. Add to corn mixture. Beat whites of eggs with a wire whisk until stiff and dry. Fold into first mixture. Turn into a well-buttered baking dish. Bake 25 minutes in a moderate oven. Serve immediately.

Fresh Corn Chowder.

Six ears corn, 2 tablespoons diced salt pork, 1 small onion, 2 cups diced potatoes, 1 cup peeled and chopped tomatoes, 2 green peppers, 2 cups milk, 1 teaspoon salt, 6 large crackers.

Try out pork and add onion cut in thin slices. Cook five minutes without letting the fat brown. Strain into kettle, discarding the onion and bits of crisp fat. Add potatoes and corn cut from cob. Scall peppers and rub off outer skin. Remove seeds and white ribs and cut in tiny dice. Add to first mixture with tomatoes. Bring slowly to the boiling point adding boiling water to barely cover vegetables. Cook 25 minutes. Season with salt and add milk. Do not let boil after adding milk. Soak crackers in cold milk for five minutes. Put in soup tureen, pour chowder over and serve at once.

TRY FLASHES OF LIGHT TO COMMUNICATE WITH MARS

Next Summer Will Be Best Time, Says Astronomer, As Planet Will Be Only 36,000,000 Miles Away.

By LYLE WILSON

LONDON Sept. 15 (United Press).—If Mars is to be signaled from the earth the attempt will have greater chances for success in the Summer of 1924 than usual according to P. M. Ryves English astronomer.

Next Summer Mars and the earth will approach each other comparatively closely.

The intervening distance will be a mere 36,000,000 miles.

The most powerful earth telescopes can pick up a dot of thirty miles diameter on Mars. To discern shape the dot must be at least 100 miles across. A line a mile wide and several miles long is also visible from the earth.

If Mars is peopled with intelligent beings possessed of instruments as powerful as those on the earth the figures given also apply to visibility from that planet to this one.

It is scientifically possible to produce flashes of light which would be visible from Mars to the earth and conversely from the earth to Mars if there were anyone on Mars to see them.

The wireless bubble is pricked according to Ryves.

Although the most powerful sending apparatus on earth will just reach the moon the distance to Mars is too great by 150 times.

A large squadron of airplanes trailing smoke might produce a line visible as far away as Mars.

If Ryves makes the attempt he will use flashes of light. Intelligent beings on Mars would answer his flashes he thinks.

Also Mars is "waking up."

A "new sea" here a "new canal" there are the evidences upon which Ryves bases his belief that the great planet is far from a dead world.

Ryves has devoted the last twelve months to a searching examination of Mars. His telescope is mounted on an 8 000-foot hill. From this vantage point he is nightly straining his eyes for some confirmation of the much-argued assertion that there are living beings on the far off body.

Since Mr. Darwin evolved his famous theory relative to the descent of man the possibilities of life on Mars have taken on new and interesting aspects.

If it is really true that W. J. Bryan is descended from the same stock as the giant apes then the life of Mars must be equally the result of natural selection. The possibilities are endless.

Obviously then the surviving creatures on the planet must be equipped with a filtering apparatus to permit life to exist. If the surrounding gas is of similar composition to the air of the earth the filtering apparatus would probably resemble the nasal equipment of earth animals with only fine hair within the nostrils to catch and detain physical matter such as dust.

If, however the atmosphere of Mars is composed of poisonous vapors the Marsian's nose would necessarily resemble a war-time gas mask in operation if not in appearance.

According to Darwin every portion of the body is formed to cope with existing conditions. Therefore entirely different conditions must result in equally different bodies.

Living Beings on Mars

This fact whets the scientists' imagination. The discovery of white eskimoes in the North or a new race in the South would pale into nothing compared to the proof of the existence of living beings on Mars.

During his study of the planet Ryves has noted comparatively sudden changes in the face of the body.

Syrtis Major a dark hour-glass-shaped body easily distinguished on Mars altered in shape. A growth on one side has altered the outline in the direction of a square.

Syrtis Major is believed to be a gigantic sea and the new portion covers an area of 100 000 square miles. This change required fourteen years.

Canals have appeared within one month. Existing canals have altered their shape and size. Formerly "desert" areas have apparently become overgrown with vegetation.

All over the world patient men are scanning Mars in the hope that they may determine its real nature.

"Wild Bull of the Pampas" Pole-Axed in Second Round

DEMPSEY FINISHED OFF FIRPO IN FOUR MINUTES OF FURIOUS FIGHTING

Floored the Argentine Challenger Four Times in First—Firpo's Right Drove Dempsey Through the Ropes.

NEARLY 100,000 CROWD

POLO GROUNDS — Jack Dempsey, world's heavyweight champion, knocked out Luis Angel Firpo, Argentine challenger, in the second round of the scheduled 15 round contest tonight. The bout ended 57 second after the start of the furious second round, when Dempsey floored the challenger with punches to body and when he struggled to his feet, knocked him out with left hook and right to chin.

The battle, witnessed by 90,000 persons, was one of the fiercest heavyweight contests fought in years. The Argentine giant, after being floored five times in the first round, knocked Demsey completely through the ropes. When the champion crawled back in, he was groggy and bleeding, and probably only nanaged to last through the round because of his greater experience.

Firpo's famous pile-driving right was his most effective weapon. He sank this blow into Dempsey's body and smashed him on the chin at every opportunity. Dempsey tore right into Firpo from the start, hooking over lefts and rights while the bewildered, slow-moving Argentine retreated.

Firpo Lead the Way.

Firpo was the first to enter the ring. He was followed a moment later by Dempsey. Firpo wore his bathrobe of purple and yellow and trunks of plain purple while Dempsey wore a write sweater.

Dempsey weighed 192½ pounds; Firpo 216½ pounds.

Manager Kearns was in charge of Dempsey's corner assisted by Joe Benjamin, Pacific Coast lightweight, and Jerry Luvadis, his trainer.

Hughie Gartland, one of Firpo's business representatives; Horatio Lavalle and Widmer, were in charge of the challenger's corner.

The Introductions.

Dempsey received a deafening ovation when he was announced as "our own Jack Dempsey, champion of the world."

Firpo also got a tremendous reception when he bowed to the crowd after his introduction.

Johnny Gallagher of New York, was named referee. He brought them to the center of the ring for instructions at 10.04 o'clock; previously to this Dempsey nervously jumped up and down in his corner to get warmed up.

Round One.

Dempsey missed a left and Firpo dug a right into his body sending him to his knees. Dempsey floored Firpo with a left hook to chin but he was up after taking count of one. When he got up, Dempsey sent him to floor for the second time with a hard right but he did not take a count.

Dempsey knocked him over for third time. When he got up Jack chased him to his corner, knocking him down again.

After being floored for the fourth time, Firpo knocked Dempsey through the ropes and Dempsey came back groggy.

Firpo pounded Dempsey on the jaw with sledge hammer rights, bringing blood from his mouth. Firpo also was bleeding when he went to his corner.

Second and Last.

Firpo swung a right to Dempsey's back. Dempsey hooked a left to the chin. Jack drove both fists to the body and Firpo fell to the floor. Firpo, bleeding and groggy, staggered into the centre of the ring. Dempsey hit him with a left hook to the chin and a right to the same spot, knocking him flat. He rolled over on his back with blood trickling from his mouth, remaining in this position while the referee swung the count over him.

Dempsey, nervous, rushed over and helped pick up his fallen foe and then trotted to his corner.

First Taste Of Gore.

The crowd became a community chorus when the first preliminary ended with a dull thud in the first round. Having tasted their first blood the fans yelled for more.

The preliminaries acted on the crowd like cocktails. As knockdowns came in the second fight, hilarious cries came billowing down on the ring from out of the darkness.

Something new in sky advertising was introduced during the evening when an airplane flew over the grounds with electric lights on the bottom of its wings spelling the name of a taxi company.

Ovation To Lipton.

Sir Thomas Lipton came in during the third preliminary and took a seat in the sixth row. He got a roar of applause from fans.

The Fraternity of Sport.

It was no ordinary crowd that turned out to witness the battle of the Continents. Present were representatives of the commercial, military and diplomatic life of the new world. Women, as well as men, were grouped on the diamond from which pugilists tonight had elbowed the ball players.

It was a chill twilight and many of the crowd had dragged their winter overcoats from moth bags.

Over the edges of the ramparts encircling the diamond could be seen a mass of non-paying spectators atop a skyscraping apartment house.

The first preliminary was over before either fighter had had a chance to warm up, Dan Bright, English heavyweight, knocking out Leo Brown, of Australia, in fifty eight seconds of the first round. A right swing to the jaw sent Brown sprawling for the count. Brown weighed 207 and Bright 208.

Charley Nashert, Jersey City lightweight, received the judges' decision over Frank Koebele, of Brooklyn, one of Firpo's sparring mates, in the second preliminary, a four-round added attraction. Koebele, battered badly about the head and body, was dropped for counts in the first and third rounds and was barely hanging on at the final bell. Both weighed 172.

Mike Burke, of Greenwich Village, battered Al. Roberts, of Staten Island into defeat in the third preliminary of six rounds. Roberts absorbed terrific punishment about the head and was barely able to keep his feet in the last round as bloody and groggy, he reeled about the ring under a fusilade of blows.

CLAMORING MOB IN REAL FIGHT

Battled With Police in Rush For Tickets—Many Battered and Bruised.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—Mounted police were called on to quell a small riot that broke out on the viaduct approaching the Polo Grounds, scene of the Dempsey-Firpo fight. Several hundred fans attempted to charge the police lines, but were dispersed after a lively encounter in which clubs were used freely.

From mid-afternoon it was bedlam outside the park.

The trouble started on Eighth Avenue, two blocks from the entrance to the grounds, where the main line began to form at dawn. At 4.15 p.m. a rumor spread that the tickets had arrived and the restless standees began rioting. The line was shattered in the twinkling of an eye and soon as solid block of people were massed around the wagon supposed to be bearing the tickets.

Clubs Were Wielded.

Mounted police charged, driving their horses into the crowd and bluecoats wielded their clubs in a frantic atempt to form a line. When some semblance of order had been restored, those who had stood at the head of the line were at the foot.

When pasteboards finally arrived, the crowd again broke and the police were powerless to withstand it. The pressude around the wagon was so great that it began to totter and it was moved another block with the thousands running after it.

Where Brown Won.

The ticket vendors grabbed a handful of bills here and passed back a ticket there and the payee was luckly if his hand was found in the melee. Several "strong men" made a financial killing, weaving back through the crowd getting a ticket and taking it to the outer edge, where they disposed of it at big profits.

Hundreds of men lost hats, had their clothing torn to shreds, lost their jewerly and money and were battered and briused before they gave up the struggle and left for home. Others fought on, moving with the wagon each time it moved.

Stormed Second Waggon.

Then a second waggon was rigged up on top of Coogan's Bluff, but before a taxicab escorted by mounted policeman could arrive, its sides were battered down. When the ticket seller came his taxi was stormed and the mounted police were forced to charge and re-charge.

The ticket man, fearing for his bag of "ducats,' ran into a neighboring restaurant. Behind him came the stream of pursuers, smashing the doors and upsetting tables. For five minutes they battled the police and those inside formed a line and began to emerge with tickets dispensed from the restaurant cashier's stand.

ROYAL MONTREAL GOLF CLUB, Dixie Sept. 15.—(By Canadian Press).—With one of the most brilliant performances seen in ladies tournament golf in Montreal, Miss Sydney Pepler of the Toronto Golf Club captured the crown in the final of the Canadian ladies close golf championship over the Royal Montreal Golf Club course this afternoon defeating Miss Ada Mackenzie of the Mississauga Golf Club, Toronto 3 and 1.

TILDEN-JOHNSTON FINALISTS AGAIN

Both Won Their Semi-Final Games in Straight Sets.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press)—For the second successive year William T. Tilden, II., of Philadelphia, champion of the United States and William M. Johnston, the little San Francisco star, are finalists for the lawn tennis singles to be decided tomorrow.

Tilden reached the final round this afternoon by virtue of his easy victory over B. I. C. Norton, the South African champion, last survivor of a big field of foreign players who began the forty second annual championships last Monday. The score were 6-3, 7-5, 6-2.

Johnston came through in the lower bracket by decisively defeating Francis T. Hunter, of New Rochelle, N.Y., the player who was been cutting a sensation swath by his victories over Lacoste, French star, and Vincent Richards, Davis Cup player. Johnston's triumph also came in straight sets by scores of 6-4, 6-2, 7-5.

The finals assume the aspect of a world's championship match, for Johnston holds that title through his sweeping victory in the tournament at Wimbledon, England, early in the summer.

UNASSISTED IN TRIPLE PUT-OUT

George Burns of Boston American Made Fourth Triple in Majors.

BOSTON, September 14. — A triple play, unassisted, by George Burns, Boston American first baseman, occurred in the second inning of the Boston-Cleveland game here to-day, which the home club won 4 to 3 in 12 innings. Stephenson opened the second with a single to centre, Lutszke walked. Brower's liner was caught by Burns, who reached out and tagged Lutszke on the base line. Stephenson was well on his way to third, and Burns dashed to second and slid into it a few feet ahead of Stephenson, thereby completing the triple play, the fourth in big league history. The winning run in the 12th resulted from Pinch Hitter Devomer's double, an intentional pass to Harris, Shank's sacrifice hit, on which Lutszke made a bad throw, filling the bases, and Flagstead's single to left on the first ball pitched by relief pitcher Morton which scored two runs. The score:

CURLERS ELIMINATE LINDSAY FROM RACE WIN PLAY-OFF GAME

Local Midgets Clean Up Eastern Honors and Are Now Ready for Ontario Finals.

SCORE WAS 10 TO 7.

Alex Kay's Curlers cleaned up the Eastern section of the O.B.A.A. Midget race yesterday afternoon when they trimmed the Lindsay Classics 10 to 7 in the play off game. Eact team had won a game away from home and yesterday's fixture settled the argument.

For the third time in the series Woods and Morin faced each other on the rubber and the Peterboro right hander had much the better of the tussle yesterday fanning twelve of the enemy and holding them to five scatterd hits until the ninth when with the score 10 to 1 against them the Lindsay crew staged a rally that assisted by a bunch of errors of commission and omission gave them six runs and made a comparatively close score out of what had been up to that stage a runaway. Morin was not the same mystery as he was in Tuesday's fixture, the Peterboro youngsters bunching their hits effort wavered when it hurt the most. The Petes four runs in the second inning gave them an early start that took a lot of pep out of Lindsay, although the visitors showed their gameness by coming through with a big rally when they were helplessly out of the running.

Young Forbert, a younger brother of the Lindsay third baseman, played centre field for part of the game and finished out at short, having a neat play in each position to his credit.

Both second basemen fielded smartly and a double play engineered by Fox was a feature.

The Peterboro youngsters will play the winners of the Hamilton-Thorold series for the Ontario championship.

Yesterday's victory gives Peterboro the Eastern Ontario honors in the Midget, Juvenile and Junior series so that this city will be represented in at least three Ontario finals.

NEW $25,000 GRAND STAND.

Unable to Accomodate Crowds This Week—Vote on Sept. 29.

OSHAWA, Sept. 15.—As a result of the large crowds which attended the annual Exhibition here this week showing the directors the inadequateness of the present stand, which was crowded at each performance, many being unable to gain admittance, it has been decided to erect a new grand stand before next year at an estimated cost of $25,000. A by-law will be prepared and a vote of the ratepayers will be taken September 29.

The ratepayers will be called upon to pay a portion, but it will be almost self-sustaining, with athletic, agricultural and other societies using the stand during the year.

RESORT AT CROWE LAKE EXPANDING

A Building Boom This Summer and Many New Summer Visitors.

MARMORA Sept. 15.— During the past few years, and in fact during the last few months, Crowe Lake summer resort has grown to considerable proportions. About ten years ago the camp ground stretched roughly from "Maple Cliff" beach to Parker's Cove. Now it extends from "Marble Cliff" Beach to Bonter's road or almost twice as far along the lake shore.

This year a considerable "boom" in building operations at this popular resort was recorded. The 'Marble Cliff" pavilion was the largest addition. Besides the pavilion Mr. A. T. Neal erected two small bungalow camps or sleeping camps. Mr. Cash Boyd put up a beautiful log cottage of latest design. The finest summer home erected this summer however was that of Mr. F. S. Pearce.

Among other cottages erected are those of Mr. Collins and Mr. Jos. O'Niel. Besides this other cottages were repaired or enlarged. Mr. McGrath built a fine new residence. All this provided work for many carpenters who would otherwise have to seek work elsewhere. So besides being a convenient place of amusement Crowe Lake resort is an asset to Marmora in other ways.

Village Progressing

The village itself is not standing still in this regard either, several new residences are being put up. Among these are Mr. Philip Sopha's, on Forsythe street Mr. George Wellman's east of the village, and Mr. Mat McGarvey's on McGill street. A new residence for the Anglican minister is to be commenced in the near future. It will be erected on the vacant lot beside the church on Burstal street.

Corn Roast at Beach

The young people of Marmora and Delora held a corn roast at Marble Cliff beach Tuesday evening. The young ladies of the village gave this treat to the young men. About ten o'clock the young people went to the pavilion where they danced the remainder of the evening. The generosity of Mr. A. T. Neal in giving his grounds and conveniences for this little entertainment is very much appreciated.

Many from Marmora motored to Havelock to the memorial celebration on Wednesday.

Wednesday was the last of the half holidays for the merchants this year Other years they were done away with Sept. 1, but this year the time was extended until Sept. 13.

The Catholic Womens League met at the home of Mrs. Jas. Gehan on Wednesday evening.

Miss Madeline Bertrand entertained several girl friends Wednesday evening prior to her departure for Brockville on Friday where she will train for a nurse.

Mr. and Mrs. "Peg." Green of Belleville are holidaying at Crowe Lake this week.

SPORTS IN RUSSIA

By JOHN GRANDENZ.

MOSCOW (By Mail to the United Press).—"We certainly would be greatly pleased if a Canadian boxing team would come to Russia to demonstrate what real boxing is," said Konstantine Mechanoshin, in charge of military training of the youth of Russia, in an interview with the United Press.

"The sport of boxing is becoming more and more popular in Russia," continued Mechanoshin. "There are two opinions in Russia regarding boxing, or box fighting, as we call it here. One faction says it is not health-giving because it results in lost teeth, busted noses and swollen faces. The other, and stronger faction, is fully in favor of boxing because it means speedy physical and mental development. Unfortunately, we are lacking in instructors. The Russian workmen and peasants indulge in some sort of rough fist fighting, but there are no set rules. The people take readily to boxing under more refined methods, with set rules.

Football Most Popular

"Just now football is the most popular sport in Russia. However, the Board of Physical Culture is of the opinion that preliminary physical training should precede football play, and consequently rules that no boy under 17 should play football. There is also a growing tendency to replace football by handball, which is considered more healthful and not exposing players to so much danger of injury.

"Next to football, basketball is the most popular sport. Of course, Russia has well defined ice sports, and ice hockey is very popular. Russian teams have beaten the Finns and Swedes.

"We are busy studying the literature of baseball and i twon't be long before we introduce this American sport into Russia.

"While millions take part in the sports I have named, very few play lawn tennis or cricket.

Still in Infancy

"Of course, the Russian sports are still in their infancy. Before the revolution, only small groups of rich Russians or foreigners indulged in sports. The Government did not encourage the workmen to follow their example. Those of the former sportsmen who are still in Russia now serve as teachers.

"Before the revolution the Olympic committee was at the head of all sporting organizations in Russia. Today the Council of Physical Development has been formed by the All-Russian Executive Committee and is a part of the latter. In other States similar central organizations have been formed.

"These central organizations decide which sports are the most healthful and best fitted for the population. Formerly there were only a few hundred organizations; today there are several thousands spread all over Russia.

"Russia has four large central institutions: The Moscow Central Institution for Physical Culture, the Physical Institution in Petrograd, the institution at Tomsk and the physical school of the army, under the direction of Professor Valentine Corinevsky, at Moscow.

"The various sports are concentrated into leagues—football leagues, basketball leagues, etc.

"Besides the army, all the various clubs have their sporting sections, factory clubs, peasants' clubs, workmen's and youths' organizations.

"The Health Commissariate as well as the Commissariate of Education have their special sporting departments. There is a sporting sector attached to every school."

CHEKA TERROR

have been killed when arrested or not at all," as my informant repeated his words. But this I was unable to confirm.

No Attempt to Defend it

The Bolsheviks make little attempt to defend the "Cheka" on moral rounds. "It was a matter of practically necessity," they said. The safety of the revolution was at stake. Robespierre fell because he had no such organization to defend him." But, they add, "Remember the actual revolution did not cost many lives—a few score in Petrograd and not many hundreds in Moscow. This is apart of course from the murder of land owners by the peasantry or officers by the soldiers.

They further add that the "Red terror did not begin until the summer of 1918, when anti-Bolshevik agita? tion culminated in the attempte] assassination of Lenin on Aug 30 1918.'

That there is considerale truth in this statement has been admitted by foreign officials in Moscow and Petrograd up to that period. It was in 1919, 1920 and 1921 that the terror became most dreadful, for then the suppression of "speculation," which mean; any form of buying or selling and the concealment of money or valuables—both penal offences under the strict Communist regime —were added to the "Cheka's activities.

According to creditabl, evidence, life in the Russian cities must then have been a perfect hell of "smelling out witchcraft" with none knowing when the "witch doctors" might descend upon them.

Denunciation Added to Horror

A terrible factor aided the "Chekiste" and increased the horror of that time, namely denunciation. Thousands of letters often anonymous, or whispered informations poured in to the "Cheka's" offices, denouncing this man or that woman as a "speculator or a concealer of valuables. Hunger or overstrained nerves sent whole families to prison. Few if any such cases swelled the list of actual executions —the offense was venial and universal—but thousands died packed gails of disease and starvation.

Where the vengeance of the "Cheka" claimed hundreds of victims privat, spite took a toll of thousands and ten of thousands. Just imagine what it meant in practice. If a wife was tired of her husband, or a husband of his wife, if a servant had a grudge against a former master of an employe against a former boss it meant a few words to the "Cheka" and then—silence. Of course the "Cheka" bears the responsibility before history, but the blame rests not entirely on the "Cheka."

To-day things are quite different I venture to say that no one who behaves himself has any more to fear from the "Gay-Payoo" than the average American citizen from the Department of Justice. Much has been written about spies surrounding foreigners in Russia—foreign correspondents in particular. It is all rubbish. I lived in Moscow several months with an American capitalist and a former intellgence officer of the British Army. None of us was plotting a counter-revolution and none of us was bothered by the "Cheka" at any time or any pretext.

JACK DEMPSEY GOT TROUNCING

Won as He Thought He Would, But Admits Firpo Dangerous and Hard Puncher.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press).—Tex Rickard, who promoted the Dempsey-Firpo bout, has announced that he was ready to stage another bout between the champion and his Argentine challenger next summer, and a bout between Firpo and Harry Wills, American negro.

Of last night's contest, Rickard said, "It was one of the greatest fights in the history of the ring. It gave me the thrill of my life."

Jack Dempsey admitted last night after his victory with Luis Angel Firpo that he never had received such a soaking in his life. "I won as I thought I would," said Jack, "but Firpo is dangerous every second. I hit him with everything I had, and certainly was surprised when he continued to crawl off the floor. He is game and the hardest puncher I ever faced. It was the first time I was knocked down since I became champion, and I will never forget it. I saw eight million stars when I got that punch on the chin that nearly knocked me out of the ring."

Luis Angel Firpo was silent, and at first he refused to talk, but after a moment he mumbled: "I did the best I could. Dempsey was the better man. I never have felt such blows as he gave me. In a year I will be back again. To-night I feel I made a creditable showing. I did what no other man has done to Jack Dempsey, I knocked him outside the ropes. I came within an ace of winning the championship in the first round. I will make a motor trip to Canada. Then I will go to my home in Buenos Aires, and when I come back I will be better prepared to fight the champion."

A Close Call.

Jack Dempsey still holds undisputed sway as heavyweight champion of the world, but only after the crown he has worn for the past four years had come perilously close to being toppled from his scowling brow. The champion stands out as a mightier figure than ever, one of the greatest title-holders of all time as a result of his smashing, dramatic knockout of Luis Angel Firpo last night at the Polo Grounds in the second round of a match that for savage fury of attack had no parallel in pugilistic annals. But only a masterpiece of generalship, plus experience of the Argentine giant, saved the champion from tottering to defeat toward the close of that spectacular first round when Firpo, with the ferocity of a wild beast, rose from his fifth knockdown to drive Dempsey through the ropes with a terrific swing to the jaw.

But though Firpo's marvellous strength and tremendous right could not overcome the handicaps of his crude ringwork and experience, the challenger proved himself one of the most dangerous fighters in ring history—a "wild bull" with the heart of a lion.

In defeat Firpo gained glory and prestige that stamp him as still one of the most dangerous of all title-challengers. Rugged, young and dauntless, the Argentine's future has not been crushed by defeat.

Approximately 85 thousand fans paid more than $1,200,000 to see the brief fight, according to the estimates early to-day of Promoter Tex Rickard. Fully 25,000 more were massed around the Polo Grounds, unable to gain admittance.

THEATRES

AT THE CAPITOL.

"BLUEBEARD'S 8TH WIFE."

Gloria Swanson's latest Paramount picture at the Capitol next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday is a picturization of Charlton Andrews' adaptation of Alfred Savoir's celebrated French farce, "Bluebeard's 8th Wife." It is said to afford Miss Swanson one of the strongest roles of her screen career, and, what her women admirers will relish most, perhaps, provide her with ample opportunities for the display of amazing gowns.

The story is that of a beautiful daughter of French nobility whose father is impoverished and wishes to marry her off to a man of wealth. His wish becomes reality when a rich American meets and falls in love with her. She also loves him.

Then it is learned that the American is a "youthful Bluebeard" and has been married seven times. One wife, it is learned, died. The other six he divorced. Miss Swanson as the 8th wife is shocked by the cold-blooded business arrangement made of her marriage and determines she will not be like the other wives, divorced.

So she becomes his wife in name only and exasperates him to continual outbursts of temper. But she also awakens his love and the real manhod in him. As a final taunt, she causes herself to be found in a compromising position with another man. Her husband is jealous and both realize he really loves her. She agrees to give him a divorce but he, realizing what she means to him, does not want it. Instead, he goes to her humbly, her sweetheart.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday the Capitol will present the most remarkable piece of realism ever screened, "Down to the Sea in Ships," a thrilling story of the whaling industry. This great production was actually produced on board a whaler during a long cruise. One of the most exciting scenes in it shows a monster whale attacking the ship's boat.

Gloria Swanson in her latest and most gorgeous production, 'Bluebeard's Eighth Wife,' at the Capitol next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

AT THE GRAND.

THE MARKS COMPANY.

The Ernie Marks Stock Company gave another fine performance at the Grand last night, their vehicle for the evening being the favorite, "Rebecca of Sunnybrook Farm," which was very successfully presented to the enjoyment of a large audience. The present company is one of the strongest Mr. Marks has had under his management. To-night the attraction will be "Way Down East," and a very enjoyable presentation is expected. A capacity house will likely greet the company in their last offering of their present stay in Peterboro.

BEWITCHING "PONIES" COMING WITH "LISTEN TO ME"

At last the road attraction has come into its own, as far as the chorus is concerned; for the past several seasons vaudeville featured big girl acts—this naturally drew heavily upon the supply of really beautiful girls. Now it is the novelty that is the real thing in vaudeville and the girl acts are almost a thing of the past; therefore the producer again can boast of a beautiful chorus and all concerned have gained thereby.

"Listen To Me", Le Comte and Flesher's big musical extravaganza coming to the Grand Opera House Wednesday, September 19th, carries a bewitching chorus that has proven a great asset to this splendid performance. The girls are wonderfully clever dancers and trip gaily through the novel drills and dances fetchingly; while their voices are heard to advantage in the ensembles. "Listen To Me" is a hard working show, for the chorus, as in some numbers there are as many as three changes of costume and oftimes the girls' dressing rooms are two flights up from the stage. Yet, when the little artists step before the audience to do "their bit" and help "put over" the performance, it is always with a smile that cannot be claimed of a principal at all times—who have every comfort in dressing room accomodations. After all, it is these clever girls who are largely responsible for the success of the big musical show.

AT THE ROYAL.

"The Broken Wing," a Film Version of One of the Greatest Broadway Successes at Royal Monday.

"The forthcoming months will prove," says Al Lichtman, well-known film distributor who is president of Preferred Pictures, "that the motion picture public favor decidedly the literary property that has found favor in another medium before it reaches the screen.

"I have always been of the opinion that while the original screen story has its place, the one that has gained universal popularity in book or play is the one that the picture fan is the most interested in and usually feels the most repaid for seeing.

Cites Example.

"The trend of producers right now urged on by distibutors who are recognizing more clearly every day this tendency on the part of the public, is toward the choice of famous stories that have registered the approval of readers and play-goers. Preferred Pictures, consequently, will release in the near future fifteen of the best known stories and stage plays available. The first of these is 'The Broken Wing,' which combines all the necessary elements for a first-class picture — humor, pathos and thrills — in addition to being one of the most popular plays ever staged on Broadway."

"The Broken Wing" is the attraction at the Royal Monday. Screen favorites in the cast which will interest every fan include Kenneth Harlan, Miriam Cooper, Walter Long, Miss du Pont and Edwin J. Brady.

"ME AND MY GAL" BOOKED FOR ROYAL.

The biggest comedy hit since "Alf's Button" and "The Better Ole" is coming to the Royal at an early date. "Me and My Gal" broke all house records in attendance at Allens big Richmond Street house, and its coming will be eagerly looked forward to as comedies of this nature are few and far between.

No U.S. Expert Engaged On the H.C. of Living

VANCOUVER, B.C., Sept. 15.—A. R. Mosher, President of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway employees, in the course of an interview with the Canadian Press on Friday, stated emphatically that no United Sttaes experts had been employed in collecting data on the cost of living without the full knowledge and consent of the executive.

He stated he was at a loss to know how the report had been circulated and which he said, had led to some of the members feeling much aggrieved so much so, that they threatened to attempt to unseat him at the convention which opens here next Monday. There was absolutely no foundation for the story. Anything that had been done in the way of securing experts had been done with the sanction of the executive he reiterated.

Mr. Mosher stated that the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees, which included freight handlers, clerical forces and certain classes of roundhouse and shop employes, was a purely Canadian organization. At the convention it was expected there would be some discussion on proposals that had been made by other organizations in the Dominion for the amalgamation of all railway labor organizations in one centralized body, and which would include international organizations.

THE BABY SHOW TO BE RESUMED

The Second Instalment Will Be Held Next Week

Mothers of infants who have been included in the list for re-examination next week at the Well Babies' Clinic are once again reminded of the day and hour. Re-examination of those children who took high percentages in Thursday and Friday sections at the baby show and contest at the Exhibition, ranging in age from six months to three years of age, will take place at the Clinic rooms in the G. W. V. A. Hall on Murray Street on Tuesday afternoon, September 18, commencing at two o'clock, when a number of examining physicians and referee doctors will be present.

Children in the six to eighteen months class, appearing at the Fair on Thursday, who will come up for re-examination, are infants of Mrs. James Milne, of Campbellford; Mrs. Jos. Gentille, 471 Parnell Street; Mrs. Fred. Austin, care of Wm. Shields, R. R. No. 2, Peterboro; Mrs. Gordon Eason, 217 Prince Street; Mrs. Payton, 33 Benson Avenue; Mrs. H. McMann, 32 Lafayette; Mrs. Shewen, Burleigh Falls; Mrs. C. Barringer, 226 Murray Street; Mrs. A. Weatherhead, 9 Cricket Place.

In the eighteen months to three years section, who came on Friday, children to be re-examined are those of Mrs. Alex. Darling, Hall's Glen; Mrs. Mathias, 192 McDonnel Street; Mrs. Parkinson, 19 Braidwood Avenue; Mrs. Duffus, 431 George Street; Mrs. Kellar, 549 Patterson Street; Mrs. Pearson, 598 Chamberlain Street; Mrs. Hillman, 194 Auburn Street; Mrs. Sullivan, 55 Lansdowne Street; Mrs. Cunningham, 154 Lock Street; Mrs. Wellwood, 20 Benson Avenue; Mrs. Neary, 221 Perry Street; Mrs. T. Davis, 735 George Street; Mrs. Louden, 201 Brock Street; Mrs. Henderson, 364 Brock Street; Mrs. J. K. Sheehy, 366 Simcoe Street; Mrs. Torrance, 469 Murray Street; Mrs. Mackness, 239 Princess Street; Mrs. J. Condon, Charlbond Apts., Charlotte Street; Mrs. Bruce Clark, 662 Rogers Street; Mrs. Crerar, Bethany; Miss Jones, 281 Romaine Street; Mrs. Smith, Lakefield; Mrs. Akers, 195 Auburn Street; Mrs. Kellan, Young Street, Claraday P.O.

To the Clinic also on Tuesday will come the prize-winners to receive awards for the first day's classes of specially supervised children and those who were under six months of age. These do not need re-examination, and are as follows: Specially supervised—Elsie Everett, 571 Bethune Street; Marjorie Gordon, Park Street; Ruth McNeeley, 92 London Street; Ruth Combop, George Street North; Anderson Winn, Billy Loomis, 271 Sherbrooke Street, and Billy Lewis, Smith Street. Infants under six months of age who will receive awards — Edwin Henry, 14 Murray Street; Roger Barrie, Water Street; Herb. Henry, Monaghan Road; Aileen Mathers, R.R. No. 8, Peterboro; Ruth Gaskell, 81 Smith Street, and Dorothy Smith, Monaghan Road.

In the class of specially supervised infants, six awards were made, but the judges felt that the entire seven entries should receive prizes, considering the time and attention paid by the mothers in bringing the children to their present condition of normal development and blooming health.

Prizes will be presented to the winners in every class on Tuesday at the Clinic, after re-examination of infants from six months to three years of age is made. Directors of the Fair Board will be present, and prizes will be presented by Mrs. Jas. Kendry, president of the Well Babies' Clinic Board; Dr. J. Birnie, secretary of the Board; Mrs. R. Harstone, its vice-president, and Mrs. A. Mowat, president of the Local Council of Women.

HELPING THEM IN WORK OF MOTHER TO CONVICTS.

What the Confidence of a Woman Meant in the Pen.

SALEM, Ore., Sept. 14.—They call her Mother—because "Mother" means love and understanding and sympathy and HOPE.

And to the convicts in State's penitentiary here, Mrs. Johnson S. Smith, wife of the warden, means all of that, and much more.

When men are shunted by society into the Big House to meditate upon the folly of not doing toward others as they would have others do toward them, there wells into their hearts a violent hatred against the world.

They think they never will care for the society of others. They are content to be alone, off in a corner, by themselves. But that doesn't last long.

And so they will tell you that the dearest thing to them in life is a helping hand and a tender word.

And Mrs. Smith gives them that.

* * *

"I am not a sentimentalist," she says, "but I do think there is a great deal of salvage among the accidental criminals who make up the majority of the prison population here.

"I never discuss with prisoners their crime or the causes which led up to it, but I only undertake to do the little practical things that tend to arouse the better natures of those with whom I come into contact.

"I get real pleasure in doing something for the fellow who has no friends, life's greatest tragedy. It means happiness for me."

And so, every day, dressed in pure white with her grey hair capping a face lit by a happy smile, she walks among them down the otherwise gloomy corridors.

* * *

They like to tell the story of Leo. Leo, ill in the prison hospital, was condemned to die—of tuberculosis. Mother Smith did all she could for him on that last day, and when she finally left late at night, told attendants to phone her if Leo wanted anything.

He awoke with a raging fever, and a craving for—an orange. They phoned Mother Smith. She left her bed, dressed, and drove a long ways to get one for the dying boy.

And then, they like to tell of the time she crossed the prison courtyard with only a prisoner as an escort, in order to watch the men at work in the mill. Never before had a woman been in the courtyard or shops.

The prisoners will tell you that walk to the shops was dramatic. Men stopped to watch. Some wept unashamed. That's what her implied confidence in them meant.

MADGE KENNEDY MAKES BIG HIT ON THE STAGE

Is the Big League Hitter of the Stage This Season—Theatrical News

By JAMES W. DEAN.

NEW YORK, Sept. 15.—If a new flivver, or a gold-plated bobbin or something of the sort were to be awarded each season to the stage player of the greatest all-round ability, as is done in baseball leagues, the vote of your correspondent would go to Madge Kennedy.

Madge Kennedy is the Babe Ruth of the stage. After a manner of speaking, she can knock a ready and unadorned farce, such as "Twin Beds" or "Fair and Warmer," over the footlights for a home run. She is one of the leading players in scoring runs of shows. And she has achieved no uncertain success in another department of the game, screen acting.

Now she has taken to the gentle practices of musical comedy, appearing on Broadway in "Poppy." As a singer Miss Kennedy has been greeted on all sides and in all critical columns as a success.

The only field that remains for this young lady to explore is that of tragedy. Some day she may be as great a Juliet as Jane Cowl. She gave some evidence of her ability to handle tragic lines in "Spite Corner."

* * *

Another member of "Pop" who gains recognition in a new line of endeavor is W. C. Fields. He has long been recognized as one of the best jugglers of the stage, evolving an immense amount of fun from scraps of rope or anything that lends itself to the manipulation of hand and wrist.

In "Poppy," Fields shows that he can toss a line in the air and catch it between his teeth as readily as he can work his little tricks of sleight-of-hand. Indeed, he can take a line and speak it so that it seems entirely different than the one given to him by Dorothy Donnelly who wrote the book of the play.

This deftness of speech and hands makes Fields just about the funniest man on Broadway.

* * *

Insofar as the music is concerned "Poppy" is not unlike all other musical comedies. Most of its tunes are agreeable while one is listening and one of them keeps thrumming through the mind after the show is over. "Mary" is the hit of "Poppy." It is a rapturous, lilting thing. But wait until the phonographs can it! It will probably become as irksome as "Three O'clock in the Morning."

* * *

John Emerson and Anita Loos deserted the movies long enough to write out the plot of "The Whole Town's Talking," but they didn't get far from the movie focus of life.

The plot deals with a young man without a past. Thus he appears pretty drab to his fiancee, so the fiancee's father invents a past for him; he has been entangled with a famous Hollywood star. The whole town talks and the glamour of romance is about the bashful one. Then the Hollywood star and her fianced director come to town.

Until that situation is reached the audience has had rather a languid evening, but unlike most farces the third act of "The Whole Town's Talking" is by far its best. Grant Mitchell, who is starred, was not allotted his rightful share of comic lines and situations.

* * *

Walter Hampden has started a season as producer with "The Jolly Roger," a comedy by A. E. Thomas. It is a fanciful story of pirates, beautifully staged and with many happy moments, but it is obviously of, by and for the theatre. It is neither truth nor plausible fiction.

In Event of War Trades Congress Will Meet to Decide Labor's Action

TORONTO, Sept. 15.—(Canadian Press).—If war threatens to embroil Canada, the Executive of the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada will call a special session to decide what action the Organized Workers of Canada will take toward preventing the participation of the Dominion in the hostilities. This was the decision reached at the Congress meeting at Vancouver yesterday. The passing of the recommendation of the Resolutions Committee to this end was accomplished only after a strenuous debate that lasted for more than an hour.

Down Tools Police.

The "left wing" of the Congress were for the immediate determination on the part of the Congress to recommend a "down tools" police in the event of any war in which the Empire might become involved, and which might become involved in sending of Canadian forces to the battlefield. It was urged on behalf of an immediate determination of the policy that war was imminent, but Delegate A. Farmalo, of Edmonton, pointed out that Premier Mackenzie King declared, in the event of hostilities involving the Empire, Canada would participate only after the sanction of Parliament had been given. The calling of a special session of Congress could be coincident with the calling of Parliament, and the policy of organized labor could then be shaped in conformity to the conditions of time.

TOBACCO BOOTH WELL PATRONIZED

The Imperial Tobacco Company's booth at the Exhibition grounds attracted most of the men who filed past it during the last four days. It was the most attractive outside stall on the grounds, and added a distinctive and attractive touch at the head of the Midway. Mr. W. J. O'Brien, of Kingston, formerly of Peterboro, was in charge assisted by Mr. W. H. Jeffrey, also of Kingston, and Mr. Donald Hamilton, the company's local representative.

The "Players" sign was one of the brightest and most arresting signs at the Exhibition.

VOL. LIII., No. 64 — PETERBOROUGH, MONDAY, SEPTEMBER 17, 1923 — PRICE THREE CENTS

CAPITAL PUNISHMENT IS NOT DETERRENT FACTOR ADVOCATES HOPED FOR

There Were 9,500 Homicides in the United States and Sixty-Three Murders in British Isles Last Year.

ELECTROCUTION SURE

BOSTON, September 17 (Canadian Press). — Dr. Amos O. Squire, physician at Sing-Sing Prison, told the delegates to the American Association Convention here to-day that it was impossible to revive life by the injection of a solution of adrenalin chlorate in to the heart wall after electrocution.

Dr. Squire said that he had experimented with twenty men, and that it was found to be impossible to bring them back to life. He has officiated at the executions of 114 persons at Sing-Sing.

"At most of our autopsies, we are able to produce fibrillar contraction of the heart by touching the wall with an instrument," Dr. Squire said, "and sometimes we can produce this for over an hour after death. Injection of a solution of adrenalin chlorate into the heart wall does not produce any contraction of the heart muscle, so it can be seen that it is impossible to revive life by this means after electrocution."

Humane Killing.

Dr. Squire said he believed electrocution to be more humane and certain than hanging, and less painful, and certainly less horrifying to witnesses and those engaged in the execution.

"When one realises," he added, "that in the United States in 1922, with a population of about 110,000,000 people there were approximately 9,500 homicides and but 114 executions, whereas in Great Britain and Wales, with approximately 40,000,000 people, there were but 63 murders, we cannot help but feel that capital punishment has not been the deterrent factor that its advocates hoped it would be."

BULGARIA BESET BY EXTERNAL FOES

Received Two Ultimatums Last Week-End Which Are Disquieting.

SOFIA, Sept. 17. — (Canadian Press).—The Bulgarian Government of Professor Zankoff, recently established by a revolution, received two virtual ultimatums this week-end—one from Russia and another from Serbia.

A note from Soviet Foreign Minister Tchitcherin demands the payment of 20,000 gold roubles for the recent murder of a Russian Red Cross representative. Russia also demanded the suspension of the Bulgarian Prefect at Varna, and the expulsion of all "white organizations hostile to the Soviet Government."

The Serbian Minister delivered a note declaring that any invasion of Jugo-Slav territory by Bulgarian comitadjos would be considered a casus belli, and would be followed immediately by the Serbian occupation of strategic Bulgarian points.

The Government here is aghast at the suddenness of the latter ultimatum, and is planning an appeal to the Allies.

Winnipeg Restaurant Man Minus $4,000.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 17.—That the hand is sometimes quicker than the eye and well demonstrated to Joseph Derenfeld, owner of a local restaurant, who Saturday reported the loss of $4,000 to the police. He entered into an investment deal with two of his patrons who along with Mr. Denenfeld, placed $4,000 in a tin box. After several hours of watching the box, which he thought contained $8,000, the restaurant man grew suspicious, opened it and found it empty except for one small piece of daily newspaper. The police are looking for his "friends."

Criminals Learning the Use of Tear Gas.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 17 (Canadian Press).—Use of tear gas by lawbreakers especially bootleggers and rum-runners, is becoming so widespread that the war department officials are convinced that action is needed to prevent the product from falling into their hands.

Congress will be asked to enact restrictive action. Statement is made that with growing use of tear gas as a weapon by police and prison and asylum officials in the capture and control of criminals and maniacs, criminals themselves are learning to employ it.

Down Comes Price of Gasoline To-Day In Eastern States

.....NEW YORK, September 17 (Canadian Press). — The tank waggon price of gasoline to-day was reduced 1 cent a gallon in New England and in eight Atlantic seaboard States by the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey and the Gulf Refining Company.

The new price ranges from 18 cents in Washington, D.C., to 21 cents in Virginia, where there is a State ta xof 3 cents a gallon.

LORD RENFREW NOW ON RANCH

Special Train Reached High River Last Evening —A Royal Welcome.

HIGH RIVER Alta., September 17. Canadian Press. — The special train bearing Lord Renfrew and his party arrived here at six o'clock last evening.

Mounting the cabin of the engine of his special train at Ingolf, Ont., about 130 miles east of Winnipeg on Saturday, Lord Renfrew temporarily relieved the fireman of his seat and rode in the locomotive for about 25 miles before rejoining his party in the coaches.

Cow boys ranchers and townspeople of the High River district accorded Lord Renfrew a royal welcome when the special train pulled into the depot.

The Baron walked from the depot platform to the main street of the town unaccompanied by either secret service men or policemen.

"They are my neighbors — why should they not greet me?" said the royal rancher to his secretary as Lord Renfrew reached the street.

David Bearpaw and Red Cloud (minor chiefs of the Stoney Indians from the Morley reservation) were waiting to greet him when he drew abreast of them.

Bearpaw stood erect and in perfect English said, "Greetings, Chief Morning Star—your brothers of the Stonies, salute you."

Lord Renfrew, apparently nonplussed for the moment for the correct way to return the greetings, hesitated then gravely proferred his hand and said "Morning Star is proud to greet his brothers."

Those who heard the conversation applauded heartily and on one was more pleased than the Indians themselves. Lord Renfrew later proceeded to his ranch by motor car.

NARROW ESCAPE IN A CAR ACCIDENT

LINDSAY, Sept. 17.—(Special).—A serious auto accident occurred at the C.N.R. crossing a mile west of Manilla this morning, when a car driven by W. Jenkins, of Lindsay, crashed into the engine of train No. 92, due here at 10.40 o'clock. The car was completely wrecked, and of the five occupants all but Mrs. L. C. Telford, of Lindsay, and daughter Annie, aged about four years, escaped serious injuries. The mother and child are at present in Ross Hospital. Mrs. Telford is badly cut about the head and face, one arm is broken, and other fractures are feared. The little girl is also badly cut and bruised about the head. An X-ray examination will be made this afternoon in order to ascertain the exact nature of the injuries.

DISMEMBERED BODY IN TWO SUIT CASES.

And Doctor Under Suspicion Slashes Throat With a Razor.

BROCKTON, Mass., Sept. 17 (Canadian Press).—William F. Bowen, of East Bridgewater, one of the persons questioned in connection with the death of Mrs. Alice M. Wolschendorf, of that place, parts of whose body were floating in the Merrimac River at Tyngsboro, in two suit cases two weeks ago, swallowed poison and slashed his throat with a razor yesterday. He is in a hospital here, believed to be dying.

Dr. William M. Robb, of Boston, was arrested, charged with performing an illegal operation on the woman, causing her death, and Dr. Dalva Swops, of this city, was charged with being an accessory.

Members of Bowen's family told the authorities that the man had been despondent since he was questioned by state police.

The last seen of Mrs. Wolschendorf was when her son, Harold, and Bowen drove her to the Back Bay district of Boston in the vicinity of Dr. Robb's office on August 27.

Charles E. Jackson, a neighbor, found Bowen moaning in pain behind a clump of bushes, in the back yard of his home. He had swallowed the contents of a two-ounce phial of poison and afterwards cut his throat with his razor. When Chief of Police Russell, of East Bridgewater, arrived at Jackson's summons, Bowen said:

"Chief, they lied about me. Let me die."

JAPANESE ARE CALM IN THE HOUR OF GREAT AFFLICATION

Every Outward Sign of Sorrow is Repelled and All Avenues of Aid Are Being Utilized to the Fullest Extent

KOBE, Japan, September 17. Canadian Press. — From coolie workers to the highest officials here, the most profound impression is created by a world-wide outpouring of sympathy and material aid for the stricken districts of Japan.

The vernacular press is filled with reports of the manner in which the nations of the world are moving to supply relief, and it is the common experience to hear Japanese residents express their gratitude to foreigners in the shops and restaurants.

Manifesting calmness and even cheerfulness, the general public is repelling any outward sign of sorrow. At the same time every avenue of aid is being utilized to the fullest extent.

The ceaseless hunt for missing relatives and friends which has been continuing since the disaster is indicated in big placards in the hotel rotundas.

STATE OF WAR IS CONFIRMED

Politicians in Spain on the Run for the Tall Timbers.

MADRID, September 17. Canadian Press. — King Alfonso to-day signed a decree dissolving Parliament, confirming a state of war throughout Spain and suspending constitutional guarantees.

The military directorate formed as a result of last week's revolution has decided to expel thirty of Spain's leading politicians including former Premier Sanchez Guerra and several prominent Catalianist syndicalists it is learned from advices coming over the border. The expulsions will occur this week.

The military regime is refusing to have anything to do with politicians or parties.

Senor Ventosa the former Spanish Minister of Finance in several Cabinets who was on his way to France on board of the Barcelona-Paris express was stopped by the Spanish police at the frontier station near here. The ex-Minister was informed that he must remain in Spain until the new regime had decided upon his status.

SLOWING DOWN IN STEEL TRADE

This Was Further Emphasized Today on New York Stock Exchange—Opening Prices.

NEW YORK, September 17. Special. — The developments over the week end left the foreign situation no less muddled in the absence of any intimations as to Germany's attitude towards Poincare's demand that passive resistance be abandoned before evacuation begins. Wall street turned its attention to industries in this country.

Further emphasis on the slowing down in the steel trade and another reduction in gasoline products for continued selling pressure in early dealings, Steel, Studebaker, Baldwin and other industrial leaders were freely offered at around the low levels of the current reaction while Sinclair and California petroleums reached new lows on the movement.

Selling lightened after the early offerings had been absorbed and slight rallying tendency was in evidence throughout the list. This development obviously resulted from the rapid pace set on last week's decline which wiped out in four days 65 per cent of the recovery to which four weeks had been devoted.

The oils continued under pressure but California petroleum showed an improved tone reflecting commission houses advices to switch from some of the weaker oils into California Petroleum because of its freedom from heavy prior liens and and good prospects for the continuance of its present dividend. Another issue which was recommended was American smelting which was classed as one of the cheapest stocks. This stock was said to be under accumulation in the belief that market conditions had prevented it from discounting the important developments likely to acrue from the recognition of the Mexican government.

Opening Prices.

Opening prices included: North American 20½ off 3-8; Baldwin 116 1-2 up 3-4; Bethlehem Steel 48 1-8; off 1-8; Studebaker 101 1-8 up ¼. N.Y.C. 100 5-8 up 1-8; United States Steel 88 1-8; General Motors 14 3-4; Marland 20 3-4 up 5-8; Sinclair 19 5-8 off ¼; Southern Pacific 86 5-8 up 5-8; Davison Chemical 52 1-4 up 2; Continental Can 52 1-8 off 1-8; Texas Co 40¼ up 1-4; American Can 91½ up 1-4.

KILLED IN RIOTS.

LONDON, Sept. 17.—(Special).—Twelve persons were killed and fifteen were wounded during a demonstration against the high price of food at Sorau, Brandenburg Province, when fighting occurred between the police and the demonstrators, says a Central News despatch from Berlin to-day.

LEAGUE SAVED NEW CONFLICT

Italy's Refusal to Accept Services of League Made Subject of Debate.

GENEVA, Sept 17.—Italy's refusal to recognize the competency of theLeague of Nations to handle the Greco-Italian crisis was the subject of an impressive debate before the Council of the League to-day.

M. Salandra for Italy, asked for time to prepare his answer to H. J. Almar Branting, Sweden, and Lord Robert Cecil, Great Britain, who argued that the League was competent and the matter was adjourned for later discussion probably tomorrow.

Although insisting upon League's right to take up the Italian affair, Lord Robert contended it had performed its duty in every way by collaborating with conference of Ambassadors in Paris. He insisted that the supreme mission of League was to seize upon every medium of settlement in such a crisis, since its goal was the attainment of peace.

H. J. Almar Branting declared the Italian occupation of Corfu was contrary to the provisions of the League Covenant. All friends of peace would welcome a settlement of the dispute, he said and he was well aware that activities of League Council had brought an effect on the final result because the Ambassadorial body had accepted the suggestion of the Counil. He regretted, however, that the Council had not given the world its attitude on action of Italy in occupying Corfu. Any act like the occupation of Corfu which did not conform to solemn obligations of States would diminish the chance of the League in its task of settling future conflicts. We firmly believe," he added "that will for peace will be strong enough among peoples of the earth to induce all countries to strongly support the covenant."

Lord Robert Cecil said that it was a deep source of congratulation that within a fortnight a difficult and dangerous dispute had been settled.

"Without the League of Nations, this result could not have been achieved" he said.

Western Farmer Lost Crop, Stock and Barn.

MOOSE JAW, Sask., Sept. 17.—James Robertson, farmer at Lawson, lost his barn, twenty head of horses, all harness, 2,000 bushels of wheat and 1,000 bushels of oats and 20 loads of sheaf oats in a fire on Friday night. The members of the threshing gang, who were awakened by the crackling of the flames, were able to save thirteen horses. The loss is partly covered by insurance.

Desert Men Revolt In Trans-Jardania

LONDON, Sept. 17.—(Canadian Press).—Revolution against the government of Emir Abdulla second son of the King of the Hejaz, in the trans-jordania region of Palestine, was reported in advices reaching here to-day.

In well informed circles it was stated the movement probably emanated from desert men, who at this season are accustomed to raid the rich grain bins of the trans-jordania district, where the harvest is now under way.

Advices from Jerusalem on 5th September reported a revolt by 30,000 Arabs, under the leadership of a popular Sheik ,demanding the expulsion of foreigners and the formation of a parliamentary government.

PEACE FEELER WAS REJECTED IN STATEMENT

Premier Poincare's Sunday Sermon Leaves No Doubt as to Position of the French.

MUST SURRENDER

(By Lloyd Allen, United Press Staff Correspondent).

LONDON, Sept. 17.—British officials to-day saw no hope of a Franco-German agreement until the Berlin Government has openly abandoned passive resistance. Following Premier Poincare's Sunday sermon at Dun-Sur-Meuse yesterday, in which he virtually asserted that there can be no peace with Germany until the Reichs Government has submitted completely, officials here believed that any Franco-German conversations for a basis for discussions of reparations settlement are hopeless until passive resistance in the Ruhr has collapsed officially as well as actively.

Political leaders here said Poincare is now in a position where he will be unable to consent to any evasions which would permit the Germans to say or even to think they have obtained any concessions.

The German Government, they asserted, will not even be allowed to "save its face." By claiming conditional abandonment of passive resistance, officials considered that a basis for an agreement was somewhat nearer but still appreciably distant.

Reports from Berlin Saturday that the Government had decided to continue resistance at least another fortnight caused considerable pessimism. The British Government believes that this decision merely means that much more delay in the settlement of the basis question of Europe.

The rejection of Germany's latest "peace feelers" is the interpretation Paris puts upon Premier Poincare's speech at Dun-Sur-Meuse Sunday, in which the Premier declared: "We shall keep the guarantees we hold until we have received satisfaction."

RALLY DAY HELD IN SUNDAY SCHOOL

Four Hundred Members of Different Departments Present.

The rally day held by Trinity Sunday School in the Reid Street hall yesterday afternoon was very successful. The annual event, which is designed for the purpose of co-ordinating various sections of Sunday school work in preparation for the season's endeavor, was attended by over four hundred members of different departments. J. M. Greene, the superintendent, occupied the chair in his usual capable manner, and a very interesting address on Sunday School work was given by Mr. W. W. Staples of Lindsay. Mr. Staples, who has the unique distinction of having gone through all the departments, from cradle roll to superintendent's position, in the Sunday school of Cambridge street church, Lindsay, is also an active member of Lindsay's Fair Board and Board of Education and president of its Rotary Club.

His address was of an inspirational character, interspersed copiously with poetical allusions. It was based on the word "Watch." Mr. Staples giving each letter a seperate section in his talk, as "a" for actions, and "h" for habits, and delivered in the speaker's clear, forceful fashion, proved most interesting to his hearers.

An enjoyable musical programme was tendered during the afternoon, with selections by the Trinity Sunday School orchestra; a vocal solo by Mr. Crowe, "Open the Gates of the Temple," with accompaniment by Mrs. T. Cruikshank; a violin solo, Jocelyn's "Berceuse," by Mrs. M. B. Hoyland, and readings by junior members; Eileen Brown, Vera Greene, Irene Wright, Charles Clark and Clayton Ruth.

LARGE CONGREGATIONS PACKED TWO CHURCHES TO HEAR DR. C. MORGAN

Thoughtful Attention Paid to Utterances of Famous Preacher of Great Intellectual Power at St. Paul's and George Street

HERE ALL THIS WEEK

Rev. G. Campbell Morgan, D. D., who will deliver a series of sermons in St. Paul's Presbyterian and George street Methodist churches during this week, reecived a hearty welcome on his first appearance in the city when he preached at St. Paul's Church yesterday morning. The large edifice was packed to the doors, and people sat in rows of chairs along the aisles.

Rev. Mr. Morgan is a preacher of intellectual power. The thoughtful attention paid his utterances by his large congregaton was a tribute to the holding quality of his address. Unmarred by the dynamic theatricalism of the majority of evangelists it depends mainly on the quality of the speaker's mind, evidently a storehouse of culture and wisdom and wide experience from which the owner draws in turn lofty and homely illustrations calculated to project to the perceptions of his hearers vivid word pictures, etched with clear precision. In a voice whose pleasant modulations seldom rise to strident heights, he has a manner of personal address which strikes his message home to each individual, in the type of sermon that induces self-analysis and introspection. Pedantic but forceful, fiery but restrained, clear but warm his is a type of oratory seldom encountered and one that would doubtless grow on an audience desirous of exploring to the uttermost the long, lighted corridor of a wise mind filled with a rich store of the knowledge culled from long and wide experience.

Five New Testament authorities were quoted as reference by the speaker in his morning sermon, which deals with the inner meaning of Jesus' words on each of these occasions under different circumstances: "Be of good cheer."

To the man stricken with the palsy, his moral degradation mirrored in his physical disability; to the woman troubled by a sickness which was erroneously ascribed to vice, outcast by the law from the Temple and the companionship of her own family; to the frightened disciples in the stormtossed boat; to the apostles terrified at His on rushing fate, gathered about Him just before His entrance into Gethsemane; to Paul thirty years later, alive with missionary ardor caught and imprisoned by his enemies, Jesus had said the same words; "Be of good cheer.

He did not mean "cheer up." It was not the counterpart of the "cheerio, carry on" slogan of soldiers in the great war. "There are times when, if a man came to me and told me to cheer up, I would try to get at him and blacken his eyes."

Nor was it exactly "be of good courage," as courage is applied in the objective sense. It was more of the type of subjective courage, when Jesus said, in effect; "Stop being afraid. Don't be afraid." He put Himself between the individual who was afraid. To the man in sin, afraid of his own moral pollution, he said "Thy sins are forgiven thee," to the woman, outcast in error, wounded in spirit, he said "Daughter", He calmed the fears of the fishermen afraid of the mystery of His shadowy presence, He reassured His terrified followers and He brought comfort and hope to his agonized missionary, bound in prison. "He said; Be of good cheer. Be of good confidence. It looked as if the world was getting Him. They caught Him and nailed Him to the tree, but through His defeat He won His victory. By a mystery that we cannot understand, but that works with inevitable precision through the running cycle af the centuries, it is by defeat that we win by dying that we live. Faith sometimes falters, love sometimes grows cold, hope's colors sometimes fade, but when all else is gone, we still have the fellowship of Christ. There is nothing that we need in this generation more than the recovery of the lost art of taking time for fellowship with our Lord.—No sir. I don't mean always in prayer, either. In the shut chamber with the closed door in the silent consciousness of the glory of His presence. When He says to you and to me brother and sister, "Be of good courage. Be not afraid."

AT GEORGE STREET

George Street Methodist Church was crowded to the doors, even the aisles being lined with standing people when Rev. G. Campbell Morgan D.D. addressed the biggest congregation that has gathered there for several years. Before six o'clock over a hundred were waiting for the door to open, and from half past six, hundreds were turned away. Several people were overcome by the heat.

"Thus it becometh us to fulfill all righteousness" from Matthew 3:15 was the subject taken by the great divine, who dwelt with his unique manner on the first word, which he said, most people read quickly, considering it of no importance.

The occasion for the utterance was when Jesus came to John and

PUBLIC THANKED BY FAIR BOARD

Management Appreciates Support Given by the Community.

Editor of the Examiner:

Dear Sir: May I, through your columns, express the deep gratitude of the Peterboro Industrial Exhibition Board, for the support extended to the exhibition this year by the people of Peterboro, and the surrounding district.

The Board feels greatly encouraged by the fine attendance in spite of the most disagreeable weather, and appreciates the loyalty shown to the fair by the community generally.

To the exhibitors from far and near, whose interest enabled us to reach a new standard, to the citizens of Peterboro, and the farmers of the district, who by their presence showed that they are behind the exhibition, to everyone who assisted in any way in the success scored our most sincere thanks is extended.

Yours for a bigger fair in 1924.

President Peterboro Exhibition Bd.

500 PEONY ROOTS BOOST BRANTFORD

A Beautifying Campaign Which Might Well be Emulated by Peterboro

Brantford Horticultural Society has adopted as a slogan the term "Brantford's Best Booster," and their programme for this fall looks like a strong effort to live up to their motto.

As one item in the attempt to put Brantford on the map in red letters they will hold a big Community Peony Planting Week, and the slogan for this week is to be 5000 Peony Roots for Brantford's Beauty Spots this Fall. Cooperating with the Society, is the Press, the Chamber of Commerce, the City Parks Board and Kiwanis and Rotary Clubs. With a list of co-workers like that, practically all Brantford is represented in putting the undertaking over the top.

The press will issue a special Peony number, with cuts, and articles from prominent growers, and will continue Peony Boosting through the following week.

They will also have a mass meeting on Wednesday of the planting week, where a noted Peony grower will give an illustrated lecture.

One Peterboro grower has been asked to submit lists and prices of Peonies to be supplied for the big event, and specially invited to be present at some of the meetings where the orders for Peony roots will be made up.

It is possible that several hundred roots will go from Peterboro to help beautify this progressive Western Ontario city.

Why can't Peterboro do something in this line? St. Thomas has shown that a live horticultural society can bring their town into continent wide prominence, and evidently other places are profiting by the Flower City's example.

BOYS SPOILED BY PETTING IS TIP OF LEADER

Deputy Commissioner of Boy Scouts Gives Rotarians a Warning About Wrong Methods.

SCOUT MOVEMENT

An eloquent exposition of the Boy Scout movement was given at today's luncheon of the Peterborough Rotary Club by Rotarian John Styles of Ottawa, the Deputy Commissioner of Boy Scouts for Canada.

Rotarian Styles, a fine speaker with a very happy manner of delivering his address, and a fund of bright stories with which to illustrate his remarks, delighted the Rotarians.

President V. J. McElderry was in the chair, and there was a fairly large attendance.

It was announced by the President that there will be an open meeting next Monday evening at 7.15 o'clock, at which the crippled children's work will be discussed, and at which the ladies will be present.

The Rotary Bantams, winners of the Bantam Baseball League, will be entertained on this occasion.

President McElderry called attention to the manner in which Rotary members everywhere were contributing to the fund on behalf of the victims of the Japanese earthquake.

Rotarian Styles, in referring to the Boy Scout work, explained the Scout law and the Scout oath, and emphasised the fact that the whole movement hinged upon honour. He stressed the importance of that feature of the movement, and pointed out that the majority of the boys were living up to this code, although there were failures, of course, as Scouts were but human.

The Scout motto, "Be Prepared," was illustrated by a number of stories of Boy Scouts in Canada who had lived up to it. The training gave the Boy Scout the proper attitude of mind that impelled him to act when his services were needed. The Scout slogan, "Do a good deed every day—and don't tell about it," was also referred to by the speaker, who gave examples of good deeds that different members had performed.

Rotarian Styles although he was insistent in explaining that the movement was not anti-militaristic, pointed out that it was non-military. There was nothing military about it, in spite of the charges made by I. W. W.'s and others to that effect.

The speaker pleaded for Rotarians to take an interest in Boy Scout work and to lend a hand when possible. He likened the Scout work to the illustration farm scheme adopted by the Dominion Government some years ago.

Speaking of boys' work in general, Rotarian Styles emphasised the importance of not spoiling the boy by petting him. That was the great danger that under-privileged boys would be turned into sissies instead of into useful citizens, because of the mistaken way in which they were handled. The boy must be taught to earn the things he receives, not merely to put his hand out for them.

The address was greatly appreciated by the club, and the speaker was tendered a hearty vote of thanks.

A MISSION OPENED IN SACRED HEART CHURCH.

A Mission by the Redemptorist Fathers commenced at the Sacred Heart Church at High Mass yesterday morning. Rev. Father John McPhail, C.S.S.R., and Rev. Father A. McCann, C.S.S.R. both of Toronto, will conduct the Mission, which will last for the next fortnight, the first week's services for the women, the last week for the men of the parish.

Sermons will be given during the first week three times daily, at the morning Masses at 5.30 and 8 o'clock, and in the evening at 7.30. Special exercises for the children will be held at 11 a.m. and 3 p.m. during the first three days of the week.

THE WEATHER.

The freezing point (32 degrees) was touched this morning for the first time in Peterboro this fall. This is about the usual date for this event. Warmer weather with some showers prevails westward, and our turn will to receive the same will be here shortly.—W. P.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

JOHNNY JACK'S SHADOW

And he began to break off gre at bunches with his teeth.

Johnny Jack Rabbit was having the most beautiful time.

He was racing with himself, or rather he was racing with his shadow.

"I'll bet I can beat you to the aspen tree," he panted, starting to run again without waiting for an answer.

Suddenly he began to chuckle. "I'll fool him," he said to himself. "I'll fool that silly shadow fellow. I'll put on my wind brake and stop so quickly, he'll go on ahead and not notice where I've gone. I'll hide in that patch of sweet clover and he'll never find me. I'm tired of him going everywhere I go."

Johnny Jack lopped along on his long legs for a minute or two, his shadow sticking close beside him, neither getting ahead nor behind, and no wonder it made Johnny nervous.

All at once Johnny stuck his enormous ears forward like sails on a cat boat (his "wind-brake" he called them) and it stopped him is suddenly as a wreck. And then without a look to right or left, he slid into the patch of sweet clover that grew ten times as high as his head, and stopped. It was like going into a forest all dark and quiet and sweet smelling with not a bit of sunshine anywhere.

Johnny looked around carefully. "Hee, hee, hee," he giggled. "I lost him that time! That silly old shadow of mine is still going. I bet you. He'll wonder where I've gone. Well, well! While I'm here I may as well be enjoying myself. Um! Um! This clover smells wonderful!"

And he began to break off great bunches with his teeth and chew them up as fast as he could.

He was so busy eating and chuckling over his own joke that he never noticed a dark, shaggy figure with its nose to the ground, that had followed him into the clover patch.

It was Sniffer Ky-oty, Johnny Jack's worst enemy.

Suddenly Sniffer made a mis-step and a twig cracked under his foot.

Johnny raised his head at that.

"If that pesky shadow hasn't found me!" he declared in disgust. "Well, I'll show him! I'm not going to have him around."

And he streaked out of the clover patch, right under Sniffer's astonished nose, and tore home.

Mister Gallop and Nancy and Nick saw the whole thing. "If Johnny had known that was Sniffer he'd have been too scared to move," laughed the fairyman. "Sometimes it's a good thing to be foolish."

CHAPTER XLII.

A Broken Bargain

The sea roughened with each moment, but the motion was delicious to Terry. It was giving her the chance of dinner with the Prince

She had got her legs perfectly by this time, and though the yacht rocked so that the girl slid from one side of the cabin to the other, she selected what she meant to wear for the evening, and laid everything on the bed, without awkwardness or a stumble.

So far, during the cruise, she had put on some simple though pretty afternoon frock, when dressing for her lonely dinner; but she determined to grace the feast in Sheridan's deck dining-room by appearing in one of the Monte Carlo gowns.

The one liked best was a pale, apple-blossom pink (of some thin material whose name the convent-bred girl did not know) draped over gold tissue.

There was very little of it, and the nuns would have screamed at sight of her bare neck and arms, her silk sheathed legs; but Julia and Emmeline had assured her that everyone wore such clothes; that anything different was stuffy, old-fashioned, and prim.

The dress was lovely Terry couldn't help admiring herself in the long mirror, when she was ready, up from the little gold slippers with brilliant buckles, to the wreath of diamond laurel-leaves that banded her hair.

It was as she fastened this wreath, arms uplifted, swaying to the pitching of the ship, that a knock came at the door.

The storm was not very alarming, after all, and it hadn't occurred to Terry that Sheridan would think it necessary to take her on deck.

It must be Mrs. Harkness who tapped Gaily she called out, "Come in"

As Sheridan opened the door, he had the pictures of a slim girl so pale that it was hard to tell where the flower-textured skin of neck and young bosom melted into semi-transparent ninon.

The slender arms were uplifted, for a wreath of sparkling leaves was being adjusted; and the vision was repeated at full length, from another angle, in a large mirror.

Just what he would do when he went to Miss Divine's room and offered his escort, Sheridan hadn't planned. He had merely felt the whim to go, and had found no serious reason why he shouldn't indulge it. Seeing her so beautiful, however, and so smiling, he walked into the cabin and shut the door behind him.

Terry was surprised at this move, for it seemed, somehow, utterly unlike Sheridan. She even had a startled idea that it couldn't be the right sort of thing for a man to do without asking permission.

Still, the Prince who had become kind again, must know what was proper, and he being a prince, could do no wrong

She quickly fastened the bandeau of laurel leaves, and said, "I'm ready. It's very good of you to call for me. I didn't suppose you would, for it isn't half the storm of last time I thought when you knocked it would be Mrs. Harkness.

"Mrs. Harkness is giving her patient —the seaman, Jones—some special dose she's concocted," Sheridan announced. "You don't have to go into the open, because I've had the communicating door between the salon and my suite unlocked for you. All the same it's rather cold. You'd better throw something over your shoulders, as you've got yourself up for a killing."

The girl opened the wardrobe and found an ermine stole. Sheridan watched each movement, and took the wrap as she would have slipped it on.

Seeing what he meant to do, she smiled up at him. "This is the first time I've worn a real dinner dress," she said—"I thought maybe you'd like it."

"I do," he answered. Instead of winding round her figure the stole he held in his hands, he bent down and pressed his lips to her neck, just where the little copper-red curls ringed at the naps.

Terry jumped at the touch as if he had fired a revolver behind her back. Whirling to face him, she stared in simple amazement that was like a cold douche to his heated blood. He gave her look for look, however, and a slow smile turned down his lips.

"Why—did you do that?" the girl gasped.

"Why?" Sheridan repeated. "To break the bargain It was already strained—wasn't it? You've made me realize that my troubles and humiliations haven't frozen my blood after all. That's rather a score for you in a way—if you only knew Why should thise? cruise be one long Sunday school picni Ah, take the cash, and let the credit go, nor heed the music of a distant drum

He flung away the ermine, and caught the girl by her wrists, but she held back, her breath coming fast, her face pale.

Martial Law Against Hooded Terror In State of Oklahoma

GOVERNOR HAS CALLED OUT NATIONAL GUARD IN FIGHT WITH KLAN

Declares "State of Rebellion" Exists and Power of the Political Government Usurped By Invisible Empire.

PRESS INTIMIDATED.

OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla., September 17 (Canadian Press). —Martial law for the entire State of Oklahoma was proclaimed at midnight last night by Governor J. C. Walton.

Calling the full force of the approximately six thousand troops in the Oklahoma National Guard to his command, the Governor climaxed his spectacular fight against the Ku Klux Klan by declaring that any person who aids the organisation in carrying out its purposes, "are enemies of the sovereign State of Oklahoma, and shall be dealt with by the military forces."

State of Rebellion.

Due to the existence of a self-styled invisible empire, Governor Walton declared a state of rebellion is in effect against the institution and authorities of Oklahoma, and that a general state of "public alarm and fear and jeopardy of life, peace, and personal safety" has resulted.

Activities of the organisation are centred in Oklahoma City, and extend to every county in the State, the Governor charged.

The proclamation invokes absolute martial law in Oklahoma County (Oklahoma City), and Creek County, the latter adjoining Tulsa County, where military rule has been in effect since 14th August.

Troops will be placed at points in the State where they are needed, the proclamation says, this matter being left to the discretion of the Governor and the Adjutant-General.

Contingents Ready.

While no order has as yet gone out for the complete mobilisation of the State Militia, each contingent will be held in readiness for service.

Accepting the recent challenge of the Grand Dragon of the Oklahoma Realm of the Ku Klux Klan that "Governor Walton never could break the power of the Klan in Oklahoma," the executive declared:

"The power of this criminal organisation must be destroyed, and it is necessary to proclaim martial law throughout the State."

Citing testimony taken by a military Court at Tulsa ,the Governor declared that hundreds of men, and even women, of the State have been severely beaten and that the "Invisible Empire," as an organisation, was responsible.

Community Terrorised.

"The Invisible Empire has usurped the power of the political Government," Governor Walton said. "The power of this organisation has been such that as many as one hundred and fifty persons have been present when men and women have been flogged, whipped, and beaten, and their methods have inspired such terror that no mention of it was made even by the press.

"In the perpetration of these crimes, the Ku Klux Klan not only has disregarded the constitutional rights of trial by jury, but also the dictates of decency and civilisation."

Although the proclamation placing the entire State under the control of the military became effective simultaneous with its announcement, no move had been made yesterday to supplant the civil authority in any part of the State.

Legislature's Position.

Th question of a special session of the Legislature has been vexing administration leaders several months. Several members of the Legislature have declared their belief that the body has authority to convene itself provided business other than law-making is considered.

"When the agitation became more pronounced last week, Governor Walton issued a warning to members of the Legislature not to attempt to hold an extra session and threatened legislators with jail "for the remainder of the term," if they ignored his orders.

Efforts yesterday to communicate with leaders of the Ku Klux Klan failed. Not one could be located.

DROPFED DEAD IN SHOE REPAIR SHOP

Call Came Suddenly to W. J. Allen at Campbellford Saturday Night

CAMPBELLFORD, September 17. —W. J. Allen, aged 45, who for the past three years, has conducted a shoe repairing business on Tice St., dropped dead in his shop shortly after 12 o'clock Sunday morning while talking to a number of friends. As it was Saturday night all places of business weer open later than usual.

Without a word, Mr. Allen fell from his chair and when his friends went to raise him they found that he was dead. The deceased lived alone in the rear of his shop, and Chief Duncalfe, who was notified, took charge of the remains and the personal effects of the dead man.

Coroner Loucks was notified but decided that an inquest was unnecessary. The remains were removed to the undertaking rooms of Watson and Co., and there prepared for burial.

The wife of the deceased resides in Peterboro, where she is cook in the Nicholls Hospital. He also had a son aged about 17, in the same city. Mother and son arrived here Sunday morning by auto, and accompanied the remains back to Peterboro where the funeral will be held.

Say Labor Leaders Misunderstood Pact.

CAPE TOWN ,South Africa, September 17 (Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's). — The Nationalist organ De Burgher refuses to regard the recent labour utterances condemning the secessionalist aims of the Nationalists as more than a passing incident, and says that two mistakes have been made.

The paper says that certain labour leaders have misinterpreted the Cresswell-Hrtzog pact for a united Labour-Nationalist front to the Smuts Government.

The Nationalists, says De Burgher, while recognising the British connection, aim at independence on a basis of equality with the mother country as distinct from secession.

Tax Foreign Barley to Help British Farmers.

LONDON, September 17 (Canadian Press Cable). — A large meeting of Kent farmers held at Canterbury on Saturday unanimously passed a resolution requesting the Government to consider the question of taxing foreign barley with a view to assisting British agriculture.

One speaker declared that the Government had betrayed the English barley growers by failing to redeem their promise, in consequence of which about one hundred thousand more acres of barley were planted this year, and some 3,200,000 bushels would now have to be thrown on the market. He estimated the total loss to the farmers at £1,300,000.

Several speakers declared that unless Government assistance was given it would be impossible to pay wages and hills at present prices of cereals.

SPRINGFIELD, Il., September 17. — Ten masked bandits, armed with automatic rifles and revolvers, held up the Wayside Inn, a road house, three miles from here, early yesterday morning and after robbing approximately 175 patrons and gambling games in the rear of the place, escaped with cash and jewelry amounting to $15,000.

DISASTROUS FIRE IN CAMPBELLFORD

Three Buildings Consumed by Flames Sunday Morning—Two Horses Perish.

CAMPBELLFORD, September 17 —The most destructive fire of the year broke out on Sunday morning, when a stable, shed and ice house belonging to Charles Black, and situated in the rear of his residence on Ranney street, were totally consumed. Two valuable horses perished in the flames, and a third was rescued but only after it had been so badly injured that it will probably be necessary to destroy it.

It was about 5.15 on Sunday morning, when Mrs. Black was awakened by the reflection of fire. She roused her husband, and at about the same time a neighbor knocked on the door and gave the alarm. When Mr. Black got outside the three buildings were a mass of flames and the heat was so intense that the glass in the windows in the rear of the residence was breaking.

The fire department was called out and four minutes after the first stroke of the bell the truck was on the scene and water was turned on the fire. Four firemen who live close to the hall, arrived with the truck. Chief Charles H. Davidson, who went on duty wearing a pair of slippers, no socks, and an otherwise hasty toilet. Howard, his son, who was at the steering wheel and sent the vehicle flying through the street, Robert Dunk and Harold Pelherich. The other 13 members of the volunteer brigade all responded to the call, these coming from all parts of the town.

Four streams of water were soon playing on the flames but there was no chance to save any of the buildings, all of which were frame. The fire occurred in the centre of one of the best residential sections, and several of the adjoining houses escaped destruction only by the good work of the brigade.

Mr. Black's loss will be about $2,000, and on the buildings and contents he carried insurance of $850. Besides the two horses he lost a car, and all the vehicles which he used in his butcher business. He has no idea as to what started the fire.

BURNED TO DEATH AT JERSEY CITY

JERSEY CITY, Sept. 17.—(Canadian Press).—Seven persons were killed and a score or more injured yesterday when fire swept through a tenament in a thickly populated district.

The fire started in the hallway of the building and cut off escape of many of sixteen families. Firemen made thrilling rescues.

The dead are: Fireman, Berbard Feeson aged 35; Mrs. Pearl Thomas aged 26; and her son Edward, aged 8 Edward Breen aged 34; Sophia Kolasienzki aged 14; Regina Kolasienzki aged 9 and Rota Kolasienzki aged 5.

FLOODS IN JAPAN TAKE 5000 LIVES

Many Villages Reported Destroyed By Swollen Rivers.

LONDON, Sept 17.—Five thousand persons are reported to have perished in the floods which followed upon the typhoon at Tottori, North west of Kobe, Japan, Saturday, according to an Osaka dispatch to the Central News.

The Rivers Aukure, Cheyo, and Takimi burst their banks destroying many villages. The terrific downpaur of rain has been general. Both Tokio and Yokohama have suffered greatly from the deluge and railways are crippled by the floods.

The imperial princes have decided to return to Tokio.

Stormy Session of Council of the Geneva Organization Over Its Position.

DELICATE QUESTION.

GENEVA, September 17 (Canadian Press). — "Stormy" was the word employed yesterday in summarising the session of the Council of the League of Nations which was hurriedly convoked on Saturday night, and which did not adjourn until early Sunday morning.

The session was devoted to the delicate question of how to deal with Italy.

The Greco-Italian conflict now has been happily settled, say the delegates who have foregathered in Geneva, and thanks to the motive power of the League of Nations, backed by world opinion. But they declare Italy has defied the League, and that the Assembly should take some action calculated to reinforce the prestige of the League,

QUAKE SURVIVORS LAND AT VICTORIA

Hundred and Fifty-Five Refugees From Stricken Japan Reach British Columbia.

VICTORIA, B.C., September 17 (Canadian Press). — The President Jefferson, carrying survivors of the Yokohama earthquake warped into its dock at Victoria, her first port of call on the American continent last night.

Premier John Oliver, of British Columbia, and party representing the Canadian Government, as well as representatives of the United States Public Health Service, and other officials, boarded the vessel at Quarantine, and offered assistance of the Canadian Government to refugees.

Previously at the Canadian Government's quarantine station, 33 British and Canadian passengers, a number of them suffering from broken arms and legs, bruises, and shock, and others destitute, have been taken from the vessel to remain under the care of the Canadian Red Cross as long as necessary.

Doctors and nurses met them at the station and escorted them to the shore.

The President Jefferson carried 155 refugees, representing thirteen nationalities. To many of them the arrival on the American shores was the occasion of re-union with friends and relatives. To others it meant merely a long wait until "things adjust themselves and we can get back to Japan."

INDEPENDENT HOCKEY LEAGUE IS TALKED OF.

Sudbury, Soo, Port Arthur and Fort William May Farm Circuit.

PORT ARTHUR, Ont. Sept. 17 —(Canadian Press). — Port Arthur and Fort William hockey clubs are in receipt of a suggestion to form a circuit with Sudbury and Sault Ste. Marie. It may be taken up. These two cities, it is well-known, however, prefer the Winnipeg area, and since the tangle in the M.A.H.A. and on the supposition that Falcons have agreed with Selkirk to stand together in the matter of admission to the M.A.H.A. which has been refused to Selkirk, there is talk of an independent league composed of Falcons, Selkirk and Port Arthur and Fort William.

Tenement Fire Killed Seven

JERSEY CITY, N.J., September Canadian Press). — Seven persons, were killed and a score or more injured early yesterday when fire swept through a tenement in a thickly populated district. The blaze started in a hallway and darted quickly to the upper floors, cutting off the escape of many of the sixteen families in the building.

Firemen made many thrilling rescues.

SCULLING RACE POSTPONED.

DULUTH, September 17 (Canadian Press).—The world's championship single sculling race scheduled for Saturday afternoon on the St. Louis Bay course, was postponed to 11 a.m. to-day (Monday) on account of rough water.

After a cruise down the course with Champion Walter Hoover and W. E. Garrett Gilmore, of Philadelphia, the challenger, the referee, Charles Melloy, announced that the course was too choppy.

GRAIN TRAINS ROLLING EAST

Sixteen Hundred Cars Between Winnipeg and Fort William.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Sept. 17. —(Canadian Press).—Wheat is beginning to move more rapidly to the lake ports, there being this morning 793 cars in the Canadian Pacific yards and 1,600 more between here and Winnipeg. The grades which were very low at th beginning of the movement have improved considerably and a lot of contract grades are now coming in. Shipping is taking care of the grain as it arrives, the increase in stocks this week having been only a quarter of a million bushels. Rye is the grain of which the amount in store has been lowered during the week.

Following are the figures of stocks —receipts and shipments for the week:

In store—Wheat, 211,707; oats, 301,401; barley, 782,706; flax, 154,385; rye, 830,101.

Receipts—Wheat, 1,654,628; oats, 188,799; barley, 477,933; flax, 5,243; rye, 299,689.

Shipments—Wheat, 1,392,866; oats, 130,413; barley, 215,168; flax, nill; rye, 468,183.

A Swarm of Wasps Stopped Motor Car.

FORT WILLIAM, Sept. 17. — (Canadian Press).—Driven by frost and cold in search of warmth, a swarm of wasps invaded the radiator of E. Little's motor car near Grand Marias as he was returning home from a motor trip to Minneapolis. The swarm rose on the road near Grand Marias and entered the front part of the radiator in such numbers that car had to be stopped and dead wasps picked out of radiator.

MR. MOORE'S RE-ELECTION.

The re-election of Tom Moore as president of the Trades and Labour Congress of Canada is, the Examiner believes, a good thing for this country as well as for the cause of labour.

Mr. Moore has been since his elevation to the head of the Congress a bulwark against the spread of Red doctrine in Canada.

He has given labour a sane, moderate, tolerant leadership during years when a weaker executive would have seen his organization swept out of the way by such malicious movements as the "One Big Union."

Ever has the Trades and Congress president sought to keep Canadian labour from being engulfed by the communists whose doctrine is violence and whose ambition is to set up a dictatorship of the proletariat and Mr. Moore is not popular with the radicals of Canada as a result of the success that attended his efforts.

The fact that he has been re-elected once more shows that the bulk of Canadian labour has no desire to worship at the shrine of Sovietism.

The vote carries a significance that should not be overlooked.

THE EXHIBITION.

While there will be general regret that the unseasonably cold weather which prevailed throughout the Peterborough Industrial Exhibition prevented a new mark being reached in attendance figures, the directors are being congratulated upon the excellence of the exhibition in all departments.

From the viewpoint of entries and exhibits the Exhibtion of 1923 has established a new record.

In almost every section was there an increase in the number of entries and the quality of the exhibits is attested to by the complimentary remarks of the judges.

Accomodation that was considered ample when first provided has been found inadequate by reason of the great increase in entries in several departments.

In these respects then the directors have more than merely reached their goal—they have swept far beyond the mark and have the satisfaction of knowing that the Exihibition that has just closed has attained a new standard.

There is little doubt that had the weatherman been benevolent enough to furnish two warm, sunshiny days the Peterborough Industrial would also have climbed to a new high level point in attendance.

The patronage under the circumstances was remarkable.

There was nothing in Thursday's or Friday's weather to tempt any one to spend a few hours out of doors and yet the people of the city and district rallied in splendid fashion, braving the elements to lend the support of their presence at the Exhibition.

That fact and the great gain in other departments are features that will help the Fair Board forget the bad weather and will give them fresh enthusiasm as they start in again with their task of preparing for next year's exhibition.

IMMIGRATION.

The announcement of a more vigorous immigration policy for Canada, although obscure as to its detail is a welcome one, especially to those who have watched the manner in which Australia and New Zealand have been crowding this country off the map so far as securing new citizens is concerned.

While Canada has been marking time the Antipodean dominions have been remarkably successful in attracting the most desirable type of immigration.

We have been nowhere in the race for some years and Mr. Robb's new policy will have to be more definite and more virile than his announcement gives hope for, if the lost ground is to be recovered.

They are not sitting down in Australia and New Zealand waiting for new people to drop in nor is there any "whisper of death" propaganda to drive immigration away.

Australia has been seeking out a certain class of immigrant and then paying handsomely to get him to come.

The Australian Government pays $60 toward the passage money of a selected British settler and in case of need will advance him a loan.

Farmers and farm laborers, healthy and characterful boys of from 15 to 18 years who can readily fit into a new environment, are especially desired, as are young female domestics who readily marry and establish homes in the new country.

Common labourers from the British cities are not encouraged to go to Australia—although too many are already arriving without any inducement.

New Zealand follows a somewhat similar system by assisting the prospective immigrant by paying about half the cost of his transportation, the law providing that domestic servants and farm labourers granted assisted passage as such must follow their respective occupations for a period of one year after entering New Zealand.

In general only persons under 50 years of age are assisted, with a limit of 45 years for farm labourers and 40 years for domestic service.

It is taken for granted that the public owes the immigrant expert guidance and care, so that he is received on his arrival either by the person who has made himself responsible for him, or failing a nominator by a public official who helps him to locate.

It is also taken for granted that the immigrant is to become a citizen, and those who come merely to remain for a short time in order to hoard their savings and return to Europe are not wanted—in fact, they are not admitted at all if their purpose is discovered.

From this brief sketch Canadians will see how far in advance of our own is the Australian and New Zealand immigration policy.

These two countries choose their future citizens, aid their coming and insure their future.

Here in Canada we have neither been successful in recent years in attracting the immigration most needed, nor has there been any systematic attempt to look after immigrants when they got here.

In this district, as everywhere, there have been many instances during the period when only farm labourers and domestic servants were admitted of men who were allowed to enter Canada on the plea of going to work on farms who either never reached the farm or remained there only a short time and then drifted cityward.

We have some of them in Peterborough today, and it is evident that the New Zealand method of dealing with such cases would have been a very good thing for Canada.

An elaboration of Hon. Mr. Robb's scheme for bringing Canada before the world as a country full of opportunities for immigrants will be awaited with general interest.

JEWS AS CITIZENS.

The figures in our columns on Monday as to the increasing number of Jews in Canada draws attention to the interesting historical question of Jews as citizens. The figures showed that while in 1901 there were only 16,000 Jews in Canada, in 1921 there were 126,000, for the most part in Toronto, Montreal and Winnipeg; but it is to be noted that there were only three Canadian cities of 5,000 or more population in which there were no Jewish residents. Since 1921 there is no doubt that these figures have increased.

In this connection it may be recalled that Frederick the Great said that oppression of the Jews never brought prosperity to any Government and he had good opportunities of judging of this during his times and of how history confirmed this view. Indeed, the history of the Jews in many respects is a tragedy, particularly in relation to the oppression of them, as citizens. It is no credit to modern times that this continues in many lands, as witness the abnominable "pogroms" which is a characteristically Russian word, as applied to the Jews, of riotous devastation, cruelty, and destruction. But history substantiates the truth of the words of Frederick the Great, as any one can learn who chooses to trace the records of nations. A present instance is that of Russia. Compare that with the history of Great Britain so soon as she led in fair and just treatment to the Jews.

There are good reasons for this contrast so far as the Jews are concerned, in building up the prosperity of the countries in which they are treated equitably. It is the character of the Jews which tells. Those people who have studied and know them well, appreciate that they are a wonderfully clever race and have produced statesmen, financiers, artists, musicians and philanthropists, of whom the world can be proud. Disraeli, later known as the Earl of Beaconfield, was a statesman whose name will always be connected with the glory and progress of the British Empire; the Rothchilds, the Goldsmids and the Solomons were great financiers and are so still, and they had and have great fellow-financiers on this side of the water, such as the late Jacob Schuff, head of the banking house of Kuhu, Loeb & Co., New York; James Speyer of Speyer & Co., the banking house; the Strauss Brothers and many others too numerous to mention, while in the mercantile world the names of successful, upright and progressive Jews are legion. Indeed Jews of outstanding character and prominence are found in every walk of life and for this reason it is needless to mention the names of Jews known as magnificent artists, musicians and authors; while the name of Montefiore stands out prominently amongst many other philanthropists.

It must be a great race which can produce such men and a race possessing many high attributes—patience, endurance, courage, diligence and a peculiar acumen in recognizing the vital points of any subject. Thus in finance and business it is seen how quickly they see where the best opportunities present themselves, and it has almost passed into a proverb, that where there are Jews there will be found prosperity. It is, therefore, satisfactory to find that there are Jews to be found in almost all of the cities of Canada. It is a tribute to Canada that this hard-working, law-abiding and clever race sees in the Dominion a country which particularly meets their special capacities, comes up to their requirements as one which will be great and prosperous, and towards whose up-building they themselves can do so much.—Kingston Standard.

HIS THREE FEATHERS DISAPPEAR.

Between the welcome which Canada is giving "Lord Renfrew" and the one it would have offered the Prince of Wales, the difference, so far, is not very great, says the New York Times. He has not been spared either the joys or pains of listening to speeches telling him how glad the Canadians are to have him with them again, but these orations mercifully have been shortened and the more wearisome formalities are missing.

One can at least pretend to wonder why a man who is what most people would like to be—a highly privileged Prince with, waiting for him, about the only crown left in the world that is worth having—should feel that it is a "vacation" for him to drop his great title and to get along without the various manifestations of respect that his position commands. The wonder cannot be more than pretense. A Prince who is the Prince of Wales works hard for his living, and he ever must walk warily to avoid giving any one of a hundred kinds of offense peculiar to his task. His pay is high—there's no doubt about that—but it has to be earned, and his tenure of office is only for what his fellow-countrymen think good behaviour.

So, naturally, it does rest him to put aside his grandeurs and his claims to special deference. If there is anybody in the world who doesn't wish for "Lord Renfrew" a fine time all through his "vacation," that person must be a sorry specimen of humanity. He is still young enough, fortunate Prince, to enjoy the hardships of ranch life—probably just a little mitigated for him—and there will be regret that he is not to visit the United States before he goes home. We, too, could act as if his royalty were forgotten.

MONTREAL, September 17. — There was no change in the condition of the local cash grain market on Saturday. The flour market was without special feature to note. The tone of the millfeed market remains firm and that for rolled oats was steady. The tone to the egg market was firm. Total receipts from May 1 to date was 332,918 cases against 280,135 cases for the same period last year. A somewhat easier feeling prevails in the butter market. The total receipts from May 1 to date were 110,690 packages less than in the same period last year. The cheese market was quiet. Total receipts from May 1st to date have been 67,124 boxes in excess of those for the same period a year ago.

FAREWELL TO CAVAN FAMILY

Mr. and Mrs. G. McDowell Recipients of Handsome and Serviceable Gifts—Large Gathering.

MILLBROOK, Sept. 17.—Cavan Community Hall has proved its usefulness many time, since it was opened last February. One of the most delightful social gatherings ever held in the large auditorium was carried out successfully last week, the occasion being in the nature of a farewell for Mr. and Mrs. G. McDowell and family, who are removing this week to Millbrook to reside. It seemed as if the entire Cavan community had gathered at the hall by 8 o'clock to express their regret at losing such estimable citizens from the village, and Millbrook is certainly to be congratulated on gaining a family who will be a decided addition to its church and civic life, though a sister neighborhood feels keenly their loss.

Rev. R. T. Richards acted as chairman, which position he fills capably, keeping the audience in the best of spirits with his humorous stories, remarking in his opening address that while a social occasion is usually a happy one, yet the present gathering was pervaded by a note of genuine sadness. Parting between friends always brings regret, in this case shared by the whole community, for while Mr. and Mrs. McDowell were not going any great distance to make their permanent home, still their departure from Cavanville necessarily meant the severing of ties of neighborliness and that closer intimacy and helpfulness in community undertakings which residence in the one locality makes possible.

The programme was opened with community singing, Mrs. A. Kennedy presiding at the piano, after which Mr. Richards, at the conclusion of his remarks as chairman, invited the guests of the evening to come to the platform, and when they were comfortably seated Mr. James Douglas read the following address, Messrs. H. Keegan and J. Newton on behalf of the citizens presenting them with two handsome oak chairs, an arm chair and a rocker, both upholstered in chintz, with an extra big downy cushion for the rocking chair, adding greatly to its comfort, and as a third number, adding completeness to the gift, a beautiful oak jardiniere pedestal accompanied the chairs:

"Mr. and Mrs. M. McDowell.

"Dear Friends,—It was with feelings of sincere regret that we, your friends and neighbors, learned of your intended removal from our midst.

"We have met together to enjoy one more social evening before you leave us, and we take advantage of this opportunity to testify to the fact that since you became residents of this neighborhood you have proved yourselves to be public-spirited citizens, possessed with a strong desire for the moral, social and spiritual development of the community, showing your active interest in every movement which was calculated to be for the benefit of mankind in general. Our regret is all the more keen when we realize that we will suffer a distinct loss in our community, social and church life by your departure.

"We desire to place on record our appreciation of the many sterling principles which you have exemplified in your lives, principles of integrity, truth, justice and good-will to all. Principles of practise of which tend to the development of the highest type of character, and which, if more generally adopted in every-day life, would make this world a better place of abode, and which would help to hasten the glad day when bickering and strife would cease, and the fulfilment of the prophet's vision be realized, "When men shall beat their swords into plow-shares, and their spears into pruning-hooks." As you go to your new place of abode, while we shall miss the pleasant intercourse which we have enjoyed in the past, our kindest regards will follow you and we trust that your lines may fall in pleasant places.

"We ask you to accept these gifts as a sight expression of esteem and good-will from your Cavan friends. We trust that as you go to your new home, happiness and prosperity may be yours, and that you may both be long spared to exercise the gifts and graces with which you are so richly endowed.

"Signed on behalf of your friends and neighbors—J. R. Newton, H. Keegan, James Kennedy, Jas. Douglas."

Cavan, Sept. 12, 1923.

Before he left the platform Mr. Douglas escorted the recipients of the gifts to seats in the new chairs, and everybody sang heartily, "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows." Mr. McDowell replied briefly thanking the many friends for their kindness, and particularly for the tangible expression of their good-will in the wording of the address and the presentation just made, stating at the beginning of his remarks that he could not speak very well because of the lump in his throat which was troubling him, a sympathetic response from the audience being evident as the speaker paused a few moments before he was able to proceed with what he wished to say. It was ten years since he had first came to Cavan, and the memories connected with his residence in that community would always be of the most pleasant character. He could not close without thanking all who had patronized him when in business in the village as, failing that, he could not have "carried on" as successfully as he did.

Hearty applause followed Mr. McDowell's remarks, and was continued while he and Mrs. McDowell left the platform and resumed their seats in the audience. Their popularity and the spirit of genuine regret at their departure are evidently unquestioned facts. The remaining items on the programme were as follows:

Vocal solo—"Underneath Dat Ole Umbrella," by Miss Muriel Howson.

Reading—"Deacon Brown's Courtship," by Miss Kate Steel.

Vocal solo—"When Irish Eyes Are Shining," by Miss Annie Tinney.

Reading—"The Charge of the Light Brigade as Interpreted by a Small Girl, a Jew and an Irishman," by Miss Muriel Matchett.

Community singing.

Reading—"The Inventor's Wife," by Miss Olive Vassey.

"Auld Lang Syne."

The tables in the basement fairly groaned under their weight of good "eats" when the large gathering adjourned downstairs for supper, and a time of jolly good fellowship together before finally leaving for their respective homes.

Mr. McDowell and family will occupy the house on Main street usually known as the Barnhart property and lately owned and occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Lunn.

Having sold to Mr. McDowell, Mr. Lunn intends moving into the house on Anne street soon to be vacated by Mr. D. Hampton, the latter and his sisters taking up their residence shortly in the cosy home recently purchased from Mrs. E. J. Whyte.

IN LAKEFIELD AND DISTRICT

LAKEFIELD, September 15. — School has re-opened with an increased number of pupils in both High and Public Schools. The staff of the High School consists of J. M. Simpson, principal, and Miss Corkery and Mrs. F. S. Brown, assistants.

The Public School staff consists of Miss Duff, principal, Misses Kennedy, Preston, Payne and Charlton.

The Grove School re-opened this week with a large number of boys.

The Lakefield Exhibition will be held on 25th and 226th September and the officers and members of the committee are in good spirits, and are preparing to make 1923 the banner year. They are convinced that the bad weather which has marred their day for the past few years has been charmed away by their persistent optimism.

Mrs. W. McAllister Sym, of Grassy Island, Stoney Lake, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Burgess for a few days this week.

The stork called on Mr. and Mrs. George H. Spence on Monday evening and left them a little son.

Miss Walton, who spent the past six weeks with her sister, Mrs. F. J. Burgess, returned to Rochester on Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. H. Charlton have returned to the village from Kawartha Park, where they spent the summer.

Miss Dorothy Turner spent a day with Mrs. Bert Watley in Peterborough this week.

W. MacAllister Sym, of Toronto, is spending the week-end at Grassy Island, Stoney Lake. Mr. and Mrs. Sym will close their cottage and return to Toronto early next week.

Mrs. E. J. Sanderson and Miss Ada Sanderson have returned home from a visit to friends in Toronto.

SAVE TIMOTHY FOR SEED

Tests made at the Experimental Station Kentville go to show that it is quite profitable for one to grow his own timothy seed. This may be done by seeding timothy at the rate of 10 pounds per acre when seeding down. Or if 8 pounds of timothy 8 pounds of red clover and 2 pounds of alsike are seeded a good even stand of clear timothy will be secured the second year after seeding. It is seldom that there is not a fairly clean stand of timothy somewhere on a farm; such area should be reserved for seed purposes. It does not mean a great loss of hay as the straw after threshing is of fair quality and can be fed unless badly weathered. It was found that a seeding of timothy alone in 1920 gave in 1921 280 pounds of timothy seed and 2 220 pounds of straw per acre after threshing. The harvesting was done August 4th and as the season was dry the seed ripened rapidly. This same area produced 157 pounds of seed and 2475 pounds of hay per acre in 1922. A considerable amount of other grasses particularly red top was noticeable in the 1922 cutting. An adjoining area seeded in 1920 with the clover and timothy mixture mentioned above yielded 186 pounds of timothy seed and 3052 pounds of timothy straw per acre in 1922. This seed was of particularly good quality and much better than the seed from the area in timothy seed for two years.

The practice here is to leave the timothy that is to be cut for seed standing until it is nicely filled and to cut with a binder. The sheaves are stooked neatly and allowed to standi for two or three weeks or until the heads shell readily. It is then taken in and threshed in a threshing mill or with a flail. It sometimes happens that birds cause a great loss from shelling in which case the sheaves should be taken inside to a loft and allowed to stand until they can be threshed.

MILK SNAKE'S EGGS FOUND IN CLUSTER

Casually Mistaken For Fungus at Apsley — Nights Are Frosty.

APSLEY, Sept. 17.—A rather unusual and interesting specimen of natural history was discovered by Hugh McColl one day this week in the form of a cluster of six snake's eggs. They were taken to be at first a distorted and misshapen fungus, resembling that more than anything else, but on opening one out came what is known locally as a milk snake nine inches long. The eggs are elliptical in shape, one and a half inches in length, and are hatching out voluntarily, the young snakes being quite lively.

Outriders of Winter.

The first real touch of winter came on Thursday with a shower of hail, preceded by few flakes of snow, and on Thursday night the thermometer registered four degrees of frost. As a consequence corn, tomatoes and potatoes were blackened. There was also a thin coating of ice on Tuesday morning, with the thermometer at 31 degrees.

On Tuesday evening an enjoyable dance was given by Mrs. Zack Tucker in honor of her daughter, Charlotte, which was attended by a large number of guests in spite of the heavy rain. The music was supplied by Messrs. John Coones and John McColl.

The surveyors who have been for the past few weeks engaged in surveying the road to Bancroft have completed the work, and left Apsley, which has been their headquarters, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Rundle of Norfolk, V., who have been visiting at Hilton's Camp on Loon Lake, returned to their home on Wednesday.

Active building operations are going on in the village. Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Windsor's house is nearly completed, and a good start has been made on Mr. Ben. Coones' new house.

Mrs. Dean has purchased Mr. Marvey Trickey's residence in the village.

NEWS OF HASTINGS AND THE DISTRICT

Rains Benefit Farm Lands But Frost Damages the Tomato Plants.

HASTINGS, Sept. 17.—The recent rains will prove a boon to the farmer as far as the cultivation of the soil is concerned. Plowing was almost impossible on some clay soils, and it was with the greatest difficulty that the land could be got into condition for the sowing of the wheat. Corn and roots will also benefit greatly, while the pasture, which was so dead, is once more showing green.

A great many local citizens attended the Peterborough Exhibition.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Plant were in Peterborough on Friday.

Dr. J. H. and Mrs. Hess are in Ottawa attending the Exhibition.

The frost of Thursday night damaged the tomato plants in some sections.

Mr. W. Rogers has leased the farm of Mr. Geo. Hogg on the Norwood road for a term of years.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hogg are visiting friends in Peterborough.

Mrs. Alex. Wilson has returned from a Peterborough hospital much benefited.

A few cases of scarlet fever are reported in this vicinity, and Miss Mae Hinton's school in the Fleming Settlement is closed in consequence.

SUICIDE WAVE SWEEPS JAPAN

By CLARENCE DUBOSE

TOKYO (By mail to United Press).—A wave of suicides swept Japan this summer.

The authorities, seriously alarmed at the spread of a morbid cult, are attempting—so far futilely—to check the tendency.

Suicides are always more or less common in Japan. But recently the idea has become almost epidemic.

It started not long ago when Arishima, the most popular contemporary Japanese novelist, committed "shinju," or double-suicide, by hanging, with one of the best-known woman editors in the Japanese magazine world.

Each left families and letters explaining that since their love could not result in marriage, they had decided to kill themselves, together, in the old Japanese way.

All Japan became highly excited over the affair. Controversies, justifying and condemning the act, raged everywhere. Some of the most prominent literati and liberals in Japan, both men and women, defended the lovers and their deed.

To try to get the picture in American terms: Imagine your favorite present-day novelist and one of the most prominent women publicists in America hanging themselves at the novelist's Newport villa. Imagine everybody, from cabinet members to street-car conductors, defending or condemning it. Imagine some of the most famous women feature writers in your favorite newspaper defending the act absolutely. Imagine, on the whole, a much greater volume of defense than condemnation, both from newspapers and from prominent writers.

Suicide Epidemic

That's about the way the matter stood—and then all over Japan impressionable youths and maidens began to follow suit.

Little Johnnie Jones and Gertie, the soda-fountain cashier—again putting it in American terms—reading and talking about the thing night and day decide, since they love each other very much, that they will stand hand in hand beside the "L" track and throw themselves under an express train. They do.

Jimmie Smith and Lucille, the manicurist, for the selfsame reason that they love each other very much, and it's the fashion to do this way, take a trip to Coney, hop overboard from the Iron Boat, and drown. Others take a whirl at rat poison, and some adopt messier forms of passing out.

This wave of morbid psychology, however interesting an analytical study, has assumed most serious proportions in Japan, as the authorities see it. They're now trying to choke off discussion of the entire business.

But it has gone so far that discussion can't be stopped. For instance recently a professor in a girl's school assigned "The Arishima Shinju" as a subject for essays. Three of the girls in the class have committed suicide and thec professor has been canned. At another school as "Arishima Club" has been organized—a pledge of membership being to perform shinju. An "Arishima dance" has even swept the night cafes of Tokyo.

Meanwhile Arishima's novels are selling like hot cakes. Always popular, his stuff has gone into a dozen extra editions in the last month. The presses can't turn 'em out fast enough for the demand.

Nine bodies of campers have th us far been recovered on the Lincoln Highway between Salt Lake City and Ogden, Utah, following a cloud burst recently. Huge boulders were washed into the canyon through which the highway runs. Traffic was blocked for four days.

BE CAUTIOUS OF SUBSTITUTES

There are several medicines on the Canadian market to relieve Kidney and Rheumatic Ailments, but there is one preparation that seldom fails to give quick relief and for that reason Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills are in a class by themselves.

This statement is vouched for by well known residents of this city. For instance Mr. Arthur Pinch, well known in the city, states that he was unable to work and suffered severe pains from backache, but after using three boxes of Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills, he was able to go back to work and is as well as ever.

Mr. Thos. Oldham, another well known Simcoe street resident, has no hesitation in saying that for Kidney and Rheumatic Ailments, there is no equal of Dr. Banta's Pills.

Never neglect Kidney Ailments as they are liable to lead to other complications, but always keep on hand a box of Banta's Pills. If they fail to do what we claim for them, return your box to your dealer and your money will be refunded.

Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills are sold at Lynch's Drug Store, 168 Hunter street. Mail orders attended to promptly. m.w.-84

CLOTHIERS WILL GIVE A DEMONSTRATION

CHICAGO, Sept. 17 (Associated Press).—From the wool on a sheep's back to a suit of clothes on a man's back including all the various evolutions necessary to such an operation is to be demonstrated at the annual ex-Retail Clothiers which will be held in Chicago the last week in September.

It will be an official demonstration as the bureau of standards of the economic department of the United States has loaned its complete woolen mill for the occasion and also will send three government experts to cooperate in the conversion.

The object is to give the man who buys clothing a clear idea of the work necessary to turn out the finished article and also concrete knowledge of the actual cost entailed in such transformation.

Unshorn sheep will be driven into the Municipal Pier where the exposition is to be held through one entrance and the man will walk out another entrance wearing a suit of clothes made from the material obtained from wool sheared from these animals.

An expert accountant will follow every move of the operation and make an official record of the actual cost of each individual part of the work and when the suit is finished the public will be given the official figures.

The retailers also will have a booth of efficiency experts who will show how much of an expense is incurred by the retailer in selling clothes.

DIGESTION.

A positive working programme of health includes, as its chief aim, a normal cell-nourishing blood stream as the result of proper vitamines and food content that make for perfect digestion.

Indigestion is often the result of bolted food. Food improperly cooked will cause gas in the stomach, bloating and belching. The same diet continually month after month is another cause. Poisons in improper food, coffee, tobacco and lack of exercise resulting in constipation also induce chronic cases of indigestion.

The teeth, stomach, small and large intestines must all do their part to insure a perfect digestion and healthful elimination. Brush the teeth carefully night and morning and after each meal if possible. One hardly realizes the importance of good teeth until they are lost.

A thorough chewing of food holds it in the mouth until mixed with saliva, the first of the digestive fluids. For good stomach digestion, regularity in taking meals is best. Don't ever eat all you want. Eating whenever you are hungry, means overwork for the stomach.

Vegetables and fruits are rich in the juices and acids that aid digestion. Good stomach digestion aids the small intestinal digestion to a large degree. The large intestines must be kept free and open, after the remaining nutriment of the food mass has been absorbed. To aid this process, walking, bending and reaching exercises will keep the large intestines active.

Don't eat to excess of fats, sugars or starches. Don't become a tea or coffee fiend. Remember that pure drinking water is a great aid to digestion.

REPAIRING ROAD MARMORA-MADOC.

Marble Cliff Pavilion Closed For the Season—Summer Gaiety Ending.

MARMORA, Sept. 17.—There are some extensive improvements being made on the Marmora-Madoc road. Consequently this section of the road is in poor condition for travelling at the present time.

The young people evidently think the time for outdoor jollificati - is drawing to a close. Last Tuesday night a number of young people from Marmora and Deloro went to Crowe Lake for a corn roast, and had a dance afterwards at the pavilion.

Wednesday afternoon another crowd of young people rowed down the river for a picnic and camp-fire.

The last dance of the season was held at Marble Cliff Pavilion on Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Hutton of Wingham visited the latter's sister, Mrs. Litt, on Tuesday of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. McCracken and Miss Clara and Mr. Allen McCracken of Warsaw motored to Marmora on Friday and spent the day at the Methodist parsonage.

Mrs. Alex. Kennedy broke her arm on Friday.

Rev. Mr. Watson, Mr. and Mrs. R. Pearce and son, Tom, and Mrs. Litt and daughter, Kathleen, motored to Peterborough on Thursday afternoon.

Miss Dora Osborne, teacher at Warsaw, spent the week-end at her home.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Taylor of Warsaw spent the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. Clare.

Will Hold Bazaar.

The Ladies' Aid of the Methodist Church held the first meeting since the holidays on September 12 at the home of Mrs. F. N. Marrett. It was decided to hold a bazaar early in December and plans were made for this. The hostess served a dainty lunch after the meeting.

Miss Alma Osborne attended Peterborough Fair on Friday.

Scientific magazines tell how J. D. Dunlop invented the pneumatic rubber tire. His little child, riding in a baby carriage, objected to the bumps of ordinary wheels. So he took rubber rubes, filled them with water and fastened them to the wheels. Later he got the idea of filling the tubes with air instead of water.

From this came the pneumatic tire used on autos and bicycles.

"Fight film on your teeth daily"

No prettier teeth without that

Do you know that leading dentists all the world over now advise a new way of teeth cleaning? They urge people to fight film.

Millions of careful people follow that advice. You see the results in whiter teeth wherever you go today.

This offers you a ten-day test to show what that method means.

What film does

Film is that viscous coat you feel. Much of it resists the tooth brush, clings and stays.

Soon that film discolors, then forms dingy coats. That's how white teeth lose luster.

Film also causes most tooth troubles. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Few people who brush teeth in old ways escape some film-caused trouble.

Two better ways

Dental science has found two ways to fight that film. One acts to disintegrate the film at all stages of formation. The other removes it without harmful scouring.

Those methods were subjected to many careful tests. Then a new-type tooth paste was created to apply them daily. The name is Pepsodent.

Now careful people of some 50 nations employ it, largely by dental advice.

Far cleaner teeth

Pepsodent also multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva, also its starch digestant. One is there to neutralize acids, the other to digest starch deposits. Every use of Pepsodent gives them manifold effect.

That means far cleaner teeth. And they come without harm to enamel, without harsh grit.

These things are bringing a new era in teeth cleaning. You see the results in whiter teeth among careful people everywhere. Now we urge that you obtain them for the people in your home.

Protect the Enamel

Pepsodent disintegrates the film, then removes it with an agent far softer than enamel. Never use a film combatant which contains harsh grit.

Why "HIS MASTER'S VOICE" VICTROLA dominates!

Victrola sound-boxes are of simple effective construction. No complicated parts to keep adjusted; just simplified and perfected to the finest degree by years of specialization. This is why this vital part of the instrument delivers every variation of tone in a pleasing, exact and perfect manner all the time—also one of the reasons why the worlds greatest artists have chosen "HIS MASTER'S VOICE" Victrola as the only instrument capable of fully interpreting their great genius.

"HIS MASTER'S VOICE" is the voice of an endless programme of living entertainment, known as "The theatre of the Home"—and how appropriate! For whatever your mood—whatever the climatic conditions—the price of an orchestra chair is a mere pittance—and it is yours to say what entertainment shall unfold.

The imaginary curtain rises—a momentary hush—and then—it is the immortal voice of CARUSO singing "FOR YOU ALONE"—and true to the title of the song he is singing for YOU alone—You and YOURS comprise his audience.

An intermission—someone calls for modern melody—the "Great White Way" orchestra has entered your home—unseen—to play "CAROLINA MAMMY".—Your eyes have closed and you have difficulty in believing that these musicians are not indeed on a stage and that you have an orchestra seat in a REAL theatre.—It is just as though these living entertainers had been invited to YOUR home for YOUR special hour of happiness.

Such is the spell of "HIS MASTER'S VOICE" Victrola and ("HIS MASTER'S VOICE"-VICTOR RECORDS)—they alone—are capable of giving you this sense of COMPLETE FULFILLMENT and perfect reproduction.

And this very perfection of performance—this very superiority—has influenced many to refer to all instruments as Victrolas.—It is a compliment which we look upon with disfavor for it not only defeats your best interests but ours as well.

For your protection every genuine Victrola bears our famous trade-mark "HIS MASTER'S VOICE"—make sure it is on the instrument you buy.

INCREASED SERVICE AT LESS COST IN THE P.O. DEPT.

Judging from some remarkable results in the way of enlarged service to the public, coupled with decreased cost of administration of the Post Office Department during the past fiscal year, Hon. Chas. Murphy—"Genial Fighting Charlie"—Canada's Postmaster General, certainly earned the three months' recuperative holiday he took last Session. Mr. Murphy started in some eighteen months ago to houseclean thoroughly the big department of which he took charge. Economy and efficiency were made meaningful words and were applied to every branch of the service with Mr. Murphy's characteristic energy and decision. He overworked on the job and last winter suffered a nervous breakdown. Under doctors' orders he took a long rest in the south. He returned last month and is now again actively superintending the big smoothly-running department and pointing with justifiable pride to the results already achieved.

For the first time in the history of Canada, the department is able to present an annual statement showing decreased cost of administration despite largely increased service to the public. For the fiscal year ending March 31st last, the revenue increased by $2,707,694, while the expenditures show a reduction of $326,923. This means a net betterment, as compared with the previous twelve months, of $3,034,617. The business of the department continued to expand and the mail matter handled was larger than ever before. By the adoption of more businesslike methods and the co-ordination and economizing in the services rendered, the Postmaster General was enabled to show this remarkable betterment without withholding necessary expansion in any direction and without interfering at all with the convenience of the public.

The increase in revenue is due, in large measure, to the larger revenue from parcel post facilities, including the insurance and C. O. D. features, and thes marked increase in money order business. In the month of May last, for instance, the department sold over one million money orders as compared with 750,000 for May of last year.

In the economies effected were included from $300,000 per year in better organization; $400,000 per year in railway transportation of mail; and $50,000 per year through a simplified form of dealing with registered mail.

United States Postal Conference

In December last the postal conference between the United States and Canadian authorities resulted in changes in the postal arrangements of considerable advantage to both countries. Agreements were reached facilitating the exchange of mail between Canada and the United States and providing for a more equitable division of the expense involved. As a result of the conference, Canada was saved at one stroke, $110,000 per annum which was formerly paid for the conveyance of American mails across Canadian territory from Buffalo to Detroit, the United States authorities agreeing to take up that payment.

A further advantage secured by Canada was in increased payments by the United States on express parcels carried to Canada aggregating about $300,000 per annum. These are some of the new sources of revenue of the Post Office Department.

Among other advantages accruing to Canada from the conference are the increased facilities for parcel post exchange, reciprocal arrangements for insurance of parcels, increased indemnity for lost registered articles, better special delivery service, improved money order service, more convenient arrangements for the treatment of the mail matter posted without sufficient postage and a very much improved exchange of the dead letter service between the two countries.

Arrangements were also made under which parcels from Canada will be conveyed through the United States to all South American countries with some of which, such as Argentine and Brazil, it is anticipated, that considerable parcel post business may develop. This new arrangement means a saving of from three to four weeks in time, as previously, parcels for South America had to be sent to England and thence shipped back across the Atlantic to South America.

Dominion Postal Conference

In pursuance of a policy inaugurated in the month of February, 1922, weekly business conferences are held in the Post Office Department at which the heads of the several branches are present. These conferences have had results beneficial alike to the department and the public. As an extension of that policy, a conference of Dominion postal officials was called in October, 1922. The purpose, broadly speaking, was a desire to promote co-operation between employees of the postal service of Canada, and to increase and extend the efficiency of that service. The results of the conference amply justified the expectations of those who collaborated in arranging it. Discussions took place which have since served as the basis for the consideration of the policies of the department and improvements in postal arrangements have resulted and are continuing to result which are proving of material advantage to the postal service and the public at large.

In the first half hour of this conference an agreement was reached regarding a change in the method of dealing with registered letters, whereby for the future the records will be simplified and forms in the nature of acknowledgements of registered mails will be discarded. It is estimated that this alone will result in an annual saving of at least $50,000.

C. O. D. Service

A Post Office C. O. D. Service was established in October last, and is providing an additional commercial facility which business firms, particularly retailers and those in various lines of repair business, apparently appreciate. The number of C. O. D. articles mailed since October, 1922, has increased from 14,684 in that month to 39,000 in June last. The increase since Christmas has been gradual and shows that this service is becoming very popular. The total number for the eight months the service has been in operation is approximately $200,000. The C. O. D. fees and the additional postage which this business has brought in show a favorable balance for the eight months of approximately $70,000.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Methodists Hold Financial District Meeting — Will Raise $10,000 For Missions—Real Estate Deals

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 17.—The Financial District meeting of the Campbellford District was held on Friday in the Methodist church, the district being well represented, and the chairman, Rev. C. W. Barrett, of Stirling, presiding.

The forenoon was devoted largely to the consideration of the several connexional funds. The financial needs of the departments were discussed and the financial objectives sent down from the offices of General Secretaries were accepted by the district.

The district will aim to raise $10,000 for Missions, and this amount was allotted in proper proportions to the various circuits on the district.

The afternoon session was taken up with addresses on vital themes by able speakers. Rev. R. A. Whatam, of Colborne, President of the Conference, spoke chiefly of the Church Union question, stating briefly what had been done already and what remained to be done, emphasizing the thought that the Church must be careful to catch and use all the inspiration and power that ought to come through such a movement.

Rev. Mr. Morgan, returned Missionary from China, spoke of Mission work in China and stated that the great need of that country was clear vision and a true heart. He expressed the belief that the great hope for China was in Christianity and not so much in any particular form of government.

Rev. Mr. Campbell addressed the meeting on Evangelism, showing that evangelism lies at the base of all our Christian work. He spoke most favorably of religious education for children but emphasized the thought that the Church must still keep up its work for the adult who has not yet accepted the Christ.

A very impressive and inspiring session was brought to a close by a period of earnest prayer in which several took part.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS

T. L. Diamond has negotiated the following real estate sales:

The farm of Seymour Waller in Rawdon township to Arnold Wannamaker of Stirling, who will take possession 1st of November.

The residence on the River Road known as the Maun property, to Fred Keller of Healey Falls. Mr. Keller will move into his new home 1st October.

Rev. L. Slingerland's residence on Kent street, to Robert McArthur, Seymour, who takes possession at once. Mr. Slingerland, who since March last, has been presiding elder of the Free Methodist District here, was transferred to Toronto at the recent meeting of Conference held at Newmarket.

HAUL TOO COSTLY FOR ALBERTA FUEL

Report Says Experimental Low Rates to Ontario Are Abandoned.

MONTREAL, Sept. 17 (Canadian Press).—Alberta Coal as a competitor with American anthracite appears to be an impossibility, owing to geographical conditions and cost of long haul. As a result, experimental low rates on Canadian National Railways have been abandoned and rates returned to ordinary tariff, which means the impossibility of hauling Alberta coal to Ontario at rates to compete with Pennsylvania anthracite.

Reports to the officials were last night confirmed by J. E. Dalrymple, superintendent Canadian National Railways in charge of traffic, who made the following statement:

"The tariff on coal from Alberta to Ontario points has been advanced to $12.70 per net ton of 2,000 pounds. In other words, certain tariffs have been in effect to limited territory, and it is now proposed to cover points, Ottawa and west and Brockville and west, at a tariff of $12.70 per ton.

CAR DISTRIBUTORS URGE TAX REFUND.

Dealers Forced Into Liquidation, Says Representative.

OTTAWA, Sept. 17.—Speaking at the exhibition directors' luncheon here Saturday, J. R. Dixon, of the Automotive Section of the Retail Merchants' Association, made a strong plea for a refund of one and a half million dollars collected from the automobile distributors under the luxury tax since repealed. The automobile dealers said Mr. Dixon, were treated differently from any other class of tax-payers in that the tax was collected in advance.

"Every section of the community and the press," Mr. Dixon stated, "are supporting us in our claim. The imposition of the tax and the manner in which it worked out forced a dozen distributors into liquidation and put them in a humiliating position. Is there any reason why a refund should be withheld? Ten dealers in Ottawa lost $27,000 as a result of the tax. An injustice exists and I maintain it should be righted," said Mr. Dixon.

FIND EMPLOYMENT FOR HARVEST HELP.

Special Effort to Place Britishers at Other Work.

OTTAWA, Sept. 17 (Canadian Press)—W. M. Jones, director of Administration of the Soldier Settlement Board, has been assigned by Hon. James A. Hobb, Minister of Immigration, who also has charge of the Soldier Settlement Board to co-ordinate the efforts of the different agencies engaged in finding work for the thousands of British young men who came to Canada in August to work in the harvest fields of Western Canada. A large number of them will find themselves without employment once the threshing is completed, and in the majority of cases they intend to remain in Canada if they can place their services.

The department of immigration and colonization, the employment services of Canada as also the railway companies, are actively engaged in trying to place these recent British arrivals, who include skilled as well as unskilled workers, and already a number have found permanent jobs. A number, trained in shipbuilding work, have been engaged by a shipbuilding firm at Collingwood, Ont.

Attendance Decrease at Ottawa Exhibition.

OTTAWA, Sept. 17.—The 1923 exhibition closed on Saturday night with a record attendance for the last day. Nineteen thousand passed through the gates after 5 o'clock, mainly to participate in the Mardi Gras celebration bringing the total attendance for the day up to 54,500 as compared with 51,000 in 1922. For the entire week the total attendance was 306,700 as compared with 307,000 last year.

It will be some days before even an approximate estimate may be made of the financial success of the exhibition but the directors and management are confident that there will be a comfortable balance on the right side.

Police Find Cocaine in Chinese Teashop.

PORT ARTHUR, Sept. 17.—Provincial police at Fort Frances with the co-operation of the city police of International Falls, on the Minnesota side of the Rainy River, carried out a raid on a tea shop conducted by Chinese at Fort Frances, Saturday and found a cache of cocaine in a wood pile back of the shop. Lee Gum, the proprietor, and two drug addicts, are on remand for trial. Bail has been set at $14,000 for the three.

CHARGED WITH FRAUD

OTTAWA, Sept. 17.—Robert S. Carter, Detroit, appeared in the local police court Saturday, he was remanded until Monday. Carter was arrested here by Detective MacDonald on a charge of fraud laid by the Toronto police who stated that Carter had sold two Toronto men the sole rights for the Auto Radiator Co. of Sarnia, and had accepted money from both. He is being held for the Toronto police.

KILLED BY STREET CAR

OTTAWA, Sept. 17.—William H. O'Connell, 58, a C.P.R. employee, was instantly killed on Saturday night when he was run over by an Ottawa electric railway westbound car on Wellington street. O'Connell was standing on the eastbound tracks, apparently waiting for the car to pass, when he suddenly fell on the westbound tracks before the car could be brought to a stop. Harry O'Connell, of Toronto, is a son, and Irene O'Connell, of Montreal, is a daughter.

Amazing Evidence Is Given by Mrs. Sheppley

"Tanlac has meant health and happiness to me and I wish that I could tell every sick person in Canada what a grand medicine it is," says Mrs. Amelia Shippley, well known and highly esteemed resident of 157 McNab Street North, Hamilton, Ont: "I have not only gained nineteen pounds in weight but am now free of stomach trouble that had made life miserable for me for four long years.

"This stomach trouble was so bad that I was not eating anything to speak of and I remember once that I went for two whole days without touching food. Many a time there was so much gas on my stomach that I thought I would surely die, and I would have to strain every muscle in my body to get my breath. The smothering spells at night were terrible and I would have to sit up in bed with the lights on, unable to lie down for fear that my breath would leave me entirely. My heart would palpitate and skip until I thought that I had heart trouble, and to add to my burden of suffering my nerves got all unstrung, and I would tremble like a person ninety years old. Many days I did not get out of bed, much less do my housework.

"I tried so many medicines without getting any benefit that I didn't think anything would help me. But when I got Tanlac it did not take but one bottle to convince me it was the very medicine I had been needing all along, and now, after taking seven bottles, I am again a well and happy women. Why, just yesterday for dinner I ate a big plate of ham, cabbage, potatoes, carrots and peas, besides some broth and dessert. I could not have done that two months ago for one thousand dollars. My heart beats regularly, and all that nervousness, fear and sleeplessness is gone, too. I could just shout for joy for the way Tanlac has made a new woman of me is little short of a miracle."

MARKED SITES OF TORTURE AND DEATH

PENTANGUISHENE, Sept. 17—Two and three quarter centuries of neglect came to an end yesterday when Canada's most ancient historical ruins Fort Saint Marie I and Fort Saint Marie II were officially marked and commemorated by the Historic Sites and Monuments' Board of Canada.

The spot upon which heroic missionaries, Jean DeBrebouf and Gabriellalement unflinchingly suffered martyrdom and torture at the hands of Iroquois rather than desert their Huron converts has been presented to Canadian people by Charles Newton upon whose lands the ancient site has been located. The sacred spot was also marked with a large cairn yesterday.

The ceremonies were attended by many of foremost historians and research workers of the Dominion including Brig-Gen. E. A. Cruickshank chairman of the Historac Sites and Monuments' Board H. P. Biggar, European representative of Dominion Archhives eDpartment; L. J. Burpee Ottawa, President of Canadian Historical Society; Rev. Father E. J. Devine of Montreal, representing the Jesuit Order, to which the martyred missionaries of Huronia elonged; A. F. Hunter, secretary of Ontario Historical Society; James H. Coyne of the Historical Sites and Monuments Board; James Mitchell Goderich of the Dominion Archhives and officers of the Historical Societies of Penetanguishine, Midland and Orillia.

C. E. Wright, M.L.A. and Mayor Payette of Penetanuishine, entertained the visitors at the Midland Golf and Country Club. Ovide Sious of Lorette Grand Chief of the remanent of the Huron nation descended from the survivors of the massacre, missed train connection and telegraphed his regrets from Allandale.

ADDED OUTLETS AND WINTER HEATING.

With Winter rapidly approaching and fuel at a premium the Fates have combined to emphasize the importance of the electric wiring in the nine million homes of the country which enjoy the convenience of electric service. Whole states will experience difficulty in securing adequate coal for house heating and it will be imperativ for the more favored communities to conserve their coal supplies to the utmost. No coal should be wastefully consumed. There will be a crying need for every pound of fuel which can be collected from the Atlantic to the Pacific and from Canada to Mexico. Frugality in coal burning will be imposed upon all.

Heat energy will be at a premium and one excellent way of making most effective use of the limited supply is to employ the electric fan used in the summer to temper the surplus heat for distributing and circulating the warmed air from radiators and heaters. A substantial saving in coal consumed will result if this is done. Then the judicious use of electric heaters will add greatly to the comfort of the home atmosphere. Judicious is emphasized for though every effort will be expended to keep the light and power companies running full blast these public utilities will also have to husband their coal reserves.

This all means that the provisions for the use of electricity in the home should be promptly increased. The outlets used in summer for electric fans will be similarly utilized in the winter. Accommodations for electric heaters should be provided for light sockets possibly available in summer for other uses will be required for their true function during the shorter days of Winter. Additional convenience outlets are needed for the electric heaters and for greater utilization of electrical conveniences invariably desired no matter how craefully the home may have been wired originally.

HELD ON CHARGE OF CRIMINAL ASSAULT

Peter Munroe, Alias Hickerson, Arrested by Campbellford Police Chief.

CAMPBELLFORD, September 17—Peter Munroe alias Hickerson, 35 years old, was arrested here on Sunday afternoon by Police Chief Duncalfe on a warrant charging him with criminal assault, the complainant being a married woman in Marmora.

The prisoner was taken back to that village last evening by Constable Gillen, who came after him as soon as he was notified of the arrest.

The alleged offence was committed two years ago, and Munroe was arrested at that time but managed to break away from the authorities, who have been looking for him ever since.

The Chief was on his way home to dinner when he noticed a car stalled a short distance from his home on Centre Street. The car belonged to Joseph Lindsay, of Seymour, and Munroe was with him.

The Chief's son was helping Lindsay to get the car in running order again.

Telephoning to Marmora from his residence, the Chief was assured that Munroe was still wanted, and going out to the car he placed him under arrest.

Munroe tried to run, but the officer was too quick for him. He offered the Chief $50.00 for his liberty, but was warned that he was liable to have another charge, that of attempting to bribe an officer, laid against him.

Munroe has been working, he said, at various places in the district since his escape from Marmora. He was in Campbellford for the Twelfth of July, and the Chief got a glimpse of him then, but lost him in the crowd.

Another Fire.

The firemen were called about 9 o'clock on Sunday night to the residence on Sebastopol street owned by R. S. Southworth, and occupied by C. Collins, who recently arrived from England to take a position as foreman in the carding department of the Campbellford Cloth Company. The woodwork in the rear of the kitchen stove caught fire but this was put out without turning on the hose, and the damage was but slight.

Solid crowns of silver cloth petals are seen on certain of the fall hats. The brims are of black panne.

Guide Posts of Business

RIDING along an unfamiliar road, you depend upon sign posts to guide you. Whether you're hitting the thank-you-mams in a flivver or soaring along in a costly car, they do their work equally well.

To-day, as you spend your money to fill your needs, advertisements are waiting to direct you. They are the guide posts of business. They point the short, straight road to satisfaction in buying. They will serve you well, whether you spend much or little.

Do you stop to read the advertisements? They are published to tell you exactly where to go for what you want. They lead you to values of which you would never know were they not there to guide you.

And remember that advertising always points out goods of unquestioned value. When a store or manufacturing concern puts its name on goods and tells you about them, you may be sure that they are worth consideration. It does not pay to advertise unworthy merchandise.

NATIONAL SHOE Sept. 17th to 22nd WEEK

"HOMAGE TO BEAUTY AND STYLE"

FROM the courtly days of our ancestors—"when knighthood was in flower"—to our more practical era, there has ever been a keen response to grace and beauty of style. Invariably the refinements of detail identify the shoe of pre-eminent value. And yet how many when choosing their apparel fail on that one point? One has but to turn their head, and in many cases you will find someone in handsome street costume with a pair of slippers fit only for the boudoir or ball-room. Madam should have footwear for every costume and it is the main purpose of the shoe dealers throughout Canada during this one week to combine their efforts to increase the sale of better shoes in the Dominion.

PATENT OXFORD

Footwear fashions show appealing newness. The patent oxfords of Fall will provide final touches of comfort and smartness to many costumes. Very attractive lasts in black patent have designs outlined with two rows of grey silk stitching, low flanged heels and Goodyear welt soles. These are obtainable in B, C and D widths, and in sizes 3 to 7. Priced at $8.00

SECOND FLOOR

STRAP SLIPPERS

How well the new shoes for Fall show such a tempting array of browns. This calf strap slipper for instance in a rich shade of brown has panels and straps of bamboo buck in a lighter shade, cuban heels and welted soles are other admirable features of this snug fitting shoe. Strap effects are much in evidence and are more likeable than ever. Priced at

FOOT STYLE AND COMFORT FOR MEN

A man maintains his self-respect and his reputation for neatness by keeping his shoes up to the mark. An extra pair of shoes is as logical to-day as an extra pair of trousers. There is more sense in keeping wrinkles out of shoes than out of trouser knees. No man is well dressed who neglects his pedal extremities, and the fellow who ambles about these days in shapeless, run-down shoes advertises himself as a back number. As a matter of good business, wear decent shoes.

TAN CALF OXFORDS

One may be assured of style from tip to heel and sturdy quality through and through. Real men will take an infinite amount of pleasure and satisfaction from these shoes. All have rubber heels. Priced at

LOSS OF CHURCHES IS SERIOUSLY FELT

TORONTO, Sept. 17 (Canadian Press—The effect of the Japan disaster on Christian missions in that country will vary as widely as methods of work vary, according to statements given out by officials of the Methodist Missionary Society. What is called newspaper evangelism, which is really a campaign of advertising and correspondence, need scarcely be affected at all, but the loss of churches, schools, orphanages and social settlements will be seriously felt.

By adopting the use of modern advertising the "follow-up" methods in Christian propaganda the Canadian missionaries appear to have prevented the destruction of their enterprise in Dai Nippon. The first generation of Canadian preachers and physicians in Japan relied upon the Japanese thirst for the English language and western culture to get a hearing for Christianity. Today their colleges have to turn away hundreds of students. Last year the Kwansei Gakuin or Methodist College at Kobe accepted 1,600 students and because of insufficient staff and buildings had to reject 1,200 applications.

But in recent years many congregations had been established and by Canadian and Japanese gifts churches had been built up in the larger cities in the devastated area. More recently still the workers, notably Dr. Daniel Norman, now on furlough on Toronto, turned to newspaper evangelism.

During 1922, his latest year of work along this line, Dr. Norman had more than eight hundred letters of enquiry and thanks. When leaving for Canada he was able to turn over to his temporary successor a list of 560 persons who were under his instructions by mail, so effective had his advertisements, letters and pamphlets proved. He has sold over a hundred New Testaments to inquirers and has had 21 baptisms from those on his list.

Naturally Dr. Norman is an enthusiast in favor of this modern method of reaching the people in the rural sections. He points out that, like Canada, Japan is a newspaper reading country, covered by newspaper circulation as by nothing else. This is due to the fact that while illiteracy is practically unknown and nearly all have had a public school education, still the number who rely on anything but the daily or weekly newspaper is very small. The advertisements used are small in size but the campaign is continuous, and, owing to the scarcity of funds, very carefully planned. The following-up is individual and persistent and the good faith of applicants for further information is tested by charging them half the cost of the literature furnished.

LONDON LETTER

By MRS. CECIL CHESTERTON

LONDON, Sept. 17.—(By Mail).—The Crown Prince of Sweden with his son Prince Bertil and his daughter Princess Ingrid have fallen in with the present fashion of visiting London in the months of August and September. The family seems to have democratic tastes and to enjoy the informal style of their reception. The Crown Prince has become a familiar figure in the parks and the children's delight with Kensington Gardens takes them very often to the Round Pond where under the shadow of Peter Pan the young people thoroughly enjoy themselves. I understand a general tour of England's most attractive spots is to be made by the Crown Prince before he returns to Sweden. Another visitor lately arrived is Princess Ileana of Roumania. She is staying with a relative in the West of England and spends most of her days bathing from the Cornish coast. The artistic colony who have staked out that part of Cornwall for their own are enthusiastic as to the Princess's bathing dress which incorporates the national colors of Roumania, a soft blue with flaming vermilion. The wearer has a complexion which can stand the contrast.

London society is considerably stirred by the statement of the Bishop of London that the conditions prevailing in our parks and open spaces is scandalous. His Grace himself has not conducted a personal investigation, but a certain council for the promotion of public morality has employed men of great experience to "observe." These men state that they have seen many cases of impropriety. The Chief of the Office of Works, however, says that officials of his department visit Hyde Park night after night but never see anything more shocking than two young people kissing each other behind a bush. It was George Gissing who observed that the streets were the drawing room of the poor, in which case we may regard Hyde Park as their parlor. It is rumored that the Bishop desires an alteration in the by-laws which govern parks and open spaces, and intends to ask that Hyde Park may be closed at an earlier hour, while the army of overlookers shall be increased. The point is likely to be raised in the House at the next Session.

The company of Red Indians encamped at the Cystal Palace are enjoying London immensely. Two ancient Redskins, Chief Goes-In-The-Lodge and Standing Bear, who play prominent parts in "The Covered Wagon," shortly to be released in London, are impressive-looking persons. It was somewhat of a surprise, however, and a little disappointing, to discover that the old Chief was a Varsity man and had taken a brilliant degree in the States. In spite of degrees, however, they still wear their native moccasins, feathers and colored blankets, and each man carries a tomahawk. I am told that our Royal visitors from Sweden are giving the Chiefs a special reception. It is difficult to say whether the Chiefs or the hosts will be the more impressed.

For the first time at a West End theatre a woman is stage manager. "The Green Goddess," William Archer's melodrama, is being produced under the direction of Miss Maude Howell She is not, however, British but American. Mr. William Arliss who plays the lead is even more American than she is, though he was born in England. We have had many woman managers over here including Mrs. Patrick Campbell, Lady Wyndham, Miss Marie Lohr and Miss Gladys Cooper, but up to the present stage managers have been of the male sex, though their assistants are very often quite young girls. There seems to me no reason why we should not have a successful woman producer. There are already several in the States and I believe the experiment has been tried with great advantage in the film world. It will be interesting to see if Miss Howell's pretty but rather obvious twang affects the company. We can imagine an Eastern potentate using the Oxford accent, but Oxford-cum-New York in Central Asia would be startling!

The increasing number of motor accidents owing to the inexperience of owner-drivers is likely to lead to an alteration in the law. At present—unlike the Dominions or America—any owner can take out a license on payment of five shillings. The driver who plies for hire, however, has to pass a most severe test. But while owners without the slightest knowledge of a car are let loose on the public this affords but little protection. It is suggested that no owner should be given a license until he has shown himself qualified to handle a car and possessed of certain mechanical knowledge. So strong is public feeling on this question that while Scotland Yard looks after the taxi-drivers the London County Council licenses the owners. It is thought that the Automobile Association which only qualified motoists can join, will bring pressure to bear on the authorities.

The question of Policewomen for London has once again been raised. Scotland Yard considered that the expense attached to a special corps was not commensurate with their usefulness, and it was decided to demobolize the women. Lady Astor, however, opened a campaign for their retention, and as a compromise some twenty women were retained. Now a demand for the reinstatement of the corps has been launched. Scotland Yard is once again considering the question. The official argument against the policewomen is that they have not the right of arrest, their functions being mostly "advisory," such expenditure of public money is not justified.

BRAVE ACTOR

It's a brave movie actor who won't allow a man to double for him when doing a risky stunt. John Bowers leading man wouldn't, and now he's in bed nursing a broken leg. In trying to "bulldog" a steer, his foot caught in the stirrup of his saddle and his horse dragged him along the ground. The leg broke above the ankle.

SAVING SEED OF GARDEN PEAS AND BEANS

There is no apparent reason why every person who has a garden should not save seed of these two crops for planting the following year. The seed is easily harvested, can be safely stored in a dry place, and is usually of better vitality than that bought. If a variety does particularly well it should be retained for the next year. A great saving could be effected also, as a very small area will produce seed that would cost a dollar or two if bought. Further, if seed is saved, more is usually available for planting than would likely be bought, and in this way much more of these desirable vegetables will be grown.

When the peas have nicely matured, the vines are pulled without shelling the pods, and piled into small piles to dry. This takes from four days to a week, according to the weather. Should wet weather ensue and the piles become compact, they should be turned over to prevent the seed from remaining damp and spoiling. If a loft is available it is a good plan to take the vines inside and spread them thinly, when they will soon dry out. When the vines are nicely dried out in the field it has been found that to put them into bran bags and hang them up in a loft away from mice until they are threshed is a good plan. After they are threshed they can be placed away from mice and sorted over when time permits. If not for sale no sorting is necessary.

Beans, when nicely matured and after the leaves have been removed by frost, are pulled and allowed to dry for a day or two, when they may be handled in the same way as peas. If bean rust is present it is wise to select pods free from the disease before threshing, keeping this seed separate from the rest. Those showing the disease after being threshed should be sorted over carefully and any showing signs of blackened skin should be discarded. This is an indication of the presence of the disease, which is carried over in the seed.

It does not require much time to save the seed necessary for a good garden, and those who make a practice of saving their own seed are always pleased that they have done so. If it is desired to get into newer and better varieties and only a limited number of plants are being grown, a year or two of careful saving and selection of rust-free seed of these varieties will build up a satisfactory stock. The harvesting of garden peas and beans is not different from the method of harvesting similar field varieties of these crops.

A FARMER'S ACCOUNT BOOK

Any merchant handling several different lines of goods would regard it as folly to neglect to keep a complete set of books enabling him at all times to ascertain his profits and losses on the various commodities he sells, his assets and liabilities, and so on. A manufacturer who failed to do so would be heading for insolvency. It is curious, then, that Canada's basic industry—agriculture—should be carried on, so far as individual producers are concerned with it, in so casual a manner with regard to account-keeping. Especially is this strange when it is considered how simple farm book-keeping is by comparison with that of other businesses.

In a survey of some eight hundred farms conducted some time ago it was discovered that very few farmers indeed followed anything like a complete method of accounting, while a large number adopted absolutely none at all. These, beyond having a sort of general idea as to "what paid," were often quite hazy as to actual returns from different lines of work.

In order, if possible, to remedy this undesirable state of affairs the Dominion Experimental Farms system has published an extremely simple farmer's account book, which will adequately serve all necessary purposes. In size and thickness it is no larger than a school exercise book, and is designed to last a complete year. To "keep" it needs no knowledge of ordinary accounting; simply the ability to write and add; and a record of all transactions might be made in an hour a week. A few plain directions as to making entries, some aids to taking inventories, a table of silo capacities and a gestation table, are given on the insides of the cover, while on the back are printed calendars for last, this and next year.

In the book itself are pages for the entry of receipts and expenditures (both of which may be seen at a glance on the same page) relative to cattle, horses, sheep, swine, poultry, crops and labor; and there is also ample space for miscellaneous items. There is a page for amounts owed to and by the farm, and forms on which may be made inventories of land and buildings, of live stock, of feed and supplies, and of machinery. Following is a page on which may be filled out a summary of the year's business, together with the few directions necessary to filling it out intelligently at the end of the year. Further, for the farmer's information there is a table in which to enter acreage and yield of crops, and one in which to keep a live stock service record.

The whole thing has been reduced to the simplest possible terms, and should prove, to the general farmer, one of the most useful publications issued from the Experimental Farms for some time. It should be recognized that farming is a business, the same as any other. If a business is not paying, the owner of it wants to know just why it is not doing so. This little book will enable the farmer to keep an accurate record of each department of his business, find out how little, and so be able to adjust matters accordingly.

The "Farmer's Account Book" is obtainable from the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, at a nominal charge of ten cents. No postage need be placed on letters of application.

asked him to be baptized with the baptism that meant the acknowledgement of sins and the need for remission. John, with his keen insight looking into the eyes of Jesus, whom he did not know to be the Messiah, knew that here was one who needed no repentance. It is as if he had said, "I am calling men to repentance and remission of sins, but Thou hast no need of repentance." Jesus said "It becomes thus to fulfil all righteousness." The glory of the statement is in the last word, but the crux is in th first—"thus".

Righteousness Defined

"Righteousness is right" the speaker declared, "and right is a standard." Any standard that fails ceases to be a standard. "We must have a standard of right in which there is no variablesness. The standard of right is in God, and in individual men righteousness is perfect adjustment to God." Quoting Tagore in his statement that summer homes, motor cars and bank credit must not be put in the same category with God, the speaker declared that he did not think people did this today. "But they put these things where God should be and adjust their lives to them instead of to God," he declared. "The trouble with the world to-day is men are adjusting their lives to things and not to God. It may be that a man makes a bow to God once a week, but for the other six days he lives as if there was no God in the universe."

The man who is right with God cannot fail to be right with himself and with his fellow man. When humanity is right with God, and not until then, will swords be broken into pruning hooks and the nations learn war no more. Righteousness with things does not mean a man will not have a motor car, but he will drive it as he should. It does not mean he will not have a balance at the bank—he may have more credit and less cash. Righteousness begins with a man right with God and proceeds with a man right with other things.

In his winning way the speaker exhorted his hearers to follow righteousness that they might have a part in the Kingdom of God.

CANADIAN WOMAN WINS PRAISE FROM AMERICANS.

TORONTO, Sept. 17 (Canadian Press).—Miss Isobel Lount Evans, a former Toronto girl, is one of the many Canadian women who have won recognition for themselves in one way or another in the business or professional world across the border. Though she is a graduate of St. Luke's Hospital Training School, and during the war rendered valuable service in connection with the Red Cross Nursing Chapter in New York, Miss Evans' chief interest for the past ten years has been centred in her own pet enterprise—a laundry.

Because she has ever believed in and worked for the ultimate success of her venture, and because her energy and willingness to shoulder a burden were backed by an intimate scientific knowledge of textiles and their care, gained at Columbia University, Miss Evans has had the satisfaction of watching her little business expand until today her establishment frequently finds itself immersed, both figuratively and literally, in a sea of soiled laundry.

"We are very proud of the way Canadian girls have made good in the United States," declared Miss Evans. "They have worked hard, they have not shunned responsibility, and they have in most cases been well rewarded." She told the interviewer that she had had parcels come from as far as England, and one man in Florida sent up his weekly parcel of laundry all winter long.

ABOUT FORM LETTERS

You know what a form letter is—the kind sent to thousands of people ,all the letters identically alike except that the name of the recipients are carefully filled in to make each letter seem personal.

The form letters is claimed by modern advertisers as one of their inventions. But form letters were used by the Hebrews as far back as 500 years ago. Samples of these ancient missives are discovered among the rare manuscripts of the Elkan Nathan Adler library.

"There is nothing new under the sun."

One of the fifteenth century form letters was designed to be sent by fathers to sons who were neglecting their work at college. Quotation: "I heard a report today that made me tremble and my ears tingle; a report that you have relinquished your studies for the pursuit of pleasure and the follies of the world." And so on.

Another old-time letter was for dunning deadbeats. It apparently was the familiar No. 17 of a series: "I have your letter and have read your words, but they have passed into my ears as liquid that is poured into a funnel, entering at one end and leaving at the other. Your excuses do not please me. Do not suppose that you will succeed in concealing your designs." And so on.

The Adler collection of 500-year-old form letters is almost startling in the way it discolses that ancient people had much the same problems as we have today—deadbeats, wayward sons, etc. The collection gives forms of use in congratulating, borrowing money, proposing marriage, renewing friendships;In short, practically everything covered by a Model Letter Writer book such as was in common use a generation ago.

Life is an endless theatrical perfance. The actors and the stage settings change ,but the plot repeats through eternity.

BOTANISTS OPPOSE BUTTERFLY FARM PLAN; SEE DANGER IN PEST IF ALLOWED TO SCATTER.

A recent dispatch from Los Angeles, Cal., telling of the plan of John Hewlett of Redlands, Cal., to establish a butterfly farm on public domain has produced some unfavorable comment in botanical and horticultural circles. Mr. Hewlett's idea was to use forty acres, planting the entire tract in flowers particularly attractive to butterflies, raising them for their colors for decorative purposes.

Botanists say that this may prove a dangerous proposition for the farmers and fruit growers of California, and point out the havoc wrought by the browntail moth and the gypsy moth in New England. These butterflies, says one authority of the Western scheme, will not stay on the farm where they were hatched, but will fly away to other places and lay their eggs, which will hatch out into caterpillars and proceed to devour other people's crops and flowers.

In case Mr. Hewlett's application is granted, it will be safest to limit his activities to such species as are now found in that immediate locality, said Dr. W. E. Britton, State entomologist of the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station, who thinks it is a matter in which both the Federal and State authorities should be interested.

"If Mr. Hewlett's efforts are confined to the diurnal lepidoptera, or day-flying butterflies of his locality, there is no great danger of spreading pests to the farms of California," said Dr. Britton. "On the other hand, if he attempts to rear exotic species, especially of the moths, there is great danger that some serious pest may be introduced.

"It is true that some of our common butterflies are pests, but these species are now distributed all over the United States, so that a few more would make little difference. The great majority of butterfly species can hardly be classed as pests, and many of them in the larval stage feed upon obscure or unappreciated plants.

"In case of moths, however, there still remain many pests which have not yet been brought into the United States, and their presence here would be a calamity. Many other species not regarded as pests in their native habitat might become serious pests under the new and changed conditions."

In case Mr. Hewlett's application, recently made to Supervisor R. H. Charlton at Los Angeles, is granted, Dr. Britton said, both the Federal and State authorities should be certain that his activities involve only such species as now occur in that locality.

PROF. MICHAEL I. PUPIN, scientists: The search for a novel idea, the necessity of blazing a new trail, is of itself a great stimulus. We might say that in general the men who are likely to succeed are the ones who find inspiration in the necessity of doing a difficult thing in a new way, while the men who fail are those who balk and sulk because the old way isn't good enough. Good ideas are very apt to come to me while I am in a con-versation with some one on a topic remote from the problem I have been puzzling over."

When we stop to realize that one-seventh of our population is foreign born, one-third is of mixed foreign parentage and that the majority of our present immigrants were peasants who had never seen a slum until they came to the United States, we unquestionably have some unwarranted prejudices to discard and some facts to face."

Unsolved Mysteries

THE PEASANT CZAR

Upon the death of Ivan the Terrible the first ruler of Russia to assume the title of "Czar" the sceptor of power seemed destined to pass either into the hands of Fedor Ivan's eldest but feeble minded son or into those of Demetrius then an infant only two years old. But it was then that Poris Godunoff the Russian prime minister decided that the time was ripe for a political coup which would give him the power he had craved for years. Accordingly he disposed of Feodor imprisoned the Empress Dowager and sent the child Demetrius under heavy guard to the town of Uglich where he was unmolested during the succeeding years.

When Demetrius was nine years of age however Gudonoff evidently began to be disturbed by the growing sentiment in favor of the boy for he launched a conspiracy against the rightful heir to the throne which resulted in the lad's apparent death. One day while Demetrius was playing in the courtyard of the castle in Uglich all of his attendants were suddenly withdrawn and the child was left alone. A few moments later a servant returning to the place where the prince had last been seen discovered the body of a boy dressed as Demetrius had been dressed but with his throat cut from ear to ear and his features so disfigured that positive identification was impossible. The news was promptly spread that the young prince had been murdered a statement which was accepted without question at the time but later developments led to a mystery as puzzling as that which surrounded the fate of the French dauphin at the time of the Revolution.

Some fifteen years later one of the servants of the Polish Prince Wisnioweck came to his master and informed him that he was the rightful Czar of Russia exhibiting as proof of his contention a diamond cross which had been a baptismal gift of the son of Ivan and a jeweled seal bearing the crest of Demetrius. The servant's story was that an agent of Godunoff had carried him off from the castle at Uglich after mutilating a peasant lad who resembled him in a general way and that he had been reared in Poland as a peasant entering the service of the Prince while he was still a youth. The diamond cross and the jeweled seal appeared to confirm the strange story but no explanation was given of the reason why the supposed Demetrius had kept his identity a secret for more than ten years after Godunoff's agent had left him in Poland—or possibly Wisnioweck did not care to delve too deeply into this as Boris was an enemy of Sigismund King of Poland and this monarch was glad of the opportunity to cast Godunoff from the throne of Russia.

Sigismund apparently convinced of the truth of the pretender's claim equipped a Polish army and dispatched it into Russia where Demetrius was hailed as a deliverer by the populace who chafed under the severity of Boris' rule. In spite of a crushing defeat on the plain of Dobrinichi the leader of the Polish forces attained his objective when Godunoff came to his death from poison and the claimant to the throne of Russia led his army into the old capital of Moscow where he demanded the crown as his right.

The Moscow nobles however were more sceptical of the pretender's claims than the people had been probably because word had spread that the supposed Demetrius was nothing more than a tool of Sigismund and that the entire affair was a plot whereby Poland might secure control of Russia. As a final test they proposed that the mother of Demetrius be brought from the convent where she had been imprisoned for more than twenty years and allowed to decide whether the claimant to the throne was really her son. The old Empress feeble and almost blind received the young man alone in her apartment. After hours had passed she emerged and announced to the multitude that had gathered that this was really her supposedly murdered son and less than a week later Demetrius was crowned Czar of all the Russians.

During the year that followed Demetrius angered his subjects by the introduction of many Polish customs and finally after his marriage to Maryna Mnizzek a Polish girl of noble family the nobles became so enraged that they broke into the apartment of the Czar and killed him. The leader of the assassins Vasili Shuiski then seized the throne and under threats of torture secured an alleged confession from the old Empress that she had identified Demetrius as her son in order that she might be released from her convent prison and permitted to enjoy the fortune which he had promised her.

But even the passage of centuries have failed to develop definitely whether Russia was ruled by the son of Ivan the Terrible or by a peasant imposter who was the tool of Sigismund of Poland.

So On, Forever

Down in Yucatan, southern Mexico, an army of Indians, under the direction of scientists ,are digging up the palaces and temples of the ancient civilization of the Maya people. They lived more than 2000 years ago, and were sufficiently advanced to produce a race of artists.

The Indians have several years of digging ahead of them. Discoveries, fascinating, possibly sensational, will be made. You'll read a lot about this digging in the news between now and 1926.

Chichen Itsa, the chief city of the Mayas, was as large as Chicago is to-day. Thousands of years from now, future scientists may be digging out of mud and sand the remains of Chicago.

Over in England, Queen Mary finishes her famous doll's house. It's only eight feet high. But the greatest English architects designed it. English artists painted tiny pictures to hang on its walls. Barrie and other writers wrote miniature books for its library.

This doll's house is to be passed on to future generations as a perfect record of a fine English home in 1923. It has modern plumbing, electrical fittings, a garage housing wee autos perfect to the last detail, even a wine cellar with real Hootch in small bottles.

No matter what may be dug up in the Maya ruins of Yucatan, it will seem crude alongside the devices of modern times. A lot of changes come in 2000 years. And after another 2000 years the doll's house of Queen Mary will seem as crude as Maya ruins seem to-day.

Man is steadily improving himself toward an unknown but definite goal —or maybe man is merely improving his equipment rather than his real self.

RESTORES THE COURT WHERE LINCOLN PLEADED

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., Sept. 17 (Associated Press).—Restoration of the old courthouse at Metamora, Woodford county, last remaining building in which Abraham Lincoln pleaded cases in the old circuit days, with Adlai Stevenson and Robert Ingersoll, has just been completed.

E. S. Martin, supervising architect of Illinois, who has been studying historical spots and buildings for years, had general charge of repairing and restoring the structure, which had been changed so much that Libcoln, were he to have seen it, would not have recognized it.

The original lines of the courthouse, according to Mr. Martin, were very good. It was built on the classic models so often found in New England and Virginia—portico of four doric columns surmounted by a tower and belfry.

But the building which was erected in the forties was remodeled in 1870. Two wings were added and the portico removed. The old stairway in the rear of the building had been taken out and an outside stairway constructed where the portico had been.

There was a photograph of the court house as it originally appeared, but even the memory of the old settlers failed to tell L. L. Tabias, state superintendent of construction, what the first floor plan was. He set out to discover the location himself.

By carefully examining the walls, he found a place where a partition had once been. He tore up a portion of the floor, and found the hole boarded up when the stairs had been removed. What kind of a stairway it was nobody knew. Finally in the basement of a private house, covered with the dust of decades, he found portions of the old banister. From this fragmentary evidence he reconstructed the stairway as it looked when the legal giants of another age ascended it to the circuit courtroom.

FIGHT.

A Cherokee Indian, single-handed, goes on the war path and delivers a sound beating to six Chinese in a New York chop suey restaurant. Somehow this fires the imagination of even a pacifist. No matter how much we believe in peace, none of us is rid of the instinct that makes the heart beat fast at a fight against odds.

That instinct, inherited from savagery, is one reason we still have wars. As for the Indian's exploit, the thrill subsides like a punctured tire when we learn that the battle was about how much he should pay for his order of spaghetti, and his weapon was a catsup bottle. There's no romance in any fight, after you investigate.

TO CLEAN SILVER.

The black marks which silver gets from contact with green vegetables sometimes can be removed by rubbing with alcohol.

On the Road to Tomorrow

YOUR little boy is travelling the road to Tomorrow. What are you doing to help him on his way?

You have travelled the road--are you giving him the benefit of your experience? Are you guiding him past the by-ways which mislead; helping him to keep in the highway which leads to success?

Are you making provision for his education?

Year by year you see more university graduates entering the field of business; see them crowd competitors out of the most desirable positions; see them promoted over the heads of competitors who started in business as boys and served years of apprenticeship. The present keen competition makes a university education almost essential to success.

Some men are forging ahead who are self-educated, yes—but they are so few in number that they are conspicuous because of that fact.

In every phase of business to-day—in every walk of life—the educated man has the advantage. He has broader knowledge; is better equipped.

Education gives a man or woman poise and self-confidence—qualities which attract, and which constitute the essentials of leadership. And education has, in itself, a value in dollars and cents.

Consider these facts, taken from government reports:

Men who as boys left public school at 14 years of age earned on an average $500 a year. High school graduates who left school at 18 years of age, earned an average of $1,000 a year. At 58 years of age the high school graduate who had worked 4 years less had earned $18,000 more. And statistics show that time spent in high school and university is worth at least $40,000 in the lifetime of each university graduate.

You think that your son will go to university, of course. All parents do. But investigation shows that out of 1000 children to enter public school only 343 enter high school and only 72 enter university. And only 23 children out of every 1000 who enter public school graduate from university.

These facts and others relating to the education of children are presented in a book which we have prepared on the subject. These facts concern both boys and girls—men and women. Many of them will astound you; all of them will interest you.

This book also contains information regarding the cost of education for various professions—tuition and maintenance—at Canadian universities. Every parent should read it.

Most parents plan for their children's education. This book will help you to prepare so that your plans will be carried out. A free copy will be sent to you if you ask for it. Just mail us this coupon giving your name and address.

TILT BETWEEN CHAMPS SHOWS FINE TWIRLING

Lakeviews Came From Behind and Beat Maple Leafs After Tidy Argument Between Young Teams.

READY FOR FINALS.

Peterboro's two finalists in the junior and juvenile O.B.A.A. series, respectively, the Lakeviews and the Maple Leafs, clashed at Riverside Park on Saturday in a seven innings exhibition affair in which the form shown by the two teams augurs well for their success against the Western Ontario representatives.

The Lakeviews won from the juvenile champions 8 to 3, but the Maple Leafs went into the last inning 3 to 2 in front, only to blow up in the seventh, and allow Manager Lew Lebarr's team to rush six runs over the platter. Up to that time it has been as tidy a little argument as you would care to look at, with the pitchers having a big edge on the batters, and the way the two outfits performed indicates that they are well worthy of representing Peterboro in the Ontario finals in their respective classes.

For five innings it was a battle of southpaws, Whitehouse starting for the Lakeviews while Chuch Bradley was on the firing line for the juveniles. The Lakeviews earned two runs off Bradley in the second and the Leafs came back with a pair in the third, one of which was earned, the other being made possible by two passed balls in succession. And that was all the scoring for five frames the two clever southpaws having the batters thoroughly in hand, and each allowing only four hits in the five innings. aMnager Lebarr worked Doug. Moore the last two sessions and the right hander allowed but one scratch hit and an unearned run. Bradley who had held Lakeviews without a hit from the second innings was hit safely by the first two batters in the seventh. He then fumbled a bunt. Delehaye made a wild throw to third, and then the Leafs cracked, Whitlow's double with the bases full completing the disaster.

The work of the pitchers was the big feature. Whitehouse fanned nine and allowed only four hits in five innings. Moore had but one lucky hit registered against him in two frames, and Bradley retired twelve by the strike out route, and permitted only seven hits. The Lakeviews showed all kinds of "pep" in the field and had but one error in the defence, while the Leafs with a solitary boot charged against them in the first six frames, bunched four errors in the final session. Delahaye and Thirnbeck for the Maple Leafs and McIntyre for the Lakeviews, were the only players to get more than one hit, and the only extra base blow of the day went to Whitlow, a sharp grounder that bounded over Thirnbeck's head.

Lakeview started the scoring in the second inning, after Collins had fanned; Whitehouse singled to right, went to second on a wild pitch and scored on McIntyre's single over second, after Bradshaw had fanned. J. Lebarr was passed. Cameron singled back of second, scoring McIntyre. L. Lebarr rolled to Bradley for the third out.

Charlie Curtis' crew tied it up in the third. Franks walked and went around to third on two passed balls, while Corbett and Bradley were striking out. Delehaye singled to short, scoring Franks and after stealing second came home himself on Hall's long single to right. Grant fouled to L. Lebarr for the third out.

The teams battled along on even terms until the sixth when the Maple Leafs shot out in front. Moore went to the rubber for the Lakeviews in that innings, and D. Grant, the first Maple Leaf to face him, reached second on Cameron's wild heave to first. Thirnbeck's hit to right which bounced over L. Lebarr's head, scored Grant, but Thirnbeck was picked off first. Corbett rolled to Bradshaw and Johnston struck out.

Lakeviews won out in the seventh when the Leafs after giving a great exhibition "blew." Halliday started the fireworks by singling to right, and McIntyre hit safely over second and when Bradley missed L. Lebarr's sacrifice bunt, the bases were filled. Cameron struck out, but Halliday scored when Delahaye threw low to third in trying to catch him off that bag. Lebarr was passed, filling the bases again. Moore hit to Franks who fumbled, and everybody was safe, McIntyre registering. Whitlow's two bagger which hopped high over Thirnbeck's head, clearer the bases, the batter going to third when the ball rolled past Hall. Collins was thrown out by Franks, Whitlow carrying the sixth run of the inning over. Whitehouse struck out.

FIFTH SUCCESSIVE PENNANT

BALTIMORE, Md. Sept. 17. By winning from Jersey City twice Saturday afternoon while Rochester was being beaten by Syracuse, the Baltimore International Club clinched its fifth successive pennant.

Each club has nine more games to play and should Rochester capture all and Baltimore Club would still win by a margin of two points.

No club in the history of base ball has taken more than four flags in a row.

TILDEN WITHOUT PEER IN TENNIS

Masterly Game in Finals With Johnston, Winning Straight Sets.

PHILADELPHIA, September 17 (Canadian Press). — William T. Tilden, II., the tall, angular Philadelphian, retained the lawn tennis singles championship of the United States on Saturday afternoon when he defeated William M. Johnston, of San Francisco, in the final round at the Germantown Cricket Club.

Tilden won in straight sets. The scores were 6-4, 6-1, 6-4.

The victory in such decisive, sweeping fashion was the fourth national championship triumph for the Philadelphian in succession, the second in order over Johnston. It marked him the world's greatest player, for his California antagonist this year is rated world's champion by virtue of his victory at Wimbledon, England, early in the summer.

Tilden was master of the match from the outset. His carefully planned campaign of play come to fruition as he desired. He drove with relentless force, played with a care and accuracy that was uncanny, wore his opponent ragged with long, cross-court shots, and throughout prevented the Californian from exercising his famous forehand driving shots.

Tilden's superiority is evidenced by the fact that he earned 28 points to 14 for his opponent, made 6 fewer errors, and made 24 placements to 14 for his rival.

The meeting was the thirteenth between Tilden and Johnston. Before the match each had won six times, and each also had won 22 sets. It was from Johnston that Tilden won his first title in 1920 at Forest Hills.

LAKEVIEWS PLAY FALLS SATURDAY

First of Junior O.B.A.A. Finals Switched to Peterboro.

Manager Lew Lebarr's Lakeviews, City and Eastern Ontario Junior champions, clash with the Niagara Falls team here next Saturday in the first of home and home games for the Junior Ontario championship.

Niagara Falls cleaned up the Niagara Peninsula, and have just eliminated Brantford, the Western representatives.

The Lakeviews have vanquished Oshawa and Kingston, and only the two teams are now left in the running.

The fans are expected to turn out in droves to root for Peterborough's representatives.

Last year, the Intermediate and Midget Ontario honours were captured by Peterborough teams. This season's local outfits are still in the running in the Intermediate Junior, Juvenile and Midget series, Peterborough's teams having reached the finals in the last three classes, while the Rotary Bantams, being the only O.B.A.A. bantam winners in the Province, win that class by default.

Lakeviews will play the return game next week at a date to be decided later.

PICTON LOSE THE FIRST OF SERIES

Blew Up in Sixth and Let Ten Runs Through.

BROCKVILLE, Ont., Sept. 17. —Scoring 10 runs on six hits in the sixth inning Brockville defeated Picton in the first game of the O.B.A.A. intermediate series by a score of 15 to 3. Picton led by 3 to0 at the beginning of the sixth but their six errors and locals' hitting spelt reversed the lead. The teams:

Picton —H. Campney, 3b; Mulholland 1b; Hudgins cf; Rorke 2b; L. Campney lf; R. Frederick c; Harrington rf; C. Frederick ss; Croft p.

Brockville—Reilly 1; Taber 2b; Simon cf; Lane c; Oakey lf; McLean ss; Lesperance 3b; Hunter rf; Whiting p.

SPEEDBOAT ENDS RACE IN FLAMES.

Ringling's Entry in International Regatta a Total Loss.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 17.—(Canadian Press).—Viroling II., the speed boat of Robert Ringling of Chicago, caught fire while travelling through the water at a speed of 45 miles an hour in the last heat of the International Regatta here today, and Ringling and his mechanician, Louis Ergang, were forced to jump for their lives. The two men were rescued by the crew of Horace E. Dodge's large yacht, Delphine, and were pulled aboard unharmed.

The Viroling burned steadily for half an hour. It is a total loss.

Horace E. Dodge, driving Musketeer I., easily captured the final heat and the two trophies in the free-for-all sweepstakes after the Viroling was out. His time for the 30-mile heat yesterday was 4.44 and for the ninety miles it was 2.08.31. Official average speed for three heats was 42.2. By his victory Dodge comes into possession of the International Great Lakes Championship Gold Trophy and the International World's Championship Trophy.

Willie Hoppe Ready to Defend His Title.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.—(Canadian Press).—Willie Hoppe will defend his world's professional billiard title in the third annual championship tournament at the Hotel Pennsylvania, October 29, to November 5. Announcement that arrangements for the tourney had been completed was made by C. P. Miller, Vice-President of the Brunswick-Balke-Collender Company, just before he sailed yesterday for an extensive tour of South America.

The competitors will be limited to six, as was the case last year, and, in addition to Hoppe, probably will include Jake Schaefer and Walker Cochran, young United States stars, and three foreign experts. It is likely that Erich Hagenlacher of Germany, Roger Conti of France and Edouard Boremans of Belgium will be the foreign entrants.

QUEBEC GOLF WINNERS.

OTTAWA, September 17 (Canadian Press). — C. C. (Happy) Fraser of the Kawanaki Gof Club won first prize in the Province of Quebec invitation golf tournament which was held over the course of the Rivermead Golf Club on Friday and Saturday.

William McLuckie, also of the Kanawaki, took second place and P. J. Wood, of Rivermead, romped off with the third trophy.

MARBLE SHAFT IN ANSONS MEMORY

National League Erects Monument at Famous Ball Player's Grave.

CHICAGO, Sept. 17.—(Canadian Press).—Baseball as an organization paid its tribute today to "a man who played the game."

One of the most notable gatherings of baseball men in history gathered this morning in Oakwood Cemetery at the grave of the late Captain Adrian C. (Pop) Anson, leader of the "Heroic Legion," of baseball, the Chicago White Stockings of the Eighties and Nineties, and after his deeds had been recited and his services to the great sport eulogized, unveiled a plain marble shaft, erected by the National League in his honor.

Baseball stars, owners, executives and fans from every walk of life were present for the simple services for the former leader of the Chicago National League club, and leaders in the baseball world declared "Pop" Anson had exerted a greater influence in making baseball a great sport than any other man.

Former Judge K. M. Landis, National Commissioner of Organized Baseball, and President John A. Heydler of the National League were among those who spoke.

BOTTLE SHOWER HOLDS UP GAME

Unscheduled Feature Provided For Old-Timers at Cubs' Park.

CHICAGO, Sept. 17 — Baseball players of a decade ago who were here on Sunday, to attend the unveiling of the memorial to Captain Adrian C. Anson saw the New York Nationals defeat Chicago in a hair-raising game 10 to 6. Grover Alexander, pitching ace of the Chicago Club was unable to hold the world's champions after Chicago had tied the count and the visitors sent four runs across the plate by cracking out two hits behind three bases on balls and an error by Granham. Chicago finally drove Scott off the mound. There after Chicago was unable to score as Ryan and Nehf pitched effectively.

The fans keyed up by the closeness of the game, took exception to the decisions of the umpires, especially Umpire Moran, and the game was halted while the field was cleared of pop bottles which had been hurled at the arbiter. Score:

New York 111 111 400—10 12 1
Chicago ... .002 103 000— 6 14 3

Scott, Ryan, Nehf and Snyder; Dumovich Osborne Alexander, Fussell and O'Farrell.

Luque's 25th Victory

CINCINNATI, Sept 17—Although outbatted nearly two to one, Sunday, Cincinnati won the last game of the series from Boston, 7 to 4, by more effective bunching of hits and advanced to second place in the National League race, passing the Pirates, who were idle. Both Rixey and Luque were hit very hard and were saved only by the most sensational fielding. Luque went to the box with the scored tied in the sixth inning and receives credit for the Red victory, it being his twenty-fifth of the season. Score:

ERRORS COSTLY TO BELLEVILLE

Central League Champions Eliminated By Riverdale Royals.

SCARBORO BEACH, Sept., 17 —Royals of Toronto champions of the Riverdale League and Toronto representatives came back on the Ontario baseball map, Saturday by whipping Belleville by 2 to 1 in a hair-raising exciting game that had over 3,000 delighted spectators on edge throughout. Bad baseball both in the field and on the bases, beat the Belleville crew. Royals played magnificently when stellar work was required cutting off rallies in both the sixth and seventh frames when it looked as though the Grand Trunks would sweep to victory.

Williams fanned thirteen Royal batters and his loss is attributed to "breaks' and poor baseball in the first inning when Comper and Terry scored on bad throws.

Ramsay went exceptionally well, striking out the last hitter in four different innings.

Royals will play the winner of the Galt-St. Thomas-Port Dalhousie games for the All-Ontario baseball championship. Score by innings:

PARNHAM WITHIN GAME OF RECORD

Pitches His 18th Consecutive Victory—Baltimore Rookie Looks Good.

BALTIMORE, September 17 (Canadian Press). — Baltimore easily defeated Jersey City in a doubleheader here yesterday afternoon, 7 to 2 and 10 to 2. In the first game Rube Parnham, right-handed ace of the locals, scored his eighteenth consecutive victory of the season and his thirty-first of the present campaign.

Parnham, by winning one more game, can equal the world's record of 19 for consecutive victories and the International League mark of thirty-two conflicts won in a single season.

Henderson, a recruit, pitched the second game for the champions, and held the visitors to four hits. Not a ball was hit out of the infield against the rookie. Scores:

RAIN REDUCED SOCCER CROWDS

Only 650,000 at Saturday's Games in the Old Country

LONDON, September 17 (Canadian Press Cable). — Rain in most places reduced the aggregate crowd at the forty-four soccer league matches on Saturday to 650,000. Victorious visiting teams were few, only eight winning in the four sections.

Thirteen teams succeeded in dividing points, while full points were gained by twenty-three home clubs.

goals were at a premium, thirty-one teams failing to find the net at all.

Saturday's matches caused a considerable change among the leading clubs of each division.

Newcastle United, who had reached the top of the table, suffered their first defeat, and as the West Bromwich Albions were also defeated for the first time this year, both fall below Cardiff City.

The Tottenham Hotspurs were the only victorious visiting team in the First Division They are now second in the list on goal average.

Lindsay, who scored their goal, is just now one of the most successful centre forwards in the country.

The successes achieved by the new teams in the First Division is the remarkable feature of the early weeks of the new football season. Rarely in the history of the game has a newly promoted club done so brilliantly as Notts County, who are still undefeated. Their strenuous game at Huddersfield on Saturday was unfortunately marred by ill-feeling, which resulted in Islip of Huddersfield and Flint of Notts County being sent off the field.

The unbeaten Cardiff City team are also newcomers to the senior league.

The success of these clubs raises the question whether the First League can really claim any superiority over the Second League. The answer seems to be that whereas there are more scientific teams in the senior league, it is very doubtful whether the second is any worse off in match winning qualities.

RUTH OVERHAULS WILLIAMS AGAIN

Yanks Almost Have 1923 Pennant in Their Grasp.

NEW YORK, Sept. 17.— Home run drives enabled the Yankees to defeat the Cleveland Indians in both sections of today's doubleheader, by scores of four to two and three to two.

New York's lead increased to eighteen and a half games and one more Yankee victory over Cleveland will cinch the pennant for New York.

In the first game, Ruth tied the score in the sixth inning with his thirty-seventh home run of the year, and again tying Cy Williams of the Philadelphia Nationals for the 1923 home run record. In the seventh inning New York won the game when Schang and Scott hit home runs on successive pitched balls.

With the score tied in the sixth inning of the second game, Meusel won for New York with a drive for the circuit. Score:

Dirt Track Record For Automobiles Smashed.

SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 17.—(Canadian Press).—More than 65,000 persons saw Tommy Milton set a new world's automobile speed record for 100 miles on a dirt track at the New York State Fair yesterday, the winner of the Indianapolis 500-mile race this year making the distance over the one-mile track in one hour, fifteen minutes and thirty-three seconds. The former record was one hour, twenty-nine minutes and nine seconds, made by Eddie Hearne at Phoenix, Arizona, in 1919.

C.G.E. LOST TO OSHAWA

The Canadian General team journeyed to Oshawa on Saturday afternoon and dropped the first game of their third round intermediate O. B. A.A. series with Oshawa General Motors, the motor town crew winning by 6 runs to 2. Bunched hits in two innings, the first and sixth, in each of which Oshawa scored three runs, tells the tale. Murray on the rubber for the winners, kept the C. G. E. hits well scattered, and several incipient rallies were cut off by snappy plays by the Oshawa crew. Frost for the C.G.E. did not allow many hits, but they were bunched, while several errors at moments when they were costly did not tie the General's right hander very much.

The C.G.E. team felt the effects of their long cold motor drive, and were hardly up to their form. They are confident of beating the Oshawa gang on the return game here this week, and also in the play off fixture.

The winner of this series will meet the winner of the Picton-Brockville clash for the Eastern Ontario honours and the right to go into the Ontario finals:

The score by innings and line-up was as follows:

Firpo Ready in Year to Meet Harry Wills.

NEW YORK, September 17. — Luis Angel Firpo said that he would not be ready to meet Harry Wills, the negro heavy weight, for a year, but that he would be willing then. Tex Rickard, who put on the recent fight at the Polo grounds in which Firpo was defeated by Champion Jack Dempsey, announced some time ago that he had signed the Argentine to meet Wills. The negro, however never attached his name to a similar document.

Jack Kearns, manager of Jack Dempsey, the world's heavyweight champion, declared to-day that the champion would not fight again this year. An offer for Dempsey to fight Harry Wills, the negro contender for the heavy weight championship at Tia Juana, Mexico, in February, had been received, Kearns said.

HERMAN E. WON IN SIXTH HEAT OF BEST RACE

Board of Works Team Walked Away With Their Opponents in Denne Cup Contest—Attendance Better than Last Year.

EXHIBITION CLOSED

Herman E. won the best race of the meet on Saturday when he took the sixth heat of the 2.12 pace from Royal Dundee by a length. The two horses tied at the end of the fifth and the sixth heat was necessary to decide the race.

The results were:

Herman E, bay gelding, by Herman Wenger owned by Art. Elmhurst, Indian River, driven by William McDowell. 1-1-2-4-4-1.

Royal Dundee, bay gelding by Lord Dundee. Owned by W. T. McLean of Goderich and driven by McLean and Guy Hamlin. 2-2-1-1-3-2

Polly Stout, bay mare, by Colonel Forster owned and driven by R. Elmhurst, Lang. 4-4-4-2-1-R.

Lou Axworthy, bay stud, by Simon Axworthy, owned and driven by Dr. Cowan, Seamans, Sask. 3-3-3-3-2-R.

Time 2.19 1-4; 2.18 1-4; 2.19 1-4; 2.20 2.20; 2.23. Purse $300.

Tug-of-War

The Board of Works team walked away with their opponents in two straight pulls in the competition for the Denne cup, won last year by the C. G. E. team. The cup is to be won three out of five times.

The Board of Works team consisted of: John Murphy; Bruce Menzies; John Leahy; Melville James; Bob Manley; C. Withers; Dave Andrews; George Sexsmith; C. Clute; D. McGrath.

Following the cup contest John Murphy the redoubtable anchor man of the team, challenged any three men to pull him. He was taken up, and in position he assumed he held with only one hand waving his hat in the other while three men bore with all their strength on the rope. The best team of horses in the drawing contest—and some of them drew 6,000 pounds—would scarcely have moved Murphy.

Charged the Crowd

During the drawing competition the crowd surged on the race track at the paddock and refused to be driven back by the police. Two mounted men forced their horses into the crowd but could not budge the fans.

One old man of about 80 held to his postion at the fence even when a constable backed his horse into him. The old man was cheered by the crowd. The latter capitulated, and allowed the spectators to crowd the rack.

Notes on Saturday

The attendance was 5,976, an increase of 300 over last year.

The police reported no trouble from pick-pockets and other unwelcome visitors, and only one drunk.

Four hundred and eighty-three cars were counted around the vaudeville stage, and more arrived later.

THEATRES

TRANS-CANADA THEATRES LIMITED

AT THE GRAND.

A cleverly conceived idea on the subject of reincarnation is the theme upon which the story of the musical extravaganza, "Listen To Me," is founded. This new musical play is coming to the Grand Theatre on Wednesday evening, 19th September.

Charles George, author of "My China Doll" and "Go Easy Mabel," who wrote the book, lyrics, and music of this novel fantasy, has confined the story to two acts and seven scenes in which the characters are reincarnated in keeping with their surroundings.

In the first scenes the characters appear in the form of condemned beings awaiting punishment in Satan's regions; movie stars, actors, chorus girls and others who have committed sins on earth are assembled to receive sentence at the bar of J. Lucifer Devil one of the condemned, contrives to avoid punishment by seeking possession of Satan's coveted formula which transmigrates and reincarnates.

Obtaining this formula, he applies it to Hades, and it immediately dissolves into the land of the midnight sun, where polar bears and Eskimos people the desolate waste of ice and snow. Here they indulge in all the joy of a midnight frolic, while the gaiety is in full swing the owner of the formula applies the magic wand, and the Arctic region transforms it into Bon-Bon Land, and all the characters into gum drops, peppermint sticks, caramels, winter-mints, chocolate drops, etc. This novel idea, beautifully costumed, offers one surprise after another until the finale—Cunid's Post Office.

The capable cast includes Ross Robertson, Joe B. McGee, Gates Austin, Eddie Walkup, Peggy Earle, Valerie True, Marguerite Williams, and others with the famous dancing chorus.

AT THE ROYAL.

STAGE SUCCESS MAKES SPECTACULAR PICTURE — "THE BROKEN WING" AT THE ROYAL TO-NIGHT.

Picture goers who are looking for something different should not fail to visit the Royal to-night where the film version of "The Broken Wing," one of the most successful Broadway plays of recent years is now on view. The original play contained all the elements necessary to make good "picture stuff," and the producers have made the most of every situation the manuscript offered, and have reduced them to celluloid with all the laughs, thrills and gasps. The cast includes Kenneth Harlan as the aviator, Mirian Cooper as the Mexican Coquette. Walter Long supplies the comedy relief as the bandit. A timely short subject "Canada's Fuel Problem," a half hour Western and a comedy complete a well balanced programme, which with the addition of the Royal Orchestra should prove an interesting entertainment. The usual Royal prices prevail, 11, 20 and 30c.

BETTY BALFOUR IN "ME AND MY CAL."

Famous English Comedienne Has Become International Figure—At Royal Thursday.

Betty Balfour, who takes the part of "Squibs," the flower girl, in the English comedy hit, "Me and My Gal," is now established as the foremost comedienne in England. Her performance in "Me and My Gal" won over the whole country and the character that she created of "Squibs" became almost a national figure. The cinema world over there has been more or less dominated by American pictures, only a very few English cinemas approaching those from America in the nature of popularity. The few notable English successes, however, such as "Better 'Ole," "Alf's Button" and "Me and My Gal," met with unbounded success, hanging up attendance records far in excess of most of the American big pictures. As regards stars, Americans have also held first place in the affections of the English public until just now when Betty Balfour, the English comedienne, threatens to surpass all the American stars in popularity. After her wide success in "Me and My Gal," Betty became quite famous and the English public looked forward to her next effort. And just recently, a matter of a month ago, the sequel to "Me and My Gal," viz., "Squibs Wins the Calcutta Sweepstakes," was released in London and the success of this cinema was such as was never before attained by an English comedy drama. The public and the reviewers went wild over it, acclaiming it as far funnier than "Me and My Gal," or "The Better 'Ole," or "Alf's Button," and the critics all praised Betty Balfour in unqualified terms, some proclaiming her a feminine Charles Chaplin and others saying that she combined the virtues of Charles Chaplin and Mary Pickford and others calling her the foremost comedienne in the world. The public of Peterboro will have a chance to see Betty Balfour on Thursday when "Me and My Gal" will have its premiere at the Royal.

CHANGING

The bottom of the Altantic ocean 800 miles from the southern tip of Africa, slowly bulges up to make a mountain two miles high under the sea.

This upheaval is gigantic to us, but it's mild compared with the huge size of the earth. It might very easily have taken place on land instead of neath the waves, and given a large section of our country a terrific shaking. We live in uncertainty figuratively on thin ice. But we plot and plan as if nothing could teach us and we were here on earth for all eternity instead of only a few more years.

WHEN TABLE APPLIANCES PROVE ESPECIALLY HANDY

The day the family packs up bag-and-baggage and moves into the country and similarly the day of its return to town no longer holds gastronomic longings and culinary disappointments. In the old days if cooking fuel was for any reason non-existent a cheerless meal cooked possibly over a spirit lamp was your welcome upon arrival home.

Nowadays with transmission lines criss-crossing the country and electricity waiting the pressure of a finger the percolator electric grill and toaster (all conveniently portable) become part and parcel of your personal luggage and assure your having a tasty hot meal within a few moments of your having set foot across the threshold of your abode.

When the family includes small children and there is milk to be warmed or a special diet to be prepared this is a matter of considerable importance. If never before your electric table cooking appliances and your immersion heater are now worth their weight in gold.

Bacon and eggs is almost a standard American breakfast dish and this with coffee and crisp golden-brown toast prepared electrically constitute a morning meal which is as ambrosia to the gods. Thus the first day in from the country may start as smoothly as if the family had not been rusticating in the mountains or at the shore.

Further when the trunks are delayed and the limited supply of clean clothing carried in hand-bags begins to get low the motor-driven washing machine and electric iron or electric ironer with their ease of operation will come to your rescue and in a comparatively short time turn the soiled clothing into clean thus making delay of the trunks a matter of comparatively little concern.

PREDICTED.

An airplane of aluminum but weighing 112 tons when loaded will be built in Germany for service between Hamburg and New York. It will carry 60 passengers and a crew of 20 men, also much mail. There'll be a dining-room, grill, writing-room, state-room, kitchen and crew's quarters.

It sounds like Jules Verne, and it gives us rather a startling glimpse of life as it will be lived in the future.

MONSTER HAM WON BY JOHN RIDDELL

Popular Estimating Competition Ended Saturday, with Five Tieing For Prize.

John Riddell, 625 Water Street, was the lucky winner of the Canadian Packing Company's estimating Rose Brand ham at the Exhibition Grounds on Saturday.

Five tied in their estimates of the ham's actual weight, which corresponded with the figures on their estimating blanks, 42 pounds exactly. The winner was again decided by a draw.

Of the five who tied, one came from Bewdley, one from Frazerville, while the others are resident here.

The ham was weighed by John Arthur at Roland Denne's feed store, thus ending a competition which, during the local Exhibition's four days last week, attracted thousands to the Canadian Packing Company's exhibit of produced-in-Peterborough goods.

Local fans will have a chance to see a rattling good ball game on Thursday when the Oshawa General Motors will clash with the C.G.E. in the third round of the intermediate O.B.A.A. series. Oshawa won the first game on Saturday by 6 to 2 but the Peterboro gang have to reverse the decision at Riverside Park on Thursday and then beat Oshawa in the play off. The last year's champions if they hit their pioneer stride, should just about do that in spite of the fact that Oshawa have Bennett their best hurler ready for Thursday's game. It should be a real struggle from start to finish and the fans should not miss the opportunity of seeing the clash. The winners will meet the Brockville-Picton winners in the semi-finals.

Five hundred years from now man will do most of his work by wireless, predicts Professor David A. Low the English scientist. He paints a dismal picture of man enslaved by radio.

It's more probable that radio will have become obsolete, and forgotten by the year 2423. Something greater will take its place of a nature as yet beyond the imagination. Very few inventions have a life of 500 years. The few include the knife, fork, spoon, ax, shovel and mason's trowel

NEW TYPE OF MUSICAL TUITION.

Mr. Frederic G. Mann, Organist and Choirmaster of St. John's Church, will be associated this season with the Peterborough Conservatory of Music, and will have charge of a new feature in the School Curriculum, that of Sight Reading Ear Training, etc.

To introduce this branch of Musical study, a very moderate fee will be charged, and as the Class increases in size, the fee will be reduced.

Anyone interested may have full information by telephoning 355, or calling at the Conservatory of Music for full particulars. 1d-65-3678

THE POLICE CHIEF OF OKLAHOMA RE-INSTATED

OKLAHOMA CITY, Sept 17.—(Canadian Press).—Oklahoma City Police Department, taken over by military, late yesterday, was returned to the civil authorities to-day when Mayor O. A. Cargill served notice on Col. W. S. Key, military commander in charge of the city, that unless Ray Frazier, chief of police was reinstated at once the entire police force would be retired by the city and the task of policing would be left in the hands of the military.

THE GERMAN MARK IS STILL DECLINING

BERLIN, Sept. 17 (United Press). —It is pointed out that the Reichs Bank Act in setting the discount rate at 90 per cent means that the bank is actually making gifts to industrialists when it loans them money.

The German mark is dropping so fast that 90 per cent means absolutely nothing. Other banks are now charging three per cent daily on loans or one thousand per cent a year.

PETERBORO BRANCH OF THE RED CROSS TO COLLECT FUNDS

The Peterboro branch of the Red Cross Society desires to forward any subscriptions from citizens, churches and other organizations for the relief of the Japanese in the earthquake zone. Small sums gratefully received. Money may be left at the Examiner office or forwarded to Miss Emma Morrow, 484 Weller street, treasurer of the Peterboro branch.

Government Despatched Relief Train in Japan.

TOKIO, Sept. 17. — (Canadian Press). — The Government to-day sent a relief train to the Totteri Prefecture, where it was estimated several thousand were dead as a result of floods. Totteri is on the west coast, away from the earthquake zone. Property damage was estimated at thirty million yen. The rainfall continues, reports from the stricken area said, aggravating the work of relieving the refugees from the flooded districts.

48 BUSHELS OF WHEAT TO ACRE

An Exceptionally Heavy Yield in Many Parts of Alberta.

CALGARY, Sept. 17.—Reports on Alberta harvesting operations continue to be eminently satisfactory and are far and away the best that have ever been published in the history of the province. Some exceptionally big yields are expected, Monitor, in the northern section of the province, for instance, expecting 48 bushels of wheat to the acre.

In the south, wheat cutting has been practically completed and excellent headway is being made in threshing.

Many districts expect to thresh from 30 to 45 bushels to the acre. The north country is making good progress and 25 per cent. of the crop has been threshed. In the east wheat cutting has practically been completed and threshing is now general, while in the Calgary district the general conditions are stated to be uniformly good. From 40 to 75 per cent. of the wheat has now been cut and threshing will begin next week.

PRINCE REACHES ALBERTA RANCH.

Handled the Throttle of the Engine on Part of Trip.

HIGH RIVER, Alta., Sept. 17.—The special train bearing the Prince of Wales travelling incognito as Lord Renfrew, and his party, arrived here at six o'clock yesterd ay evening. The Prince will spend a care-free holiday at the E. P. Ranch, which he purchased during his official visit in September, 1919. The ranch is situated at Pekisko, about 26 miles southwest of here.

When Lord Renfrew arrived in Winnipeg on Saturday afternoon, he came as a Canadian Pacific Railway engineer.

At Whitemouth, seventy miles east of here, the Prince ordered his train stopped and announced to the locomotive driver that for the rest of the journey he wished to be at the throttle. Although dressed only in a suit of smart English walking tweeds, he "mounted the cabin," just as the famous Casey Jones did, and had another adventure of his holiday.

Just so that he might not "step on it" too hard, Thomas Ward, of Kenora, the official engineer, stood behind Lord Renfrew in the cab and checked up the steam gauge and other little things.

Lord Renfrew steered the special perfectly and blew the whistle and rang the bell on schedule when he came to the signs along the way that tell regular engineers when to make a noise.

"Here is a versatile little Prince," said a member of the train crew as the train was pulled to a stop in the Winnipeg depot, as the Prince "threw on the air."

EXPECT MINERS TO ENDORSE TERMS.

Delegates of Unions Meet in Scranton To-Day.

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 17.—Delegates representing local unions of the United Miner Workers in the anthracite fields were gathering here tonight for the opening tomorrow of a convention called to approve or disapprove terms of the proposed new wage contract, agreed upon by their officers and representatives of the operators in Harrisburg, September 8.

Resumption of mining operations, at a standstill since August 31, when the previous wage contract expired and the men were ordered to stop work, awaits favorable action by the convention. John L. Lewis, President of the United Mine Workers, and representatives of the three anthracite coal regions tonight were confident that the agreement would be ratified without any trouble.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

To the Baby Contest Committee:—

Amongst many more I was an entrant to the baby contest held by the Exhibition board. Like a few more, I came away puzzled. First, I understood there was an age limit. There is proof there were children shown over the limit, and I suggest that the prize winners at least should produce birth certificates. It is only just. Secondly, I will give an instance of the baby judging.

Two children, one and two. Number one weighs twenty-five pounds; good teeth and hair; can just step. I take it for granted everything else perfect.

Number two, not two months older, weighs thirty pounds; good teeth and hair, taller, broader, able to run. On two different occasions "examined thoroughly" by two neutral doctors, passed perfect, gaining steadily, is looked at by a third doctor and passed ninety per cent. By the same doctor, number one is passed a hundred per cent. Will the committee please explain how the points were awarded. It would maybe wipe away some of the dissatisfaction caused by the baby contest. The above is just given as an example. There were more similar, but would take up too much space. Hoping to see a reply to this, and thanking The Examiner in anticipation of space granted, I remain,

OBSERVER.

CAMPBELL MORGAN

With no desire to provoke controversy but only in the interests of truth and probity, in behalf of a number of our citizens, I humbly ask our learned friend Mr. Campbell Morgan, to publicly answer to the best of his ability, while in Peterboro, the following questions:

No. 1—Was Adam, progenitor of the human race, made a living soul, or was he given a soul?

No. 2—What do you understand by the scriptural statement, "the soul that sinneth it shall die?"

No. 3—If death is the penalty for sin, is the death of Jesus a complete offset for this penalty?

No. 4—If mankind are to be freed from the penalty of death, is it not proof that all shall be resurrected, and live again?

No. 5—What do you understand by the words of Paul, when he states "if there is no resurrection then they who have fallen asleep in Christ have perished?"

No. 6—If mankind are delivered from the penalty of death, by being resurrected, for what purpose are they given life again?

No. 7—Is this life restored temporary or everlasting?

No. 8—If this restored life is only temporary, is there any chance of mankind thus restored, obtaining everlasting life, by any course of action?

No. 9—Is it scriptural that none but the pure or righteous will ever obtain everlasting life?

No. 10—Can man in this present life obtain an assurance, that he shall have everlasting life?

No. 11—Why does David in the 96th and 98th Psalms, speak of the time when God shall judge the people, as a time of joy and gladness?

No. 12—What do you understand by the words, "The rest of the dead lived not until the thousand years should be finished?"

No. 13—What do you understand by the words, "eternal good tidings being proclaimed unto those that dwelt on the earth, and unto every nation, and tribe and tongue and people, for the hour of his judgment is come?" Rev. 14:6.

No. 14—If the bride is not yet complete, until the full number is gathered out from among men, would it be correct to call this incomplete number the bride?

No. 15—Will you explain the words in Rev. 22: 17, especially in regard to the bride?

Signed in behalf of hungry ones.

Caroline Cuddeford and Mrs. Hopkins, nurse-stewardess of the C.P.S.S. "Minnedosa."

Record breakers are always interesting, but Caroline Cuddeford, who is travelling from Vancouver to Bath, England, alone, has a peculiar little interest all her own. Although only six years old she is a perfect mistress of her own affairs.

When she left the train, after journeying from the Pacific Ocean to join the Canadian Pacific S.S. "Minnedosa" at Montreal, she insisted on making a few purchases. These consisted of a new tooth brush and a collection of "funny papers." She told the man behind the news stall that the "funny papers" in England were not up to the standard of those in Canada, and consequently she must take a supply back home with her.

Caroline also found it necessary to call to task a flippant newspaper reporter before the sailing of the boat. When she informed him she was on her way to Bath, he casually remarked that it was not Saturday night. This brought forth with scorn: "Bath is a place, not a tub." Caroline has been visiting her aunt in Vancouver and is now returning to her parents.

NOTES ON TRADE AND INDUSTRY ABROAD

Old Clothing Imports Prohibited

Importation of old clothing by parcel post into Rumania is prohibited, according to information recently received by the Post Office Department.

First Dutch Iron Furnace

The first iron-smelting furnaces in Holland are to be opened at Velsen in the near future. Ore is expected in August, and houses for laborers already have been constructed.

Tunisian Cork Crop

The production in cork in Tunisia this year is estimated at between 3,000 and 3,500 metric tons. This figure is set by the Government as sufficient to meet the present local demand. In 1922 Tunisia exported 1,627 metric tons of cork to the United States.

Commercial Aviation in Chile

A project has been presented to the Chilean Congress, and is now being considered by that body, to permit the establishment of commercial aviation in Chile. A company whose capital is reported to be 30,000,000 pesos is ready to undertake this work as soon as the proposed law becomes effective.

Oleomargarine Not Admitted

Inasmuch as the Oleomargarine act has not been extended by the Canadian Parliament, the importation of oleomargarine into Canada, as well as its manufacture within that country, has not been permitted since Aug. 31. The sale, offering for sale and having in possession for sale of oleomargarine is permitted until March 1, 1924.

Ban on Foreign Students

A resolution has recently been passed by the Executive Committee of the Saxon Chambers of Commerce, according to which the admission of foreigners in Saxon professional institutes, especially textile schools, shall, in the future, be subject to the consent of the various State Governments, at the discretion of the respective Chambers of Commerce.

Dredging Yarmouth Harbor

Dredging operations for the removal of the Bug Light shoal at the entrance of Yarmouth Harbor, Nova Scotia, which have been carried on at intervals since 1921, are expected to be completed in the Summer of 1924. The depth of the water when the present operations are completed will be 21 feet at low water on springtide. Estimates of Government expenditures for the operations are not available.

American Scales and Balances

The value of the imports of scales and balances into Hongkong is estimated at $50,000 a year. About 50 per cent. of the imports are re-exported to the nearby markets of South China, Indo-China and Siam. American manufacturers have secured the greater part of the business. Fully 85 per cent. of the imports are from the United States, the remainder being chiefly of English and German manufacture.

Fuel Oil for Kilns

Keen interest is being taken by producers of china clay in experiments for the use of fuel oil in drying their product in Cornwall and Devon, as it is said that a six months' test has demonstrated a considerable saving over coal and that fuel oil plants are adapted to existing kilns and furnaces. It is stated that the use of fuel oil for this purpose has many advantages over coal, in addition to the fact that coal prices have recently risen considerably.

No Registration of Name

In a recent decision the German Patent Office has refused registration of the name of a magazine as a trade-mark. This change in Patent Office practice is in accord with the attitude of the German Empire Court, which has consistently held that such designations were unregisterable under the trade-mark law. German jurisprudence seems to regard the periodical and its name as a unity and lacking in the essential characteristics of a trade-mark.

Drop Tin and Wolfram Subsidies

The scheme for granting Government advances to the tin and wolfram industries in Burma, in effect since 1921, has been abandoned. These two commodities, which had added very materially to the prosperity of the country during the war, slumped to such an extent that assistance was necessary not only to keep the industry running last year, but to induce the Chartered Bank of India, Australia, and China to finance the industry.

To Resume Diamond Cutting

It has recently been announced that the British Government is prepared to guarantee, under certain conditions, 150,000 for the reopening of the diamond-cutting factory which was started shortly after the war to provide work for ex-service men. During 1921 this factory employed 2,000 men, but owing to the slump in the diamond trade it closed down soon afterward. It is planned to start with about 250 men and to increase this number as circumstances warrant.

Coal Bunkering at Lisbon

Bunkering at the port of Lisbon, Portugal, is done by hand, the coal being carried in baskets from the lighter to the vessel receiving it. One of the larger coal importers of Lisbon purchased modern coal-loading machinery several years ago but was prevented from utilizing it on account of the complete boycott of the various marine unions which believed it would reduce the number of their members employed. These appliances are still stored in a warehouse belonging to this company.

MARIE FAHMY OFFERED A POSITION ON STAGE.

PARIS, Sept. 17.—(Canadian Press) — Mme. Marie Marguerite Fahmy who last Saturday was acquitted by a London Court of charge of having murdered her Egyptian husband, Ali Kamel Fahmy Bey has refused to consider most remunerative offer for her appearance in one of leading Paris Music Halls.

WEDDING BELLS

REED—IRWIN.

A quiet wedding took place at St. Edmond's English church, Toronto when Marjory, daughter of the late Walter and Mrs. Irwin, Peterboro, was united in marriage to Harry Edward Reed, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Reed, 55 Ashburnham Road, Toronto.

After the ceremony, a dainty supper was held at the home of the groom's parents when a number of friends and relatives of the happy couple spent a pleasant evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Reed will reside at 309 Concord avenue, Toronto.

COLLARS AND CUFFS.

Collar and cuff sets of white organdie are edged with vari-colored ribbons, and a shower tie effect of the ribbons.

BEADING ON FROCKS.

Beading is used extensively on the evening frocks for the coming season and is frequently combined with embroidery.

JACKET ACCESSORY.

Small capes or jackets accompany many of the smartest gowns, usually lined with the material of the frock.

OBITUARY

GEORGE SEENEY.

George Seeney, 89, a native of Cavan, died in the city on Saturday. The funeral will be held on Tuesday to St. John's Cemetery, Ida, at 10.30 a.m.

WILLIAM JAMES ALLEN.

The death occurred suddenly late on Saturday evening of William James Allen.

Besides his sorrowing wife he leaves to mourn his loss one son, Harry, at home.

The funeral will be held on Tuesday afternoon from his late residence, 584 Division Street, at 3 o'clock, to Little Lake Cemetery, Rev. W. Harold Young, of George Street Methodist Church, officiating.

JOHN HOLLAND

The death took place on Sunday, September 16th, in Toronto, of John Holland formerly of Ennismore, where he was born and brought up. The remains were brought to Peterboro, on the noon train to-day, leaving later for Ennismore, where interment will take place to-morrow from the residence of his brother Joseph, to St. Martin's Church and St. Martin's Cemetery.

Four brothers and one sister survive: Joseph, Daniel, William and James and Mrs. Richard Hickson, all of Ennismore.

FRANK MOLONEY.

The death occurred on Friday last at Spokane, Washington, of Frank Moloney, formerly of Ennismore. The late Mr. Moloney, who succumbed to an attack of heart trouble, was married about three months ago to Miss Lillian Palin, of St. Catharines, formerly resident with her parents in Peterboro.

MRS. HAROLD FARR.

The death occurred on Sunday, at Nicholls Hospital, of Lily Elsie Farr, wife of Harold Farr, 547 Chamberlain Street.

The deceased, who was in her 35th year, was born in Mendham, Suffolk, England. She came to Canada about eleven years ago, and for the past three years has resided in Peterborough, at the family residence, 547 Chamberlain Street.

She was a faithful member of All Saints' Church and also sang in the choir.

She is survived by her husband, Mr. Harold Farr, and one sister Mrs. George Chandler, of Bolivar Street.

The funeral will take place on Tuesday at 2.30 p.m. the residence of Mr. George Chandler, 524 Bolivar Street to the Little Lake Cemetery. Rev. Mr. Courage will officiate.

FANCY GLOVES.

Very fancy gloves are making their appearance. Embroidery, beading, fancy stitching and perforations all are employed to transform the ordinary gauntlet into a decorative accessory.

VOL. LIII., No. 65 PETERBOROUGH, TUESDAY, SEPTEMBER 18, 1923 PRICE THREE CENTS

HINTS BRITAIN IS THREATENED BY THE FRENCH

Russian Publicist and Expert on German Affairs Sees Smouldering Fires of World War.

REDS ARE READY

MOSCOW, Sept. 18.—(Special).—Mumblings of revolution from Germany are not only an indication of the serious affairs in the Teuton Republic, but "part of a coming world struggle," Karl Radek, widely known Russian publicist and expert on German affairs, declared in a speech before the new Red Army commanders here last night.

A Military Threat.

"French capitalists are gathering into their hands the richest iron regions of Europe, which they will use in conquering their neghbors," Radek asserted. "Ths means a military threat against England and offers a new cause for a world-struggle between France and the British lion."

The Reds' Part.

Radek emphasizes the important part the Red Army must play in this period and concluded: "As commanders of the Red Army, you are not used to listening to words, but orders.

"When the hour comes, there is no other way the Red Army will answer the call of the Soviet Government, shouting as one man, 'I am ready.'"

TWO DEAD RESULT AUTO SMASH UP

Another Severely Injured Near Ottawa this Morning.

OTTAWA, Sept. 18.—(Canadian Press).— Two men, John Ferguson and Edward Desjardins believed to be visitors from United States are dead and P. Elard of this city is in a local hospital severely injured, as the result of an auto smash up on Gatineau Road, near here at an early hour this morning.

The automobile, driven by Ernest Emard, brother of the injured man, and carrying two unknown women, besides those mentioned in the list of fatalities, was travelling from Hull in the direction of Gatineau Point, when in some unaccountable manner it swerved off the road and piled up against a telegraph pole.

Constable Pelchat, of Hull, found the automobile, bearing a New York license, badly wrecked by the roadside. P. Emard was found inside the fence skirting the road. The two women had disappeared.

TRENTON JOINING THE ASSOCIATION

Will Assist in the Development of the Trent Waterway.

The fullest support and co-operation by the town of Trenton was assured yesterday by the Town Council, business men and Rotary Club, to the Trent Waterway Development Association, when visited by President G. K. Fraser, Vice-President F. D. Kerr, and the Secretary

Membership by the town was taken out, and a local committee formed with chairman, Mayor L. E. Roenig, Secretary L. Foster, Postmaster; President of the Chamber of Commerce and President of the Rotary Club, W. House.

The first action of the committee will be to appoint one person who will be responsible for giving out full information to visitors regarding the Waterway, and also keep on hand charts for the section from Trenton to Peterborough.

Trenton has been the only town on the Waterway which has not joined with the Association since its organization in 1920, and the officers are now gratified in knowing that Trenton will do everything possible in assisting in the development of this scenic route.

CARS WERE DAMAGED IN STREET CORNER COLLISION

Two cars met at the corner of Alymer and McDonnel Streets at 5.10 yesterday evening, both receiving damages. None of the occupants suffered injury.

A sedan driven by C. Elliott, 571 Aylmer Street was proceeding south on Alymer and a coupe was travelling east on McDonnel driven by S. Crowe, 252 Smith Street, when they collided. Crowe's car lost the right rear wheel and Elliott's had damages to the fender.

PREMIER SEEKING TO AVOID A FIGHT

Bulgaria and Jugo-Slavia to Get Together in Conference.

PARIS, Sept. 18. — (Canadian Press).—Premier Poincare is making an effort to bring about a settlement of the menacing conditions between the Bulgarian and Jugo-Slava Governments over the infiltration of Bulgarian irregulars into Jugo-Slavia territory. He has suggested that the commission authorized under the agreement of Nish to draw up an extradition treaty should meet at once. The two Governments have agreed to have the commission meet October 1st.

COTTON SHOWED SHARP ADVANCE

Corn Products and Other Speculative Stock Favorites Lost Part of Yesterday's Recovery.

NEW YORK, September 18. United Press. — Cotton continued its sharp advance in the early dealings but stocks fluctuated irregularly in the absence of positive news developments over night. Steel, Baldwin, Corn Products, and other speculative favorites lost part of the recovery scored in the previous session, while fractional gains were scored by General Motors, American Woollen and Southern Railway. Crucible made no response to the maintenance of the current dividend rate of $1 quarterly.

Irregular Tendencies.

Irregular tendencies noticeable in the early dealings were quickly eliminated from the main body of stocks which swung into a renewal of Monday's rally before 11 o'clock. American and Continental Can, N.Y. C. and other active isues reached higher ground on the recovery, while marked strength was displayed by Davison Chemical, United States Cast Iron Pipe and other earn its common dividend requirements in the first six months.

Opening Prices.

New York Central's better action stimulated the low-priced rails, in which group Southern Pacific has been selected for leadership because of its favorable earnings position this year.

The opening prices included Amer Can 92½ up 1-8; Baldwin 116¼ off 3-8; Bethlehem Steel 49 off 1-2; Corn Products 122 7-8 off 5-8; Studebaker 101 3-4 up 1-8; American Woollen 93 1-8 up ¼; Pan American B 54 1-4 up 1-4; General Motors 14 5-8 up 1-8; U. S. S. 88 1-8 off 1-8; North American 20¼ off 1-8; Southern Railway 32½ up 1-2; Atchinson 95 5-8 off 3-8.

BIG DECLINE IN BUTTER EXPORTS

247,102 Packages Less Than in Same Period Last Year.

MONTREAL, Sept. 18.—The export trade in cheese last week was quieter and in consequence the shipments were smaller, the total being 54,612 boxes as against 62,672 boxes for the previous week, showing a decrease of 8,060 boxes but there were 23,920 boxes larger than the same week last year. The total exports from May 1, 1923 to September 15, 1923, were 729,365 boxes, as compared with 709,318 boxes for the same period of 1922, showing an increase of 20,047 boxes, and a decrease of 275,161 boxes with 1921. The movement of butter for export account last week was a little larger, the shipments being 4,693 packages as compared with 4,012 packages for the previous week showing an increase of 581 packages and a decrease of 17,041 packages with the same week last year. The total shipments for the season 1923 to date have been 24,533 packages as against 247,102 packages for the same period of 1922, showing a decrease of 222,569 packages and a decrease of 34,188 packages with 1921.

The shipment of eggs last week were 3,550 cases which were 2,800 cases larger than the previous week, and 25 cases in excess of the same week for 1922, but the total exports for the season 1923 to date show a decrease of 202 cases as compared with 1922, and a decrease of 25,616 wiah 1921.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Sept. 18. —Canadian Press).—Definite word reached here to-day that Governor Pinchott of Pennsylvania is presidential candidate and that movement to get delegation for him in 1924 has started. His settlement of coal strike is said to be big factor in his favor.

SIXTY BLOCKS BERKELEY, CAL. PREY OF FIRE

A Prosperous Residential Section of City Nothing But Smoky Waste this Afternoon.

2,400 ARE HOMELESS

BERKELEY, Cal., Sept. 18. — (Canadian Press). — Fire sweeping over the hills east of Berkeley late yesterday laid waste to Cragmont and Euclid Avenue districts, destroying at least six hundred residences within an area estimated at sixty blocks in one of the choicest residential sections of the city, with damage estimated at $10,000,000, and rendering homeless approximately 2,400 persons.

No lives are known to have been lost, although two students were seen to plunge into a vortex of fire when the roof of the house upon which they had climbed collapsed.

Frenzied Students.

Hundreds of frenzied residents fled from the burning area as the fire swept down the slopes of the hills, burned its way through closely settled and exclusive districts, and ostensively died down to a smouldering ring of flames encompassing the entire area which it had devastated.

A Smoky Waste.

The prosperous residential section was a smoky waste.

The advance of the fire, which broke out in the brush in Contra Gosta County, was heralded by ugly gray clouds of smoke, which swept over the brow of a hill, driven by a brisk wind, and blanketed Berkeley throughout the day.

The fire was one of a series of forest, brush and grass fires, fanned by strong north winds, and fed by undergrowth baked to a cinder by the prolonged summer, which raged in nearly every county in Northern California.

Several resorts and small towns were severely damaged or destroyed by the flames, which sprang into being, in several instances, almost without warning, and quickly spread beyond control of the national foresters, state fire wardens, and hundreds of volunteer fire fighters.

EXPENSIVE COAL NOT FOR STOVE USE

Black Diamonds at An Approximate Price of $120 a Ton.

MONTREAL, Sept. 18.—Coal at $120 a ton-

A slight pause seems called for at this juncture, in order that the overburdened householder, weighed down with loads of rates, taxes, rising rents, rising school costs, rising everything but income and profit, may grasp for breath and satisfy himself it is no misprint.

Nevertheless, one of Montreal's leading coal importers showed a reporter some pieces of ordinary Pennsylvania anthracite recently imported, which actually cost him $120 a ton at the mine-head

Some of the pieces were beautifully polished on one side, with the firm's name engraved in the polished surface, serving as paperweights. One of the larger pieces had been cut and chiselled into an inkstand with two ink bottles, the bottles being part of the lump of coal, and the stoppers carved out of separate pieces of coal.

Six Cents a Pound.

There are a number of men, the coal merchant explained, in the hard coal mining towns of the United States, who make a business of carving and engraving these lumps of coal into ornamental or useful articles for souvenir purposes. They are allowed by the mine owners to go down into the mines and pick out here and there whatever pieces of coal they think most suitable for their work, and in compensation for the trouble of having them around the mine, they pay six cents a pound for all the coal they take away, which works out at $120 a ton, at the mine.

Once the coal is carved in the manner referred to, the price naturally goes up considerably. A paper weight weighing about two pounds costs its owner $2.50, and an inkstand which might have weighed five pounds came to $7.50, or at the rate of $3,000 a ton.

It is officially stated that there is no market for coal at this price for domestic furnace use.

APPEAL SENT BACK TO THE COMMISSION.

OTTAWA, Sept. 18.— (Canadian Press).—Appeal of British Columbia and Alberta against the mountain scale of freight rates heard by Privy Council last month has been referred back to the Board of Railway commissioners according to an Order-in-Council to-day. The Commission has been asked to reconsider and act upon the specific question of export grain rates from the prairie provinces to Vancouver and for this purpose arguments submitted at the hearing of appeal have been sent to the Commission.

ALLIED POWERS TO TAKE SALUTE OF GREEK FLEET

Greece Will Bow to Italy Tomorrow in Apology for the Janina Murders. —Impasing Ceremony.

FLY ITALIAN COLORS

TARINTO, Italy, Sept. 18.—(Special).—Greece will bow to Italy in apology for the Janina murders when an Allied Fleet assembles tomorrow, off Phalaron to accept the salute of the Greek Fleet assembled there.

An Italian battle squadron sailed from this port Monday, to a rendezvous sixteen miles off Phalaron, where it will meet the British battle cruiser Hood and the French dreadnought Jean Bart.

In Agean Sea.

The Italian warships include two dreadnoughts and six destroyers. Two other Italian destroyers, now at Corfu, will join the squadron in the Aegean Sea.

The squadron is under command of Admiral Solari.

According to procedure adopted the Greek Cruisers Averoff and Lemnos will first salute the Italian, French and British warships, During the salute the Greek vessels will fly the Italian colors.

The Allies will return the salute with twenty one guns.

Religious Ceremony.

Simultaneously a religious ceremony will be held in Athens for the Janina victims, and later a requiem mass will be said aboard the Italian dreadnought Cavour.

After the ceremony, the squadron will proceed to Corfu where the remains of the murdered officials will be taken aboard.

Take Bodies to Rome.

On Thursday evening, the bodies will be landed here. A huge cortege will escort them to the railroad station, whence they will be taken to Rome.

The final obsequies will be held in the Capital, attended by King Victor Emmanuel and Premier Mussolini.

BRITAIN IS LEAST SELF-SUFFICICNT

And Unemployment Due to Changes in Outside World.

LONDON, Sept. 18. — (Canadain Press Cable). — The doctrine of Thomas Robert Malthus, English economist (1766-1834), in whose Essay on Population the view is advanced that the realization of a happy society will always be hindered by the miseries consequent on the tendency of population to increase faster than the means of subsistence reappeared in a discussion at the meeting of the British association for the advancement of science at Liverpool on the problem of unemployment.

Sir William Beveridge declared that the fact that there were over 1,000,000 earners in Great Britain who were unemployed did not prove over-population. Britain, he said, was suffering not from over-population but because the world outside had too rapidly changed.

Of all the great countries, Britain was the least self-sufficient, the most highly specialized the most dependent on trade and peace and world-wide co-operation.

The British were too far from self-sufficiency to make it worth while to attempt to return to it by growing more corn, etc., Sir William said. The adoption of a middle course of creating a self-sufficient British Empire depended on whether the Dominions would agree to a division of the economic functions which would leave the most profitable ones to Great Britain.

Sir William said that increased birth control was not required by anything in the conditions in Europe previous to the war and was irrelevant to Britain's present troubles.

COUNTY JAIL IS CRIME BREEDER

Generates Filth, Dirt, Disease, Crime Declares Former U. S. Inspector of Prisons.

BOSTON, Sept. 18.—(Canadian Press).—The County Jail was denounced as a crime breeder by Joseph F. Fishman, former Federal Inspector of Prisons in an address prepared for delivery before the American Prison Association to-day.

"The county jail," he said, "is the debauch of dirt, disease and degeneracy."

He declared that this institution played an important part in increasing the amount of crime and the number of criminals.

"In ninety five per cent of jails," he continued, "are thrown together helter-skelter old, young, guilty, innocent, diseased healthy, the hardened and susceptible there to be mixed with further ingredients of filth, vermin; cold, darkness stagman air overcrowding and bad plumbing, and all brought to boil by fires of complete idleness. In handling the jail situation the state in the name of Justice commits crimes far more heinous than many of those it punishes with long terms of imprisonment."

Magistrate O. A. Langley remarked that if the allegation is true a warrant for the arrest of the witness should be taken out.

Evans' bonds, $2,000 personal security and two sureties of $1,000 each, were renewed by consent.

LOCAL EFFORT RAISE A FUND TO HELP JAPAN

Peterboro Branch of the Red Cross Society Authorized to Secure Donations.

REASONS ADVANCED

The Peterborough branch of the Red Cross Society is acting in concert with all other branches of the Canadian Red Cross Society, in an effort to raise funds to assist the sufferers in the Japanese holocaust.

Among the reasons advanced as to why we should help Japan, it is pointed out that Japan is suffering from one of the greatest catastrophes in the history of the world. The area affected was about 150 by 100 miles, and contained a population of nearly seven million people. The estimated number of dead varies from 100,000 to 350,000. The number of building destroyed may be nearly 400,000 or as many as the total number of buildings said to be destroyed in France in the devastated areas. It is clear that several hundreds of thousand of people have had their means of livelihood cut off, their homes destroyed and their normal food supplies burned or washed away by the tidal wave.

Japan is our neighbor and was our ally in the great war.

Canada and Japan are fellow-members in the League of Nations to-day.

Canada has always been among the first to help other nations in time of need, and although heavily burdened by war costs and economic depression is not bankrupt by any means.

In time of need, Canada has been helped by other nations. When Ottawa was burned, one million dollars was received from outside of the Dominion; in the Halifax explosion, the State of Massachusetts alone raised over eight hundred thousand dollars. When there was a fire at Haileybury and an epidemic at Cochrane, subscriptions were received from United States, New Zealand and Australia.

The Canadian Red Cross is in duty bound to help in the cause, and whatever sums are obtained through their appeal will be applied, not for general reconstruction or restoration work, but for the relief of suffering in general and for the care of the sick and the saving of children in particular..

The Society suggests the co-operation of the churches in this regard, when a certain Sunday might be set aside, whose services could take the form of an expression of national sorrow and sympathy with Japan, and when collections might be taken up toward relief funds.

The logical method of administration of relief work in Japan is through the Red Cross Society, to whom could be sent contributions from all of its many ramifications throughout the world. The Red Cross Society of Japan is one of the best organized Red Cros Societies in the world.

It has a paid membership of over two million and has a special division comprising about six thousand of a trained nurse personnel, including doctors, head nurses, head attendants nurses and attendants. The Director General of the League of Red Cross Societies after his recent visit to Japan describes it as "The leading society of the Orient, with vast resources, organization and enterprise."

Small or large sums for this purpose would be gratefully received, and could be forwarded to the treasurer of the Peterboro Branch of the Red Cros Society, Miss Emma Morrow, 484 Weller Street.

ALBERTA COAL MAY YET COMPETE IN ONTARIO.

CALGARY, Alta., Sept. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Efforts are new being made by the Western Canada Coal Operator's Association to have low freight rates to Ontario established on Canadian National Railways for a period after January of next year, and negotiations to this end are now pending, Jesse Gouge, of Drumheller, said last night. There is still a chance for Alberta coal to compete favorably with American anthracit, on the Ontario market and it has not been dropped as an impossibility, he said.

MAY DRY UP CHANNEL OF THE WELLAND CANAL

OTTAWA Sept. 18— (Canadian Press).—Report from St. Catharines to-day that the Government proposes to drain off and dry up the channel of the present Welland canal between Merritton and Dalhousie when the ship canal is opened was characterized as premature by officials of the Department of Railways and Canals to-day.

VIOLENT EARTHQUAKE SHOCK NEAR MESSINA.

SYRACUSE, Sicily, Sept. 18. — (Canadian Press). — Violent earthquake shock was felt here at 732 this morning.

Syracuse is about 75 miles south of Messina which was almost totally destroyed by an earthquake in 1908 with heavy loss of life.

NO NEWSPAPERS NEW YORK CITY

Web Pressmen Walk Out and Tie Up All the Big Dailies.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Mostly all the morning newspapers in New York failed to appear to-day as a result of a strike of members of the Web Pressmen's Union No. 25, which was called shortly after midnight at the conclusion of a four-hour meeting of the pressmen. The city's millions went to work with little or no knowledge of the world's events, as there was but few newspapers to be had. Early editions of the evening papers also failed to appear.

President Simons of the union declared the strike grew out of the inability of the union and the publishers to agree to a working contract to replace the one which expired September 1st.

A meeting of the owners of the leading dailies will be held this afternoon.

CASE DISPOSED OF BY COURTS

Sale of Automobile in Peterboro Is Heard in Toronto Court.

TORONTO, Sept. 18.—(Special).—Mahood and Havery, of Peterboro, sued Robert H. Biglow for $1,300, the amount of the note given on a car sold to Biglow for $3,050. The trial judge dismissed the action, and to-day the Second Divisional Court found against the appeal.

Representation was made that the car had gone only 2,000 miles, and was none the worse. A man, now absent, made the statement in the presence of the plaintiffs, so the court held them to be responsible as there had been no repudiation.

Biglow's defence at the trial was misrepresented, and Mahood and Havery's suit failed, to be followed to-day by another reverse.

ASK MORE COAL FROM ALBERTA

Old Peterborough Boy Is One of the Shippers—Good Domestic Fuel.

Peterboro has forwarded a request to the Alberta Trade Commissioner for as much Alberta coal as can be obtained of the new shipment of 10,000 tons which will be carried by the Canadian National Railway at the $7 per ton freight rate, Leon Frazer, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, told the Examiner to-day.

The city's allowance of three cars under the last shipment of 6,000 tons will arrive this week, and under the same distribution plan the new shipment would bring an assignment of five car loads. It is hoped that this may be materially increased, however, since public interest has been stirred by the exhibition of the burning qualities during the last four days of last week. Many expressions of wonder were heard as citizens saw the coal burning with all dampers shut off and the top raised, the fire being smokeless and sootless.

Peterboro Boy Ships.

A coincidence in the last consignment of Alberta coal is that one of the cars was shipped by an old Peterboro boy, W. A. Davidson, who was well-known here during his 20 years' residence in the city. Mr. Davidson is superintendent of the Rosedale Coal Co., and says in regard to the shipment of coal to this city that he believes Alberta coal to be the best for domestic purposes.

Those who have actively interested themselves in the propagation of the western fuel in Peterboro are confident that an almost unlimited quantity could be easily disposed of here, since citizens are becoming aware of the satisfactory qualities of Alberta coal.

NOTABLE ACHIEVEMENT TWO ELDERLY LADIES.

On Sunday last two ladies from Belleville, Mrs. Black and Mrs. Glenn, aged 82 and 76 years respectively, visited the Lift Lock, ascending the long flight of steps leading to the top, unassisted. They crossed over the gates to the other side, one gate being very dangerous, as there is only a hand rail on one side, and on the other nothing but a sheer drop to the pontoon below. When their escort congratulated them on their remarkable achievement, remarking that he had seen many a young lady refuse to make the crossing, Mrs. Black proudly exclaimed, "And I'm 82."

After enjoying the glorious view, which they said well repaid the for their arduous climb, they descended to the waiting Buggy, remarking that they were not the least bit tired.

THE BIBLE IN NATION'S LIFE BY DR. MORGAN

George Street Church was Crowded to Capacity at Last Night's Meeting—The Afternoon Meeting

"The Bible in National Life," was the subject of Dr. Campbell Morgan's address at the George street Methodist church last evening, and once again the reverend gentleman was greeted with a capacity audience that filled every available pew in the big church, and its galleries. In the afternoon at St. Paul's Presbyterian church, there was a strikingly-large audience for a week-day session, the auditorium being more than half-filled. A feature of the work of Dr. Morgan is the attentive, unswerving interest he arouses in his hearers his address of over an hour last evening holding undivided and silent consideration to the last sentence.

The entire congregation stood to sing "O Canada," as an introduction to Dr. Morgan's address on "The Bible in National Life," which he prefaced with the question: "Has the national life outgrown the Bible?" and an allusion to the part played by Canada in the great British commonwealth of nations.

"I don't like the word Empire. To me it has bad connotations, and reminds one of the brutal Roman Empire. I prefer the richer word Comonwealth." The speaker informed his audience that he had been "accidentally" born in England but that his blood was Welsh, "thank God!"

Referring to the campaign of many years conducted by the English Charles Randall and the American Robert Ingersoll against the Bible and to the outbursts occasionally in Hyde Park, "that glorious safety-valve where we may hea. almost anything," Dr. Morgan said "although for a generation we have ceased to treat the Bible with hostility, we have taken the attitude that we have outgrown, and in certain academic quarters it is definitely declared and taught that we have outgrown the Bible, scientifically philosophically and theologically."

Two instances were cited by the speaker, who interspersed his address with touches of flashing humour, to illustrate the trend of modern thought in this regard that of the city of Glasgow in changing its old motto of "Let Glasgow flourish by the preaching of the Word," to the "pagan" motto of "Let Glasgow flourish," and that of the aged cottager of Gloucestershire, who craved for knowledge in his declining years. His pastor undertook to teach him the alphabet, and six months later, on enquiring of the old man's wife if he was able to read the Bible yet, was informed with pride that "he ha. finished with that long ago and was now into the newspapers. How many of you people here," asked the speaker, "are more anxious to read your Bible in the morning, or your newspapers? At this hour our young people are teribly in danger of taking on a second hand agnosticism. A first hand agnosticism may be respected, but I am inclined to label as 'a silly ass' that man who declares himself an agnostic on the strength of what someone else has said that someone else has said again. A careful line should be drawn between the ascertained facts of science and the hypotheses of investigators."

"In the Bible you have the moral conceptions which have made the great civilizations of the past two thousand years," declared Dr. Morgan, alludihg to the pre-war conditions in the British Commonwealth the United States of America, and Germany, as examples of nations where civilization had reached its highest level, because of their adherence to the lessons of the Bible.

"The first flush of greatness in England began when a serving man in a monastery with the gift of the muse and of literature, began for his own mental recreation to translate portions of the Bible from the Vulgate to the language of the people, when the paraphrases of Caedmon began, that led finally on and on until in 1611 the great King James Version was given to the English people, and when that great version was ready, God gave the printing press to the people."

The United States, which the speaker characterized as "a baby in swaddling clothes," and destined to be one of the greatest forces for good or for evil in the future, has been founded by the Pilgrim Fathers whose lives were rooted in Biblical truths.

"When we sepak of Germany, we should remember, not only the Germany of Neitzsche, but the Germany that produced a Martin Luther and a Goethe. It was the Bible that induced in the German nation their appreciation of the sacredness of motherhood, the love of home, and the sanctity of industry. We must not forget that we lived four-

Your Health

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

Nature fully intended that human beings should be supplied with fresh air, substantial plain food, uncontaminated drinking water and plenty of exercise, thus insuring a perfect combustion of oxygen and food to maintain a safe balance throughout the body and the elimination of waste and poison. But as we know to our sorrow nature's laws and rules governing health are often interfered with and broken in our complex living conditions.

Rheumatism is one of the results of these broken laws and the punishment is severe. It is an infectious disease and attacks the tissues of low resistance. If taken in time rheumatism will cure itself.

Your Own Physician

You must see to it that the hygenic life is carried out and thoroughly lived up to in all organs of the body. Right living means no excess in eating, thorough elimination, and careful habits. In other words, rheumatism is cured from within by yourself, and not from without by someone else.

The two principal causes are: first, lack of proper food, chiefly due to our insufficient knowledge of food chemistry, together with bad digestion and little or no exercise or faulty habits; second, by the occupations and exposure to which many persons, chiefly males, are victims.

Injuries to joints, low or nervous debility, excessive muscular labor, or chronic alcoholism are also frequent causes of rheumatism. The tonsils seem to be a common habitat for this germ. Have them carefully examined and removed if diseased. If you have pus pockets at the roots of your teeth, have them treated or taken out before it is too late. However, pus formation does not play the part which has generally been thought in the form of rheumatism known as arthritis.

Food a Counteractive

In the prevention of this disease we must be careful to eat the proper foods and keep the life stream normal. Do not allow any poison to be retained in your system, through bad elimination or careless habits and lack of exercise as you advance in years. Nature will aid by giving you the best medicine in the world—raw vegetables. Lettuce, watercress, cabbage, cucumbers and celery, together with the so-called root vegetables, carrots, onions, radishes, beets and parsnips and our old friend tomatoes.

Most people in middle life eat too much meat. In fact, many physicians claim that certain kinds of rheumatism are due to non-neutralized acid poisons of protein metabolism. Chronic or muscular rheumatism well advanced on its way is a tough customer. Medicine is not of much value. Relief for a time may be obtained by warm massage or sweating the joints, and hot mud baths. Be careful about changes, cold and dampness. Dry, equable climate is sometimes a great help, although comparatively few are able to enjoy such a change.

NEWS BAILIEBORO AND THE DISTRICT

Cavan and Monaghan Shipping Board Had a Successful Year — Personals.

BAILIEBORO, Sept. 18.—The Cavan and South Monaghan "shipping board," held their annual meeting in the U.F.O. rooms at Centreville, to reappoint their board for the ensuing year, and report business which has been done during the past year.

The old board was re-appointed, and two other members added to its number.

The board is as follows: Joseph White, president; Wilbur Barnard, secretary; Stewart Donaldson, Edmund Dawson, Willard Waterman, Ernest Anderson, W. A. Wood, shippers.

The secretary's report showed that the total value of stock shipped from Fraserville station since August 5, 1922, until August 30, 1923, amounted to $37,770.38.

Total number of cattle shipped was 384, calves 202, sheep 464, hogs 861.

The reports were all very satisfactory and the members of the board feel sure that the ensuing year will prove even more successful than the last.

A Brush Fire Puts Torch To Berkeley, California's Large University City

TWO STUDENTS KILLED SCORES IN HOSPITAL UNIVERSITY MENACED

Business and Residential Sections of Berkeley Wiped Out By Fire Whipped By a Fierce Wind.

MANY HOUSES GONE.

BERKELEY, Calif., Sept. 18.—(Canadian Press).—The business section of this city and the entire residential section of North Berkeley was doomed late yesterday by fire that started in the brush of the Contra Costa County hills and swept over the ridge into the Unversity City.

Hundreds of homes, including those of more than half of the faculty of the University of California, have been destroyed.

Dynamiting has been resorted to in a desperate effort to check the spread of the flames.

SPARKS SPREAD FIRE.

At five o'clock business buildings at University avenue and Shattuck avenue in the heart of the city were ablaze, having caught from firebrands and sparks that were swept on by a fierce north wind.

TWO STUDENTS DEAD.

BERKELEY, Calif., Sept. 18. (Canadian Press). — Two unidentified students of the University of California were killed when they fell through the burning roof of a house yesterday.

It is reported that scores of injured are in the Berkeley General Hospital.

FOUR BLOCKS WIPED OUT.

BERKELEY, Cal., Sept. 18. — Thirty houses in the residental district of Berkeley had been burned to the ground at 3.45 o'clock to-day and the wind had swept the flames to withinn three blocks of the University of California where 5,000 students are in attendance, about two thousand of them being co-eds. Four city blocks have been wiped out and thefire is headed toward the business section of Berkeley.

FIRE BEYOND CONTROL.

BERKELEY, Cal., Sept. 17.— About 100 houses here were burning at 4.15 o'clock this afternoon, and the fire now at the edge of the University of California buildings, is entirely out of control, according to estimates made at that hour. The telephone system was partially put out of commission and sparks reached the business district.

This morning is was announced that six hundred buildings were destroyed and damages of $10,000,000 done by fire which wiped out thirty-five entire Berkely blocks late yesterday, it is shown in figures compiled by Mayor's office. Its estimated 2400 persons lost their homes.

Five Fatalities In Saskatchewan

REGINA, eSptember 18 (Canadian Press). — Five fatalities were reported from Saskatchewan towns yesterday.

John Anderson, of Kincaid, and Andrew Swabb, of Meyeronne, were killed when their horses bolted.

Nels Galna, of Broderick, was drowned.

John A. McKee, an engineer, was killed at Lebret when he fell between the drivewheel and the fender of a steam engine.

Hill Gregory dropped dead in a store at Swift Current.

DEMAND EQUITABLE EXPORT CONDITIONS

Canadian Cattle Discriminated Against in the English Market.

MONTREAL, Sept. 18.—"If these arbitrary conditions with regard to the Canadian export cattle trade to England which we are compelled to endure served any useful purpose and were the means of facilitating trade between Canada and the mother country we would wholeheartedly support them. But when they are discriminatory, cause needless loss to those engaged in the cattle export business and are at the same time a means of sowing discord among our peoples, Canada as a component part of the British Empire has a right to challenge the regulations and demand more equitable treatment in what should be considered our own natural markets.'

Donald Munro, local exporter of Canadian store cattle, thus voiced the opinions of Canadian cattle exporters with regard to the difficulties they have recently encountered and the ideas they wish put forward by Canada's representatives at the approaching Imperial Economic Conference.

Mr. Munro declared that "the hair splitting tactics that are now being enforced" have resulted in heavy losses to those engaged in the cattle export trade and he asks at least equal treatment with the Irish cattle exporters in the English market.

WANTED IN STATES HIDING IN QUEBEC

Austin H. Montgomery Is Charged with Using Mails to Defraud.

QUEBEC, September 18. Canadian Press. — Austin H. Montgomery, K.C., president of the defunct Community Finance Company, of New York, with ramifications in the United States and Canadian cities, is registered at the Chateau Frontenac here, together with his wife, who is one of the two women lawyers of New York, and their three children.

But he is in hiding in the neighborhood, surrounded by a bodyguard of private detectives, whose business is to prevent him not merely from being arrested as a fugitive from United States justice, but also to ensure him against possible kidnapping.

Montgomery is wanted in various places in the United States on the charge of using the U. S. mails to defraud. Alleged defalcations in the famous Blind Pool case are said to reach anywhere between $3,000,000 and $4,000,000. He is also charged with being the ringleader of a syndicate of stock sharks who operated on a highly promissory dividend paying system.

73 YEARS—THREE GENERATIONS

A Remarkable Canadian Record In Piano Building.

Three generations of Heintzmans, all practical men, have had a leading part in the bringing of the piano of Ye Olde Firme of Heintzman & Co. Ltd., up to its present high standard of musical excellence.

Mr. Geo. C. Heintzman, President of the Company, has given a large part of his time personally during the past year to New Grand Piano of the firm that is only now placed on the market and that is creating wide-spread interest among music-loving people. The new sounding board built under patents just issued, with the improvements in the bridge strings, and other details, has rounded out a high-class Piano that has no equal in piano building. Where critical musicians said in the past looked to the United States for a thoroughly high-grade piano, with tone the outstanding feature, today they find this at home in the Heintzman & Co. new Grand Piano, this new piano will be found in the 1924 models. BLOOD FLOWED WHEN GERMANS DEMAND BREAD

Police Fired Into Crowd in Brandenburg Town — Wages Less Than 25c a Week.

TWELVE SHOT DEAD.

BERLIN, Sept. 17.— Twelve persons were killed and many wounded at Sorau, province of Brandenburg, on Saturday when police reinforcements which had been called to the town because of food demonstrations fired into a crowd in the market place.

Owing to the fact that the factories have been working on short time, the wages of the workmen were totally inadequate for the purchase of the most frugal supplies of necessities. Many of the men are said to have been in receipt of less than the equivalent of twenty five cents weekly. For a long time the populace had suffered in silence, but on Friday a further increase in prices led to a violent demonstration which forced the shopkeepers to reduce prices. There was no interference on the part of the police and the day passed without disorder.

The Burgomaster, however, secretly summoned police reinforcements from Kottburg and these arrived Saturday and took up quarters in the market place and the police, apparently fearing they were about to be attacked ,suddenly opened fire. The crowd fled in terror, leaving twelve dead and many wounded on the ground. Quiet prevailed in Sorau today, but the anger of the workmen is intense.

12 Reported Injured .

LONDON, Sept. 17. A dispatch to the Central News from Berlin says there has been street fighting between Communists and Royalists in Plauen, Savony. Twelve persons are declared to have been seriously injured.

Demonstration at Freiburg.

BERLIN, Sept. 17. During a demonstration by workmen at Freiburg, in Baden, to-day, there was collision with the police during which the police fired on the workmen, killing one and wounding several others.

MILK FLOW HAS MADE RECOVERY

Ontario Pastures in Excellent Condition—Plowing Advanced.

TORONTO, Sept. 18.—(Canadian Press)—Fall pastures are generally in an excellent condition, according to the report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture today, and the milk flow has made a most satisfactory recovery.

Frost did considerable damage in the latter part of last week, but chiefly to tender crops. Fall plowing is going on as fast as men can be found for the job, and a large area will be turned over should favorable weather continue. A good deal of fall wheat was sown during the week, and a full acreage will likely be got in this season if suitable weather prevails.

Threshing is progressing fairly well considering the rush for fall plowing, sowing and silo filling. In many cases both the yield and quality of the grain are turning out better than was expected.

SCHOOLS HANDICAPPED BY HOME BANK CLOSING

Lindsay Depositors Opposed to Immediate Liquidation.

LINDSAY, Sept. 17.— A number of local depositors in the Home Bank held a meeting here on Saturday evening at the call of Mr. I. E. Weldon, who is acting in the interests of other depositors throughout the country. A resoultion was passed opposing any liqudation of the bank until after the curator has made his report.

The closing of the Home Bank had a serious effect in town and county. Several local organizations have had all their funds tide up and have been hard put in their efforts to carry on. Several school sections in the country had deposits in the bank, and the failure has seriously handicapped them. The run on some of the local banks as a result of panicy conditions has petered out.

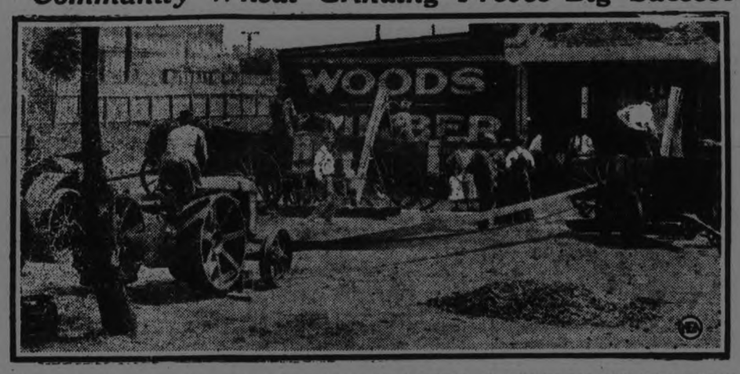
Community Wheat Grinding Proves Big Success



HOW PARSONS (KAS.) WHEAT FARMERS TURNED THEIR GR AIN FROM LOSS TO PROFIT, SCENE AT THE FREE MILLS A RRANGED FOR THEIR USE.

PARSONS, Kas., Sept. 18. — Wheat sold on the market here is worth only 76 cents a bushel. Ground into stock feed and fed to hogs and cattle, it is worth more than a dollar a bushel.

Hundreds of farmers hard hit by the tumble in wheat prices, heard the foregoing in a speech made by W. H. Metzger county agent.

It sounded good to many farmers —but cash was scarce after harvest time and farmers decided to turn loose their grain at a loss and take the consequences.

Then the Parsons Chamber of Commerce stepped in, put the proposition before two large implement dealers and free grinding was offered the farmers.

The first Saturday 600 bushels were ground and the second week more than 2000 bushels. The plan has been so successful that the Kansas State Agricultural College has recommended it to all counties in Kansas. As a result, many towns in Labette county have provided grinders for the farmers.

BLAMED GUARDS FOR HIS ESCAPE

Prisoner Pleaded That Temptation Was Placed in His Way.

MONTREAL, Sept. 18.—(Canadian Press)—John Clark, accused of escaping from the St. Vincent de Paul peniteptiary on May 21 last was found guilty by a jury under Judge Wilson in the Court of Kings' Bench here today.

The accused, who pleaded his own case, claimed that if there were any crime it had been committed by the officials of the penitentiary by placing him in the way of temptation. The prisoner cross-examined the warden of the penitentiary, Col. R. A. Girouard, Deputy Warden Fitzgibbon and Arthur Gauthier, exguard of the prison closely all his questions being directed towards obtaining an admission that his escape was caused by the fact that they gave him the chance. Clark also addressed the jury and claimed that the treatment of prisoners at the penitentiary was poor and that the cells were not fit for pigs. He added that the prisoners were treated worse than dogs.

Judge Wilson stated that he personally knew conditions at the prison and they were good. In fact there was perhaps too much luxury for the prisoners in the methods of reform adopted there.

Clark had been sentenced to three terms of four years each for breaking and entering two houses at Dorval and for assaulting an officer. The terms ran concurrently.

The jury made a recommendation for mercy which the judge said he would take into account when he sentenced the prisoner later.

HEAR APPEAL OF MURDER CONVICT

Asks That Sentence Be Quashed — Now Under Reprieve.

MONTREAL, Sept. 18.—(Canadian Press)—Sentenced to hang October 28, Wilfrid Stonge will make another fight for his life here next Friday when he will come before the court of appeal to ask that his trial for the murder of Nestor Gabrilovitch, in this city on April 1, 1922, be nullified here and his conviction and sentence quashed. The court granted a motion here today at the request of his attorney setting the date for the hearing for Friday.

Stonge was sentenced to hang on June 15 last but received a reprieve to Octobe 26 to allow his appeal to be heard.

FELL INTO SEPARATOR OF THRESHING MACHINE

Joseph Kennedy of Dunsford Had One Leg Mangled.

LINDSAY, Sept. 17—Jospeh Kennedy, of Dunsford, is in the Ross Hospital here suffering from serious injuries. He was threshoing at V. Beaty's farm in South Verulam on Thursday last. He was up on a scaffold over the barn floor when he fell into the separator. One of his legs was badly mangled and it was feared that it might have to be amputated. Attending physicians state, however, that it will heal nicely.

Miners Return on Wednesday

SCRANTON, Pa., Sept. 18. — (Canadian Press). — The anthracite mine workers in convention late today ratified the new wage agreement entered into between representatives of the United Mine Workers and the coal operators, and voted to return to work Wednesday morning. Anthracite mining has been suspended since September 1, when the old wage contract expired.

Fruits can be put up without any sugar if carefully sealed.

PRINCE DINES ON JIGGS' DIET

Corned Beef and Cabbage Dinner Fare For Royal Farmer.

EDMONTON, Alta., Sept. 18.—(Canadian Press)—Lord Renfrew is out at work in his sunflower patch on the E. P. ranch today, and garbed in blue overalls, is helping to harvest his crop of the big yellow headed daisies. He started in early in this morning and is reported to be having a good time, giving every indication of enjoying himself and really earning his title of Farmer-Prince.

This is the information that came over the long distance telephone when Hon. George Hoadley, Minister of Agriculture, called up Professor W. L. Carlyle, manager of the ranch, and asked how the Royal visitor was getting on. The Prince, it seems, has taken to the country life at once, with an evident intention of improving every minute of his stay in Alberta.

Incidentally it developed that he was to be given a corned beef and cabbage dinner and that he has already declared himself a convert to this bill of fare, for which he was acquiring an appetite in the harvest field.

A special license to shoot all kinds of game while in the province has been given Lord Renfrew with the compliments of the government game department. This was decided on a week ago and passed by order-in-council, a letter being sent to Professor Carlyle to that effect.

Stork Overtook C.N.R. Train With Baby Boy

KINGSTON, Sept. 18.—(Canadian Press)—Passengers on Canadian National train No. 16 on Saturday night were given the surprise of their life when a bouncing baby boy was ushered into the world on the moving train between Cobourg and Belleville. The young mother was on her way from Detroit to Montreal to be with her mother but necessarily and naturally her journey was interrupted and she was taken off the train at Belleville and removed to the hospital, together with her little baby, both of them doing splendidly.

DEMAND FOR HORSES.

SUDBURY, Sept. 18.—(Canadian Press)—There is exceptional demand for high grade draft horses for work in woods. According to sales report of local dealers, several carloads of horses arrived last week from Seaforth and have now all been sold. Prices have been good but buyers demand quality.

FORCE BEHIND MUNROE DOCTRINE CONTRASTED WITH UNARMED IDEALS

United States Ready to Prevent Interference With Territorial Affairs on This Continent — Frank Expressions.

DEBATE CONTINUES.

GENEVA, Sept. 18.—(Canadian Press).—The machinery of the League of Nations whirled yesterday as never before. The delegates attacked problems of vast interest, and the Council of the league in a noteworthy public session frankly debated the question of Italy's refusal to recognize the competency of the league in the Greco-Italian crisis.

The famous Article X. of the covenant furnished renewed interest before the commission on amendments to the covenant, when Senor Alvarez, the Chilcan diplomat, presented a powerful defence of the Monroe Doctrine, which, he declared, was worth more to the United States than Article X. of the covenant ever could be. And this was so, he emphasized, because the United States naval and military forces stood ready to enforce this doctrine, which forbade any European state from interfering in a territorial sense in the affairs of the United States continent.

There occurred a lively discussion on the question of the proposed pact for mutual assistance which the Commission on the reduction of armaments will later submit to the Assembly. It is a project aimed at the prevention of war.

League Fulfilled Duty.

No decision was taken to-day on the issue of the competency of the covenant, which Italy had defied. Signor Salandra asked for time in

THE BOY SCOUT MOVEMENT.

Several excellent addresses have been given here recently on Boy Scout work, and in view of the interest aroused by the remarks of the visiting speakers, there does not seem any reason why the movement could not be successfully revived in Peterborough.

It is magnificent training for young boys and a splendid foundation upon which to build good citizenship.

Peterborough should have a good many patrols of Scouts, and their presence here would be an excellent thing for the city.

Unfortunately, most of the Scout organizations here have been allowed to disappear in spite of the fact that the movement is growing rapidly elsewhere, and there are at present some 17,000 Scouts in the Province.

Whatever the reason for the falling off in interest locally, whether because of a scarcity of qualified leaders or of financial backing, the difficulties in the way of re-organization cannot be of an insurmountable nature.

The boys themselves are here, hundreds of them, craving just such an organization to direct their energy into the proper channels.

Is there nothing that can be done to see that they are given a chance of developing under the guidance of a movement founded upon such splendid principles as is Boy Scout work?

AN EXPLANATION NEEDED.

The inquiry into the escape of five convicts from the Kingston Penitentiary is still under way and is expected to fix the blame for the affair and to indicate some precautions by which a similar occurrence can be avoided.

Outside of the actual escape from within the walls of the penitentiary, the feature that seems to call most for an explanation is the manner in which four of these criminals managed to shake off pursuit.

Here were five men who got away in daylight, their car was so closely followed that one of them was shot, the pursuers were at their heels when they left their machine and took to the woods in full view of the guards who had followed them, and yet the four uninjured convicts have, so far as the Kingston authorities are concerned, made a clean getaway.

Had they been armed desperadoes and the only people at hand to prevent their escape civilians with no weapons, the success of the quartette in showing a clean pair of heels to the pursuit would not be such a mystery.

But the fugitives were not armed, the guards were, the latter were close up—but nevertheless four out of the five are still at liberty, and there is no doubt that the fifth would also be at large if he had been lucky enough to have escaped injury.

That is a phase of the case that demands a better explanation than has hitherto been given.

THE U.F.O. REPRESENTATION.

A considerable flurry in political circles has been caused by the report that Hon. G. H. Ferguson does not intend to recognize the U.F.O. as a political party in the House during the next session of the Legislature, but will regard the Liberal party as the official opposition.

If the Premier persists in this attitude he will be causing much unnecessary embarrassment for himself.

The fact remains that the United Farmers have a score of members in the House and a representation that strong cannot be easily shoved to one side in favour of another party with but fourteen members.

The system adopted in the last Legislature when both Liberals and Conservatives were regarded as opposition groups, and the salary of the leader of the opposition divided between the respective leaders, may be rather unorthodox, but to the man on the street appears to have been a sensible and logical compromise.

If the precedent thus established were to be followed at the next session the Examiner feels sure that it would be accepted by the people of Ontario as a reasonable way of getting around the situation, and that there would be no complaints from any quarter.

An attempt to oust the U.F.O. representation is quite a different thing, and Hon. Mr. Ferguson would be well advised to drop it as liable to have a boomerang tendency.

CANADA'S OLYMPIC TEAM.

Canada is beginning to prepare for the Olympic games to be held next year in Paris, and arrangements are already under way for financing the expedition, the Federal and Provincial Governments being called upon to lend assistance.

The Examiner cordially endorses Canadian participation in this world event, and approves of the Governments making grants toward the expense of sending a Maple Leaf contingent overseas.

At the same time, however, we feel that Canada's Olympic team should be confined merely to those athletes who have a fair chance of making a good showing, whose performances have been good enough in comparison with the records elsewhere to give promise of success in the larger arena.

There is no sense in spending the money of the people of Canada is giving a trip to France to a squad of athletes, however good fellows they may be, who have not even an outside chance of figuring among the prize-winners.

If in any particular event there are no Canadians who cannot come near to world records for that contest, then by all means keep the second-raters at home.

A Canadian Olympic team confined to athletes who have some chance of victory would be a much better advertisement for this country than a much larger party that includes a considerable proportion of deadwood.

WASTEFUL BUSINESS METHODS.

The "high cost of doing business" was stated by the President of the Bank of Hamilton as one of the reasons for its amalgamation with the Bank of Commerce. Nearly every industry in Canada today is burdened the same way. The high cost of doing business is one of the great economic problems in Canada. Many businesses that made large profits in the war time and let their expenses run up cannot get the latter down, and find the going rather rough. Some do not realize even now that profits are as likely to be made out of economies as out of enlarging turnover. Unless the cost of doing business is kept down keen competition in selling prices will keep profits out of sight. This high cost is partly uncontrollable, but there are many business habits that could stand changing.

One of the things that depress business in the warmer weather is the addiction of many business executives to golf. These executives "take a chance" on their business going right while they get away at three in the afternoon or perhaps four for a round or two. Many Toronto offices do not get going at business until half past nine. Many of these offices seem to be overstaffed. That is, there is a multitude of people performing recording operations according to an "efficiency system" and half of them seem unnecessary. Lean business conditions have not at all dampened the haughty take-it-or-leave-it attitude of many persons complaining of poor business. Other firms do not hesitate to overcharge customers, once they think they are in a strategic position to do so. In fact, the whole system of doing business could stand a rigid overhauling and examination to correct many obvious defects. The "take it easy" attitude of war-time has been departing under the stress of some depression. But Canadians do not hustle for business as the Americans across the line do. Frequently they do not give "service" with the same energy or zeal. There is still too much indifference, too much lack of push, too much gambling on getting through on the accustomed easy-going basis.

People in this country have had a relatively easy time. Business in Britain, for instance, puts twice as much responsibility on the management. Profits are made on the leanest of margins, possibly only on by-products. Competition in Canada has been growing fast, and as the country gets further developed, will become keener, as it has in the States. The majority of businesses fail, in any case, or have to have reorganization, but in future successful management will undoubtedly require more attention, keen measuring of costs and markets, closer figuring. Less loafing, less wasting of time on conventions that are only sport outings under business pretences, less toleration of hit-or-miss methods in general will reduce the cost of doing business. Experience will be a dear teacher, but the price has to be paid.—Mail and Empire.

BABIES.

A report in our columns recently related the trials of the man who was called upon to be the judge of a baby show, says the Kingston Standard. We do not wonder at this; it is merely proof of the old story about the mother snipe. It is said that a man went out hunting and met her; she begged of him that he would not shoot her babies; he promised not to do so, but asked how he was to know them, and was told they were the prettiest in the wood. On coming out he met the mother, and she cried out in distress, "You have killed my babies!" He replied, "Why I shot the ugliest I could see."

That's it. Every mother, quite naturally, and she would not be the right kind of mother if she did not, believes that her baby is the finest in the world, and hence arises the difficulty of a mere man trying to be a judge of babies. It should be a woman's job. And men can't tell the difference between a he and she baby, and consequently call the precious being "It." This is a positive outrage, and men should be fined who use the term. Then most men are very wary how they touch babies, the youngest especially, as they fear to catch hold of them not knowing from their clothes exactly where they begin and where they leave off, and they might drop them. Some men have been known to call them jellyfishes, considering that they are about as soft and with about as much intelligence. Of course, that is a libel. And men don't like that stony stare with which some babies greet them; they don't know what they are thinking about, which reminds us of the lines:

"What is the little one thinking about?
Very wonderful things, no doubt;
Unwritten history,
Unfathomed mystery!
Yet he laughs and cries, and eats and drinks,
And chuckles and crows, and nods and winks,
As if his head were as full of kinks
And curious riddles as any sphinx."

That's just "It." If "It" could only talk, men would be able to answer back. And then the hard part of the matter is that a man has to acknowledge that one day he was like one of these "Its," with the hardest part being that some very ugly men are told they were the prettiest of babies and ought to have won a prize at a baby show only they didn't as the judge was no good, being a mere man.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Another Firpo-Dempsey fight is mooted. A sort of a follow-up campaign as it were.

The individual who walked away with the Alberta coal from the Exhibition was evidently living up to the Fuel Controller's advice to "get your coal now."

The Spanish army has demonstrated an effective way of getting rid of a Government. And the best of it was there were no election speeches needed.

One thing about Lord Renfrew's ranch. He should be fairly safe from society birds anxious to be pictured in the newspapers as his dancing partners.

Outside motorists at Port Hope have been fined for speeding. Surely hurrying through Port Hope is justifiable.

The man who used to issue bulletins as to the number of Russian prisoners captured will likely give out the attendance figures at the Lindsay Fair this week.

Although it did not last long Dempsey came near listening to the "whisper of death" on Friday evening.

According to radio enthusiasts they heard everything in connection with the big prize fight except the rustle of the currency in Tex Rickard's pocket.

NOT MUCH FASTENING.

Coats make very little attempt at fastening this year, and confine themselves to one tie or button or one large ornament, but are more usually held in place by the wearer.

TORONTO CATTLE MARKET.

TORONTO, September 18 (Canadian Press). — Last week's better market sent in larger numbers of cattle to the Union Stock Yards yesterday. The run was 5,176 cattle, 451 calves, 2,344 hogs, and 3,370 sheep and lambs. In addition to these, there were 496 cattle on through billing. Very few cattle were held over last week, and yesterday's shipments were not regarded as too heavy under the conditions. The arrivals included a large number of shipping steers, but quite a number of these were rough.

The receipts of Western cattle were light, and the principal handlers of these had only four loads. The Winnipeg price is higher and shipments are therefore curtailed. Exporters were buying lighter cattle yesterday, and for a load, 1,200 lbs. each, paid $7.70 a cwt. Up till noon they had taken about 300 head from $7.00 to $7.70 a cwt.

The average price was lower by about 10 cents a cwt. than last week, but the weights were less. For local butchering, the demand ran to the handy eight steers and heifers, and cows, and each of these were firm, with none too heavy a supply. The best of the medium weight butchers sold at about 7 1-4 cents a pound, and the heavyweights about the same money. Choice heavy, 1,300 to 1,100 pounds steers went to the packers from $8.00 to $8.35 a cwt. Four prime baby beeves brought in by Jake Schmidt, sold at 10 cents a pound, and two baby bulls sold at 8 cents a pound. Stockers were unchanged. Ontario 800 and 900 pound stockers were held at $5.25 a cwt., and 48 yearling heifers sold at 4 1-2 cents a pound. Butchers' cows were steady. Good cows sold at 5 cents and choice ones as high as 6 cents a pound.

Calves were in limited supply, and the nice light vealers were in good demand from 11 to 11 1-2 cents. Good mediums were 9 to 10 cents and common 6 to 7 1-2 cents.

Packers were willing to take lambs in quantities, and this market was quite steady with last week's close. Ewes and wethers of the best quality sold at 13 cents a pound, and bucks at 11 1-2 cents. Heavy sheep went at 4 cents a pound.

Yesterday's hogs were mostly under contract at $9.25 a cwt. f.o.b., and $9.55 fed and watered. For yesterday's loading the prices quoted are 50 cents a cwt. lower, but there is no certainty that this programme will carry out. Packers are endeavouring to maintain a price of $2.00 a cwt. on hogs below 160 pounds in weight.

QUEBEC BUTTER PRICES.

MONTREAL, September 18 (Canadian Press). — At the Quebec Agricultural Co-operative Society auction sale held here yesterday there were 870 packages of creamery butter offered, of which 350 packages No. 1 creamery sold at 35 5-8c per pound, while 35 3-4c per pound was bid for 320 packages No. 1 pasteurised creamery, with 36 3-8c per pound asked, and 32 1-2c per pound was bid for 200 packages No. 2 creamery, with 34 3-4c per pound asked.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, September 18 (Canadian Press). — A feature of the local cash grain market yesterday was the stronger feeling in oats, and prices were up 1 2 cent per bushel. There were no new developments in the local flour situation. A firm feeling prevailed in the millfeed market, and a moderate trade was done in millfeed. The condition of the baled hay market was unchanged. A fair business was done in eggs. The tone of the potato market remains firm. Feeling was steadier in butter, and a fair trade was passing in cheese.

COTTON UP $7.50 A BALE.

NEW YORK, September 18 (Canadian Press). — In one of the most active and excited markets of the year, cotton prices were lifted from 150 to 152 points yesterday, equivalent to about $7.50 per bale.

On the last Government estimate of the crop, this represents an addition of approximately $75,000,000 to the wealth of the South.

The advance followed reports of heavy rainfall in Texas and Oklahoma where cotton is open in the fields, threatening both grade and movement, and reviving fears that crop estimates already perilously low, may have to be still further reduced.

EGG MARKETS

OTTAWA, September 18 (Canadian Press). — The egg situation continues practically unchanged with the exception of a further strengthening of prices in specials and extras. Cables have been received offering 37 and 37 1-2 f.o.b. Montreal for storage firsts, but no further sales are reported. Reports from practically all points state that storage eggs are being taken out and used freely for local trade.

Toronto firm, specials 48, extras 44 to 45, firsts 38, seconds 32 to 33.

Montreal steady and unchanged.

Winnipeg unchanged.

Saskatchewan dealers quoting delivered extras 28 to 31, firsts 26, and seconds 20 to 21.

Alberta higher, dealers quoting delivered extras 33 to 35, firsts 30 to 32, seconds 21 to 25.

British Columbia higher extras 41, firsts 37 delivered.

Chicago spot 34 1-8, refrigerators September 29, Novembers 29 1-2, December 30.

New York extra firsts 39 to 42, firsts 35 to 38.

BRITISH EGG MARKET.

GLASGOW, September 18 (Canadian Press Cable). — Prices shillings per ten dozen: Irish 19 to 21 f.o.b. moderate supply, Danish sixteens 19 to 21, eighteens 21 1-2 f.o.b. fair demand. Canadian nominal. Retail 12-3 to 21-2.

WINNIPEG CATTLE.

WINNIPEG, September 18 (Canadian Press). — Receipts, 4,600 cattle and calves, 525 hogs, and 185 sheep and lambs.

The bulk of the better grades met liberal inquiry on the cattle market yesterday morning, and early sales found prices maintaining a fairly steady tone. Medium killing classes were slightly weaker.

The sheep and lamb market was stronger, killing lambs selling from $10.00 to $10.50 and sheep from $6.00 to $7.00.

The hog market advanced 50 cents, thick smooths changing hands at $11.00 and select bacons at $12.10.

CHICAGO WHEAT.

CHICAGO, September 18 (Canadian Press). — Wheat prices averaged a little higher yesterday, helped more or less by assertions that rallies were to be looked for after more than a week's decline. The market closed unsettled, 1-8c o to 3-8c net gain, with December $1.02 to $1.02 1-8, and May $1.07 3-8 to $1.07 1-2.

Corn finished at 3-8c to 1 5-8c advance oats 1-8c to 1-4c to 1-4c down, and provisions showing a setback of 5c to 17c to 20c.

Bulls were inclined to emphasise the fact that Winnipeg and Minneapolis wheat quotations were higher than on Saturday, and that wet weather in the Canadian North-West might delay farm deliveres. Reports also were current that Japan has bought a liberal quantity of wheat and flour on the Pacific Coast. Demand here, however, lacked volume, and an increase of the United States visible supply total led to a reaction during which deferred deliveries dropped temporarily, under any recent low figures. Then, buying enlarged somewhat, and the market swung upward again.

Part of the comparative firmness shown by wheat appeared to be due to strength in corn values. Numerous traders who had been sceptical that recent frosts had done serious damage to corn reversed their opinion, yesterday, after having investigated many Illinois fields. In some sections damage was estimated at 25 to 50 per cent. On the other hand, export inquiry for wheat was slow, shippers here being told Canadian wheat could be bought to better advantage.

Despite larger receipts here, corn scored an all-round advance in price.

Oats were depressed by hedging sales.

Provisions went lower in line with hog values.

CHICAGO CATTLE.

CHICAGO, September 18 (Canadian Press). — Cattle receipts 30,000, uneven; fed steers and yearlings were weak to 25c lower; mostly 10c to 25c off; well conditioned weighty steers slow at maximum decline; top matured steers, $13.00, weight 1,444 pounds; best long yearlings, $12.50; mixed steers and heifers, $12.40; numerous string yearlings, $10.00 to $11.65; bulk fed steers and yearlings, $10.00 to $11.75; vealers 50c lower; bulk to killers, $12.00 to $12.50.

Hogs, receipts 58,000; mostly 10c to 15c lower; bulk good and choice 160 to 230 pound average, $9.00 to $9.15; top, $9.20.

Sheep receipts 39,000; killing lambs generally 50c to 75c lower; feeding lambs steady to 25c lower; fat sheep mostly 25c lower; native fat lambs, mostly $13.50 to $14.00; top, $14.25.

STERLING RATES.

MONTREAL, September 18 (Canadian Press). — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here yesterday as follow:

which to reply, but Lord Robert Cecil, while insisting that this question must be settled to avoid a future misunderstanding, declared he wanted the world to know that the Council had fulfilled its full duty in the Italian affair. It had not rushed in madly insisting on the League's right of intervention, but had calmly, in observance of the fundamental aim of the covenant, collaborated with the Council of Ambassadors and had secured an amicable settlement of the conflict.

Chile's support of the Monroe Doctrine came when the sub-committee presented a resolution founded on the Canadian amendment and calculated to interpret precisely the celebrated Article X.

Special Circumstances.

The resolution, which was warmly supported by M. Rolin, the Belgian jurist, and others, set forth that the Council must take into account the geographical and special conditions of each state if it believed military measures should be resorted to because of aggression and that the parliamentary authorities of each country must decide to what extent, if any, they should help to preserve another country's independence.

There were many references to former President Wilson and th United States during the discussion, which eventually was adjourned. The French delegate asked that all "make haste slowly," as he deemed Article X, the heart of the covenant which should be changed, if at all, with the greatest care.

Regional Alliances.

To-day's consideration of the pact of mutual assistance was devoted to Article VI., which authorized regional alliances between States as a feature of the general guarantee pact Italy opposed such local alliances and Japan was hostile to them, unless they were strictly defensive in character.

M. Matsuda said they tended to create international distrust, rendering impossible military reductions, and struck a severe blow at the authority of the League, because they diminished confidence in the Leagues pacific mission. No action was taken on the question.

It was remarked that both M. Lebrun, former French minister and M. Jouhux, who represents the workingmen on the commission for armament limitation, supported the plan of subsidary accords and agreements between States as the best means of relieveing tensions and paving the way for the cutting down of armament burdens.

Cobourg and District

COBOURG, Sept. 18.—A Union convention of ministers and Sunday School workers was held in the Methodist church at Baltimore with a fair attendance. The object was to reorganize the West Northumberland Sunday School Association, which has not met in convention for some four or five years, under the Ontario Council of Religions Education. Rev. T. G. McKee pastor of Baltimore Methodist church, occupied the chair and two sessions were held, morning and afternoon. A business committee appointed at the morning session reported as follows:

Moved by Revs. McKee and Horwood that West Northumberland organize a County Council under O.R.E.C. Carried.

The nominations were: President, Mr. F. J. Horwood, Camborne; 1st vice president, J. S. Ferguson, Baltimore; and vice-president Geo. Ingham, Roseneath; secretary-treasurer, H. Lander, Coldsprings; Children's Division, Rev. J. N. Norton, Cobourg; Teen Age Boys, M. Sparling, Cobourg; Teen Age Girls, Mrs. Rev. T. McCord, Baltimore, R.R. No. 1; Young Peoples, Helen Burwash, Baltimore; Adult Division, Arch Bowman, Plainville, R.R. No. 1; Home Department, Mrs. John Noble, Camborne; Teacher training, Rev. J. S. McKee; Msisionary, Miss F. Hall, Colborne, R.R. No. 3; Temperance, Rev. T. McCord, Baltimore, R.R. No. 1.

The convention was fortunate in having present, Rev. C. W. DeMille, General Superintendent of the Ontario Religious Education Council, who addressed the assembly in the morning on "Aims and Purposes of the Sunday School, and in the afternoon on "Putting the Job Over". Mr. De Mille was heard with deep interest, Rev. H. A. Bunt, Canton, give an able address in the afternoon on "Uses and Abuses of Machinery in the Scholl School.

The Baltimore ladies entertained the delegates at the noon hour. At tthe close of the general session the newly elected Council met, when it was decided to hold four conventions this fall, working with the Township executives. There will be for Alnwick township and North Haldimand, Hamilton township, South Haldimand, and Cobourg. The dates decided upon were about the middle of November.

Wedding Bells.

The marriage was solemnized in St. George's church, Gore's Landing on Wednesday, Sept. 12, of Miss Violet Aldridge of Jacksonville, Florida, to Mr. George Wagg of Detroit, Mich. Rev. Mr. Madeley conducted the ceremony which took place at 11 p.m. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. George Aldridge and was attended only by her little niece Bernice Aldridge. Mr. and Mrs. Wagg will make their home in Detroit.

At Elmview, the home of the bride's father, Mr. Lawson Machlin, the marriage took place of his eldest daughter, Ethel Gertrude, to Mr. Mr. Samuel Snowden of Bowmanville. Rev. J. G. McKee, Baltimore, conducted the ceremony. After a wedding trip Mr. and Mrs. Snowden will take up residence in Bowmanville.

The marriage took place in the Cobourg Methodist church of Miss Eva G. Douglas, daughter of Mr. A. Douglas, Cobourg, to Mr. Herbert Bull, Cobourg. Rev. R. F. Stillman, pastor officated. The bride wore a gown of white satin and lace with tulle veil and carried a sheaf of snapdragon. Only a few friends of the contracting parties were present. Afterwards Mr. and Mrs. Bull left for a trip to Western points. They will make their home in Cobourg.

Recently at Wicklow the marriage took place of Miss Elsie Turpin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Turpin, to Mr. John C. Taylor of Cobourg. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents, Rev. J. N. Lovelace officiating. Mr. and Mrs. Taylor will reside in Cobourg.

At Colborne on Wednesday, September 12, Rev. R. A. Whattam officiating, Lily, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lincoln of Harmden was married to Mr. William D. Henderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Alex H. Henderson, Colborne.

Cobourg Bride and Groom.

A quiet wedding was solemnized on Saturday last at the home of Rev. J. T. Daley, Port Hope, when Edna J. Francey, daughter of Mrs. C. Francey, Cobourg, became the bride of Clarence J. McMillan, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. McMillan. The bride who was given away by her grandfather, Mr. Thos. Earl, wore a becoming gown of elephant grey crepe with hat to match and carried a boquet of asters. Miss Queenie Turpin attended as bridesmaid, wearing a gown of "cocoa" crepe and large black hat. Mr. Kenneth Haskill supported the groom. After lunch served at the home of the bride's mother, the happy couple left on the flier, the bride travelling in a navy broadcloth suit.

Real Estate Transfers.

A number of real estate transfers have taken place here during the week.

J. J. Oulehan has sold the farm on the Provincial Highway west of Cobourg belonging to the estate of the late S. E. Roberts to Mr. Powers of Cressy, who intends to remove with his family from Prince Edward County to Cobourg.

Margaret A. Gummer has sold to Albert C. Marsh, part of lot 21, in the 10th concession of Haldimand.

At the regular meeting of St. John's Lodge No. 17 A.F. & A.M. Rt. W. Bro. E. J. Wormington, District Deputy Grand Master of Ontario District was presented and invested with his regalia of office by Rt. Wor. Bro. James Moore of Brooklin, P.D.D.G.M. The presentation was accompanied by an appreciative address by the visiting officer. Another presentation was that of a Past Master's jewel to Rt. Wor Bro. M. A. Hewson by Rt. Wor. Bro. E. J. Wormington from St. John's lodge upon the occasion of his retirements from the office of Worshipful Master.

Lost Little Finger.

While engaged sawing shingle bolts at his mill at Colborne on Saturday Mr. Fred Barrett met with an unfortunate accident, whereby he had the small finger on his left hand severd and also severely injured the third finger .

Death of Mrs. Edward Bowe.

Mrs. Edward Bowe, before her marriage Bridget Brennon, passed away at her residence here at the age of 82 years. She was born in Ireland but came with her late husband to Cobourg nearly half a century ago. Her husband died about fifteen years ago and she is survived by three daughters, Misses Bridgt, Julia and Mary Bowe and by a son Nicholas, the latter living in Toronto. The funeral took place on Friday from her late residence, William street, to St. Michael's church and cemetery.

Cobourg Band At Bewdley

Cobourg Concert Band went out to Bewdley on Thursday evening to play at the Lakeview House, their programme being much enjoyed by the people who assembled. Afterwards their host and hostess entertained them very enjoyably, making the outing a pleasurable and memorable one.

Hydro Extension.

Rural Hydro extensions are planned for this year on the Wooler Road north from Trenton, and the Kingston Road, West of Trenton.

Friendly Game of Golf.

A number of Brighton gentlemen went down to Trenton last Wednesday for a friendly game of golf with the Trenton club. The latter won by a score of 28-10.

House Broken Into.

There is a lot of petty thieving going on throughout the district. A house belonging to Mrs. A. Burns, near the Kingston Crossing, just east of the town in which a quantity of household effects are stored, was broken into, and a quantity of dishes stolen. The police were notified and the robbery is being investigated. Several parties have had suitcases or other luggage removed from cars left standing at the park or on streets.

Cars Collide.

Mr. E. E. Murphy, when returning to his home in Brighton, collided near Trenton with a car belonging to Mrs. O. Ceecolline of Trenton at a sharp turn near the bridge. Both cars were considerably damaged. It is understood that each gentleman decided to meet his own expenses.

LAKEFIELD VILLAGE AND THE DISTRICT

Fishing Has Been Unusually Good — News Paragraphs and Personal Mention.

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 18.— The fishing has been unusually good this season and many local fishermen have brought in splendid catches. Lunge fishing has been especially good in the neighborhood of Lakefield and there have been a great many very large fish caught. Several fish weighing well over 20 pounds have surrendered to the persistent fishermen. There has been a good deal of friendly rivalry in regard to the number and size of fish caught.

Needless to say there has been a brand new stock of fish stories laid in which would easily rival the Munchausen tales familiar to many.

Softball Meeting.

A meeting to re-organize the Softball League, which gave so many fine exhibition games last fall, will be held in the Memorial Hall on Tuesday evening at 8 o'clock. It is expected that representatives of the Canada Cement Co., Masons, Oddfellows, G.W.V.A., U.F.O., Grove School, High School and Business Men will be present. The games will be played during the autumn in the Lakefield rink.

Mission This Fall.

Rev. R. Seaborn, M.A., of St. Cyprians church, Toronto, will be the missioner in charge of the Mission to be held this autumn in St. Johns' church. The mission is in connection with the Mission held all through the diocese of Toronto in October and November.

Gardens Below Average.

Gardens this season are not quite up to the average as the late spring and very dry summer have not permitted the usual development. The later vegetables promise fairly well and will help to make up for the comparative failure of many of the earlier varieties.

Rain A Blessing.

The rain which fell in the latter part of August has helped the flower gardens and at present anyone who has flowers at all appears to have an abundance of bloom. Many gardens are a riot of bright color as the late flowers appear to be the most brilliant and zinnias, asters, dahlias, cosmos, etc. are seen on every hand all proclaiming that in spite of the unseasonably cold weather that summer is not yet over.

Council of the A.Y.P.A., in St. John's school room, Peterboro on Monday evening, September 24th, was extended by members of St. John's branch and accepted. The members of St. Paul's branch, Perrytown served a bountiful supper to which the visitors did full justice and the gathering was brought to a close by a hearty vote of thanks to the hosts.

MEETING OF HOME BANK DEPOSITORS APPEALS FOR AID

Quebec Depositors Form Committee and Urge Other Banks to Help.

NEED OF INSPECTION.

MONTREAL, September 17. Canadian Press.—Between 60 and 70 depositors in the Montreal branches of the Home Bank of Canada gathered here to-day in reply to a request made by I. A. Weldon, Advocate of Lindsay, Ont., who has been named general secretary of the depositors of the Bank in Canada.

A number of resolutions were passed by the meeting bringing the position of the Montreal depositors into line with that adopted by Ontario depositors at meetings held in Toronto. M. M. Sperber advocate of Montreal, was chosen by the meeting to represent the local depositors at general meetings of representatives of various localities in Canada to be held at Toronto from time to time and generally to speak for the Montreal depositors. Mr. Weldon said a meeting of this kind would probably be held in Toronto this week.

The sentiment of the meeting heartily approved of statements that it was for the other banks to come to the aid of the depositors and a threat was added by Bernard Rose, K.C., representing the Verdun Great War Veterans' Association, and a New York financial institution, that unless this was done a movement would soon commence in Canada for the formation of a provincial savings bank.

Quebec Committee.

The first resolution passed was that the depositors present constitute themselves into a "Province of Quebec Depositors' Committee," and that this organization continue in existence until such time as the depositors get one hundred cents on the dollar.

Other resolutions opposed a winding up order until the curator has made his report and until such time thereafter as the depositors have had time to consider such report; and that the government of Canada should at once appoint royal commission to investigate the causes of the failure of the Home bank, and also investigate in the most comprehensive manner the condition of all Canadian banks so that depositors may be in a condition to judge as between banks.

Investigate all Banks.

M. Albert, a local depositor, who acted as chairman, said that all the banks should be investigated since the Canadian Bankers' Association was in a sense the father of them all, and the culprit in this case, and all banks were members of the association. Objections were raised by a large depositor present that such a course would entail great delay, and the resolution was amended to the investigation of other banks only when the royal commission was through with the affairs of the Home Bank.

Another resolution protested against a preference being given to deposits of the federal and provincial governments. Mr. Weldon explained that it was desired to have the governments waive their rights under theBank Act for preference over the private depositors. He added that in the case of Home Bank it was found that the depositors' money had been taken to New Orleans and put into a railway. While the shareholders had put money into the Home Bank for the purpose of making profits, the depositors had done so for the purpose of getting security.

"What we have seen of other banks that have failed," said Mr. Weldon, "is that the heads of other bansk that have failed," said Mr. Weldon, "is that the heads of the banks have used the money (of depositors) for undertakings in which they had a financial interest, that is, they have not worked for the shareholders, the depositors or to help the communjty, but for their own private affairs."

He added that he expected both the Government and the Canadian Bankers' Association to take an interest in the Home Bank and he declared that had it not been for the association urging the government not to have outside inspection, this failure would not have occurred.

"We would have known before, and this bank would not have got into this position, but the association has always opposed outside inspection."

CONCERN GOES ON THE ROCKS

Even Staid Old London Has a Sensation in Financial Circles.

LONDON, Sept. 18. — (Canadian Press Cable).—One of the sensations in financial circles here had an echo here yesterday a special meeting of the Commercial Corporation of London to consider winding up proposals. The Corporation is capitalized at £2,250,000. It was formed during the trade boom for the purpose of financing industrial undertakings. Its conditions was recently reflected in the price of its pound shares which dropped to a few pence.

A shareholder recently petitioned for the winding up of the concern, hence to-day's meeting at which the directors presented a proposal to wind up and form a holding company which would nurse the assets with better promises of a return to the shareholders than if compulsory liquidation were sanctioned.

Turbulents threats at the opening of the meeting were allayed when Director Hatry, who was the originator of the company and also the largest shareholder, announced his intention to waive his rights in favour of the general body of shareholders.

The meeting agreed to the proposal of voluntary winding up and the formatoin of a holding company.

CANADIAN CLUBS ARE FLOURISHING

President B. C. Nicholas Advocates the Establishment of Central Bureau

VICTORIA, B.C. Sept. 18.—(Canadian Press)—The eleventh annual convention of the association of Canadian Clubs with delegates in attendance from all parts of Canada and many points in the United States was formally opened here yesterday and will remain in session until Wednesday night.

B. C. Nicholas in his presidential address referred to the flourishing condition of the association and advocated establishment of a central bureau.

Premier James Oliver cordially welcomed the delegates who are holding their sessions in the legislative assembly chambers. There was a great opportunity, he said for the Canadian Clubs to handle the diversified interests throughout the Dominion so people could realize the best support should be given the men in charge of the destinies of Canada.

The sympathy and co-operation of the people so necessary to the Dominion government could not be obtained unless the knowledge of difficulties was spread throughout the country as the Canadian Club was doing.

The west has proved a revelation to them. As a disinterested body of men, Canadian Clubs could deal with the vital problems of the Dominion in a different way from that in which they were faced by politicians. The clubs of Canada had a great duty and a great opportunity for service for the good of Canada.

$60,000 Annual Leakage in B.C. Fur Royalties.

PRINCE GEORGE, B.C., Sept. 18 —(Canadian Press)—After an investigation, the British Columbia game board expressed the belief that there is a leakage of at least sixty million dollars a year in provincial fur royalaties. Export of fur from Vancouver and Prince Rupert without payment of provincial royalties is largely blamed for the shrinkage which some fur men place at a much larger amount than the commissioner's. With value for the fur catch placed at two million dollars, admittedly a low figure. Royalties should reach $100,000, it is pointed out. Collections, however, totalled only forty thousand dollars.

WESTERN WHEAT CROP IS THE BEST IN HISTOR

Crop Outlook and Crop Movement Putting a Cheery Aspect on Western Business.

WINNIPEG, September 18. — With some 1,500 cars on the inspection sheet of the Grain Exchange on Saturday, including over 900 of the three top grades of wheat, of which were 400 of No. 1 Northern, any pessimism about the quality of new crop should vanish. It is probable that Canada has more top quality milling wheat than ever before in her history. The weather is ideal for threshing and rapid progress is being made. Given three weeks like this and the greatest hard spring wheat crop ever raised in Western Canada will have been gathered in tip-top condition.

The crop outlook and the crop movement is putting a cheery aspect on Western business. There is a very general feeling that the worst is passed, and that good times are ahead. It is matter of much regret that a few of the oldest and most highly-respected firms in Winnipeg retail circles have gone down under the pressure of the last six months, but the rank and file remain, and there is general confidence that it will be a winning battle from now on.

Wheat Pools "Dead."

The wheat pools do not seem to be making much headway these days. Their promoters seem to be aggressive to the apologetic. It is probable that many farmers who signed up in the first burst of enthusiasm are now wondering "why they did it." Farmers who are also business men know by this time that the unrest created by cure-alls during the past six months has cost the farmers a lot of money. Much wheat should have been placed for early shipment long ago. We have been giving other countries our market, and it is no easy matter to pick up sales.

Blame Raiding Party For Row in Palestine.

JERUSALEM, Sept. 18.—Reports received here of the attack by the Adwan and Belk tribesmen on the camp of Emir Abdullah in Trans-Jordania, are to the effect that it was probably carried out by a raiding party. Theories of a general uprising throughout the territory east of the Jordon River are being discounted.

A section of the press here connects the movement with that of the rebel Idn Saud, who stated recently that he was mobilizing a force of 15,000 men for the purpose of occupying Emir Abdullah's territory which formerly was part of Palestine but was declared autonomous in May last with Abdullah, eldest son of King Hussein of Hedjaz, as ruler.

HOUND OF HEAVENS SHOT ACROSS SKY

Startled Ship's Officer at His Post on Bridge of Atlantic Liner.

NEW YORK September 18. — —Canadian Press — As he peered ahead into the dim quiet reaches of the Atlantic in the early dawn last Wednesday, second officer H. M. Lancaster of the Royal Mail Steam Packet liner Orbita, was shocked from his post on the bridge when the heavens suddenly broke into a canopy of brilliant, blinding light.

For five minutes he was held spellbound while an immense meteor which the sailors described as the "Hound of the heavens," shot from horizon to horizon, leaving a luminous, greenish vapor in its wake, suffusing the heavens for twenty minutes with a panorama of unnatural colors and diffusing a supernatural atmosphere.

The meteor was recorded in the Orbita's log as flashing at 5.50 o'clock Greenwich time, in latitude 46.12 north and longitude 38.43 west. It crossed the heavens from southwest to a north east location, from the direction of the constellation of Pegasus through Cassiopedia, and vanished in the region of the Great Bear. The meteor was about four times the size of Sirius.

INDUSTRIES IN MARMORA BUSY

Deloro Mines Contribute to Prosperity of Village—Frost Bit Some Crops.

MARMORA, Sept. 18.—The prosperity of this village depends considerably upon the neighbouring mining industry at Deloro. Money circulates from the mines into Mamaro contributing largely to the business activities of local merchants and the community as a whole.

Recognizing the material part which Deloro plays in the industrial and financial strength and progress of this village, Marmora has several healthy manufacturing concerns of its own which with the trade of an extensive farming section maintain employment and keep the village flourishing.

The Pearce Lumber Company has its saw mill here, with expansive limits north of Marmora and control of the water. It always employs at least ten men and sometimes as many as fifty or sixty. At the present time ,the mill is very busy sawing up the season's drive of logs. This firm has a large lumber yard here with the spare line of the C. N. R. running through it. About two years ago the company suffered a great loss by fire. Its planing factory, offices and stables were then wiped out. The Pearce Co. also owns a flour mill here but it is operated by Mr. G. B. Airhart. The firm owns several houses in the village in which its employees live.

Soap Company Active.

The town has another industry which although it employs only a few men, has a large output and brings the name of Marmora before many who otherwise would not know of it. This industry is the Vegetable Oil Soap Co., although the plant is small, nevertheless, it turns out a great amount of soap. The fat in this soap is vegetable fat only and it is already famous for its purity. It is used in several large hospitals in the city, which demand a soap that will stand up to their own chemical analysis.

About the only other industry that Marmora can boast of is the Stave Mill, of the Marmora Cooperage Co. It has just been in operation for two years, previous to which it was closed down for eight or ten years. However, two years ago it recommenced operation and it was a great boon to the farmers who took this opportunity to sell the wood off their wood lots.

Frost Injured Crops.

Judging from the amount of vegetables and fruit being brought into the village in trucks, the garden crops have been very poor around here this year. The farmers state that the severe frost of Wednesday night and Thursday has killed corn and potatoes in low-lying land.

CAMPBELLFORD ELEVEN WON FROM DE LAVALS

Peterboro Cricketers Went Down to Defeat By 63 to 46.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 18 — The De Laval cricket team came from Petereborough Saturday afternoon and played a game with a local eleven, the result being a victory for the latter by a score of 63 to 46. This is the first game that the recenly organized Campbellfords have played with an outside team and the members naturally feel elated over their victory in a contest with the best players from Peterborough. The star performer of the locals, at bat, in the field, or at bowling was Jim Blute, who ran up 15 runs before being bowled out by Leach, of the visitors. His catch of Watkins' bat liner was one of the best made by either side during the game and the crickets of three of the best batters from the city went down before him.

O. H. Gledhill, one of the best batters of the locals played in hard luck as he was caugnt out by Cutmore on the very first ball sent to him.

Herb. Leonard, one of the first two at bat, defended his wicket so well, that more than half the side were out before Leach finally got him.

The visitors excelled in bowling and fielding but the Campbellford led in batting from start to finish. The score:

The return match will be played at Peterborough on Saturday, 29th of September.

Japan's Calamity

The earthquake in Japan was the subject of Rev. C. F. McIntosh's discourse in Sa. Andrew's church. The speaker refuting the assertion made in some quarters that the calamity was Divine dispensation to punish the Japanese for their sins. Mr. McIntosh's authority was the words of Christ to the Jews where the Sacred Teacher denied that the Galileans whose blood was mingled with ther sacrifices by the order of Pilate or the 18 workmen who lost their lives in the collapse of the temple of Siloam were greater sinners than those who escaped. Earthquakes, the speaker said, after giving the scientists theory of the phenomena, were the natural result of God's plan to produce this earth. This plan, or why so much suffering was permitted in the world no man is able to explain.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Cheese Board Had Narrow Escape From Dissolution —A Record Wheat Yield —News Paragraphs.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 18. — The Campbellford Cheese Board had a close call at the regular semi-monthly meeting on Saturday afternoon, when W. M. Stephens, salesman for the Trent Valley factory, moved an adjournment until the last week in April next, this being equivalent to a motion to adjourn sine die.

There were 17 factories affiliated with the Board at the beginning of the season, and the number has steadily fallen off during the summer until yesterday when only 8 factories were represented. The absentees have been sending their cheese direct to Belleville as the price paid here has always been less than that received in the city.

Mr. Stephens' motion was not seconded, but John Cooke, one of the buyers, moved in amendment, that the Board adjourn subject to the call of the president and secretary. This was seconded by William Grills, salesman for the Kimberley factory.

After some discussion it was agreed to hold at least one more meeting on September 29th at 4 p. m., and the amendment was withdrawn.

There were 307 boxes boarded on Saturday as follows: Brae, 25; Crow Bay, 30; I.X.L. 50; Kimberley, 52; New Model, 30; Trent Valley, 31, West Seymour 40; Woodlands 49. The buyers present were Cook Ivey, Fitzgerald and Thompson. The high bid was 23 9-16c, the same as the price paid at Belleville earlier in the day, and 1-16c less than the price at Stirling. Thompson took I.X.L., New Model, Trent Valley, West Seymour and Woodlands. Cook, Brae and Kimberley and Fitzgerald Crow Bay.

Mayor J. M. Bygott, local agent for the C.N.R., wrote calling attention to the fact that complaints had been received from Montreal that some of the boxes coming from Campbellford were not properly marked.

Record Yield of Wheat.

Harry Campbell ,who has a farm on the English line, claims the record yield of fall wheat. From three acres he threshed the other day 165 bushels, or exactly 55 bushels to the acre. The grain is of such excellent quality that Mr. Campbell's neighbours are buying it for seed, just as it came from the machine, and the price received is $1 a bushel.

When some of Mr. Campbell's friends were in town on Saturday, remarked that at that rate their must be money in farming. Mr. Campbell, who has a turn for figures, and who keeps a detailed record of all his income and outgo, was ready with statistics to prove that the wheat did not net him over 40 cents a bushel, barely enough to pay a return for his investment and to allow him wages for his labor. The cost of plowing three acres of land he puts at $6 a day for two days, and the other labor was carefully estimated Thomas Locke, who did his threshing charged five cents a bushel.

Mr. Campbell has computed that a man who plows one and a half acre of land in a day walks 22 miles, allowing one mile for turning at the ends.

A correction .

The amount to be raised for missions by the district Methodists is $8,879 and not $10,00 as previously announced.

Judge of Stock

John Locke, vice-president of the Campbellford Fair Board, goes to the fairs at Loring and Burks Falls this week to act as departmental judge of cattle and horses. He was judge of dairy cattle at the Napanee Fair last week.

Plowing Match at Stirling

There will be a plowing match at Stirling on the 24th of October and some local farmers will take part if competitors are admitted from outside Hastings county. One of these is G. U. Anderson, who has prepared for the event by purchasing a prize winning plow from J. I. Adams

Buys Residence

W. D. Wood, of the Bell Telephone Staff has purchased the residence of the late Mrs. Thomas Haig on Booth street and will move in at once.

At the S A Citadel

Special services were conducted Sunday in the S. A. Citadel by Capt. A. W. Brown of Oshawa, who will also preach this evening. For the past five years, Capt. Brown has been a member of the Oshawa Town Council and also holds the office of relief officer. He is chairman of the Council's committee on "Sanitation" in addition to his other duties.

The subject of Capt. Brown's address this evening will be "From Pulpit to Gutter; from Gutter to Cross." The story of the fall and reclamation of a Congregational minister.

THE BIBLE IN

teen years before the war in an atmosphere that considered Germany the leader in everything. German decline dated from the day that the Bible in Germany was knocked out of court.

The Biblical conception of morality was cited from a text in Deuteronomy and one in the New Testament, both declaring that the supreme commandment was the love of God, the second adding the second command "to love thy neighbor as thyself." "It means that the Bible declares that morality is rooted in religion, and that there is no sanction to compel right conduct between man and man other than the sanction which comes when a man is right with God."

"In the Bible we have the revelation of God that has produced all the great philanthropies," was the second assertion.

"In the war we were doing two things. Man was employing all his wit and wisdom and scientific ability to discover means to destroy human life, and, we are still at it. On the other hand through all the farflung peals of bloody carnage, we saw the white flag with the red cross on it, and men consecrating all the arts and skill of scientific acumen and genius to the business of saving human life. It's a mad world, my masters. If you go back behind the cradle in the manger you will find no red cross flag. All your hospitals and philanthropic institutions, all the matchless and magnificent service represented by the Rerd Cross came after humanity saw the Christ on Calvary, and not before. I tremble lest even the church of God forget the red cross. It is not the red lion, nor the red eagle, nor the red bear, nor the red crescent, but the red cross, and many put the emphasis wrongly on the red instead of on the cross. I go around the country and I see a matinee in aid of the Red Cross, and a bridge party, and the crowning impertinence I saw on the other side when a new cigar was named for the Red Cross. But all that ministry came from Golgorna, and if you lose that God, the God of the Bible and put in His place even Mr. Well's God, the "Invisible Myth," then you dry up all the springs of compassion."

"In the Bible you have the conception of man that has generated discontent with false conditions, out of which all reforms have sprung. The Bible absolutely denies that man is the last result of an upward progress from the slime, and declares that he is a distinct, divine creation, the offspring of God, made in the likeness of God. We are supposed to be coming gradually toward the perfect man and he is to be bald-headed That old pagan, Marcus Aurelius, whose statue still stands in Rome even though they did put a bunch of keys in its hand and call it St. Peter, called man, in effect a bundle of shavings. Lost the conception of the Bible, that declares man to be kith and king of God, and your sons will be naught but cannon fodder in the interests of the State and the machine."

"The Bible declares that the God of the universe has provided a way by which man may be re-made and re-generated. Will the Gospel turn a man who blasts Peterboro into a man who blesses Peterboro? The Bible will do this and when we have lost the Bible, we have lost the secret of the life of the nation."

In the afternoon, at St. Paul's church, Dr. Morgan, whose abilities as a teacher are outstanding, took for his text "Jsus went about preaching and teaching." He gave a general outline of the four Gospels, and of the characteristics of each of their authors emphasizing the human element in each, with its delineation of a distinct personality. Using the blackboard to illustrate, and taking each scribe in turn under the heading of his race, calling and general characteristics, Dr. Morgan, with a few deft touches pictured the distinct personality of each. Three Hebrews, and the other, Luke, was a Greek, and also a physician. In Luke's narration of the story of the woman with the uncurable malady, he touched lightly on the shortcomings of doctors who had tried to help her but the other three, being men of another calling, and unsympathetic toward their failures, declared bluntly that, while various doctors had tried to effect a cure, they had been unsuccessful and had made her condition worse than in the beginning.

Matthew wrote of Christ as the King; Mark spoke of Him as the servant of God, using the servant's word, "straightway," no less than forty times in his Gospel narration; Luke, a Greek, which nation laid so much emphasis on the ideal man, spoke of Christ in this way as the ideal creature; and John wrote of Him as the Son of God.

RELISHES AND SAUCES

Piquant sauces and delectable relishes will glorify the cheapest cut of meat and lift it out of the realm of everyday.

While chow-chows and piccalillies seem to have a little bit of everything that grows in the garden in them there is quite a knack in combining the vegetables and gauging proportions.

Many of these relishes can be made more economically at the end of the season when the danger of frost hastens harvesting. Or you may just happen to have more than you know what to do with when the family has suddenly gone out for dinner and the makings for the salad or stew ought to be used up some way.

Tomatoes green or ripe form the basis for most sauces.

Mixed Relish

Six green tomatoes 4 large sour apples 4 small onions 3 green peppers 1½ cups seeded raisins 4 cups vinegar 1 cup water 2½ cups brown sugar 1 tablespoon salt ½ cup whole mixed spices.

Wash tomatoes and chop fine. Pare and core apples and chop fine. Peel onions and chop fine. Dip peppers in hot water rub off thin outer skin and remove seeds and white fiber and chop fine. Chop raisins. Put chopped vegetables and raisins in preserving kettle. Add remaining ingredients with the spices tied in a small muslin bag. Stir well and boil one hour. Pour into sterilized cans and seal.

Uncooked Pickle

One-half peck ripe tomatoes 2 ripe peppers 4 green peppers 2 large heads celery 1 Bermuda onion 2 ounces white mustard seed 1 tablespoon black pepper ½ cup salt ½ cup sugar 2 cups vinegar.

Wash vegetables. Scald tomatoes and slip skins. Scald peppers and rub off outer skin remove seeds and ribs. Chop celery. Peal onion and mince. Mix sugar salt pepper and mustard seed with vinegar and let stand until sugar and salt are dissolved. Chop and mix vegetables pour over vinegar mixture. Store in an earthen jar in a dry cool place. Keep tightly covered with a heavy plate.

Let-Over Relish

Two quarts green tomatoes 1 quart ripe tomatoes 4 heads celery 4 large green cucumbers 3 large onions 3 green peppers 3 red peppers 1 small head cabbage ½ cup salt 6 cups vinegar 1½ pounds brown sugar 1 tablespoon mustard 1 teaspoon pepper.

Wash and chop green tomatoes. Scald peel and chop ripe tomatoes. Wash and chop celery. Peel and chop cucumbers. Peel and mince onions. Prepare peppers and chop. Chop cabbage. Mix chopped vegetables with salt and let stand three or four hours. Drain over night. Add remaining ingredients in the morning and bring to the boiling point. Boil 20 minutes. Pour into sterilized jars and seal.

Dresden Sauce

Twelve red peppers 12 green peppers 12 yellow peppers 4 Bermuda onions ¼ cup salt 5 cups vinegar 2 cups brown sugar 1 tablespoon celery seed 1 tablespoon mustard seed.

Remove seeds and stem ends of peppers. Chop very fine. Cover with boiling water and let stand 10 minutes. Drain and cover with cold water. Add chopped onions and bring to the boiling point. Drain again. Put all ingredients in preserving kettle and bring to the boiling point. Boil 15 minutes and pour into sterilized jars and seal.

Chili Sauce

Twelve ripe tomatoes 4 onions 2 green peppers 2 stalks celery 1 cup sugar 2 cups vinegar 3 tablespoons salt 2 teaspoons cinnamon 1 teaspoon allspice 1 teaspoon cloves ¼ teaspoon black pepper 1 teaspoon ginger 1 teaspoon mustard.

Scald and peel tomatoes. Cut in small pieces and put in preserving kettle. Prepare peppers and chop. Chop onions and celery. Add to tomatoes and boil 15 minutes. And remaining ingredients and boil until thick about two hours.

JAPAN PUTS A BAN ON HIGH BUILDINGS

One Hundred Feet, or About Eight Stories, Prescribed as the Limit—Guard Against Quakes—Native Building Methods to be Supplanted by Modern Construction.

William A. Starrett, President of Starrett Brothers, contractors, and formerly principal Japanese representative of the George A. Fuller Company, which recently built $15,000,000 worth of American type buildings in Tokio and Yokohama, tells of the ever-present earthquake menace in Japan and the consequent problems with which constructors are faced in the current number of Scribner's Magazine. Starrett wrote the article three months ago. By a coincidence it appeared on the day on which news of the Japanese disaster came through.

Under the title "New Construction in an Ancient Empire," Starrett says in part:

"Japan will probably never build high buildings. The leading cities have wisely joined in uniform building codes, and all of them limit the height to one hundred feet—about eight stories. No doubt many considerations of congestion, traffic, and policy dictated the wisdom of this limitation, but the earthquake problem was the determining factor.

"The Japanese in recent years have made a profound study of earthquakes; perhaps the most advanced scientists in the world on that particular problem are to be found in Japan, for with them it is an ever-present menace, and through the centuries the Japanese have had reason to fear this dread thing.

"But the truth is that only in recent years have they done anything scientific in meeting the problem in their structures. Sentimental tourists, ever alert for evidences of great subtlety in the Japanese, point out how adroitly the native house is constructed to meet the earthquake. The roots are heavy and solid, generally covered with weighty tile. This is all very well as a protection against the weather and as a fire preventive in cities; but as an engineering expedient against earthquakes, it is a myth.

Danger From Falling Roofs

"When the tremor comes, the spindly corner posts of the structures rock and gyrate, setting in motion the heavy roof, which, if it does not careen from its flimsy moorings, commences to shed its tiles into the streets, and like spilled dishes they clatter down, often causing casualties that would never have happened had the roofs been of lighter construction, and properly engaged to the side walls and foundations. Inquiry develops the fact that a large number of casualties in Japan come from falling roofs and tiles.

"Modern structures of almost any type, built throughout Japan, prove that the native construction has been its own worst enemy, and that the earthquake disturbances, however undesirable, have been largely aided and abetted by the native construction methods, from which relief has been obtained by the adoption of things Occidental in building.

"This is not to say that the earthquakes are not a menace, nor that modern construction solves the problem, for in fact there is no solution. No matter how severe an earthquake they may prepare for, an even more severe one will surely upset calculations; and there is no controlling or determining what may be the most severe possible. But for a given problem, the light skeleton structure so familiar to Americans is undoubtedly far superior to anything heretofore attempted in Japan. Every element that an earthquake of moderate severity has been known to produce can be met through the standard formulae of strains and wind-bracing, now the common knowledge of the American engineer.

American Methods a Blessing

"The menace of earthquakes of great severity will probably always hang over the heads or the Japanese people like the sword of Damocles, but in our skeleton steel and modern reinforced concrete, America has contributed to Japan a large measure of relief from this scourge. Perhaps the Japanese in their untiring ingenuity will develop it to even greater perfection.

"While Japan largely missed our era of skeleton steel structures, concrete when it came fairly took the country by storm. Concrete and nouveau art flourished like weeds, while the conservative steel skeleton, overlaid with the adaptation of the classical designs which we in America have come to regard as our most beautiful and dignified work, was largely passed over by the Japanese.

"It might be said that only in the past few years did the more progressive of the Japanese appreciate that perhaps they had missed something in undertaking the rebuilding of their cities and industries—the task that fate has set for Japan. From a hermit kingdom she sweeps on so swiftly that history will hardly be able to record the transition. And with the change comes the necessity to rebuild the structures of the whole empire. Not only are modern office buildings, hotels, apartments, factories and residences required, but the even more pressing questions of paved roads, sewers, water mains, fire protection, sanitation and transportation on a larger and heavier scale are demanding attention.

"All this means construction—vast programs of construction, vitally essential to the Japanese as they emerge into the maelstrom of modern commercial and intellectual life—a tremendous price ao be paid for the heritage of world power.

The Problem of Tokio

"Tokio, like most cities of Japan, stands on an alluvial plain—a river delta formed by the erosion from the mountains which everywhere abound in Japan; a soft, muddy bottom, with an evil reputation for allowing buildings to settle, and with Mother Nature pitching in earthquakes of greater or less severity. But under that silty alluvial there is excellent sand, and under the sand hardpan, a splendid foundation soil, an American engineer would say; and, with the water level only a few feet below the surface, a splendid place for a pile foundation.

"It is the laudable ambition of Japan to acquire, as nearly as possible, full knowledge of the best in American construction methods, so that they may carry on their new found industry without outside assistance.

"Japan, far removed, and not attuned to the changing scene, may find herself after the lapse of a few years again in the rearguard of construction progress. Construction and methods are ephemeral, and if we may claim leadership in construction in America, close contact with American progress must be maintained."

WOMAN SICK TWO YEARS

Caused by Troubles Women Often Have—Relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Medina, New York.—"I had a great deal of trouble such as women often have, and this affected my nerves. For over two years I suffered this way, then I read in the Buffalo Times about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and have taken it with very good results. I am very much better and feel justified in praising the Vegetable Compound to my friends and neighbors who suffer from anything of the kind."—Mrs. Wm. H. Adkins, 311 Erie Road, Medina, N. Y.

Feels Like Girl Sixteen

Rochester, N. Y.—"After my twin girls were born I was all run-down. My neighbors thought I was going to die. I saw your advertisement in the paper and bought Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. The first bottle helped me and I kept on taking it. I only weighed ninety pounds when I began taking it, and I have gained in weight and feel like a girl of sixteen. I never can say enough for Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Nellie Dorey, 16 Blues Park, Rochester, N. Y.

A LITTLE OF EVERYTHING

CLAIRVOYANT

Rubber—775 million pounds of it will be imported into our country this year. If you could have foreseen this back in 1911 when only 72 million pounds were imported you could easily have made plans to bring you fabulous riches.

In our highly specialized civilization exceptional success requires clairvoyance or blundering luck.

Rubber consumption increased 10-fold in the last dozen years. In the coming dozen years the record will be duplicated by other articles. Guess them correctly and later name your price.

BITERS

The male mosquito never bites. Ma mosquito does all the welt-raising and she prefers to sink her hypodermic into men rather than women. The old belief is false that the mosquito dies after taking one bite. She comes back for more.

These facts are announced by John Hopkins medical scientists. They're experimenting to rid us of the mosquito pest. Success will come in this direction—in time.

PULLMANS

Fifty thousand Americans sleep in Pullman cars tonight—every night. Information comes from James Keeley of the Pullman Co. He comments: "We really are in the hotel business."

You probably will live to see the porter making up your berth in an airplane. That is provided porters can be induced to work on the Flying Express. Ask the next one you see.

VANITY

American women and girls spend more on rouge face powder and lipsticks than the entire country spends on bathroom equipment. So claims Colonel W. G. Archer plumbing engineer.

Nevertheless it is money well spent. Cosmetics are used more as beautifiers-to-attract than to gratify the vanity.

TRY THESE TESTS ON BABY

CHICAGO Sept. 18 (United Press).—First thing you know they'll be trying Edison's questionaire on the babies

Simple mentality tests practised on infants from six to fifteen months old show that a normal child should be able to do the following:

Listen to a watch ticking at six months.

Take a few swallows out of a cup held to its lips at seven months.

Pick up a piece of sugar or a crumb using the forefinger and thumb at nine months.

Tap a bell to hear the ring at twelve months and put a cork in a bottle at fifteen months.

The Women's Christian Temperance Union of Evanson says so. The local chapter has made public a report of Dr. Bird S. Baldwin director of the child welfare research station at Iowa state university which describes mental tests for babies and children.

"When is a child old enough to do things for itself?" asks Doctor Baldwin. "Can a baby of 3 years take off and put on its own wraps? Can it carry its bottle full of milk and wash and empty the bottle put away its toys start a phonograph and play agreeably with other children; in short can it within its own little world do things itself?"

"Children at the parental laboratory can. In the friendly interesting environment of the school the children become confident active little personalities free from the fears of restraint which have let psychologists to say that young children are not sociable beings.

"Tests have been constructed for measuring good citizenship. This is the day of intelligent tests. Mental measurements is being used more and more widely in solving the problems of the school the court and the factory but character measurement has been neglected.

"Obviously a person may be highly intelligent and still be a useless or even a dangerous citizen while a person of only average intelligence may be a valuable citizen because moved by social enthusiasm and altruism. The problem in which the research station is interested is how to develop altruism and good citizenship in childhood."

Civilization is a theatrical performance—farce comedy disguised as tragedy—and no actor ever is at his best without makeup. Everything natural is good and it's as natural for women to beautify as for mating birds to warble sweet songs and grow glorious plumage.

HOUSES

This year enough lumber will be used in United States to build and furnish a row of five-room houses which placed every 50 feet apart would reach from New York to Seattle down to San Francisco east to New Orleans and back to New York.

With a lumber demand like that and with more trees being chopped down than planted it's easy to understand why we are rapidly heading toward a Treeless America.

Brick and concrete are the coming building materials in a country stripped of trees to a condition of ugliness.

OMEMEE SCHOOL FAIR A SUCCESS

Archdeacon Warren Preached the Harvest Thanksgiving Sermon.

OMEMEE, Sept 18. — The rural school fair, which was held in Omemee on Tuesday afternoon was, from a spectator's point of view, a splendid success. In the early morning numerous children, from the different school sections were seen trooping to and from the grounds greatly excited and jubilant over their various exhibits. The weather was ideal for an affair of this sort, and many parents and interested friends and citizens of town, were in attendance.

There were five schools in this district to join in the parade which commenced at one o'clock, and paraded to the grounds each school carrying their banner which looked quite effective above the sun bonnets and varied costumes of the dificrent children. Owing to the short time for preparation since the school reopened, it was impossible for the teachers to do much drilling. However, each school acted their part, after which they in turn sang a familiar song, and later all the children joined together in the National Anthem. No. 9, Ops, received first prize.

Words of welcome were then given by Master Harold Mitchell, of No. 8, Emily, to be followed by an oral composition on the manufacture of "paper," and its many uses, by Vera Windrim, both of which received loud applause. Rev. J. Black and Rev. E. Rolland then spoke briefly, both of whom were deeply interested in an affair of this sort.

Numerous races were then ruff off, after which the judging of the animals and lady driving took place. An ice cream and candy booth on the grounds did a flourishing business.

About four o'clock the big tent was opened and a splendid array of home baking, sewing, flowers, vegetables, drawings, etc., were exhibited.

Missionary Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church, was held in the Sunday School room on Wednesday afternoon. Only a small attendance of members were present. The devotional exercises were conducted by the acting president, Mrs. Mackey, who later wished to be relieved of this office but finally, at the request of the ladies present, kindly consented to act in this capacity until the close of the year.

Miss Doris Sandy then contributed a most interesting chapter from the study-book on "The Public School as a Nation Builder."

A discussion followed on the advisability of maintaining the C. G. I. T., which has been disbanded since the removal of their leader, Mrs. MacFarlane. No decision was arrived at as no one volunteered to take charge of same.

Mrs. (Rev.) Black then related many features of the work of the W. M. S. in progress on their former circuit which is always of interest to a society.

It was decided to hold a sale of home baking, etc., at the home of Mrs. Mackey on Saturday, September 29th, commencing at 4.30 o'clock, the proceeds to be used as an expense fund.

A social half hour was enjoyed at the close of the meeting, the hostesses being Mrs. F. G. Sandy and Mrs. L. Moncrief.

Women's Institute

The regular monthly meeting of the Omemee branch of the East Victoria Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. T. E. MacPherson on Thursday evening last. Considerable business was transacted, one item of interest being the planting this fall of a bed of tulips on Coronation park. The society is to be commended for its energy and thoughtfulness. During the past month home-made cooking sales have made possible the purchase of awnings for the windows of the junior room of the public school, thus making it more comfortable for teacher and scholars.

Harvest Thanksgiving

The Anglican Church, which has recently been redecorated, presented a welcome appearance on Sunday evening, the occasion being the Harvest Anniversary services. A varied array of flowers, fruit, vegetables and grain were a pleasure to behold, all of which had been artistically arranged by the ladies of the church.

A large congregation greeted the speaker, Rev. Archdeacon Warren, of Toronto, who, following the opening hymn, conducted the induction service for the Rev. Mr. Weir into the Omemee pastorate. The choir then rendered a psalm, "Deus Misereatur" in fine style.

Archdeacon Warren then delivered a most impressive and inspiring sermon, taking for his text Philippians 3-7, "But what things were gain to me those I counted loss for Christ," at the close of which Mrs. B. Hume sang a very pretty solo in her usual fine voice.

At Methodist Church

A large congregation attended the Methodist Church on Sunday evening, when the Rev. E. W. Rowland preached a powerful sermon, his subject being "The second coming of Christ," or "Will Christ come again." The speaker held his congregation spell-bound as he pointed out, one by one, the Prophesies of the Bible being fulfilled.

During the evening the Misses P. Widdis and L. Parsons rendered a beautiful duet entitled, "In the Garden."

Good congregational singing was enjoyed by all.

Rev. Mr. Rowland announced his subject for next Sunday evening, "What I would do if I were twenty-one again."

Anniversary Services Date

The date for the anniversary services of the Presbyterian Church has been set for Sunday, October 28. More particulars as to the entertainment on Monday evening later.

ITALIANS WITHDRAWING FROM ISLAND OF CORFU.

ATHENS, Sept. 18. — (United Press).—The evacuation of Corfu is being carried out with despatch. Transports are loading war materials and more vessels are en route from Taranto to remove the Italian troops.

It is expected that the evacuation will be completed before the date set, September 27.

ENFORCE O.T.A. WHILE ON THE STATUTE BOOK.

TORONTO, Sept. 18.—(Canadian Press). — When the attention of Attorney-General Nickle was drawn yesterday to press reports crediting the Conservative party with an intention to do as it liked with the O.T.A., without a mandate from the people, Hon. Mr. Nickle said that he thought the position of the Conservative party in relation to the O.T.A. had been made abundantly clear during last election—that, so long as the Act was on the statute book, it had to be respected and enforced, and that the voice of the people, expressed by way of a referendum, would be necessary before it could be repealed or other legislation substituted.

No Trouble to Keep Skin Free From Hairs

(The Modern Beauty)

There is no need for any woman to countenance superfluous hairs, because with a paste made by mixing some powdered delatone with water it is easy to get rid of them. The paste is applied for 2 or 3 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed. This treatment will rid the skin of hair without leaving a blemish, but care should be taken to see that you get real delatone. Mix fresh as wanted.

HOTEL DISASTER ENQUIRY CLOSED

Two or Three Witnesses Remain to be Heard.

TORONTO, September 18 (Canadian Press). — Fire Marshal Heaton's inquiry into the Wa-Wa Hotel disaster was last night adjourned sine die. Two or three witnesses, whose appearance at the inquiry it had thus far been impossible to secure, might yet be located, Marshal Heaton explained.

The evidence of these witnesses, he concluded ,might add something of value to the testimony aready given.

For that reason, and also because certain technical investigations are yet incomplete, he decided to hold the inquiry open for some time yet.

DRURY NOT LIKELY TO LEAD IN HOUSE

U. F. O. Will Probably Select Temporary House Leader to Carry On.

TORONTO, September 18 (Canadian Press). — Ex-Premier Drury is not likely to lead the U.F.O. or "Progressives," as he terms them, at the coming session of the Legislature. Yesterday's decision of the elected U.F.O. members of the Legislature and the Ontario Federal Progressive members meeting in conference at Parliament Biuldings, not to hold a fall convention seemingly makes impossible the Hon. Mr. Drury's installation as the leader before the House opens in January.

In two resolutions which passed in yesterday's Legislature, the Ontario U.F.O. and Progressives affirm their belief in ex-Premier Drury's "broadening out" principles, but declare for a local constituency autonomy in the appointments to party conventions and Provincial and Dominion elections.

The U.F.O.'s obvious course, in view of yesterday's proceedings, is that they will in party caucus select a temporary House leader to carry on during the session.

Secretary J. J. Morrison, of the U.F.O., declined last night to comment upon the conference proceedings or the resolutions carried.

The second resolution, however, declaring for local constituency autonomy ,is directly in accord with the view that Mr. Morrison has frequently expounded, and in some quarters will be interpreted as an olive branch held out by the "broadening out" element.

Of 17 Provincial and 23 Dominion members, there were present at yesterday's meeting 25 or 30 all told.

HARVEST FESTIVAL ST. MARK'S CHURCH

Annual Event in Otonabee Parish Proved Inspiring Occasion.

OTONABEE, September 18. — The annual Harvest Thanksgiving services at the Church of Saint Mark, Otonabee, was held on Sunday afternoon last. There was a capacity congregation in the little church, which had been most suitably, prettily and plenteously decorated with flowers, fruits of the earth, and vegetables, considerable taste having been displayed in the general arrangements of these decorations.

The musical arrangements were in the hands of Mr. Bruce Quinn, the organist and choirmaster of St. George's Anglican church, South Peterborough. The choir of St. George's was responsible for the sung portion of the service; the Psalm proper for the day was effectively chanted and, at the anthem rubric, that good old well-known English anthem, "O Magnify the Lord with Me," was very well sung. Mr. Quinn had evidently spared no pains in his rehearsals.

A very good sermon—full of good, sound common sense—was preached by the Rev. Elliott-Baker of Port Hope, which judging by the remarks heard after the service, was very much appreciated by his listeners.

The subject was "Choose now now whom ye will serve," and the preached drew many good and interesting lessons from his text. He pointed out that we should look upon the Almighty as a personal friend, and that He was not to be loked upon like a heathen God, as an instrument of vengeance or punishment.

The prayers were recited by the Rev. W. Courage Rector of St. St. George's, who is also Rector of St. Mark's church. The whole service was full of life and energy and the congregation appeared to have been much pleased with the thanksgiving arrangement. It was held in the afternoon for the simple reason that there is but one service on Sunday at this little country Anglican church. Many of the congregation of St. John's, Peterborough, are warm sympathizers with the little church of St. Mark's, and many of these who possessed automobiles, not only went with the members of their own families, but took friends with them. These all drove to St. George's church, were any empty seats were placed at the disposal of the members of the choir. Others drove their cars to St. George's church with the object of transporting members of the choir to Otonabee.

The Rev. Courage, Rector of St. George's expressly desires to tender his thanks to these generous auto owners for their kind consideration, and generosity, which is very much appreciated by all concerned.

EARTH SHOCK VISITS MALTA

Lasted Several Seconds and Many Buildings Badly Shaken--No Damage Reported So Far.

MALTA, September 18, Canadian Press. — A severe shock of several seconds' duration occurred here at 7.35 o'clock this morning. Many of the buildings were badly shaken but no great damage has been reported so far.

Churches were crowded with worshippers attending mass when the shock came. A large number of the citizens seized with panic, rushed from their homes into the streets.

Large cracks are noticeable in many of the buildings, including a number of the churches, and people are in some danger from falling stones.

General excitement has spread throughout the island.

The Million Dollar Doll

By C. N. and A. M. Williamson

Authors of "The Lightning Conductor"

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY

Teresa Desmond (Terry), lovely and unbelievably innocent is impersonating her beautiful half-sister.

Juliet Divine, known as the Million Dollar Doll—whose sketchy career is unknown to Terry.

Miles Sheridan, Terry's Dream Prince, furnished the money for her convent education when she was a child. His wife's infidelity is making him wretched and in order to facilitate her obtaining a divorce, Miles offers the Million Dollar Doll $20,000 to take a yacht trip with him. Juliet is unable to take the trip herself, but working on her little sister's gratitude to Miles, she persuades Terry, who is an exquisite counterpart of herself, to take her place. Miles does not recognize the little girl he befriended so long ago.

Betty Sheridan, Miles' wife, is in love with

Paul di Salvano, a handsome Italian.

Eustace Nazlo, a wealthy Greek who does not know of Terry's relationship to Juliet, is in love with the younger girl.

Mrs. Harkness, Miles' old servant, is Terry's maid on board the yacht. Her early disapproval of "The Million Dollar Doll" is swiftly disappearing under the influence of Terry's child-like charm. Miles has stipulated that he will have nothing to do with the girl, on the voyage, but under the impression that Terry is flirting with him, he breaks his bargain and kisses her.

CHAPTER XLIII

The Sphinx of the White Lights

"Don't—don't" she begged. "I can't understand. You're married—you have no right——"

Sheridan laughed. It was too absurd "Oh, come, haven't you played that game long enough? I think something else would be better fun at present—and as for the future—my dear, pretty girl, there's—nothing doing Nothing serious.

"You dared me to break the bargain. I took you at your word. If you think I've no right to steal a kiss, give me one—or sell me one. What's the price?"

He had not let go her wrists. Now he pulled her close. Her eyes blazed into his. "If you kiss me, I'll hate you" she gasped.

He flung her hands away in a sudden rage against himself and her.

"Go then—damn you" he said.

Terry staggered back, and caught at a chair. "I wish I could go—overboard" she cried. "I never dreamed you'd be like this. You—you're wicked

"Your eyes look the way all those horrid men's eyes looked. Oh, it makes me sick—like those hateful French books did. I wish I were dead so I could forget."

Sheridan was dumbfounded. The brute that is in every man had sprung out of its cage. Now it backed in again, not cowed, but chilled.

"Don't be a fool, Miss Divine," he said sharply. "This isn't a stage. I'm not an audience. You've no need to go overboard or fall dead if you want to get rid of me. This scene is your own fault. You flirted with me—deliberately. You led me on to flirt with you. Well, you've had the consequences. You should have let me alone as I was letting you alone, if I was physically repulsive to you."

Terry, still grasping the chair, her knuckles white, had caught at a vestige of self-control. Fresh from school, where she had been gently drilled and lectured, only to feel her father's harsher rule, she fell under Sheridan's reproaches as if under a spell. She was being scolded by the Prince of her Adoration

Her quick anger against him was gone. She felt that, in her youth and ignorance of life, she must have misunderstood. It couldn't, just couldn't be, that he had suddenly turned into a wild beast as Nazlo had turned, and as other men at the Blue Moon had seemed to turn, always with the same hateful, frightening look in their eyes.

The Prince said that she had "dared" him to "break the bargain"; that she had flirted with him, and that now she "had had the consequences. Apparent to have expected the kiss, and that she alone was to blame for it.

"Oh, no" she exclaimed. "It isn't that at all You're not repulsive to me, Mr. Sheridan. Don't you see, it was because I respected you so much, I couldn't bear to think you were not good, and that made it so much worse than if you'd been anyone else.

"Oh, you are good, of course Truly, I didn't mean to flirt, or make you flirt. I don't think I know how to flirt, really. I was only glad that you were a little kind. But if I've behaved badly and this is all my fault, I'm sorry."

A subtle creature, indeed Sheridan gave her up, as the Sphinx of the White Lights. Yet her voice was so soft, her eyes were so bright with what looked like tears that the fury of the rebuffed male died down.

Useless, he thought, to fling in the girl's face his knowledge of her hypocrisy. Let her have the last word, and be the misunderstood ingenue to the end It wouldn't hurt him—more than he was hurt already; and that was but in his vanity, when he looked facts in the face.

"I'm afraid I was a bounder to throw the blame on you Miss Divine," he said. "Your beauty is to blame where you're concerned. As for me—I lost my head at first, and then my temper.

"I've been under rather a strain for some weeks past. Not that that's an excuse There isn't any. I ask your forgiveness for breaking the bargain, the way I did break it. We'll mend it as best we can."

"Oh, thank you" responded Terry with gratitude, as if he had made her some beautiful gift.

"I'm sure I was hateful I lose my temper too, sometimes, though I try not—and the nuns used to say I must pray against it. My father has a high temper. I suppose I get mine from him. I hope you'll forgive me."

Sheridan laughed in spite of himself. "This has been a tempest in a teapot" he said. "A storm within a storm Listen to the wind and waves. They laugh us down.

"Of course I've nothing to forgive you. It's all the other way round. I ought to have remembered one reason why you accepted this—shall we call it 'job'?—on board my yacht: that my promise of 'hands off' enabled you to accept, although—I think—you're engaged to be married. That's the case, isn't it"

"No," the girl answerely eagerly. "I'm not engaged. I never thought of being engaged. And no one ever proposed to me."

No sooner were the words out than Julia's warning so unded in her ears. She blushed painfully, and gave Sheridan a quick, anxious glance.

"You look as if you'd 'remembered something you had forgotten'" he suggested, with a smile.

"I did," she confessed.

"Remember perhaps the trifling fact that you are engaged!"

"I'd rather you wouldn't ask," Terry said.

"Another secret?" Sheridan shrugged. "Like your motive for refusing money or not telling where your convent is, and so on"

"Ye--es," she admitted.

He raised his eyebrows. "Not being a psychoanalyst I can't pretend to make you out," he said.

The man's blood was cool again now as it had ever been, and he saw himself a blundering fool who ought to be thankful for a narrow escape. He ought, also, to wish sincerely to avoid the girl's society; but somehow it seemed that he didn't quite wish that.

CARE OF PAINT

To retain the lustre of a car never wash the varnished surface with water warmer than 60 degrees. Cleaning solutions should be avoided, especially if they contain ammonia or any kind of lye soap. No matter how much mud or dirt is on the car it should not be scrubbed off with a brush. The integrity of the varnish is impaired by every scratch it receives.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

HOW BABY EAMB WAS SAVFD

Mister Gallop, the cowboy fairy, an Nancy and Nick were sitting down to supper in the red-rock cave, when suddenly they heard a noise.

The fairyman grabbed his lasso and jammed on his big hat. "Come on, kids!" he shouted: "Something's wrong. Jump on your ponies and we'll beat it for Trouble Farm."

Not very elegant language, but then what's the difference, if it's kind!

Well, you may be sure the Twins lost no time. They were at the cave door almost as soon as their host.

But suddenly they stopped, all three of them. Who wouldn't, indeed, with Chatterbox Magpie sitting in a tree and laughing like a goose.

"Why I—is anything wrong?" demanded Mister Gallop angrily, for he hated to be fooled.

"Oh, oh, oh!" screamed Chatterbox holding his silly sides. "Excuse me while I laugh, but really I think I'll bust. Burst, I mean! Oh, oh, ha, ha, ha! That was a good one."

He wiped his eye with his wing finally and pulled a straight face. "Sit down, sit down," he said weakly. "And I'll tell you all about it. Oh me, oh my! Oh, hum.

"It's about Sniffer Ky-oty," he went on finally. "He got fooled again. And I'll bet you he won't sit down to his dinner this week or next. And mebbr not the week after."

"What happened?" demanded Mister Gallop. "Did somebody beat him?"

"Oh, no," said Chatterbox. "Worse than that. It was this way.

"I went down to Mr. Ranch Mars meadow to look for bugs, and there were Mister Ram and Missez Sheep and Baby Lamb, all having a snooze. That is, Mister Ram and Missez Sheep were snoozin sbut Baby Lamb had wakened up and wandered off, nibbling bits of juicy sweet grass with his funny white nose and looking kind of sweet and juicy himself to somebody who was watching 'tother side of the fence.

"That somebody was Mister Kyoty. I saw him, but nobody else did, and he was licking his lips and grinning.

"All at once he made a jump through the fence and grabbed at Baby Lamb before I could call out a warning. But I didn't need to. For suddenly something came at Sniffer Ky-oty like a cannon ball and butted him over the fence clear into the middle of next week. Oh, ms! Oh, my! I nearly die when I think of it. It was Mister Ram—and he was as mad as a hornet."

Chatterbox had to stop to giggle again.

"Come on, children," said the fairyman, hanging up his hat. "We can finish our supper in peace. I hope Sniffer has learned a good lisson."

TO SHIP MORE ALBERTA COAL

Seven Dollar Rate on And other Ten Thousan-Tons for Ontario.

TORONTO, September 18 (Canadian Press). — Through a further concession by the Canadian National Railways, the Ontario Government will be in a position to order 10,000 tons of Alberta coal for distribution among dealers and municipalities between now and 31st October.

A telegram was received at the Parliament Buildings yesterday from Sir Henry Thornton, advising that the $7.00 rate would be continued on shipments to Ontario, up to 10,000 tons, until 31st October.

Coal is to be distributed as the Government sees advisable, and will be ordered and turned over to municipalities or dealers as they requisition it.

According to the Hon. Charles McCrea, Minister of Mines, the Government will not place orders for more than is actually ordered through the Minister of Mines by the coal dealers and municipalities requiring it.

The dictum of the Minister to the dealers and municipalities is therefore to "place your orders early."

At the $7.00 freight rate, the coal is to sell around $13.00 a ton to the consumer.

This concession is the result of Premier Ferguson's recent consultation in Ottawa with the Canadian National Railroad president.

LONDON, Sept. 17 (Canadian Press) —Those who rent and sell houses may be interested in the case of a tenant who won his action in court in connection with a house which he rented. He found that the husband of his landlady had died of tuberculosis and he alleged that the house was infected. The judge agreed with him.

"The plaintiff acted wisely on the doctor's advice to leave the house," and his advance rent which had been paid, was ordered returned.

FLAGGED TRAIN TO STEAL A RIDE

Nineteen-Year-Old Edward Darby of Tweed Gets 3 Years—Broke Jail.

BROOKLYN, N.Y., Sept. 18 (Special) —Fraud, undue influence and lack of sound mind and memory are the principal allegations made in a fight begun here in the Surrogates' Court to overthrow the document, alleged to be the last will and testament made by Edward E. Ball, late brother of Abraham and George Ball of No. 391 Smith Street, Peterborough, Ont., which disposes of a large estate in realty and personality.

Abraham and George Ball are the contestants and demand trial of the issues raised by them before a jury.

Owing to the filling of the objections, which has tied up the probate of the document, the estate, it is expected, will soon be placed under the protection of the court to prevent any of the assets from going astray or from being misused.

A Wholesale Butcher

Mr. Ball, said to have been a wholesale butcher, lived here at No. 170 St. Johns place, where he died on July 15th, leaving this now disputed will, dated April 17, 1923, and carrying the names and addresses of J. L. McCartney, and George W. Jackson, both of St. Augustine, Fla., as the subscribing witnesses, and directs his net estate to be divided as follows:

Alice J. Hunter, friend, of No. 430 Sixth avenue here, the premises at No. 170 St. Johns place, with all contents therein; also all of the wearing apparel, jewelery, money on hand and in banks, Liberty Loan bonds, all other bonds found as well as all securities.

Annie Flanagan, housekeeper, of No. 170 St. Johns place, $10,000.

John Loeng, Sr., John Koenig, Jr., both of No. 308 Twelfth street, and Jacob Koenig of No. 128 St. Marks place here, described in the document as his business partners, each $5,000.

Rose Carroll of No. 398 Butler street, Marcella O'Hara of No. 263 Fifteenth street, and Theresa A. Keenan of No. 652 Forty-ninth street, referred to in the document as the cashiers at the decedent's business, each $2,000.

What then remains, if anything, is divided equally between the decedent's sister, Mary A. Murty of No. 553 Walden avenue, Buffalo, N. Y., and his four brothers, William Ball of No. 276 Ravine avenue, Rochester, N. Y., John Ball of No. 85 St. Josephs avenue, Buffalo, N. Y., and Abraham and George Ball.

William Danaher, "friend, now agent for my real estate," with an office at No. 9 Park place, without bonds, is named as the executor of the estate.

Objections to Probate

In their objections to the probate of the document the two contestants allege:

"That they are informed and verily believe that the said alleged will was never executed by the said Edward C. Ball in conformity with the requirements of the law.

"That at the time of the alleged signing thereof, said Edward C. Ball was of unsound mind and incapable of making a testamentary disposition of his property.

"That the execution thereof, if the same was ever executed, by the said Edward C. Ball, was secured by fraud and undue influence whereby the intent and purpose of the said Edward C. Ball in making a testamentary disposition of his property was overcome and destroyed, and that the desires and purposes of others substituted therefore.

"That the said paper so as aforesaid offered for probate is not the least will and testament of the said Edward C. Ball or E. Ball.

"That the said Edward C. Ball or E. Ball, at the time of the making and signing of said paper was without testamentary capacity.

"That George Ball and Abraham Ball, petitioners herein, are next of kin of the said Edward C. Ball or E. Ball, above-named decedent, and as such are interested in the estate of the above-named testator.

"Wherefore, the undersigned, pray that the paper offered for probate as aforesaid as the last will and testament of said Edward C. Ball, deceased, be adjudged invalid and void and that it be determined that the said Edward C. Ball or E. Ball died intestate.

"And that the Surrogate of Kings County make an order directing the trial by jury of the controverted or contested questions of fact, which arise herein, and for such other and further relief as may be just, together with the costs of this proceeding."

LORD BIRKENHEAD COMING TO CANADA

Former Chancellor of Great Britain will Speak in Several Cities.

TORONTO, Sept. 18.—(Canadian Press). — Lord Birkenhead, former Lord Chancellor of Great Britain, will shortly visit Toronto. A despatch received last night stated that he had cancelled his pleasure trip to Hot Springs, and would speak in several Canadian cities, among which would be Toronto.

Arrangements have been made for his appearance at Massey Hall. A definite date has not yet been set, but Massey Hall officials are expecting to receive further information within a few days.

NOW SHOWING

WHO CAN AFFORD A CAR IN 1930?

In the August number of "Our World" Charles Merz paints a dark picture of conditions in the United States a generation hence if the distribution of oil control remains unchanged. We are the great producers of oil today, he states in "Behind the Scenes in the Oil War," but the rest of the world has the great reserves. Seven-eighths of the world's supply of oil lies outside our frontiers, and of this only 3 per cent is under American control. This does not make any appreciable difference in time of Peace, but it is incalculably important in case of War.

"A wise man, who knows oil as most of us know coffee, said this about it: The world has lots of oil. And the world has lots of ways to use it. The hitch comes in the fact that most of it, instead of being right where it is wanted, lies in precisely the wrong place.

"It is true, the experts tell us, that we produce within our own frontiers well above sixty per cent of the world's supply of oil. Last year, for instance, 550 million barrels in a world total of 850 million. But for years we have been prodigally wasteful in our methods of production. On an average, less than twenty-five per cent of the oil underground has ever got into the pipe lines. And today the demand for gasoline is increasing so rapidly that we may face continually higher prices, and perhaps an actual shortage. Our petroleum supply is not inexhaustible. And meantime we are discovering new ways to make it work. Ship after ship on the high seas is being changed from a coal to an oil burner. Land transportation is increasingly dependent on the same fuel.

"Already we are importing heavily to meet expanding needs. 'The United States's own reserve of oil is not illimitable,' said Sir John Cadman, Chairman of the Inter-Allied Petroleum Council, during war days. 'On the contrary, one official survey after another during the past decade has definitely suggested that they are approach proaching exhaustion. . . . Before 1930 the United States may easily be relying upon foreign sources of supply for at least half, possibly more than half of the oil demanded by her domestic requirements.'

"We do not ring the world with oil-bunkering stations and rich seaboard fields. On the other hand, says the Federal Trade Commission, 'a British steamer leaving New York for a voyage around the world, calling at every important point of Europe, along the Mediterranean, in India, the East Indies, Japan, the Philippines, Australia, and the west coast of North America, and then returning to New York through the Panama Canal, would find oil-bunkering stations operated by a member of the Royal Dutch-Shell group at every important port of call.'

"'It appears obvious,' the Commission adds, 'that a nation having widely distributed supply and storage facilities, and owning the means of distribution, will have certain advantages in world trade against one having a concentrated supply.'

"Meaning, of course, the United States.

"We are today the great producers. But the rest of the world has the great reserves. Seven-eighths of the world's supply, presumably, lies outside our frontiers. And each day we have more imperative uses for that eighth we own.

"There is no escaping these two facts in patriotic reassurance about a Splendid Isolation. OIL is the first great natural resource that links us inextricably with a modern world."

IS KANSIS BOLSHEVIK?

Jose Vasconcelos, Mexican Minister of Education and Fine Arts, in an article "Mexico Molding a New Citizenship" in the August number of "Our World," answers the charge of Bolshevism as follows:

"We are a feudal state which is trying to implant an agricultural system similar to that which exists in Ohio, New England and the Dakotas. And if Kansas, with its thousands of fertile farms, is Bolshevik, then we want to be Bolshevik too.

"To return to the educational aspects of the situation, we are trying to change the environment so it will produce better things; we are changing the agricultural system so we will have not merely inhabitants but citizens and men. I have no hesitation in affirming that the basis of our educational system will be a better distribution of porperty and the products of labor. A fair settlement of the economic situation is the first step in the educational reform. Our purpose, as I have defined it above, is to create men, not slaves.

"School teachers' salaries have been doubled and in many cases trebled, and a minimum salary of three pesos ($1.50) has been established, whereas it was formerly often less than one peso ($0.50). At the same time we have tried to develop the teachers' sense of responsibility and dignity, allowing them, as a rule, to elect the heads of departments and the school directors; for we realize that if we want to educate free men we have to begin by having free teachers.

"Besides improving the social and economic conditions of the teachers, there were the needs of the children to be met. Our old educational institutions, though limited in number, were organized along the lines of the most modern pedagogical methods; but in our work of reconstruction we were obliged to leave to one side no end of fine theories.

"There were schools for abnormal children where very minute examinations were made and carefully noted in registers from which more or less trivial conclusions were later deduced. We had to put an end to these luxuries of doubtful utility and, with the exception of the deaf-and-dumb pupils, who have special classes, we put all the children in the same type of primary school and we established free breakfasts for the poor in all of them. What we saved on doctors we spent on bread, and experience has shown us that a good breakfast does a great deal more good than a doctor toward curing defects of character or slowness of thought. Naturally, we have doctors who make periodic visits to the school; but we try to make the doctors understand that we don't care very much about long statements as to what ails the children; they are paid to cure them. The doctors used to write out long prescriptions which, as a rule, the children couldn't afford to have filled; now they apply the treatment directly. One result is that we have almost got rid of diseases of the skin, which it used to be said could not be treated in

COLOR LURES

Fishermen and campers who want to be left alone by mosquitoes should wear yellow clothing. Investigations by scientists at Cambridge University in England disclose that mosquitoes stay away from yellow, having an almsot unanimous aversion for it.

On the other hand, these buzzing biters flock to navy blue with great joy, it being their favorite color. Light blue, they avoid.

People who have lived in a mosquito country know that these pests are attracted by light, like moths, and naturally the best way to keep them away is to sit in darkness at night.

Mosquitoes also are attracted by the scent from warm, living bodies. Flies, on the other hand, are drawn by the odor of carrion or other decaying food.

The Cambridge scientists check up and confirm the belief that flies and mosquitoes never travel long distances except when carried by the wind. They breed nearby. An old tin can full of stagnant water is a natural mosquito incubator. Flies multiply fastest where there is a stable or garbage they can reach.

As far back as Darwin, it was proved that many insects, especially bees and butterflies, have a color sense and color preferences. Flowers display the colors that lure the insects that distribute the flowers' pollen for cross-fertilization and reproduction.

Insect life is easily the greatest natural enemy of man, next to germs. Science in studying insects is waging a sort of world war for all of us.

PLAN TO CARE FOR CHILDREN OF VETS.

American Legion Seems Certain to Assume This Responsibility.

INDIANAPOLIS, Sept. 17 (United Press).—Care of dependent children of world war veterans is certain to be undertaken by the American Legion, in the opinion of national officials of the organization.

This problem, the extent of which is expected to become commensurate with the relief of disabled veterans, will be one of the principal reports to be presented to the national convention of the Legion in San Francisco in September.

The Legion's war orphans committee will meet here Sept. 15, to assemble data for the convention's consideration.

The exact part the Legion will assume in the up-bringing and education of the children of dead veterans is still uncertain, owing to varied plans presented for consideration.

Placement of orphans in homes of nearest relatives, with financial support for the guardians, or further placement with foster-parents may be considered in the final outline.

Colonies of Children

Still another method to be considered is the grouping of a small number of children in colonies, under care of a housefather or mother, with sustenance afforded by the state or nation.

Institutional care of great numbers, with a view to educational and vocational training, through the establishment of regional or national homes, will be given consideration though the method is not so favorably regarded as it was a few years ago.

According to the committee's figures, within eleven years after the close of the war, 35,000 children of world war veterans will need such care.

George A. Withers, of Clay Center, Kansas, who heads the committee on war orphans, will report to the committee the findings of a year's personal investigation of the problem.

A questionnaire has been addressed to legion department officials asking them for a statement of the extent to which the legion should take part in the programme of caring for the orphans of veterans.

Six States Have Acted

Six states have made specific provisions for care of dependents of veterans in their own departments. Many other states will consider formal action at the state gatherings with a view to instructing delegates to the national convention.

In Michigan a home has already been established. It bears the name of "American Legion Children's Billet" and is caring for many children under the direction of legion authorities.

In Kansas a movement is under way to take advantage of the offer of Dan. Dabney, a wealthy Kansan, to give the legion 360 acres of land and an endowment of $25,000 in cash for such a purpose if the legion raises $100,000.

At the committee meeting here Saturday, it is expected that other states will suggest plans for consideration and inclusion in the report which will be made to the delegates at the fifth national convention.

HOW TO SLEEP 3-IN-A-BED

YES, it CAN be done—but not like this.

The trouble is, most people go to bed with "something" on the mind—or ON THE STOMACH!

The answer is, no matter what the day has brought forth to upset your mind and digestive organs, take Beecham's Pills when you retire.

Though in no sense a "sleeping potion," this 80-years-famous household medicine so harmonizes the system that you can sleep in quiet and perfect rest, even in two feet of bed space.

Beecham's Pills are as efficient and harmless for children as for adults—sweetening the stomach, invigorating digestion and stirring liver and bowels to natural activity.

AT THE ROYAL.

AT THE ROYAL—C ZEIHR DAILY BROADWAY PLAY PROVES A WINNER IN PICTURE VERSION

When you see a picture as entertaining, as amusing and as thrilling as "The Broken Wing," from the Dickey-Goddard play which opened last night at the Royal Theatre, you are apt to wonder just what quality it is that distinguishes it from the usual type of film offering.

In this instance we are convinced that the success of "The Broken Wing" is not dependent upon a single element but upon that combination so seldom arrived at in producing a motion picture. In the first place, B. P. Schulberg who personally supervised its making, secured a play which offered every possibility for filming—humo., excitement, atmosphere.

Airplane Crashes

The story gets away to a spectacular beginning when Philip Marvin, rich New Yorker, undertakes a record air flight. Near the Mexican border, his plane goes wrong, his mechanician falls overboard and his machine drops into the home of Inez Villera, piquant Spanish maid who has given the powers above thirty days to send her an American husband to avert her marriage to Captain Santos, chief of an outlaw band. She nurses him back to health and wastes no time in convincing him that he is her King of Hearts.

Although his physical health is restored, Marvin can remember nothing that happened before his fall but the enterprising Inez has searched his belongings and found on his undergarments the identifying initials, "B. V. D." At the earliest opportunity she and her beloved "B. V. D.," as she now calls him, steal away to the nearby padre and are about to announce the glad news when Philip's American wife arrives.

Rival Factions Clash

All of which are interesting complications but everything works out in the end by the introduction of some stunt flying and a thrilling battle between bandits and Federals.

An almost perfect cast has been assembled to warrant the phrase, "all-star." Conspicuous among its members in Kenneth Harlan, who very nearly approaches perfection as a typical American hero. Miriam Cooper is convincing and pretty as the vivacious Inez, and Walter Long mixes hiumor with villainy and steals most of the laughs.

A Film Event

"The Broken Wing" is a picture your friends are sure to talk about. You will want to see it and if you don't, it is the opinion of this reviewer that you will have missed something very worthwhile. It could have been advertised as a six-act comedy for the laughs come thick and fast.

RIVALS 'BETTER OLE' AND 'ALF'S BUTTON'

"Me and My Gal" English Comedy Sensation at Royal Thursday.

Fresh from record-breaking runs in the old country comes the English comedy success, "Me and My Gal."

"Me and My Gal" is a story of a London flower girl whose personality has taken England by storm, so much so that she is now almost a national figure over there.

Miss Betty Balfour, England's foremost comedienne, takes the part of Squibs, the flower girl, and has secured such remarkable success that some of the reviewers acclaim her the feminine Charlie Chaplin, and others say she combines the fun-making proclivities of Chaplin with all the winsomeness of a Mary Pickford.

The film itself was naturally compared with "Alf's Button" and "The Better 'Ole," famous comedy successes of former days. Some hold to be better than these past successes and others hold the opposite. The majority, however, favor "Me and My Gal," on the strength of its adding a distinctly romantic and piquant touch to the humor of the "Better 'Ole" and "Alf's Button."

"Me and My Gal" will have its premiere showing at the Royal on Thursday and it is expected to meet with the same extraordinary success in Peterborough that it enjoyed in England and all the large Canadian cities.

"LISTEN TO ME."

With many novelties, gorgeous scenery, beautiful costumes, metropolitan cast and betwiching chorus, the brilliant musical entravaganza, "Listen to Me", will be presented at the Grand Opera House, Wednesday evening.

"Listen To Me" towers above anything previously presented in modern extravaganza. It has a fantastic story entwining a wondrous setting of scenic splendor. The book, lyrics and music are the work of Charles George, author of "My China Doll" and "Go Easy Mabel."

The story opens with a scene over the roof tops of New York City, seen from to top of the Times Build ing; through cleverly contrived mechanical devices this scenes passes into a lurid presentation of Dante's inferno, where Satan vainly stalks administering punishment upon the immortals that have been condemned to his domain. From the miraculous touch of an immortal, hades is thrown into confusion, from which everything takes the appearance of the frigid zone. A wild blizzard sweeps over the desolate huts, while dog teams & Eskimos serenely revel amid the fury of storm. Then the scene changes from the frozen North to the mystic realms of candyland, then the temples of sweets gradually dissolve into the vicinity of Cupid's post-office.

The wonderful novelties and glittering transformations of "Listen To Me" leave nothing undone to the imagination, and the remarkable cast includes. Ross Robertson, Joe B. McGee, Gates Austin, Eddie Walkup, Peggy Earle Valerie True, Margurite Williams and the twenty dancing chorus.

AT THE REGENT.

"EDD TIDE" STORY OF REGENERATION.

Human Drama Ably Presented By An All-Star Cast.

What more moving human drama has ever been recorded than that of a man on the ebb tide of life—one who has "made a success of failure"—who suddenly and unexpectedly, even to himself, rebels against the well nigh overwhelming poison of life's darkest waters, the drug of the ebb tide, and makes a soul touching fight to return on the new tide to the beach of regeneration?

That is the spectacle, most vividly presented, in "Ebb Tide," a new and gripping Paramount picture, which will be the big feature at the Regent Theatre to-night. Of course there was strong inducement for the regeneration of the Oxford scholar, played by James Kirkwood. It was love, in the form of dainty Lila Lee. It is doubtful that you will ever be treated to a stranger and more dramatic story of regeneration than that on which "Ebb Tide" is based.

The picture was directed by George Melford and is a worthy production, as may readily be judged by the fact that with Mr. Kirkwood and Miss Lee heading the all-star cast are George Fawcett, Noah Beery, Robert Hatton and Jacqueline Logan, all seen in dramatic roles.

AT THE CAPITOL.

When the immortal "Alice" went to Wonderland, she remarked of ensuing surprises, "This is getting curiouser and curiouser." What the little lady's re-actions would be toward a real, modern, very up-to-date "movie" drama of the sex variety is a matter of somewhat interesting conjecture. Perhaps the mental and moral re-actions of the youth of this generation might be more interesting still to educationalists and reformers generally.

Gloria Swanson is here in "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife." Gloria has been here before, but we haven't seen quite so much of her as we may in this picture. The display of amazing gowns advertised for this production might be paraphrased as the amazing display of a daring lady.

An ultra picture of the jazz age. The ingenuous and simple love story of a somewhat corpulent gentleman who is already supporting seven wives and whose fancy lights on an eighth. At one time, divorce was almost unknown in Canada. Now, it is recognized in the most select circles, and, if the educational influence of the films is not overexaggerated, doubtless the time will come when the eighth love of an oft-married gentleman will appear as romantic in real life as it attempts to do on the screen. However, just at the moment, it appears, as our English cousins would say, "a bit thick."

The heroine, the daughter of an impoverished French marquis, is slightly peeved when her seven predecessors present themselves to her on her wedding morn. However, her chief trouble seems to lie in her uncertainty about her husband's real love for her. She tests it in various exotic ways, even going to the bother of introducing a very drunk gentleman to her most private apartments, in a scene that resembles one of the bedroom farces that were supposed to have gone out of fashion on the stage some time ago. However, even a much-married man can retain his faith in womanhood. In face of the most peculiar evidence, her husband trusts her, and all ends happily.

There is an interesting and entertaining comedy in "Back Fire," with Lige Conley, and the usual run of Capitol short reels.

THREE HOME RUNS IN SUCCESSIVE INNINGS

George Kelly of the New York Giants Believed to Have Set New Mark in Hitting.

Wonderful Average.

CHICAGO, Sept 18—George Kelly of the New York Nationals probably established a baseball record to-day for home run hits consecutively in succeeding innings when he made a homer in the third inning, another in the fourth and a third in the fifth in yesterday's New York-Chicago game. According to old baseball men and statisticians the feat has never been accomplished before.

The nearest to it according to records of modern baseball, was in 1921 when Ken Williams of St. Louis hit three home runs in a game against the Chicago Americans. Among the old-time records both Bobby Lowe of Boston, 1894, and Ed. Delehanty, in 1896 made four home runs in a game, but the records do not show that these were made consecutively and according to baseball men it is highly improbable that they were made in consecutive innings.

Kelly's Batting "Bee"

CHICAGO, Sept. 18. — George Kelly of the Giants was the hero of an old-time batting bee yesterday, in which the world's champions defeated Chicago 13 to 8, in the final game of the series, thereby earning an even break. Kelly established what is believed to be a world's record in modern baseball when he smashed out three home runs in three consecutive innings—the third, fourth and fifth. In addition he drove a double and a single making five hits in as many times up. Score:

NIAGARA FALLS HERE SATURDAY

Meet Lakeviews in First of Junior O.B.A.A. Finals

The first of Peterboro's O.B.A.A. teams to figure in a final game at Riverside Park this year will be the Lakeviews, who will clash with Niagara Falls on Saturday afternoon in the first of the final series for the Junior championship of Ontario. The Peterboro crew have gone through the season undefeated in their own class and their only loss this year was a one-run defeat at the hands of the C.G.E. team, last year's intermediate champs. They won the local honors without a slip and have beaten Oshawa and Kingston both home and abroad in the O.B.A.A. series, so they go into Saturday's final game with a clean slate.

Niagara Falls have been beaten this season but their record is a good one and the decisive manner in which they triumphed over Brantford in the play off game at Merriton Saturday show they have a formidable team.

Manager Lew Lebarr will send Frank Whitehouse his sterling left-hander in against the Cataract crew in Saturday's final and local fans are confident that the southpaw will be able to tame the opposition.

The fans are expected to rally to the support of Peterboro's representatives in the Ontario finals. Many of them have been clamoring that home material should be used on Peterboro's teams and here is a chance ao help along real home material. The Lakeviews deserve and should get the support of the entire baseball community in their effort to bring the Ontario honors to Peterboro.

YANKEES LOSE TO CLEVELAND

Ruth Walked Four Times For Total of 156 Passes.

NEW YORK September 17. — The Yankees were delayed in the clinching of their pennant here today, losing to Cleveland, 6 to 2. It was Cleveland's first victory in six games. The great left hander Sherrod Smith, pitched a steady game against New York while Cleveland drove Bush into retirement in five innings. Roettger, a young pitcher, did well in the last four innings for New York. The only run scored off him was the result of Speaker's homer. Ruth was walked four times by Pitcher Smith, giving him 156 bases on balls. Score:

Cleveland .. ..020120100—6 13 0
New York .. ..001010000—2 7 1

Smith and Myatt; Bush, Roettger and Schang.

Archdeacon Starts Well.

BOSTON, Sept. 17. — Chicago and Boston split even on a double-header to-day. Thurston held Boston to six hits in the opener which the visitor won 6 to 1. Boston won the second game, to 5, mainly through Flagstead's timely hitting. His double in the eighth scored two runs and he in turn scored on McMillan's single. In the ninth with none out and two men on bases, Quinn relieved Ferguson and struck out two, a third batter flied out ending the game. Archdeacon joined the Chicago team to-day from the Rochester club in the International League. His work as lead off man was excellent, and he made a single and a double in each game. The scores:

1st game—
Chicago .. ..020103000—6 12 0
Boston .. ..000000100—1 6 1

Thurston and Crouse; Fullerton, Howe, Blethen and Picinich.

2nd game—
Chicago .. ..101020001—5 13 1
Boston .. ..00120003x—6 11 0

Cvengros, Leverette and Schalk. Ferguson, Quinn and Devormer.

Senators Get 31 Hits.

WASHINGTON, September 17. — Washington defeated St. Louis twice to-day, 5 to 4, in the first game which went ten innings, and 12 to 2 in the second which was called in the seventh on account of darkness. Walter Johnston got credit for both of the victories, finishing the first game and twirling the second. The Nationals collected 31 hits in the two contests. Scores:

1st game—
St. Louis .. ..0003100000—4 8 0
Washington .. .. ..0210001001—5 17 0

Bayne, Vangilder and Collins, Wartmouth, Marberry, Johnson, and Ruel.

2nd game—
St. Louis .. ..1001000— 2 6 3
Washington .. ..403500x—12 14 2

Danforth Root, Grant and Severcid; Johnston and Ruel.

Two for Athletics.

PHILADELPHIA, September 17. —Naylor and Heimach were too much for Detroit to-day, and Philadelphia won both games of a double header, the first, 2 to 0, and the second 4 to 3. In the opening contest Naylor blanked the hard hitting Tigers with five scattered hits, while in the wind up Heimach was always the master of the situation. Scores:

1st game—
Detroit .. ..000000000—0 5 1
Philadelphia .. .. ..10010000x—2 10 0

Dauss, Olsen and Bassler; Naylor and Perkins.

2nd game—
Detroit .. ..002001070—3 11 1
Philadelphia .. .. ..00011020x—4 10 2

Pillette, Francis and Woodall; Heimach and Perkins.

SINGLE SCULLS TITLE TO GARRETT GILMORE

Defeated Walter Hoover By Four Lengths at Duluth—Easy For the Challenger.

Winner On Honeymoon.

DULUTH, Minn., Sept. 17.—Handing Walter Hoover the worst defeat he has ever suffered, W. E. Garrett Gilmore of Philadelphia, today won the Philadelphia Gold Challenge Cup which carries with it the world's singles sculling championship.

The race postponed from Saturday, was rowed on the St. Louis Bay mile-and-a-quarter course. The time was 8:39. Gilmore won by four lengths, ten seconds ahead of the former champion.

"Hoover is a good sport," said Gilmore after the race, "and I'll give him a return race probably next Summer at the Olympic trials."

"The best man won," declared Hoover. The former champion said he was twenty pounds over-weight. Asked if he had anything to say about a report that friction between himself and the Duluth Club officals interfered with his training, Hoover said:

"Well if I should say anything now you might think it an alibi. I want Gilmore to have full credit for winning this race."

Taking with him the Challenge Cup, which is valued at $2,500, Gilmore with his young bride and Coach Frank Muller of the Bachelors' Barge Club, left here late to-day for Philadelphia. He expects to reach home Tuesday night.

Weather conditions were not of the best for the race. The air was cool and brisk, but the water was choppy. Gilmore rowed in impressive fashion. Hoover never threatened the Philadelphia.

Known as a fast starter, Hoover lost the lead at the gun. Gilmore shot rightout in front with a quick 38-stroke. Leading by a full length at the half-mile, Gilmore, without apparent effort gradually increased his advantage to six full lengths at the quarter mile mark.

Then the challengenr dropped to a steady 32, taking things easy while the slow-moving Hoover struggled to overtake the flying visitor. During the last half mile Hoover gained a couple of lengths finishing four lengths to the rear.

When Hoover won the gold challenge cup at Philadelphia in June, 1922 defeating Gilmore and several other scullers he finished in 7:34, said to be a world's sculling record for the mile and a quarter.

SOFT BALL FINALS IN GIRLS LEAGUE

Colonials and C. G. E. at Central Park Wednesday, 5.15 p.m.

The final game for the championship of the Girls' Softball League will take place at 5.15 o'clock tomorrow, Wednesday evening, at Central Park between the Colonials and C.G.E. teams. The Colonials won the first section and the Canadian General girls captured the second after a keen fight. To-morrow's game should be the best of the season and will likely attract a big crowd of fans. The rivalry between the two teams is intense and both will have a squad of rooters in attendance. The Bond Cup will be presented to the winners while the W. H. Bradburn Shield will go to the runners up, the presentation in each case to be made by the donors immediately after the game.

Carpentier Seeks Bout With Gibbons.

NEW YORK, Sept 18.—(Canadian Press)—Tex Rickard, promoter of the Dempsey-Firpo championship fight at the Polo Grounds, announced today that he had received a cablegram from Georges Carpentier French heavyweight star, who was downed by Dempsey in 1921, expressing a desire to meet Tommy Gibbons, St. Paul fighter, in a 15-round bout at Madison Square Garden.

Rickard said he would be glad to make arrangements for such a fight if the men could be brougt to an agreement on terms. He has written to Gibbons.

NEW TERMINAL COMPLETE FOR WEST FORT WILLIAM.

Will Facilitate the Movement of Grain From the West to Head of Lakes.

MONTREAL, Sept. 18.—According to advices received here last night by S. J. Hungerford, operating Vice-President of the System, an important link in a chain of greater railway facilities for the Canadian National Railways was welded with the opening here yesterday of the new Neebing Terminal just outside West Fort William. The Neebing yards it is claimed, are the most modern in their equipment of any railway terminals in Canada and their purpose is to further speed up the transportation of grain from the Prairie Provinces to the head of the Lakes, and of merchandise from east to west, with a total trackage of over 43 miles and a handling capacity of 2,00 cars daily, the new terminal is expected to hasten both east and west very appreciably.

Between Winnipeg, and the new terminal there are 2,225 cars of 1923 wheat much of which will arrive at Neebing terminal during the day and rush of the season and all of this will be classified and distributed through the new terminal.

Freight trains from both east and yest terminate their runs at the Neebing yards instead of as formerly at Mission and other terminals.

LEAFS TIE IT UP WITH TWO HOMERS

Wingo Hit For Circuit Twice in Buffalo.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Sept. 17.—Buffalo and Toronto remain tied for third place in the International League race. To-day they played a tie game 9 and 9, the contest being called to allow the Maple Leafs to catch a train for home. Buffalo was two runs ahead until the ninth when both Wingo and Onslow hit over the right field fence for home runs. Wingo also hit a homer in the fifth driving in four runs. The score:

Toronto..... 100 042 002—9 13 0
Buffalo .....020 303 01o—9 12 1

Fullerton, Doyle and Hill, Vincent; Fisher Mohart and Urban.

Connelly's 20th Homer

READING, Sept. 17.—Reading took the entire series from Newark by winning to-day's game 4 to 2. Connelly hit his twentieth home run in the first inning. Wigglesworth also hit a homer. Reading was the "visiting" team. Score.

Reading .....300 000 100—5 4 o

THISTLES AND VETS PLAY TIE

Local Soccer League Leaders Each Scored One Goal Saturday.

In a well contested game at the Oval on Saturday the Thistles and the Vets scored one goal each, leaving them as before equal at the head of the league.

The game commenced at 3.50, with neither wind nor sun to favor either team. The Thistles kicked off and made a dash for goal, but were checked and the Vets raided the other end, forcing two fruitless corners. The Thistles returned to Griffin's end where Hutton shot past an open goal. From the goal kick, Melville on the Thistles right secured the ball for Richmond to head over. The Vets then returned the play and McKay was forced to concede a corner, which Sharman kicked past. This was closely followed by another fruitless corner for the Vets. The Thistles then brought the game back to the other end where Richmond hit the upright with Griffin well beaten and Dawson who was playing a fine game at centre half, put in a hot shot which Griffin saved in fine style. Dyer took the ball down the field again, to be fouled in the penalty area. From the penalty kick he scored past McKay for the first counter in the game.

After the kick off play was in mid field till half time was called. Vets 1, Thistles 0.

Quickly Equalized.

On resuming, the Vets crossed the ball to their left, but Melville secured and ran up the field, to give to Hutton who crossed right to Richmond who made no mistake, landing the ball in the net for the Thistles only counter. From the kick off, the Thistles got possession, and Richmond takes a free kick for handling by Wade. Griffin clears, but Thistles force a fruitless corner. Sharman got away on several occasions after this but he finished badly, except on one occasion when McKay saved on the post. Richmond took a run up the field for Crowe to give away a corner, which was unproductive. On the return the Vets gave McKay a hot time, and get a free kick for McKay carrying the ball.

Wade Injured.

The Thistles clear and take the play to the other end, where Wade was injured by being struck by the ball and had to retire. For a few minutes Griffin had a busy time and gave away a corner when Dawson put in a lovely shot for him to tip over the bar. Melville took the corner and kicked past. Wade then resumed and relieved the situation. Play ran from end to end with both teams trying to score. Wade gave away a corner in attempting a pass back, but Burgess kicked behind.

Full time arrived with the Thistles pressing. Final score, Thistles 1, G.W.V.A. 1.

The Line Up.

The teams were:

Thistles—McKay, Anderson and Rae, Jackson, Dawson and Burgess, Melville, Hutton, Richmond, Williams and Summer.

G.W.V.A.—Griffin, Crowe and Chambers, Burrows, Wade and Hurrle, Chambers, Bestard, Dyer, Blowers and Sharman.

Referee—Mr. J. Russell.

The two teams have been very evenly matched throughout the season. In the league they have played two draws and won one each, while in the cup competitions, the Vets have two victories as against one by the Thistles. The competition is drawing to a close and the final resting place of the league cup is still in doubt. This should create a lively interest in future games.

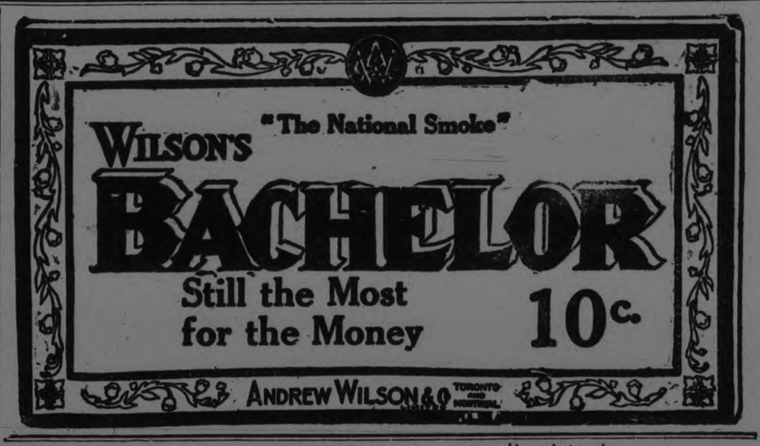
SAYS DIABETES HAS BEEN CONQUERED.

Address By Prof. J. J. R. McLeod of Toronto Before British Board.

LONDON, Sept. 18. — (Canadian Press Cable). — "Diabetes has been Conquered," was the text of the address delivered yesterday before the British Association for the advancement of science by Professor J. J. R. McLeod of Toronto who was associated with Dr. Banting in producing the Insulin treatment.

Prof. McLeod showed how successive efforts had been made to extract Insulin from yeast but probably through bacterial action these experiments had not been uniformly successful. Dr. Banting, he said, had proved that continued periodical injectin brought sufferers back to health and possibly time would show that prolonged treatment would permanently restore health.

Prof .McLeod said the action of the British Medical Council assured an adequate supply of insulin for Great Britain which country was independent of foreign supplies. The unit price was now 25 shillings weekly for two daily injections and would become lower as production increased.



OTTAWA'S RUGBY PROSPECTS GOOD

Dave Harding of Queen's and McCormick of Argos Are Acquisitions.

OTTAWA, September 18 (Canadian Press). — Ottawa's prospects for a successful showing in the I.R.F.U. this season are very bright, according to Coach Silver Quilty.

The addition of two star backfield players, Dave Harding of Queen's championship aggregation, and McCormick, who teamed off with Lionel Conacher on Argo's rear division last year, bring added strength.

Over thirty candidates attended yesterday's workout, which was one of the largest to date, and a fair idea as to how the locals will line up against M.A.A.A. in their opening game of the season on 29th September, was given when the teams lined up. The first team, classing them as the regulars, was composed of McCormick and Tubman, backs; Connell and Harding, flying wings; Rheaume and Buels, outsides; Miller, quarter; Shaw, snap; Humphries and Emmerson, insides; Baker and Brian Timmis, middles.

Eddie Grain, formerly of McGill, who is expected to make the Big Four squad this season, possibly at outside wing, was an absentee.

GOLD

The quest for gold recognizes no barriers. Dr. Thewlis, writing in American Medicine magazine, tells of one of his patients, a refiner, who had been repeatedly buying gold from a stranger. Finally he asked where the gold came from. The stranger confessed that he was manager of a crematory and that he sifted the ashes of the dead, recovering the gold from their teeth.

MILLBROOK OLD BOYS TRIBUTE

Judge Vance of Barrie Congratulates Committee of Recent Re-union.

MILLBROOK, Sept. 18.—Letters and other expressions of appreciation of the pleasant time enjoyed during the Reunion continue to be received by members of the executive committee.

Among others Judge Vance, of Barrie, writes, in part: "I want to congratulate the committee upon the success of their efforts to have an Old Boys' Reunion. I enjoyed it very much, and the arrangements seemed to me to be quite satisfactory. Of course it is impossible to suit every person, but the main thing was to get the former boys and girls there and in that there certainly was success. I was compelled to leave on Tuesday morning and therefore did not have a chance to see any of the promoters, hence I take this way of expressing my appreciation of the efforts made on our behalf.

"I was very glad to know that the financial end also will be satisfactory, but if this should not be the case I am quite sure all former boys and girls would be willing to help. I have read with interest the accounts that appeared in the papers of the affair, and of course these accounts will go into my papers as part of my history.

"The only thing that I regret is that we didn't have four or five hours more for that school on Monday morning. I was loaded for something of that kind and I know that others were also, and could have put in a very enjoyable after noon there if things had not been so crowded. However, that cannot be helped and perhaps it is just as well to have the thing wind up that way with the desire for more. Yours sincerely,

G. M. VANCE."

$100 Bequest to W. M. S.

Through a bequest of the late Miss Lillie Pendrie the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church will benefit to the extent of $100, that amount having been left to the Millbrook Auxiliary. Miss Pendrie was for several years the faithful and efficient treasurer of the local branch and always an interested and dependable worker. The increase in the funds will be the more gratefully received in view of the special demands made necessary by the recent disaster in Japan.

Died: In Millbrook, on Thursday, September 13, 1923, W. S. Given, in his 64th year. The funeral, under the auspices of Millbrook I. O. O. F. No. 308, will take place from the family residence on Tupper Street, on Tuesday, September 18, at 3 p.m Services at the house at 2.30 p.m. Interment in the Presbyterian cemetery.

Personals

Mr. David Fowler, who has been enjoying a month's trip to the Pacific coast visiting friends at Vancouver and at various points en route, returned home last week.

Mrs. (Rev.) R. J. Stillwell, of Monteagle, Tenn., who was home for the Reunion visiting her mother, Mrs. W. H. Byam, left for her home in the south last week.

Mrs. E. W. Lamprey, of Vancouver, B. C., who has been the guest of her mother, Mrs. T. B. Collins, left on Monday for a week's visit with her brother, Mr. Walter Collins, at Kitchener. Mrs. Lamprey will return to Millbrook for a short time before returning to Vancouver early in October.

Mr. V. R. and Miss Elleen Hunter, of Cavan, with their cousins, Mr. Dawson and Miss S. Rutherford, of South Monaghan, had a delightful motor trip as far as Niagara last week, spending the week-end with Mr. and Mrs. F. N. Rutherford, at St. Catharines, and returning home on Tuesday.

Dr. W. Montgomery motored from Embro last week, reaching Millbrook on Wednesday and joining Mrs. Montgomery, who has been here since before the Reunion. They expect to leave for home on Monday, Miss Needham accompanying them as far as Toronto. Dr. Montgomery called on many of his former friends in South Monaghan during his stay here, his active practice when located in Bailieboro having extended over a period of eighteen years. Friends in Millbrook also were glad to renew the acquaintance of former years.

Mrs. Clarence Jewell, who has been visiting her aunt, Mrs. E. S. Burnham, last week, left for her home in Madoc on Wednesday, remaining a day with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Burnham on her way back.

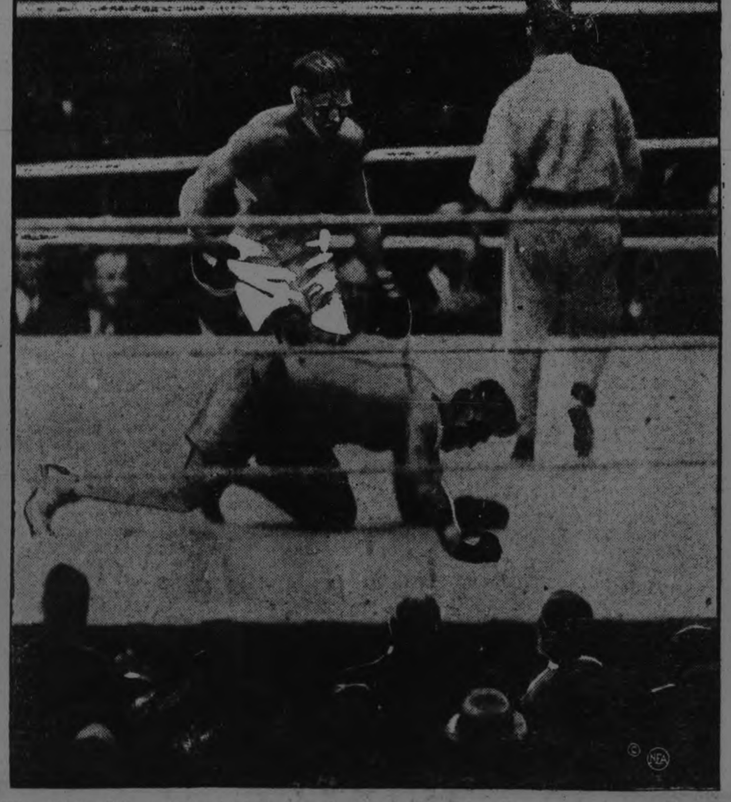
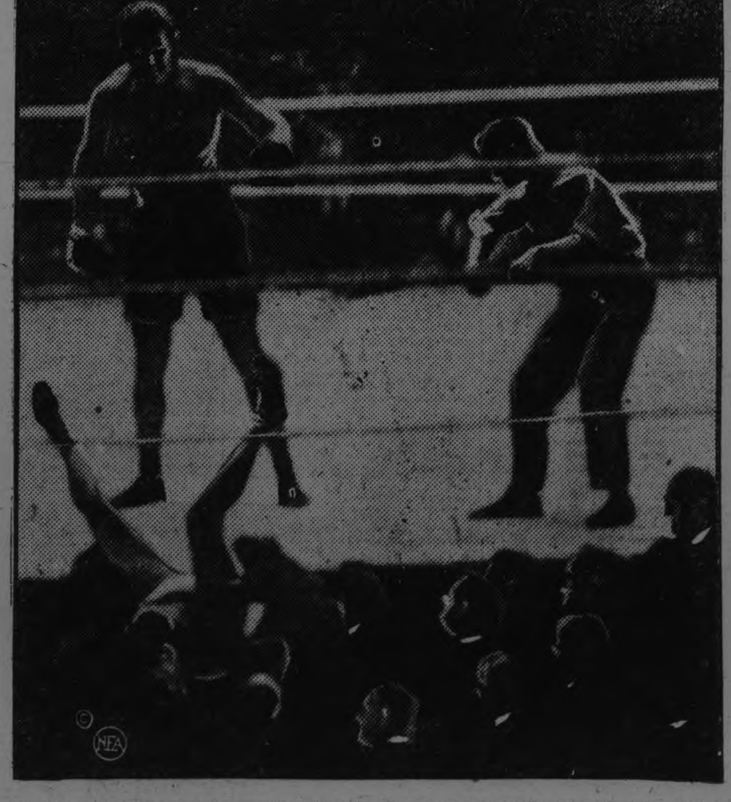
Mr. and Mrs. P. Stinson, and family, are guests of his mother, Mrs. A. Stinson Janetville, at present, expecting to return home this week.

Dempsey Did Not Hesitate



When the first bell sounded at the Polo Grounds championship fight, Dempsey tore in savagely. Before the huge crowd realized what had happened, Firpo was on his knees. This picture was snapped just after Jack had put over the blow that knocked Firpo down for the first of his many falls, before the last one in the second round.

Firpo's Moment of Glory



This is the punch that rocked Dempsey's whole body. It was a nasty rap that Firpo landed early in the first round. Through the ropes and unto the shoulders of "Kid" McPartland, one of the judges at the ringside, went Jack. Looked for a minute like it would be a knockout. But the champion was on his feet in a hurry.

BULL FIGHTERS OF MEXICO GET NICE SALARIES

$150,000 For Season Commanded By Best For Opera Length Season.

NEW YORK, Sept. 18—Those who regard Babe Ruth and Jack Dempsey as the highest paid athletes in the world are invited to consider the case of Gaonita, chief of the bullfighters of Mexico, now summering in Spain. Gaonita—an affectionate diminutive of Gaona—collects more than $150,000 for an opera-length season and is rated a millionaire.

It is declared in Mexico City that boxing and baseball are displacing bullfighting in Mexican popularity. If that is so—and there are indications that it is—and if star baseball players and boxfighters are paid on the same scale as bullfighters, Mexico may have to arrange for still further financial assistance from the international bankers.

Lesser stars, like Silveti and Freg, have made more money in proportion to the length of their careers than any of the star fighters or boxers, not even excepting the meteoric Firpo, who is certain to collect a vast pile of pesos in the near future.

Gaonita lives in a very fine and large house in the embassy district of Mexico City. He owns a number of profitable apartment houses and is a shrewd investor in other ways. He has adopted the American style of capitalizing his fame by permitting his intrepid phiz to appear in advertisements of many kinds. When he quarreled with the proprietors of the big bull ring he could afford to break with them and build one of his own.

Imagine Babe Ruth, peeved with the management of the Yanks, building a rival ball park in New York, or Jack Dempsey setting up a ring in opposition to Rickard's big amphitheatre over in Jersey! It isn't done.

Towards the end of the bullfighting season in Mexico City boxing shows were drawing as heavily as bullfighting and getting larger admission fees. Visits from such well-known fighters as Luis Firpo and Sam. Langford helped to stimulate interest.

Baseball remains in the amateur stage, although admission is charged at the more important games. The rooting is frequently of so ripe and frank a character as to bring pink blushes to the cheek of the most violent American fan.

A BIG BATTLE HERE THURSDAY

C.G.E. and Oshawa Will Clash at Riverside Park in O.B.A.A. Game.

The Oshawa-C.G.E. intermediate O.B.A.A. game to be played at Riverside Park on Thursday is called for 4 o'clock sharp and should attract a big crowd in view of the fact that the Generals must win to stay in the running.

Oshawa won Saturday's game in Oshawa 6 to 2. Murray keeping the C.G.E. hits well scattered. They have Bennett their other heaver ready for Thursday or may send Murray right back at the C.G.E. In any event they will not be weak in the box for both twirlers are said to have a lot of stuff. The local crew will be at full strength on Thursday and are confident of victory no matter who starts against them.

It should be a real lively tussle and looms up like the best intermediate clash of the year.

SOCCER NOTES

The Association decided last evening to award the points to the G.W.V.A., through the failure of Quaker Oats not putting in an appearance on field of play on Sept. 8.

De Laval cricket club notified local soccer that they desired the use of Oval for September 29, which was left to the home clubs.

It was brought before the Association's notice that players had been played in recent games without being fully registered, and Matt Shaw, C.P.C., and Dawson, Thistles, registrations were questioned.

Any team failing to fulfil their schedule games have automatically become defunct, according to rule, but the Executive is awaiting a reply from Quaker Oats. Also that Saturday's game, Quakers and Woollens, be adhered to, providing that a satisfactory reply is received from them, no later than Wednesday evening.

If the Quaker Oats drop out of the League, the Peck Cup final between the Vets and Woollens will be played on Saturday afternoon at the Oval. This match is the alternative.

The following motion was passed to cover the annual general meeting: "That at future annual general meetings, only club representatives, club captains and club secretaries of each club in membership with this Association have a vote."

PUZZLING PLAYS

(By BILLY EVANS)

The Play

It is possible to have a runner cross the plate after the side has been retired?

The bases are filled there are two men out and two strikes and three balls on the batter. On the next pitch all the runners are in motion so that they can advance the most possible bases should the batsman hit safely.

The pitch is high and wide. The batter does not offer at it and the umpire rules ball four. The runner advancing from third to home stops up when he hears the umpire shout "ball four" and starts to walk to the plate.

The runner on second in advancing to third overran the bag five or six feet. A snap throw from the catcher retired him before he could get back making the third out ending the inning.

The runner coming home from third was still about ten feet from the plate when the third out was made.

Does the run score?

The Interpretation

With the bases filled and the batsman receiving a base on balls the runner on third under the rules is entitled to score.

While the runner going to third was entitled to that base he placed himself in jeopardy when he overran the bag the snap throw from the catcher retiring him for the third out.

The fact that the third out was made before the runner coming home from third actually touched the plate is of no moment. The base on balls with the bases filled entitled him to score and that right is not removed because of careless base running on the part of another player that retired the side before he reached home.

PITCHING PROBLEMS

Pitching has become a serious problem in the major leagues. Not a team in either the National or American League is willing to stand pat on its pitching staff. The various scouts now out in search for promising material have been instructed to pay particular attention to the pitchers and not pass up any pitcher who looks at all worth while.

For some years the advantage has been with the batters by a wide margin. The supremacy the pitchers once held was swept away when all trick deliveries were placed under the ban. This made for an entire change in pitching on the part of a great many big leaguers. Some of the pitchers found it impossible to adapt themselves to a new style and passed out. Others met with varying success in adhering to the new rules.

With the passing of the spitball and all forms of trick deliveries, also came the ban on soiling the ball or the use of resin to help dry the hands and help the pitcher get a firmer grip on the ball. The rules called for the abolition of any and all foreign substances and resin was placed in the list. For years a great many pitchers have used resin. Without it they were unable to get their old time grip on the ball, and in throwing a curve, the hold secured on the ball means everything as to the break.

But even that wasn't enough. In order to give the fans more batting the so-called "lively ball" was adopted. This ball is lively because it is a far superior ball in every way from the cork center to the cover. The result of all these changes produced an orgy of slugging in which the supremacy of the pitcher has passed entirely. The batter now enjoys a wide margin of advantage in his clash with the pitcher.

The batters went even farther in their effort to hold the advantage. Four-piece bats were manufactured, which made for greater driving power. Plugged bats also were used, although it is hard to see the advantage of the plugged bat. It might offer a chance to cheat by loading the bat. However, President Johnson of the American League has called a halt on the bat question by ruling all such bats illegal, and making a player automatically suspend himself for five days when he uses one.

The pitching problem sooner or later will have to receive serious consideration from the men behind baseball. Each year it seems harder to find pitchers worthy of the majors. Perhaps a slight toning down of the lively ball would tend to improve pitching more quickly than any other one thing.

LAWN BOWLING

The Lawn Bowling Club will hold a fruit competition to-morrow (Wednesday) night. All bowlers are invited. Rinks will be made up at 7.30 sharp. The greens are still in fine shape.

LADIES SOFT BALL CHAMPIONSHIP GAME.

POPULAR SPORT OF TORONTO MARRIED

Conacher Weds Dorothy Kennedy and Off to Pittsburg on a Lonely Honeymoon.

TORONTO, Sept. 18.—(Canadian Press).—Toronto sporting circles learned with some surprise today that the city still has something more than "strangle hold" on Lionel Conacher, popular rugby player and hockeyist, who left for Pittsburg last night, and whose loss to local athletics is amplified by the Toronto morning papers. It seems that Dame Cupid had been making direct hits on Conacher and twenty minutes before he left for his new field of scholastic and athletic attainment last night, he was married to Miss Dorothy Kennedy of this city. Conacher's send off at the station last night, was therefore the prelude to a lonely honeymoon. Mrs. Conacher remained in Toronto.

OPEN CHAMPIONSHIP.

In the second round of the Peterboro Golf and Country Club's open championship, the draw resulted as follows:

J. W. McDermid vs. A. Mowat.
J. P. Bond vs. C. H. Ackerman.
F. C. Webber vs. F. M. Dela Fosse
S. R. Hamilton vs. Dr McPherson.

Each match must be completed by Monday, Sept. 24, at 8 p.m.

LOCAL CADETS WON HIGH PLACE IN SHOOT.

According to the results of the Canadian Rifle League, matches which have just been published in District Cadet orders, the Peterboro Collegiate Institute has taken a high place.

In the miniature match Peterboro was first in the district and third in Canada, winning a special certificate. Cadet Captain Cyril Macdonald, Quartermaster, won the B.S.A. rifle presented by Messrs. Fraser & Co., Montreal, for the highest score in the Province.

In the gallery practice series, Peterboro was first in the district and second in the Dominion.

BOBBINS FOR TEXTILE MACHINERY

Excellence of material and perfection of manufacture are both indispensable in the bobbins which are used to hold yarn in the cotton spinning and weaving industries. The raw material of the bobbin is wood and, from the outset, the user is dependent upon the experience and good faith of the manufacturer in selecting none but the best grades of well-seasoned wood. Good appearance in itself is no guarantee that a bobbin will give satisfactory results in the strenuous service to which it is subjected. Quality of material and design are also required, and even these must be supplemented by the skill of the craftsman. From the earliest days of cotton spinning in Lancashire, British bobbin makers have worked in close co-operation with the spinners and weavers, meeting the innumerable special requirements of the industry and working patiently on special methods of manufacture for the bobbins. Continual research has led to improvements in the seasoning and protection of wood, whilst worldwide experience has resulted in perfection of mechanical details under all conditions of service. As a result of this happy combination of experience and application, British bobbins enjoy a deservedly high reputation, and are used more extensively than those of any other country.

STEEL FILE IMPROVEMENTS

Considering the long period of years during which files have been used by workmen of many trades, it is remarkable how grossly these valuable tools are mishandled and neglected. In use, they are often treated unfairly by the wrong file being selected for a particular job; and when idle, they are often kept in a bag or drawer so that they damage each other, as well as other tools. In the matter of selecting files the amateur mechanic is generally at a disadvantage compared with the more experienced workman and, as almost every household has its "handy man," a leading British steel firm has made up a set of files meeting all ordinary requirements. There are ten files in the set, but two of them are special files, bastard-cut on one side and smooth-cut on the other, so that the set is really equivalent to twelve tools. These have been selected, from the thousands of files available, as being the most likely to be of service to the amateur, the private workshop, the model engineer, and the jobbing workman. The files are mounted in a neat wooden rack so that all can be seen and the desired one selected instantly. A booklet of information tells what each file is to be used for, and how it should be handled, and the set is completed by that oft-neglected accessory, a "file card," with which the files should be cleaned agfter use. The steel used for each file is the most suitable for the purpose, and the teeth are cut accurately to the most efficient form, but these advantage are naturally lost if the file is allowed to become clogged with particles of metal.

ELECTRICITY ON THE FARM

For several years past, some remarkably successful experiments in the application of electricity to farming have been conducted by a British farmer who has the advantage of being also a fully qualified electrical engineer. Apart from demonstrating the commercial possibilities of the more obvious applications of electricity to root-cutting, threshing, sheep-shearing, and so forth, this "farming engineer" has devised new applications and new equipment. Many of these new appliances are being shown at one of the principal British exhibitions, partly as a trade exhibit and partly for the purpose of showing what is being accomplished in "electro-farming." Amongst these exhibits is one showing the electrical "curing" of a stock of green grass which is thus converted into best hay.

A self-contained petrol-electric vehicle with an electrically driven threshing machine represents a great advance on the old-fashioned steam tractor with a belt-drive. An electric incubator, in which warm air is circulated by a fan, accommodates 2300 eggs at a time; and an improved reflector and time switch, for electrically-lighted poultry runs, results in 20 or 25 per cent increase in the number of eggs laid by mature birds. Undoubtedly a wide demand will arise for equipment to be used in these and other applications and we are thus privileged to witness the birth of a new industry, in which the engineer will solve the universal labour problem of the farmer and add to his profits in all directions.

IRONICAL.

A lecturer from Scotland, Dr. W. W. Martin, past 90 years old, delivered a speech on "how to keep young." Next morning he was found dead, victim of apoplexy, in his hotel room at Enid, Okla. Rather ironical, this situation. But, at that, his age is surprising. Authorities on the fountain of youth rarely reach 90. Beating old age is a fine thing to talk about, but Father Time is deaf.

Society

Miss Viola E. Cardwell of Wallace Point left Tuesday night for her work in Korea. Miss Cardwell is a graduate of the Toronto General Hospital, and for some time supervisor in the private patients' pavilion of the same hospital. Heeding the call to greater service, she resigned her position and entered the Presbyterian Training Home, and is now on her way to Ham Heung, where she will take charge of the hospital in that city. Her mother and sister Mae are accompanying her to Vancouver. After seeing her on shipboard they will visit California and other southerly points of interest.

Mrs. S. Adlam and Miss Daisy Adlam, 517 Bolivar street left this afternoon to visit friends in Toronto and Buffalo.

Mrs. Anderson and baby daughter of Toronto, are visiting Mrs. H. Strickland 502 Murray street.

Misses Ella O'Connor and Helen Flaherty left Saturday for Windsor, where they will enter the Hotel Dieu Hospital.

Mrs. W. H. Glenn and Mrs. F. Black, of Belleville, have returned home after spending the past week with Mrs. Glenn's daughter, Mrs. A. Fife, 701 George Street.

Mr. and Mrs. T. O. Arnott, formerly of McGill and Park Streets, accompanied by Mr. Leo Charlebois, returned on Sunday after a two weeks' motor trip through Western Ontario and the State of Michigan. While in Michigan, they were the guests of Mr. Arnott's sister, Mrs. Smith Rooksby, Sand Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hamilton and family, of Flint, Michigan, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Hamilton, McDonnel Street, over the week-end.

Rev. G. E. Ross, of Janetville, formerly of Peterborough, was in the city to-day.

Mr. and Mrs. James Moore, of Newmarket, and son Jack, spent the week-end in the city, guests of Mrs. Moore's brother, Mr. George Kent, 173 Elm Street. Mr. Kent, Sr., of Toronto, was also a guest of his son.

OBITUARY

VICTOR H. MASSON

Following is an obituary notice which appeared in the Edmonton Journal:—

"The military funeral of the late Lieut. H. Victor K. Masson, aged twenty-nine years, who passed away in one of the local hospitals on August 17 following a short illness, was held Sunday afternoon at two o'clock from Andrew Brothers' parlors. Capt. K. C. McLeod conducted the service and interment was made in the Soldiers' plot in the Edmonton cemetery. Trumpeter Warin sounded the "last post." The service was held under the auspices of the local G.W.V.A. and was attended by a great number of friends who wished to pay their last respects. The pall-bearers were fellow teachers in the Edmonton Schools viz: Messrs. J. Scott, Ben. Carter, W. Fraser, J. L. Haight, Dineen and C. J. Elliott. Among the profusion of beautiful floral tributes were those received from the G.W.V.A., Edmonton Public School Board, Edmonton Teachers' Alliance, Parkdale school staff, Cadets of Parkdale school, Mr. and Mrs. D. Hamm Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Carpenter Mrs. M. Hurdle, Mrs. Duncan and D. C. Duncan, Miss Florence Hallock and Alberta Hastie, Miss Greene Miss Phyllis Grierson and others. Deceased served some three years in France with the 2nd Battalion, and for some years past has been on the teaching staff of Parkdale school. He is survived by his wife and two children residing at 11136 90th avenue."

BLUE SKY LAW QUITE USELESS

Premier Ferguson Promises More Suitable Legislation in Further Protection of Investors.

WINDSOR, Sept. 18.—(Canadian Press).—That the blue sky law, put through by Attorney General Raney at last session, is worse than useless, is the statement in a letter received from Premier Ferguson by F. W. Wilson, M. L. A.

Mr. Ferguson states that, under terms of the law, the ex-Premier is to appoint a committe which will investigate each new enterprise, and if it is found to be satisfactory, sale of stock is to be endorsed. According to the Premier, this is tantamount to governmental recommendation of companies, and is liableto cause carelessness and a false sense of security on the part of investors.

The Premier says that the order in council making the act operative will not be passed, but that more suitable legislation will be brought in at next session. Amendments will also be made in the companies' act, which will serve to further protect investors.

SAYS EXTRADITION ORDER .. IMPROPERLY OBTAINED.

LONDON, Sept. 18.— (Canadian Press).—Writ of habeas corpus will be applied for on behalf of Sydney Murrel, alleged murderer and Melbourne bank robber, by his council J. M. Donohue, on Saturday, Sept. 22. Three reasons are set out in the petition. That Murrell was indicted while at large and was not identified or recommended as prescribed by the criminal code. That no warrant or commitment is in the hands of the jailer of Middlesex and that the order for extradition was improperly obtained upon depositions taken in a manner unauthorized by the criminal code or extradition act.

WHALE SLAUGHTER BRINGS A WAR

Mammals Threatened With Extinction if Wholesale Killing Continues, Says Government—Canada Protects Them —United States Urged to Adopt Measures Similar to Fur Seal Treaty.

The killing of extraordinary numbers of whales from shore whaling stations in different parts of the world in the last few years through the use of modern weapons and means of transportation seriously endangers the future of these mammals, says E. W. Nelson of the United States Bureau of Biological Survey, in a statement urging the establishment of an international agreement for protecting them from extinction. The present situation, coupled with the knowledge of what has occurred in the past to seals, sea elephants, &c., has drawn attention, he says, to the urgent need for taking steps to bring about proper conservation of all the existing valuable sea mammals.

In the United States the most active organization gathering and disseminating information on the subject is the Committee on Conservation of Marine Life of the Pacific Division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science, under the leadership of Dr. B. W. Evermann, Director of the Museum, California Academy of Sciences. The National Research Council, the Bureau of Fisheries of the Department of Commerce and the Bureau of Biological Survey of the Department of Agriculture, Mr. Nelson states, are all taking a lively interest in this subject and desire to assist in developing a practical method of conserving these forms of wild life.

Referring to the difficulties encountered in controlling the taking of whales off shore outside the three-mile limit, Mr. Nelson calls attention to the measure adopted by Canada in 1914, which prohibits the bringing ashore to a whaling station for reduction into oil and fertilizers of any whale not captured in the manner prescribed by law, and which also forbids any whale being brought to a shore station except by the boat from which it was harpooned.

Mr. Nelson points out that Great Britain already has begun to send out expeditions to conduct researches in problems arising in connection with the whaling industry. The example set by the British Government in beginning definite research work covering the life histories of whales, he declares, is one that should be extended to cover seals and other mammals and should be promptly followed by the United States and other maritime nations commercially interested in the pursuit of these mammals and in the extended utilization of their products.

"It is obvious," Mr. Nelson continues, "that the present uncontrolled, wholesale slaughter of sea mammals over most of their range and practically throughout the year can result only in their rapid extermination. During the last century the pursuit of sea mammals was carried on on a great scale and yielded an enormous return in oil, whalebone, hides and furs of fur seals and sea otters. Several species have been almost exterminated by this pursuit, and others will follow without concerted action. Proper control of the hunting of these mammals will perpetuate indefinitely the returns from this valuable natural asset.

"The success of the fur seal treaty, whereby through international action Japan, Russia, England and the United States safeguard the breeding grounds of the fur seals on the fur seal islands in Alaska, has been a practical demonstration of the effectiveness of such action. It is to be hoped that a similar treaty between the maritime powers interested may be equally effective in saving the other sea mammals from threatened extinction."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Sept. 17th, 1923.

The Editor, Examiner.

Dear Sir,—I too was puzzled by the judging at the baby show, in which my little girl was entered. I have attended the Clinic for two years, and have always been told there that my baby was perfect. Progress has been steady, according to the doctors at the Clinic, and baby is perfectly healthy. Yet in their judging, when the doctors simply glanced at the babies, my girl does not come even in the 90 per cent. class. Somebody was wrong, either in the judging or in the Clinic, and it is unsatisfactory. Will the committee tell "Observer" and me how the points were awarded? Yours truly,

Enquirer.

ALBERTA COAL HAS APPEARED IN PETERBORO

Will Be on View on Railway Siding Until Tomorrow Morning -- Result to Be Investigated

ONE CAR LOAD

Alberta coal made its premier quantity appearance in the city this morning when the first of the three cars apportioned to Peterboro arrived by the Canadian National Railway. This has been shipped by the Alberta Government under a special freight rate for test purposes.

Arrangements have been made with E. Cooney, who is acting as local distributing agent, to allow the citizens to inspect this coal from 7 o'clock this morning until 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Invitations have been extended to the Ctiy council and to the business men of the city to pay a visit of inspection to-morrow morning, when the car will be on exhibition between Charlotte and King Streets on the Aylmer Street siding.

This shipment which is for use in kitchen ranges sells at $13 a ton.

Instructions Given.

Each purchaser will receive instructions for burning the coal, founded on many years experience and collected by the Alberta government. The method of using the new coal is somewhat different from the usage with American anthracite, but if the instructions are followed there should be no difficulty in making the transition.

The quickest way to obtain heat from this egg coal is as follows: clean the grates and cover with about three inches of coal. Build the wood fire on top of this bed. The wood, while burning, will quickly heat the oven and will also light the coal underneath, giving a quick fire without smoke. Keep the top slide draft open to admit air over the fire and admit a small amount of air through the bottom slide draft. When the coal is lighted, fill in at one end so that the other end is left red to ignite the gas. Regulate the stove pipe dampers and bottom slide draft as required for intensity of heat.

When making up the fire a second time fill in at the opposite end. The lumps should be saved for making up the fire over-night.

Make Result Known.

Realizing that the present shipment of Alberta coal is by way of experiment, and that every family in the city is interested in the outcome, the Examiner will make known the results, with the assistance of those who receive part of the initial shipment. A postcard with queries to be answered after the use of the coal will be distributed with each ton and users are requested to return this to the Examiner office after making a thorough test of the fuel. The names of persons doing this will not be used except on consent.

A LARGE CARAVAN OF FORD PRODUCTS

Experts Will Demonstrate Various Uses by Means of Free Moving Pictures

What promises to be the most interesting undertaking of its kind is the mammoth travelling caravan of Ford products under the direction of Wallace Murdock, B.S.A., and 20 experts, demonstrating the various uses of the Lincoln and Ford cars, trucks, tractors and fire fighting apparatus, a full line of farming equipment, road building machinery, contractors' and builders' outfits rubber-tired trailers for hauling all kinds of loads up to five tons, trailers for handling lumber and logs, and many other machines suitable for Agriculture, Commerce and Industry.

Free moving pictures will be shown during the entire exhibit.

This marvellous showing of equipment will arrive by road on Wednesday afternoon, October 3rd, and the demonstration will take place the following day, Thursday October 4th.

All city, county and township officials wil be specially invited, and it is anticipated that many thousands of people will visit the demonstration.

REPUBLICANS FAIL TO PUT IN AN APPEARANCE

DUBLIN, September 19 (Canadian Press). — William T. Cosgrave was re-elected Premier of the Executive Council of the Irish Free State by the second Dail Eireann, which met here to-day for the first time since the general elections.

Not one of the elected Republicans had appeared in the Assembly up to three o'clock this afternoon.

Prof. Michael Hayes was re-elected Speaker.

Not Sympathetic to States' Proposals on The Liquor Question

WASHINGTON, Setpember 19.—Canadian Press. — The British reply to Secretary Hughes' proposal for reciprocal agreement on ship liquor and smuggling was received at the state department to-day and was described by the officials as "in general, not sympathetic to the proposals."

The British Government plans, however to present the question to the British Imperial Conference which meets in London next month.

The State Department officials view the British communication as leaving open the possibility of negotiating a double barrelled treaty to curb rum running and also to facilitate legitimate liquor shipments in foreign bottoms.

There was no attempt however to disguise the fact that the British government had indicated a general disapproval of the plan and raised objections against it.

UNIVERSITY TO MAKE RESEARCH IN PHENOMENA

Dead Will Be Given a Chance to Communicate With Living at Stanford.

GIFT OF $600,000

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Palo Alto, Calif., September 19, — The dead will be given a chance to communicate with the living and Sir Oliver Lodge's expressed theories will be given a good opportunity to be proved or disproved.

A gift of $600,000 from Thomas Welton Stanford, brother of the founder of this university, left when the former died in Australia in 1918, and which has just been brought to California, will make further research in psychic phenomena possible.

Professor J. E. Coover of the department of psychical research within the department of psychology, will have charge of further investigation in the little known field.

The department of psychical research was founded at Stanford in 1912, when a gift of $50,000 from Thomas Welton Stanword was accepted. Stanford, then a leading spiritualist in Australia, offered $100,000 but part of the money was diverted into other channels.

Thought.

Dr. Coover, then a student at Stanford, became professor in the new chair on completion of his work toward the degree of Doctor of Philosophy. Until this year, his work has progressed slowly owing to inadequacy of funds, but now financial obstacles have been removed.

Dr. Coover's chief interest to date has been in the field of thought transference, or willing another to receive a thought communication. He conducted 10,000 individual experiments, and his conclusion was to the effect that thought transference really does not take place.

"Super-normal acquisition of knowledge is contrary to what we know about normal workings of the mind," he says:

"Most psychic researchers think we already have proof of the phenomenon of thought transference or telepathy. I challenge that proof. I do not believe it will withstand the scrutiny of scientific men, especially of experimental psychologists."

However, Dr. Coover will continue to have an open mind.

Indoor Sports.

Long engaged in research, he is not inclined to subscribe to Sir Oliver Lodge's theorems. In fact the Stanford scientist holds strictly a scientific view of all phenomena and only the best proof will challenge his attention.

With regard to some claims of psychical media which would indicate very extraordinary mental and physical abilities, Dr. Coover believes that, while they are not necessarily fraudulent, they conduct 'parlor experiments which have been the bane of the field."

From now on Dr. Coover stands ready to investigate any phase of psychical phenomena brought to his attention through proper scientific channels.

For instance, he says the question of a human being being able to give off ectoplasm, as some European scientists assert is posible, is first a proper study for the biologist and the magician. If they pass favorably on it, he is willing to give it a trial.

SMALL PAPERS THIS MORNING NEW YORK CITY

Six Usually Big Dailies Were Thin Curtailed Affairs, But Maintained Their Individuality

ARREST 5 PRESSMEN

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—(Canadian Press) Five men who said they were pressmen for the World, were arrested early to-day, charged with malicious mischief by detectives, who said they seized fifty bundles of newspaperse from an elevated train and carried them in taxi cab to East River ostensibly with intention of destroying them.

The papers published this morning were thin eight page affairs, containing little or no advertising and no editorials. Features were curtailed and one of the leading stories on all front pages was an account of the pressmen's strike.

Six Papers Published

Six plants the Daily News American, World, Herald, Tribune and Morning Telegraph manned enough presses to publish eight page morning papers. Each maintained its individual make-up, topography and personality, so it could be readily picked up as news stands. Editorials were eliminated from all editions, as were most of the usual comics and features. Advertisements were restricted to financial steamship and their supplies.

Smaller Dailies Gain

Smaller English dailies and foreign languages newspapers not affected by the strike are riding the crest of the boom. They have gained several pages in size. Flaring headlines appear where they seldom appeared before, and a new sprightliness is visible in several make-ups.

Agree to Conference.

The striking pressmen of the leading New York morning and afternoon papers to-day appointed a committee of men to meet with representatives of the owners of newspapers and of the International Printing Pressmen's and Assistants' Union, with a view towards settling the strike.

BETTING INFORMATION ACT HELD ULTRA VIRES

TORONTO, Sept. 19.—(Canadian Press).—In appeal of Attorney-General of Ontario against decision of County Court Judge Danton, the dismissing the charge of publishing betting information in violation of the recently enacted law of the province against Samuel Lichtman, Toronto news agent the appealate division of the Supreme Court of Ontario, today held that the Ontario betting information act was ultra vires.

The five judges who constitute the appellate court made their decision without leaving the bench.

The derision was based on the ground that this field of organization was already covered by the Do-Dominion laws and so was closed to provincial organization.

Premier Ferguson and the Attorney-General announced this afternoon that the appeal would be carried to the Privy Council.

It is now very doubtful whether prosecutions for alleged violation of betting information act intended by the provincial authorities, will be carried out pending direction of the Privy Council.

TENNIS AT Y M. C A. RESULT GOOD SCORES.

A very successful Doubles Tournament has just been concluded for the Junior members of the Y.M.C.A. The entry was limited to players not over 17 years and the winners captured the Junior Doubles Trophy. R. Fowler and W. Cormack were the winners of the final round and E. McGee and J. Jennings the runners-up. The finals were played yesterday afternoon and the two sets were fought, resulting in the scores 9-7 and 6-3. The Tournament was run off in remarkably short time and the interest taken by all the teams was splendid. Ten teams competed and no defaulted games were recorded. The interest shown by the Young players led to a decision to hold a Singles Tournament which will commence at once and the players who competed in the Doubles are asked to consult the Bulletin Board at the Y.M.C.A. for information regarding the Singles Tournament.

AMERICAN CHAMPION LOST SECOND ROUND.

MOUNT BRUNO, Sept. 19. — (Canadian Press).—Miss Genna Collett, United States champion, eliminated Miss Edith Leitch, England, in the second round of the Canadian Women's open golf championship here to-day.

SIX-YEAR-OLD BOY WONDER A WALKING ENCYCLOPEDIA

He Recites Greek, French, Italian and English Alphabets, Recounts Ancient History, Adds Fractions in His Head, etc.

CANTON, O., September 19.—He recites the Greek, French Italian and English alphabets.

He adds fractions "in his head."

He reads Italian poetry in the original and translates the story into English.

He quotes page after page of "Hiawatha," which he likes because he says it is musical.

He recounts the story of the found ing of Rome, the history of Joan of Arc, the causes of the Trojan war and the American Civil War.

These are only a few of the accomplishments of six-year-old Charles Stratford Morse, son of Dr. and Mrs. C. S. Morse of this city.

Yet the boy has never been to the public school a day in his life.

Stratford is a well knit, sturdy, little chap, straight and slender and alert. His bare knees are browned and scarred from outdoor play. His light brown hair has a way of reaching down over his forehead toward one eye in the unruly fashion of most boys' hair.

His broad smile reveals the secret of a couple of front teeth missing.

He is all boy and at the same time has an astounding intellectual brilliancy that has attracted the attention and study of some of the foremost educators of the country.

When he was three years old he learned to operate a typewriter and now uses it with speed and accuracy.

Suggest any county in Ohio or any state in the union and Stratford will bound it.

Ask him the name of the ruler or the capital of any country of Europe and he will give you the correct answer.

He will sketch for you the history of the five ancient empires beginning with Babylonia, and name the leaders of each conquest up to the downfall of Rome. Could you?

He will tell you the story of Helen of Troy and Paris and the golden apple and the story of the death of Julius Caesar.

Literature? He is at home with the best authors. He reads the Bible, Shakespeare, Stevenson, Kipling simply because he is fond of them.

How he keeps all these things clearly catalogued in his six-year-old brain is a secret no one knows.

BABY JUDGING A DIFFICULTY

Mothers Bring the Youngsters in for a Final Once Over.

The final judging in the Baby Show and Contest held in connection with this year's Exhibition took place at the Well Babies' Clinic Rooms at the G.W.V.A. Hall yesterday afternoon, with a large attendance of mothers and infants on hand.

Babies who received high marks in the classes ranging in age from six months to three years were re-examined, and prizes presented to the winners, as well as to the lucky babies in the class under six months of age, and in the specially supervised section.

Examining physicians were Drs. Eastwood and Clark, assisted by Drs. Carmichael and Wood.

Prizes were presented by Mrs. Jas. Kendry, Mrs. A. Mowat, Mrs. A. Stevenson and Dr. Jessie Birnie.

Difficulty was experienced in making awards, the number of infants who received high percentages on a second examination being very large, Mrs. Jas. Kendry, president of the Clinic Board, who has taken a great interest in, and worked hard for, the success of the Contest, was presented with a bouquet of coreopsis.

Prize-winners in the class for specially supervised infants were Elsie Everett, 571 Bethune Street; Marjorie Gordon, Park Street; Ruth McNeeley, 92 London Street; Ruth Conboy, George Street North; Edwin Lauchlan Anderson, Billy Loomis, 271 Sherbrooke Street; and Billy Lewis, Smith Street.

Infants under six months of age who received awards were: Edwin Henry, 14 Murray Street; Roger Barrie, Water Street; Herb. Henry, Monaghan Road; Aileen Mathers, R. R. N. 8, Peterborough; Ruth Gaskell, 81 Smith Street; and Dorothy Smith, Monaghan Road.

Mothers of prize-winning infants in yesterday's classes who came in for re-examination were: From six to eighteen months of age—

Girls—1, Mrs. Joseph Gentille, 471 Parnell Street; 2, Mrs. Batterson, Chamberlain Street; 3, Mrs. James Milne, Campbellford.

Boys—1, Mrs. C. Barringer, 226 Murray Street; 2, Mrs. H. McMahon, 32 Lafayette Avenue; 3, Mrs. Gordon Eason, 217 Prince Street.

From eighteen months to three years:

Girls—1, Mrs. Pearson, 598 Chamberlain Street; 2, Mrs. Duffus, 431 George Street; 3, Mrs. Wellwood, 20 Benson Avenue.

Boys—1, Mrs. Crerar, Bethany; 2, Mrs. Akers, 195 Auburn Street; 3, Mrs. Kellar, 549 Patterson Street.

The prize for Roger Barry, Water Street, one of the winners in the first class of infants under six months of age, remains unclaimed at the Clinic Rooms.

NOT IN FAVOR OF BABY SHOWS..

Dr. C. I. O. Hastings, Toronto's Medical Officer of Health, is not in sympathy with baby shows. "They put the emphasis where it does not belong" he says.

"If the maternal instinct is not strong enough to induce the mother to take the best possible care of her baby and to do all that she can for it, the holding of a baby show will not do it. The net result is to make two or three mothers happy at the expense of the disappointment of hundreds of others."

BRISK SESSION CHEESE BOARD

Price Raise From 22 to 23 7-16 Cents—Twelve Factories Boarded Locally This Morning.

Cheese was boarded this morning at the most brisk session of the year, when the price rose from 22 cents to 23 7-16 cents. Four active buyers were present, G. Thompson representing the A. A. Ayer Co., Montreal, J. S. Cooke buying for the W. S. Cooke & Son, W. E. Fanning representing the Canadian Packing Co., and G. A. Gillespie of the Peterborough Milk Products.

T. Braden presided.

Mr. Cooke opened the bidding at 22 cents, and took the first selection at 23 7-16 cents with 264 boxes. He came back with a bid for second selection at 23 3-8 cents, taking 126 boxes at that figure. W. E. Fanning accepted 370 boxes at the same price.

On an objection, upheld by the chairman, Mr. Cook added another factory with 50 boxes to his first selection to make up the 300 boxes called for by the rules of the Board governing selection.

Twelve Factories.

The factories boarding cheese this morning were:

Warminster 60, Warsaw 125, Young's Point 100, Oakdale 110, North Dummer 54, East Emily 100, Cedardale 50, Star 45, Dunsford 55, South Burleigh 26, Buckhorn 50, and Killarney 160.

There were 835 boxes boarded.

DRIVER OF A WRECKED CAR NOW UNDER ARREST

OTTAWA, Sept. 19.—(Canadian Press)—Ernest Emard, driver of the automobile which was wrecked on the Gatineau Road early Tuesday morning causing deaths of J. A. Ferguson and H. J. Robillard, was arrested at his home this afternoon by local detectives at the instance of the Hull police, a warrant for his arrest was taken out by the Hull chief of police Proulx following a conference with Crown Attorney J. Parent and charged Emard with manslaughter in the deaths of the two men, by wanton and reckless driving of motor vehicle, Emard who still sticks to his story that accident was caused by another motor vehicle colliding with car he was driving will be arraigned in Hull police court to-morrow.

ANTHRACITE MINERS RESUME WORK TODAY

Men Seem Well Pleased With Their New Scale—Over Two Weeks on Strike.

SCRANTON, Pa., September 19 (Canadian Press). — After an idleness of more than two weeks, due to the suspension order of their union leaders, 150,000 miners in the anthracite region resumed work to-day.

The miners appeared well pleased with their new scale, which includes 10 per cent increase in wages, an eight-hour day, recognition of the union, and the principle of collective bargaining.

Union leaders stated that a large output of coal this winter was assured, although it was not expected that normal production would be restored for several days.

TWO PREMIERS IN ATTEMPT TO RENEW ENTENTE

Poincare of France and Baldwin of Britain Exchange Views on Political Situation.

GREAT EXPECTATIONS

PARIS, Sept. 19. — (Special). — Premiers Poincare of France and Baldwin of Britain conferred here today on the "general situation." Their conversation ended late this afternoon, when Premier Poincare went to Quaorsay, and Premier Baldwin proceeded to Rabouillet to be received by Millerand.

An official communique issued after the meeting said: "The meeting of the Premiers of France and Britain took place this afternoon, of which they took advantage to proceed to an exchange of views on the general political situation.

Common Agreement.

"It was not to be expected that in the course of the meeting, M. Poincare and Mr. Baldwin were able to settle upon any definite solution. But they were happy to establish a common agreement of views and to discover that on one question is there any difference of purpose or divergence of principle which could impair the co-operation of the two countries, upon which depends so much the settlement of the peace of the world."

It was a heart-to-heart talk with no witnesses except an interpreter. While it was not believed that the conversation would show immediate results, well informed sources were optimistic, believing the ground work for a complete renewal of the entente, after the French victory in the Ruhr is complete, would be laid.

EXPLAINS JEWISH DAY OF ATONEMENT.

Prayers Are Offered For Health ..And Prosperity in Following Year.

Rabbi Faiwel Rizenmann, who looks after the spiritual welfare of Peterboro's Jewish population, explains the origin of Yom Kippur, or the Day of Atonement, the holiest day of the Hebrew calendar year, commencing this evening at sunset and continuing until sunset tomorrow, a period of twenty-five hours set apart as a Day of Forgiveness, when the Lord, according to His ancient promise to the Jewish people, wipes out the sins of all who approach Him in humbleness of spirit, repenting of their sins and promising to do better in the year to come. The service of Kol Nidre opens the celebration, when the spirit of God is invoked to aid the penitent soul in improving its ways. On this day also prayers are offered for health and material prosperity in the following year.

Yom Kippur commemorates the day when Moses came down from heaven with the ten commandments engraven on tablets of stone, the fortieth day after he had been taken up into heaven, and the tenth day of the month of Tishra, the first month of the Jewish calendar. In the ancient Jewish temple, there were two parts, one an outer court, where the people came to pray and offer supplication to God; the other, the Holy of Holies, where only the High Priest, Aaron himself, could enter, and that only on the Day of Atonement.

In the old temple at Jerusalem, destroyed, according to Jewish reckoning, over eighteen centuries ago, many sacrifices were offered to the Lord on this day, special sacrifices for the nations of the world. To-day, the feast is commemorated in prayer and fasting, the Jews fasting from half-past five o'clock of the evening previous to the same hour on the day itself. Jews spend the major portion of the day in the synagogue in prayer, and the rabbi reads portions of the Bible at noon. Special prayers are offered for the King of England, for the soldiers who died in the Great War, and for the nations of the world, that they may have "luck and freedom."

RECONSTRUCT DISTRICT DESTROYED IN A BLAZE

BERKELEY, Cal., September 19 (Canadian Press). — The first step in the reconstruction of the districts rased on Monday in the most disastrous fire in Berkeley history, were taken to-day when workers attacked the charred ruins with dynamite and wrecking tools.

Real and personal property loss in the blaze was estimated at $10,000,000 late yesterday by C. C. Emslee, president of the Berkeley Board of Fire Underwriters, to whom 75 insurance adjusters reported after a survey of the fire zone.

Not more than $4,0000,000 was covered by insurance, he said.

One hundred companies are sharing the loss, and the claims will be paid promptly, he declared.

About 70 People Use Local Phones Every 60 Seconds

Six months have already been spent by Peterborough people in telephoning by long distance this year. Long distance calls put through the Peterboro office number over 2,500 a week, and working out the calls as averaging 3 minutes each, the actual speaking time has been 194 days up to last Saturday.

In addition to these calls there are 25,000 local calls every day, which means that, supposing every conversation to last 2 minutes, there are 70 people using the telephone very minute of the 24 hours in a day.

PLAIN TALK ON RESPONSIBILITY OF THE CHURCH

Dr. Campbell Morgan Asks Christians to Reflect on Their Duty Toward the Bible.

TWO ADDRESSES

"Shine, shine, just where you are; Send forth the light into the night; Shine for the Lord where you are."

Led by Dr. Campbell Morgan last night the large congregation in the George Street Methodist Church joined in singing the few lines of this stanza, summing up the lesson conveyed in the speaker's address on "Is the Church Fulfilling Her Responsibility Toward the Bible?"

"I am not going to attempt to answer the question," Dr. Morgan said, "but I am going to ask you as members of the Church what is the responsibility of the Church concerning the Bible and leave it to you to answer the question as to whether you as members of the Church are fulfilling your responsibility to the Bible."

Speaking on the phrase "The pillar and ground of the Church" from the third chapter of the Epistle to Timothy the speaker explained the context before passing to the phrase. In beautiful language he described the magnificence of the city of Ephesus, the grandeur of the Church of God in Ephesus, and the commanding place of Timothy in the Church.

"No one has ever read the letter to Timothy without feeling the fascination of this paragraph. It begins in the realm of common places and ends in the realm of sublimities." There are three definitions of the Church at Ephesus—it was the House of God, it was the Ecclesia of the living God, His called-out company, and it was the pillar and ground of the truth.

White Light of Truth.

Describing the truth, the speaker resolved it into "He who was manifest in the flesh, justified in the spirit, apprehended of the messengers, heralded among the nations, believed on in the world, and received of Him in glory. This is the absolute triumph of the truth, and of that truth the Church is the pillar and ground. That is the responsibility of the Church to the Bible."

There is but one dimension in a pillar which gives its value, Dr. Morgan said—its height. The Nelson Monument is valuable because it elevates Nelson. Eddystone Lighthouse is used to elevate the light. The Washington Monument exists that people may ask why it is there and become wise in the learning. "The Church of God is the pillar and ground of the truth," declared the speaker. "It exists to lift a person so that the rushing crowd may never forget Him. It elevates the light that it may guide and reveal. The Church of God is functioning in this city just as she raises Christ so that the city can't forget; just as she seeks out evil and lights the darkness.

"'Shine, shine, just where you are' —that is the business of the Church of God."

Incarnation and Proclamation.

The Church must fulfil her responsibilities through incarnation and proclamation, the speaker declared, and the greatest of these is incarnation.

Referring to Peter's sermon, Dr. Morgan pointed out the sequence of events—the speakers were filled with

PARENTS HAVE A PROBEEM IN NAMING CHILD

William is Favorite for Boys and Mary for Girls Twenty-eight Families Could Not Choose Name

GREAT VARIETY

What is your favorite name for a boy, and what for a girl? Only fourteen families of the 354 visited by the stork this year agreed on the same name for boys and only thirteen arrived at the same name for girls." Twenty-eight families could not decide on any name for their babies within the month allowed them for registration, their entry on the registration card being simply "Baby."

William leads as a favorite for boys, while Mary leads among girls. Joseph was the name given to 11 of the 175 boy babies; 10 were named John, and James was given to 8. The next most popular are Thomas, Donald and Harold, with four each. In the next class having three each there were nine names, Edward, George, Kenneth, Walter, Frederick, Stanley, Ernest, Edwin and Gordon. There were twelve names each given to two boys: Ronald, Charles, Lawrence, Richard, Douglas, Lloyd, Leonard, Robert, Herbert, Lorne, Maxwell and Norman. In the fourth class, where each name was bestowed upon only one boy, there are 40 names, including: Keith, Clarence, Frank, Nicholas, Michael, Roy, Samuel, Basil, Roderick, Francis, Lewis, Antonio, Russell, Harry, Anthony, Mitchell, Llewellyn, Myer, Roger, Vincent, Alvin, Harvey, Micheli, Henry, Wallace, Gennaro, Vernon, Hughe, Rocco, Leslie, Francis, Eugene, Albert, Emile, Phinehas, Wilfrid, Cyril and Earle.

One boy, who will doubtless appreciate his English history, is named Norman Harold, while perhaps the most distinctive name is Johnston Alsenas.

Girls' Names Varied.

Next to Mary, the most popular name for girls is Dorothy, given 11 out of the 179 baby girls this year. Margaret is third with seven, and Ruth fourth with four. Eight names share the honors with three babies each: Betty, Helen, Marjorie, Audrey, Elizabeth, Marguerite, Agnes and Doris. Names with two babies each number nine: Eleanor, Edith, Jennie, Mabel, Sybil, Gladys, Barbara, Hilda and Norma. Names which only attracted one baby each number 63. Some of them are: Matilda, Ruby, Theresa, Lulu, Yolanda Catharine, Cora, Marcellus, Meta, Olga, Andree, Christina, Marilon, Jeane, Leona, Violet, Sylvia, Marjory, Ann, Irenia, Bernadette, Frances, Edith, Clara, Bessie, Edna, Myrtle, Faye, Adelina, Muriel, Berenice, Loretta, Lenore, Elsie, Irma, Geraldine, Shirley, Bella, Marion, Mildred, Verna, Pearl, Charlotte, Celestine, Gwendolyn, Marcelle, Doreen, Mercedes, Helena, Lilian and Leah.

The most pretentious double given names among girls were probably Marcellus Angela and June Jane.

Spelling Varies.

Girls' names vary greatly in the spelling, apparently conforming to the particular whimsies of the person conferring the name. Marguerite, for instance, is spelled in one case Margaeurita. Jean is sometimes Jeane, while Marjory may be Marjorie and Jenny may be Jennie.

Meanings of Names.

The signification of the four most popular names in each sex are as follows:

William, protector; Joseph, he shall add; John, gift of God; and James, a supplanter.

Mary means star of the sea; Dorothy, gift of God; Margaret, a pearl, and Ruth, beauty.

CONNECTICUT MERCHANT LEFT VALUABLE VIOLINS

NORWICH, Conn., Sept. 19.—(Associated Press).—Four specially valuable violins are in the collection of the late Archibald Mitchell, dry goods merchant, whose death occurred here recently.

They are the "Bott" Stradivari (1723), the "Earl" Stradivari (1722), the "Jarnowick" (1741), and the "Healy" Stradivari (1711). The "Bott" is regarded as one of the most widely known instruments in the United States. It was at one time owned by the Duke of Cambridge, and afterwards by Louis Sophr, passing later into the hands of the late Prof. John Bott who, as a young man, had been a pupil of Spohr.

The "Earl" is of exceptional size and weight, which distinguishes it from any previous or later work of Stradivari. It was purchased about 1820 by the founder of the London Royal Academy of Music, the Earl of Westmoreland, while he was ambassador at Vienna.

The "Jarnowick" is a splendid specimen of the last type of the master. It is contemporary with the "Paganini" Guerneri (1743), now preserved in the Municipal Palace at Genoa, which, in the hands of the great Maestro, delighted so many thousands in Europe.

The "Healy" is one of the very few perfect Stradivari violins in existence. Mr. Mitchell was one of the founders of a dry goods concern here which has stores in Portland, Me., and in Grand Rapids, Mich., and which at one time operated stores in Fort Wayne, Ind., Detroit and Saginaw, Mich., and Middletown, Conn.

THERE STILL ARE OTHERS.

O do not let one tear drop start.
Nor be downcast, nor faint of heart,
Though all the friends you've ever known
False, fickle, far-estranged are grown,
And all your kindly deeds displayed
By base ingratitude repaid.
Fearless and firm your path pursue,
There still are others; leal and true.

What, if some hold the creed, that self
Is man's first care and piling pelf,
Each for himself, and self alone,
His every interest but his own;
The world, a place where every man
Must grasp as much as grasp he can;
Be sure that others yet there be
To Mammon who bend not the knee.

Does pleasure always pass you by,
And cares and troubles multiply?
Your brightest prospects cease to shine,
While fickle fortune's smiles decline,
Turbulent runs life's sullen stream,
Unchecered by Hope's inspiring beam?
Behind the clouds the skies are blue,
And better days in store for you.

MASONIC PRINCIPLES WOULD REDEEM THE WORLD.

Col. Steacy Talks of High Ideals of Order.

OTTAWA, Sept. 19. — Acacia Lodge, A.F. and A.M., No. 5621, of Westboro, assembled at All Saints' Anglican Church, where they were addressed by Col. Rev. R. H. Steacy. Mr. Steacy chose as his text the words, "Remember thy Creator in the days of thy youth." He drew attention to the wealth of opportunity that unfolds itself before the youth of the world, laying emphasis upon the certainty of old age, and of the days when opportunities were past.

In speaking of the Masonic Order Col. Steacy gave a brief account of its history, going back into the dim ages. He told of how Moses was the first Grand Master of a lodge and Salomon the second. Nations had risen and fallen, whole dynasties had disappeared in the mists of time, but the Masonic Order stood as firm today as it did 3,000 years ago.

Speaking of the splendid principles of the Masonic Order and of its high ideals, he stated that it was only through the application of such principles that the ultimate redemption of the world would become a reality.

PAPERS IN NEW YORK TURN OUT JOINT EDITION

Twelve Newspapers Issue Composite Sheet in Emergency of the Pressmen's Strike.

CONTRACT DISPUTE.

NEW YORK, September 18. — New York went without its leading newspapers for the better part of 24 hours to-day when a strike of 2500 web pressmen prevented the publication of a majority of the city's morning and evening dailies.

From midnight until late this evening the city's millions, most avid newspapers of the world, practically were cut off from news of their own and the rest of the world's doing.

The metropolis awoke to find its breakfast and its ride to daily chores made dreary by the absence of the morning newspapers. Limited pre-midnight editions, which were run off before the pressmen walked out, had been exhausted by the late theatre crowds.

An early edition of the New York Evening Post, run off by a hastily recruited corps of pressmen, was the only one of the large afternoon papers to appear before noon, and when that had been exhausted, the news stands, usually loaded with frequent editions of the afternoon dailies, were bare and hundreds of newsboys were mute.

Premium Prices.

Newspapers in nearby New Jersey cities, smaller local papers not affected by the strike, and foreign newspapers, hastened to take advantage of the situation, rushing thousands of papers and scores of emergency newsboys to the more important traffic intersections where they enjoyed an unprecedented sale at premium prices.

One Boston newspaper sent copies of a special edition to the city by airplane.

The newspaper famine was relieved in the late afternoon when a composite newspaper, representing jointly the twelve afternoon papers affected, and printed separately by the various sheets, appeared on the streets.

The unique publication which bore the names of all the twelve newspapers in the usual typographical style used by each was the result of a conference between the newspaper owners and the officers of the International Union. It was there decided that the papers would pool their resources to permit the publication of a six or eight paper newspaper to contain whatever advertisements and news each of the dailies deemed it expedient to print.

Except for the usual heading and form of the composite sheet, the newspaper was similar to the usual daily editions printed by the various newspapers, except for its condensed form.

The composite neswpapers were distributed by the joint delivery forces of the twelve plants.

Contract Expired

The strike was called a few minutes after midnight by Web Pressman's Union No. 25, after the organization had concluded a four-hour meeting. President David Simons of the Union declared that all but one of the members had voted for the strike which he said, grew out of the inability of the Union and the publishers to agree to a working contract to replace the one which expired on September 1st.

The newspaper owners announced through the Publishers' Association that the walk out was taken without due notice and was unjustified.

They announced that they would make no effort to meet the heads of the striking local and that they would attempt to negotiate with the officers of the International Printing Pressmen's and Assistants' Union of North America.

Declared Illegal.

George L. Berry, president of the International Union characterized the strike as illegal, without the sanction of the international, and in violation of the tri-parte agreement to arbitrate any differences which might arise between the international, local and publishers. He urged the strikers to return to work and served notice that the international would do everything in its power to help publish the New York dailies. Both he and the officers of the Publishers' Association sent out calls to pressmen in other cities, whether union men or not, to come here.

Rioting on Park Row

Rioting on Park Row marked the close of the first day of the so-called outlaw strike. Mounted police men broke up several violent demonstrations by wielding their clubs freely.

Two auto trucks loaded with several thousand copies of the New York American were held up shortly before midnight at the point of guns in the hands of striking pressmen, and the papers hurled to the street and burned.

ROBBED POST OFFICE.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 19.—(Canadian Press)—An unindentified man entered the postoffice at Rosenfeld, Man. south of Winnipeg this afternoon, slugged Mrs. H. G. Hurr, the post mistress over the head with the butt end of a revolver, and escaped with $300 from the office safe.

ATHENS, Sept. 19.—(Canadian Press).—The bodies of General Tellini and the other Italian members of the Greco-Albanian Frontier Delimitation Commission who were killed near Janina were embarked today at Prevesa, to be taken back to Italy for burial. Two companies of Greek infantry and a Greek torpedo boat destroyer rendered military and naval honors to the dead.

SEARCH WAITERS FOR REAL MONEY

Suspected of Holding Out on German Government.

BERLIN, September 18. — Flying squads from the office of the director of Foreign Currencies descended unexpectedly to-day on the Hotel Adlon, Cafe Bauer, Cafe Krantzler, and other prominent restaurants, and searched waiters, cashiers, and guests for foreign currencies. But they met with poor success as the speculators in such currencies were prepared for the search and the waiters, porters and other employees had only small amounts of foreign money.

This however was taken whenever found and receipts were given, with the notification that the owner must explain to the government Finance Bureau how he came to have foreign money, held in violation of the law providing that all such currency must be turned over to the government.

WHEAT POOL THIS YEAR IMPROBABLE.

Only 37 Per Cent. of the Saskatchewan Acreage Signed Up.

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 18. — Pointing out that on the closing day if its campaign the Saskatchewan Wheat Pool Committee had signed up about 37 per cent. of the total acreage, the Grain Growers Guide, in its issue dated September 19. says that "the actual conditions of the contract would, therefore, seem to preclude the operation of a wheat pool in that Province this year."

The Guide is "employed as the official organ," of the farmers' organizations in the three prairie Provinces.

The Guide declares that there is no real ground for discourgaement or disappointment in the result of the wheat pool compaigns and that the acreage signed up was a notable achievement.

The Alberta campaign having approximately reached its objective, the pool trustees of that province, have ,according to the Guide's editorial "The option of going ahead or suspending operations for another year." Actual operation this year would be a "gigantic" task, and in the very nature of things the hasty organization which would be necessary "must lack the highest efficiency."

Should there be no pooling system in Saskatchewan this year," continues the Guide, "which seems probable, the Alberta trustees should not be blamed if they decide not to make the great experiment alone in face of the difficulties with which they are confronted." In the event of a postponement of operation to another year it advises conferences of the pool committeees for Alberta, Saskatchwan and Manitoba to evolve a common contract form, "with the definite understanding and agreement that all wheat contracted to the pool in all three provinces be marketed through one selling agency."

MOTHER AND SON ON MURDER CHARGE.

Fatal Shooting During Alleged Quarrel Over Straying Cattle.

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 19.—(Canadian Press)—A mother and son will face a murder charge when the preliminary hearing into the shooting to death of Mrs. Anna Kunka is opened at Pine River, near Dauphin, Man., on September 28. There was a quarrel over some straying cattle, Mrs. U. Sawcki was badly beaten, and, it is alleged, she ordered her 12-year-old son Peter to to fire at Mrs. Kunka. The shot, she claimed, was fired in self-defence, and now both the woman and her son are charged with murder. The quarrel and death occurred on September 1.

Baby Born With One Well-Formed Tooth.

HAMILTON, Sept. 19.—(Canadian Press).—Doctors and nurses at the General Hospital Maternity department got a surprise yesterday when there was ushered into the ward a baby boy having one tooth well formed. It was the left lower incisor and an other lower incisor was nearly showing through the gum.

The mother is Mrs. May Tebutt.

JULIA BARASHKAVA.

SEATTLE, September 19. — Miss Julia Barashkava simply danced her way into the hearts of more than 200 first-class passengers who arrived in Seattle on the Admiral Oriental Line President Madison.

A refugee from Russia, she finally made her escape from Vladivostok, and reached Harbin, where she lived for two years.

Together with 179 other refugees, she came to America in the steerage. Most of her companions had seen better days during the Tsar's reign in old Russia.

She has been engaged to appear in America.

WATER-SOAKED COFFEE COMPLETES SHIPWRECK.

Pacific Mail Liner Total Loss of $400,000.

Los Angeles, Calif., Sept. 18. — The Pacific Mail Liner Cuba, which went ashore on a reef off San Miguel Island, has been abandoned as a total loss, it was announced here today. The loss is estimated at $400,000. It is said the ship's destruction was not due so much to the pounding of the waves against its sides as to the swelling of a cargo of coffee which became water soaked and exerted such a force against the holds that the hull and decks were forced out of line.

SAY STILL PRINTING BETTING INFORMATION

Provincial Police May Take Action Against Toronto Houses.

TORONTO, September 19. Canadian Press. — Following close upon the decision of the Toronto Board of Police Commissioners not to permit the Toronto police to take any further action in betting information cases pending the decision of the Appellate division at Osgoode Hall, on the finding of Judge Denton in the test case, provincial authorities yesterday entered actively into the work within the city limits.

Provincial Inspector Boyd has been placed in charge of further prosecutions by Commissioner General Williams. Yesterday he had a long consultation with the Crown Attorney, Eric Armour, respecting new prosecutions and the laying of informations against printing establishments in the city which are said to be turning out papers containing betting information.

A despatch from Bridgeburg last night said Deputy Police Commissioner Alfred Cuddy had been in that section for the past two days looking into the reported smuggling of papers containing betting information, and O.T.A. enforcement matters.

Train Despatcher Is Placed Under Arrest.

NORTH BAY, Sept. 19—(Canadian Press).—Provincial officers have arrested K. H. Dwyer, former T. and N. O. despatcher in connection with the train wreck at Dane in which three men lost their lives. He is charged jointly with Jos. Gillice formerly relieving operator at Englehart.

Four Choices In Plebiscite

EDMONTON, Sept. 19.—(Canadian Press). — Plans for conducting Alberta's liquor plebiscite on November 5 are well under way and writs will be issued to returning officers about October 9, it was announced today. The referendum will be conducted under the proportional representation plan, and the electors have four systems to pick from —licensed sale of beer, Government sale of beer, Government sale of all liquors or continuation of the present Prohibition Act.

RESTRICT USE OF OPIUM PRODUCTS

League of Nations Commission Recommends International Conference.

GENEVA, Sept. 18.—The League of Nations Opium Commission met this afternoon, with Stephen G. Porter and the other United States delegates in attendance.

The Commission received the report of its advisory committee and also a draft of the report to be made to the League Assembly. The latter is notable as favoring the passage of a resolution welcoming the co-operation of the United States Government in dealing with the abuse of dangerous drugs. It further requests the Assembly to express agreement with the proposals embodying principles which should guide all governments.

These principles are that the use of opium products should be restricted to medicinal and scientific purposes, and that the production of raw opium should be so controlled that there will be no surplus available for other purposes.

The resolution presented for submission to the Assembly expresses appreciation of the valuable work of the advisory committee, adopts its reports and asks the Council of the League to take the necessary steps to put the report into effect. This report favours the calling of a new international conference to curb the opium traffic.

The conference will comprise representatives of the countries where opium and coca leaves are produced for export, countries where drugs are manufactured therefrom and governments in whose territories prepared opium in consumed. Its object will be to agree on a strategy to prevent abusive use of these substances, their products and derivatives.

The conference, which the Assembly is expected to approve will carry to a further degree the aims of the Hague convention, which several States have not yet ratified.

Mr. Porter's appearance as the official representative of the Washington Government on the opium question challenged general attention as indicating anew that the United States was actively participating in the humanitarian efforts of the League of Nations.

ARE OPPOSED TO JAPANESE LABOR.

Economic Prejudice Against Orientals Admitted in Vancouver.

VICTORIA, B. C., September 19—(Canadian Press)—"That there is an economic prejudice in this country, particularly in this province, against the Oriental, it was useless to deny," said M. A. MacDonald, K.C. of Vancouver, before the Canadian Clubs today.

It would not be difficult to persuade the people of Japan that if a Canadian colony settled down in some fertile part of their country becoming prosperous and aggressive claiming full rights of citizenship prejudice on their part would soon develop. So it is here.

It was important that the people of eastern Canada should smpathetically study the problem more immediately confronting those who dwell on the Pacific coast, problem inherent to the strategic position of this province as the gateway to the Pacific, Mr. MacDonald said.

Referring to the recent disaster in Japan, Mr. MacDonald stated that the genuine sympathy manifested by the civilized world and the aid preferred from all quarters showed that the brotherhood of nations was not an empty phrase.

1,784,000 BUSHELS OF GRAIN LOADED IN DAY BY NATIONAL RAILWAY

Record Broken By C.N.R. on Monday — Supply of Cars Satisfactory and Movement Is Free.

BULK WAS WHEAT.

MONTREAL, Sept. 19.—(Canadian Press)—According to advices received at the headquarters of the system yesterday, Monday was the biggest grain loading day in the history of the Canadian National Railways in western Canada. Despite the fact that grain from the Edmonton division of Alberta—which according to reports has produced this year the biggest crop in its history—has hardly commenced to move to date, the Canadian National Railways loaded 1,405 cars of grain containing a total of 1,573,000 bushels of all grains. The heaviest loading took place in the Saskatoon division of the Canadian National Railways where 386 cars, containing 488,000 bushels were loaded.

The largest day's loading on all divisions in any previous year was 1,339 cars of grain. Last year, September 17th fell on a Sunday, but on the following day, a total of 1,160 cars containing 1,266,00 bushels of all grains, ere loaded.

The car situation throughout the grain district is reported in splendid condition and grain is moving to the head of the lakes as fast as it is loaded.

C.P.R. GRAIN LOADINGS

WINNIPEG, Sept. 19.—(Canadian Press)—On the Canadian Pacific Railway western lines 2,782,106 bushels of grain were marketed Monday while 1,326 cars were loaded. Manitoba contributed 580,095 bushels, Saskatchewan 1,450,375 and Alberta 751,638 bushels.

RAILWAY BROTHERHOOD ASSETS HAVE IMPROVED

CALGARY, Sept. 19.—(Canadian Press)—The financial position of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employes as submitted this morning at the convention here of that organization by M. M. MacLean, the secretary-treasurer showed that there had been some improvement in recent years.

Surplus of assets over liabilities on April 30, 1921, was $21,315.56. On April 30, 1923, they amounted to $26,652.82. The total assets of the Grand Division on April 30, 1923, were $42,950.64. The total liabilities on that date were $16,297.81.

BRITISH STEAMERS IN JOINT WINTER SERVICE

SOUTHAMPTON, Sept. 18.—The White Star and Cunard Lines have concluded an agreement to maintain a joint trans-atlantic service during the coming winter. This is the first combine of the sort to be arranged between two important British steam ship companies.

The Majestic, Berengaria and Aquitania are the principal vessels selected to continue in service for the winter. Manwhile the Mauretania, Olympic and Homeric will be overhauled and an effort will be made to increase the average speed of the Cunard liners above the present 26 knots. The Homeric is to be converted into an oil burner.

DEFER CONFERENCE ON BORDER BOOTLEGGING

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.— Conference between officials of Canada and the United States with regard to new efforts to curb liquor smuggling across the border into the United States have been deferred until November.

The State Department was advised to-day by the Counsul-General at Ottawa that the Canadian Minister of Customs and Excise would be absent from the capital on leave and had suggested that the conference date be set for November instead of October as had been previously planned. It was said at the Department that this delay was satisfactory to United States officials.

CONSCIENCE MONEY REPAID TO COMPANY

MONTREAL, Sept. 19.—(Canadian Press)—An unusual case of ingrowing conscience was experienced by the Dominion Transport Company here today when a remittance of $10 was received with the anonymous statement that "this belongs to your company, and is sent in conscience money."

Officials said that in this case the sender's conscience had evidently become a permanent trouble since the company had received remittances each for $2 with letters bearing the same handwriting in November and February last, following which came the $10 bill today.

LINEMAN ELECTROCUTED.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 19.—(Canadian Press)—Forming a short circuit between himself and a main hydro line here this afternoon, Arthur Ingo, 28, was electrocuted when he received the full force of a 60,000 volt current. He was drilling a hole through a brace on the top of a tower and the shock hurled him 30 feet to the ground.

Rejected Suitor Shot Newlyweds

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Sept. 18.—After shooting a newly wedded couple in a house here soon after eight o'clock to-night, a man, said to be a rejected suitor of the bride, turned the gun on himself, inflicting wounds that killed him. A four year old boy also was hit by a bullet from the man's weapon. The couple are in St. Raphael's Hospital and the woman is not expected to live.

WILL PERSIST IN DEMAND FOR ALBERTA COAL

Montreal Announcement of Reversion to Higher Rates Not Accepted As Final.

ONTARIO WANTS IT.

EDMONTON, Sept. 18. — The Alberta government, Alberta Coal Operators and the Fuel Consumers of Ontario will refuse to accept as final the dictum which came out of Montreal, that the seven dollar experimental rate having expired and the rate having reverted to the original $12.50 figure, this had sounded "the death knell to Alberta's hopes of developing a market for Alberta fuel in competition with Pennsylvania anthracite under normal conditions

"Ontario demands Alberta coal, and Ontario won't quit till she gets it," says R. L. McIntyre, chairman of the Special Fuel Committee of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association of Toronto who happens to be a visitor to the city to-day, on private business and also to do what he can to help assist the Alberta government and Alberta operators in strengthening their hold on the Ontario market.

"It is all bunk about sounding the death knell for Alberta coal in Ontario. My acceptance as a fuel user, as chairman of the special fuel committee of the C.M.A. and among Ontario fuel users in general impels me to say that such a statement is absolute rot."

Quake Shocks Felt in Italy

ROME, Sept. 19.—(Canadian Press). — Earthquake shocks were felt today in southern Italy and Siciliy. Fortunately no material damage was done and there were no casualties.

It is presumed that the local disturbances had their centre in Japan, as simultaneously the seismograph observatories registered a serious earthquake more than 4,000 miles distant.

BRITISH PREMIER ARRIVES IN PARIS

Baldwin Will Discuss Reparations With Poincare.

PARIS, Sept. 18.—Stanley Baldwin the British Prime Minister, accompanied by Lieutenant Colonel Ronald Waterhouse, his private secretary arrived in Paris this evening. At the station Mr. Baldwin was met by Pierre De Fouquieres, introducer of Ambassadors on behalf of Premier Poincare.

Mr. Baldwin and Premier Poincare will have a talk to-morrow on the German reparations situation.

NO EVIDENCE AGAINST RADICAL LABOR LEADER

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Sept. 19.—(Canadian Press) W. Z. Foster, radical labor leader, who was arrested here last night after he had made a speech in which he told of his trial in Michigan on a charge of violating the criminal syndicalism law, was discharged today. He had been charged with disturbing the peace.

Judge M. J. Kilroy said that since none of the audience had complained of any disturbance, he could not convict any of the speakers.

The difference between exercise and work is that exercise costs something.

COMPETENCY OF LEAGUE IS STILL UNDER DEBATE

Salandra Says That Italy Doesn't Wish to Discuss the Question—No Specific Case.

NOT DISPOSED OF.

GENEVA, Sept. 19.—(Canadian Press).—Signor Salandra, head of the Italian delegation, held the centre of the stage today at Geneva, when he began before the Council of the League of Nations a defence of Italy's attitude in the conflict with Greece and announced that Italy was not able to discuss the question of competency.

The Italian delegate justified the occupation of Corfu, even said that other countries, including Great Britain, had taken measures similar on matters less grave than that which caused the occupation of Corfu.

Crowded Chamber

The Council chamber was crowded with delegates and spectators while Signor Salandra was speaking.

Salandra's position was that as the Greco-Italian conflict was settled there was no occasion to discuss the competency of the League to act, because no specific case existed on which to interpret the covenant by authorized persons—presumably alluding to the Permanent Court of International Justice.

Not Settled Yet

The impression tonight among the delegates is that the question of Italy's attitude is far from being disposed of. Hialmar Branting, former Swedish Premier, immediately expressed his discontent with Signor Salandra's exposition, which will be further debated within a few days.

Lord Robert Cecil of Great Britain said the question of League competence was worthy of all consideration.

BOOMING THE TRENT.

The addition of Trenton to the list of municipalities that are members of the Trent Waterway Development Association is welcome inasmuch as it gives the association a complete organization, while Trenton, situated at the mouth of the canal, is in an important position strategically to assist in the efforts of the body which has as its object the booming of the Trent waterway and the district generally.

Splendid work has already been accomplished in bringing the merits of the waterway to the attention of the tourist class in the United States and in Canada.

There has been during the season that is just closing a marked increase in the number of visitors, largely due to the publicity work of the Trent Waterway Association.

With Trenton enrolled with every other municipality along the route even better results should be possible, particularly if the various civic governments will awaken to an appreciation of what has been achieved by the association and to a realization of the fact that municipal grants towards the funds of the organization have scarcely been commensurate with the work carried on.

Increased grants from each municipality next year will enable a much wider advertising campaign to be staged, and the results should amply justify the additional expenditure.

THE ONTARIO TEMPERANCE ACT.

The Attorney-General has done well to spike the rumour that the Ontario Government intended to regard the result of the Provincial election as a mandate authorizing them to do what they liked with the Ontario Temperance Act.

Mr. Nickle points out that the O.T.A. is on the statute books of Ontario, and will remain there until the people themselves ask for a change.

Furthermore, the Attorney-General declares that so long as it remains it will be enforced.

The majority of the people did not need any such assurance in view of the statements made during the campaign, but for the sake of those who are ready to believe anything that they want to believe it was wisdom on the part of Hon. Mr. Nickle to remind them of the real situation.

There can be no important change in the Ontario Temperance Act without the consent of the people.

That fact should be apparent to everybody, unless there are those who believe that Mr. Ferguson and his associates were deliberately lying when they declared before the election that the Act would remain in force until the electors themselves decided that a change was desirable.

There is no reason for such a charge, as the statement of the Attorney-General makes clear.

The Ontario Temperance Act may be altered, or even wiped out, but only with the approval of the majority of the people as expressed by their votes when the question is submitted to them.

A REAL SPORTING TOWN.

Many a centre has claimed for itself, sometimes without much real foundation for the boast, that "it is a good sporting town."

In the Examiner's opinion that description can be used very fittingly in referring to St. Thomas.

On Saturday the St. Thomas ball team was eliminated from the O.B.A.A. series by Galt after a gruelling fourteen innings struggle.

In most places it is to be feared the only sound that would be heard after such a loss would be the clamor of the criticisms of the disappointed fans.

Not so in St. Thomas.

The defeated ball players found a huge crowd awaiting them at the station on their arrival home, they were paraded up town behind a band, banquetted lavishly and cheered as enthusiastically as if they had won a championship.

That is real sporting spirit—more than that, it is a revelation of community interest and citizenship upon the possession of which St. Thomas is to be envied.

Any town is "a good sporting town" when its representatives are victorious.

It is not difficult to arrange a demonstration in honour of a winning aggregation.

But when a community within an hour or two of a heart-breaking defeat can rally thousands to greet a beaten team that is a spirit that commands admiration everywhere.

Incidentally, it is not the first occasion upon which St. Thomas has shown the rest of the Province how to honour a team that has given its best.

HELPING THE NEWCOMER.

Following up several articles on immigration that have appeared in these columns lately, it is of interest to note that the services of the Soldiers' Settlement Board are to be called upon by the Federal Government in assisting new settlers in locating on the land and in getting a fair start.

The Examiner has several times during the last year or two urged that this step should be taken, feeling that the Soldiers' Settlement Board had built up machinery that would be of the greatest assistance in dealing with immigration.

Merely inducing people to come to Canada is not enough.

To be successful our immigration policy should be comprehensive enough to get them here, see them started on the road to success and to keep them in Canada.

The Soldiers' Settlement Board, of all the re-establishment departments organized by Canada since the war, has probably been the most efficient.

Its work has been well done—and it has a record of success to show as the result of its intelligent handling of the important duties entrusted to its care.

There is every reason for confidence in its ability to do much for the new settler who tries his luck in the West, and the Dominion Government in calling upon the board for assistance has taken a progressive step that promises to be followed by splendid results.

THEY WOULDN'T LET HIM WEAR THE FLAG.

Reports of the Dempsey-Firpo fight are unanimous in remarking the attitude of the more than 85,000 spectators at the end of the first round. Every available account of the proceeding cites a sudden, spontaneous clamor from all corners of the field that the South American polish off the champion after a terrific right to the jaw had catapulted Dempsey out of the ring. The great "Boo!" which swept the stands at the finish of that round was directed at the champion.

There was more to this state of mind than the curious human impulse to howl anathema on the god in the process of tumbling from Olympus. It was born of a deeper impulse in which the personality of Dempsey no less than the impersonal status of champion was a major element.

The truth is that, clothed in tht misty aura of champion for four years, the real American has never forgotten the Dempsey behind the cloak of greatness. He has never lost sight of the Dempsey who foreswore the respect of every American by his course in another conflict in which four million men with no fraction of his physical endowment, many of them with wives and children and dependent kin, enlisted willingly and in full consciousness of their sacrifice in a war which cost the lives of more than 50,000 of their number in foreign fields. Superficially the American may be moved by circumstances of the moment; his inner consciousness will never permit him to blind himself to the true character of Dempsey, skulker of the shipyards.

Tex Rickard, business man, promotor and psychologist extraordinary, appraised this instinct truly when he stipulated plainly in his terms that Dempsey should not wear the American colors in the New York ring.

The American will hope today, as he hoped two years ago, that the sponsors of this challenger will understand that the thousands of persons who packed the fight scene Friday were attracted in no instance by any sublime patriotic impulse, and that America retains the championship without pride in the winner.—Detroit News.

THE ADRIATIC WHIRLPOOL.

Mussolini is playing to keep his grip on the imagination of the Italian people by holding before them some ray of promise that he may restore "the ancient glories of Rome."

This is the only thing clear in the exceedingly confused situation which has developed in Southeastern Europe. In most other directions, figures appear through the fog in unexpected places, and combinations seem to be forming which no one would have anticipated. For instance, it has been long understood that French policy leaned very heavily upon a tacit alliance with the Little Entente. Indeed, France, French money and French military encouragement had a lot to do with creating this Entente. Yet today we find France apparently supporting Italy in a policy which brings her into violent conflict with Jugo-Slavia, the key-State of the Little Entente.

In the natural course of events, one would have expected French apprehensions to have been aroused by Italy's bold bid for a larger place in the Mediterranean. We would have expected more to be made of Italy's landfall at Tangier when marines from her cruiser broke into a French jail and released Italian prisoners. But this inflammatory incident has totally disappeared from the news. France apparently does not mind a little violation of her special privileges at Tangier in this brusque fashion. All this implies a determination on the part of France to keep the friendship of Italy at all costs; and now to these costs there seems likely to be added the loss of the support of Jugo-Slavia.

* * * *

If France can attach to herself permanently the support of Italy—the only other first-class Power of the Continent of Europe—she will have made a splendid stroke of strategy. It would be a gain for which she could well afford to pay a heavy price. In the present disorganized state of Jugo-Slavia, there is no question as to the profits of the trade. Greece, too, is prostrate and practically negligible.

But two questions at once occur: (1) Will the Italy of Mussolini play within the limits which France, as a Mediterranean Power, is bound to set; and (2) Will not the break-up of the Little Entente unsettle affairs in Central Europe in a fashion perilous to French leadership on the Continent?

The Fiume affair has, of course, not yet developed. It may conceivably force a change in French policy. But there are no signs of such a change yet. Its arrival on the heels of the occupation of Corfu and the jail delivery at Tangier would seem to indicate that Mussolini is in the saddle, and that Italy proposes a general balancing of the books while she has her blood up and while Europe is so strangely complacent.

A possible explanation is that France has promised Italy to keep her hands off so long as Italy remains within the Adriatic. She had rather surrender to her the Adriatic as "an Italian lake" than try conclusions with her at, say, Tangier or elsewhere in the wide Mediterranean, while her duel with Germany is in its present critical condition. But this will represent a permanent condition of mind on neither side. Italy, strengthened by her control of the Adriatic, is sure to look farther afield; and France will not always be check-mated by Germany.

* * * *

The part that Great Britain seems to have played is that of the honest soul who thinks treaties are not "scraps of paper" and who still believes that the Powers meant it when they ratified the constitution of the league. It has opposed violent action by Italy in both cases, without trying to snatch a political profit out of the situation. It has consistently depreciated the occupation of Corfu to force "reparations" just as it has the occupation of the Ruhr. It is an honest, straightforward policy—an appeal for the support of world opinion on the ground that right, justice and peace should be supported.

It will be interesting to see what the action of world opinion will be.—Montreal Star.

WINNIPEG CATTLE.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 19.—(Dom. Livestock Branch)—Receipts: 695 cattle and calves, and 110 hogs.

The better grades of cattle were in good demand at steady prices this morning but the inquiry for the more common offerings continuer poor and prices were weak.

The hog market held steady, packers bidding $11.00 for thick smooths and $12.10 for select bacons.

A few handyweight sheep held over from yesterday sold at $7.00.

CHICAGO CATTLE.

CHICAGO, September 19 (Canadian Press).—Cattle, receipts 11,000; beef steers and yearlings very uneven; top, $12.35; bulk fed steers and yearlings, $9.75 and $11.75; best yearlings, $12.00; vealers closing 50c higher; packers paying upward to $13.25; outsiders upward to $14.00; other classes fully steady.

Hogs, receipts 27,000; closed 15c to 25c lower; bulk good and choice 160 to 230 pound average, $8.85 to $9.10; top, $9.10; early; most desirable 240 to 340 pound butchers, at $8.25 and $8.80; packing sows, $7.40 to $7.60; desirable strong weight pigs, $7.00 to $7.50; estimated holdover, 18,000.

Sheep, receipts 28,000; fat lambs steady to 25c lower; feeding lambs, cull natives, and sheep steady to weak; top lambs, $14.25; natives, $13.25 to $13.75; culls, $9.50 to $10.50; choice fat light weight ewes, $7.00; heavies, $4.00 to $5.00; better grades feeding lambs, $13.50 to 13.75; choice kind upward to $14.00.

CHICAGO WHEAT.

CHICAGO, September 19 (Canadian Press). — Fresh upturns here in the value of wheat yesterday accompanied reports that to a considerable extent Canadian farmers are holding back their grain in the country elevators, awaiting better prices.

Chicago closing quotations were firm 1-4c to 1-2c net higher, with December $1.02 3-8 to $1.02 1-2; May $1.07 3-4 to $1.07 7-8.

Corn finished 1-8c to 1-2c decline, oats 18c to 1-4c up, and provisions unchanged to 17c gain.

Absence of pressure to sell characterised the wheat market, although at one time weakness in cash prices at Winnipeg had a transient bearish effect here. However, Winnipeg future deliveries turned strong and reinforced bullish sentiment in Chicago. Besides, it was current gossip that in addition to reluctance that Canadian growers were showing to let go of their holding, United States vessel owners on the Great Lakes had reiterated their refusal to help handle the Canadian wheat crop until some change had been made in the recent new Canadian regulations as to handling grain cargoes.

With Canada handicapped with regard to exporting grain to the seaboard, chances of somewhat better demand for domestic wheat appeared to be enlarged, and traders who otherwise were inclined to the bear side of the market took a passive attitude. Estimates that 750,000 bushels had been worked for Europe tended further to strengthen the market at the last.

Corn prices flattened out in the last half of the day, although earlier the upward swing of the corn market had a bullish effect on wheat. Frost damage gave corn shorts a scare, but failed to induce other buying. Oats sympathised with wheat strength.

Eastern buying of lard gave firmness to th provision market.

MONTREAL POTATOES FIRM.

MONTREAL, Sept. 19.—(Canadian Press)—The cash grain market was quiet here to-day. A fair business continues to be done in flour. The market for millfeed was fairly active and for rolled oats was steady. A firm market with no price change marks the egg situation. Prices have advanced for potatoes under a strong feeling. Trade in butter and cheese was rather quiet.

STERLING RATES.

MONTREAL, Sept. 18. — Sterling exchange rates were quoted here today:

Demand 4.6425.

Cables 4.6430.

QUEBEC DAIRY MARKET.

ST. PASCAL, Que., Sept. 18. —At the meeting of the board there were 75 packages creamery butter and 211 boxes cheese offered. The butter sold at 34 5-8 cents per lb. and the cheese at 22 5-8 cents per pound.

THE HUNTING SEASON.

The vast territory known as Northern Ontario reaching from the Eastern boundary of the Province of Manitoba to the Western limits of Quebec, is probably the finest hunting region in America. Almost in every district of this vast area game animals of some kind may be found. From Georgian Bay east to Algonquin Park, and from the Kawartha Lake North is a veritable hunter's paradise for red deer, while farther north including the territory north of Georgian Bay and Lake Superior, up to and along the line of the Canadian National Railways for hundreds of miles, moose are plentiful and red deer are found in some sections. Caribou are found in the Lake Nipigon country and in the more northern districts between the line of the Canadian National and James Bay. Bear are plentiful in all this country.

Write for copy of "Where to Fish, Hunt and Paddle in the New North." Any agent of the Canadian National Railways will obtain full information for interested hunters.

FRYING MEATS.

When frying meats remember that steaks require from 10 to 15 minutes, chops from eight to 10 and cutlets seven. Bacon is usually done in about two.

Bronx Marriage Bureau Official Drafts Rules for Matrimonial Joy.

NEW YORK, Sept. 19.—Thomas J. McCabe, deputy city clerk in charge of the marriage bureau in the Bronx, has prepared a tentative list of "don'ts" for prospective matrimonial adventures. He plans to have them printed on neat little cards with an embossed wreath of orange blossoms or some such design.

Here are the rules that Mr. McCabe has approved:

"Don't let your wife or husband rule the roost. Don't try to do it yourself."

"Don't nag."

"Dont' forget to show affection."

"Don't neglect to trust each other."

"Don't permit relatives to interfere."

"Don't blame the other for all the trouble."

"Don't forget to keep an interest in your family affairs."

"Don't imagine that one person only makes the home attractive."

"Don't forget you're married."

CHAMPION MILK PRODUCER.

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 19.—(United Press).—The champion milk producer, Segis Pietertje Prospect, has just completed another yearly semi-official test period with a record of 35,550.4 pounds milk, containing 1,133.2 pounds butterfat, equivalent to 1,416.5 pounds butter. She now holds the two highest milk records and is the only cow to produce over 35,000 pounds milk and 1,000 pounds butterfat twice. She is a pure-bred Holstein, owned by the Carnation Stock Farms, Seattle, Wash.

SALVATION ARMY LASSIE BOBS HER HAIR; REBUKED

KALAMAZOO, Mich., Sept. 19.—"Bobbed hair may not be indecent or immoral, but it shows a mental characteristic improper in Salvation Army officers, said Captain Reginald G. Hunt, head of the local corps, in commenting on the action of the Army in rebuking Capt. Mildred Olsen for having her yellow tresses cut off.

"Bobbing of the hair," he declared, "is a sign of light-headness. Girls get their hair bobbed for the thrill. After the first nervous emotion passes, however, many of them are not so pleased. They find they do not look so attractive as they expected."

Kellogg's Bran is prepared to do one thing—AND DO IT WELL!

Kellogg's Bran will permanently relieve constipation, mild or chronic. It is scientifically prepared for that purpose. It is ALL BRAN, therefore it has the necessary bulk to assure results. Foods with a small bran content cannot afford permanent relief.

When your physician or friends advise you to eat Kellogg's Bran, you follow-on for the purpose of eliminating a dangerous clogging-up and toxic condition of your system. You can't afford to take half-way measures! Think of the lost time and the dangers of illness you are daily dodging!

What you must have is real bran—KELLOGG'S BRAN, and if you will eat it regularly each day you will become a different person within a week or so. Kellogg's Bran, with its natural bulk, sweeps, cleanses and purifies. It not only gives relief, but it regulates the bowels. Every member of your family should eat it—every day—at least two tablespoonfuls; in chronic cases as much with each meal.

Try Kellogg's Bran mixed with a hot cereal, or cook it with hot cereals, adding two tablespoonfuls of Bran for each person. Other popular ways are to sprinkle Kellogg's Bran on hot or cold cereals or to eat it as a cereal with hot milk. You can make delicious bakery products with Kellogg's Bran. Recipes on every package.

Kellogg's Bran is not only nationally sold in grocery stores, but can be had in individual packages in first-class hotels and clubs. Ask for it at your restaurant. Be certain to eat Kellogg's Bran daily for health's sake!

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Methodist Church Society Had a Motor Trip — Personal.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 18.—The members of the W. M. S. of the Methodist church, 36 in number, enjoyed a motor trip Friday to the summer cottage of Mr. and Mrs. George Hammond, near Hood's station, where a most enjoyable afternoon was spent, the programme including the holding of the regular meeting for September. One of the special features of the session was Mrs. George Oliver's report of the branch meeting in the spring. Several of the addresses given at that convention were read.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Hammond for their hospitality and to those who had so kindly donated the use of their cars for this outing.

A picnic lunch was served on the lawn and much enjoyed in spite of the fact that the weather was rather cold for the season.

Rev. M. L. Hinton, of Hastings, was in town Friday attending the district convention in the Methodist Church.

Mr. Leslie Shillingham went to Peterborough to the fair Friday, also Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Locke and Mr. and Mrs. Stephens, 8th Line.

Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Donald and Mr. and Mrs. Anderson, Seymour East, took in the Peterborough fair on Thursday. As they were crossing the railroad track on the Hastings road, coming home, the occupants of the car were lifted from the seat with the bump over the crossing, resulting in a cut cheek and two blackened eyes for Mrs. Donald.

Mr. Frank Linton, of Peterborough, is visiting his parents.

Miss Jean Rainie, of Burnbrae, paid Campbellford a visit on Saturday.

Mrs. T. L. Diamond gave a trousseau tea to about 75 guests on Saturday afternoon in honor of her daughter, Miss Ruth, who is to be married on Wednesday, September 19.

Mrs. F. Coon, Havelock, is visiting her sister, Mrs. Hurst.

Mr. and Mrs. Carruthers, Kingston, spent the week-end with the latter's brother, Harry G. Free, Maple Road.

The Misses Clemens are visiting their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. Dawson.

Miss Parks, of Warkworth, is at the home of her brother, Mr. S. W. Parks.

Mr. Montgomery, of Peterborough, was the guest of Mr. and Mrs. T. McCook, Sunday.

Mr. Chas. Nadoo has a new car.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Oliver and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Free attended the funeral of Mrs. Oliver's brother-in-law, W. Pickworth, at Colborne, on Sunday. The funeral was under Masonic auspices.

Mrs. Simpson and Mrs. Foster, of Peterborough, were guests of Mrs. T. McCook on Sunday.

W. J. Burke, of Winslow, Ariz., is visiting his mother on Booth street.

A number of Oddfellows attended the decoration services at Hastings, Sunday.

LOAFERS

Europe has two million fewer soldiers in service now than in 1913, but it still has nearly four million under arms, according to estimates by military experts.

If these troops were home working in field and factory, instead of idle and non-productive in uniform, Europe would gain nearly four billion dollars a year by their production. That's figuring their labor at only $3 a day apiece. Four billion dollars a year would pull Europe out of the hole by 1930 or before.

FORM COUNTY PLOWING ASSN.

South Hastings Rises to Occasion and a New Organization Starts Off Under Promising Auspices.

STIRLING, Sept. 18.—If Gray were to write his classic elegy today he might not find the inspiration of the immortal line, "the plowman homeward plods his weary way." The plowman pictured by Gray was evidently something of a country bumpkin, a type now obsolete.

The plowman of to-day is, or should be a skilled workman, an agriculturalist, if you please who, if he be a master of his profession, is trained in a science older than the pyramids, but a science as remote from the agricultural methods of the days of the Pharaohs as the automobile is remote from the chariot of Ben Hur.

Yet plowing, as a phase of agriculture, has been in danger, during the past quarter century, of becoming a "lost art." We hear no more of the man who could "drive the straightest furrow in his community." The advent of the tractor and the use of gang plows on the large farms of today has tended to discount the importance of skill as a plowman. Perhaps the work has not been slighted, but, certainly numerous tricks of the trade of considerable importance have been overlooked.

Revive Interest

For these reasons interest in the "art" of plowing is being revived. At a meeting in the Agricultural Office in Stirling, attended by farmers from all parts of South Hastings, a County Plowman's Association was formed as a branch of the Ontario Plowman's Association.

It was decided at the meeting to hold a Plowing Match open to the County of Hastings on Wednesday, Oct. 24th. From the interest being shown by men in every township in the country, the proposed contest will likely be one of the largest and most successful County Plowing Competitions ever held in the Province.

All forms of plowing rigs and methods are eligible, from the largest tractor down to a walking plow drawn by oxen. Prizes will be awarded to the winners in the various classes and it is expected that the contestants and spectators will profit materially by the demonstrations. A grant has been received by the Provincial organization to be used toward the purchase of prizes.

There will be a meeting of the officers and directors of the new association in Shire Hall here on Saturday afternoon to select a location for the contest, appoint judges and complete other arrangements.

Officers Elected

The officers of the new county association are:

President—C. W. Thompson.
1st Vice- President—Clayton Tucker.
2nd Vice-President—Fred Mallory.
Sec.-Treas.—Ray Atkin.

Directors

Sidney Township—S. M. Nicholson, A. B. Wood.
Thurlow Township—Robt. Bunnett, Clayton Benedict.
Tyendinaga Township—J. D. Campbell, Peter McLaren.
Hungerford Township—Clarence Elliott, John D. Kingston.
Rawdon Township—Wm. Drewry, Hector Wood.
Rawdon Township—Wm. Drewry, Arthur Wilson.
Madoc Township—Jas. A. Caskey.
Elzevir Township—James Moore.
Marmora Township—J. W. Richardson.
Tweed Township—S. D. Rolins.
Stirling Township—C. B. McGuire.
Madoc Township—J. Burns.

FLAGGED TRAIN TO STEAL A RIDE

Nineteen-Year-Old Edward Darby of Tweed Gets 3 Years—Broke Jail.

BELLEVILLE, Sept. 18.—Making a sensational escape from Tweed jail at 3 o'clock Friday morning, Edward Darby, 19, son of a railway engineer at Tweed, had but nine hours freedom before he was recaptured at Sharbot Lake shortly after noon Friday.

On the charge of breaking jail accused was given one year in Portsmouth Penitentiary, Kingston.

Thrilling Escape

Held on a serious charge for more than one week in Tweed jail, Darby had been first lodged in a cell, but was later allowed out in the corridor of the jail. During Thursday night, Darby climbed to the top of one cell and attempted to pick his way out of a blind chimney, clawing out several bricks. The task proved impossible, however, and was given up. In the corridor, a small stove burned freely, giving heat for the room. Loosening a bar from the cell, Darby heated it in the fire and burned the wood about the locks in the huge oak door, and gained his freedom.

Bird Had Flown

His trial was slated for Friday afternoon, and he escaped Friday morning.

He was recaptured just in time to appear for his trial before Police Magistrate Casement of Madoc, and shortly before County Attorney B. C. Donnan and Chief Investigator William Donnelly of the C.P.R., Toronto, arrived at the northern town.

Darby was located at Sharbot Lake, where he was paying a flying visit to his sweetheart.

Unique Charge

Darby, who has been sentenced to Mimico Industrial School, and who broke out of that institution, faces a unique charge.

Wishing to take a railway ride without purchasing a ticket, he mounted a "side-door pullman," but was put off the train by trainmen. He mounted the rear end of the same train, and was again put off by the crew. Determined to ride the C.P.R. trains, he changed the switch lights, which flagged a passenger train, and brought it to a standstill. He boarded the passenger train and stole a ride to his destination.

He is charged with changing switch signals and flagging a passenger train, which is rather a serious charge.

Appeared Here

At police court here Saturday morning Darby appeared for sentence, having been brought to the city last night.

Gets Three Years

On the charge of flagging the train, Darby received a sentence of three years in Portsmouth Penitentiary, the term of one year for breaking jail to run concurrently with the three year term.

SEVEN YEARS OF TORTURE

Headaches and Indigestion Ended By "Fruit-a-tives"

The Marvellous Fruit Medicine

Like thousands and thousands of other sufferers, Mr. Albert Varner of Buckingham, P.Q., tried many remedies and went to doctors and specialists; but nothing did him any good.

Finally a friend advised him to try "Fruit-a-tives"—now he is well. As he says in a letter:

"For seven years, I suffered terribly from Headaches and Indigestion. I had belching gas, bitter stuff would come up in my mouth, often vomiting, and was terribly constipated. I took Fruit-a-tives and this grand fruit medicine made me well".

50c, a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At dealers or sent by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

BE CAUTIOUS OF SUBSTITUTES

There are several medicines on the Canadian market to relieve Kidney and Rheumatic Ailments, but there is one preparation that seldom fails to give quick relief and for that reason Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills are in a class by themselves.

This statement is vouched for by well known residents of this city. For instance Mr. Arthur Pinch, well known in the city, states that he was unable to work and suffered severe pains from backache, but after using three boxes of Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills, he was able to go back to work and is as well as ever.

Mr. Thos. Oldham, another well known Simcoe street resident, has no hesitation in saying that for Kidney and Rheumatic Ailments, there is no equal of Dr. Banta's Pills.

Never neglect Kidney Ailments as they are liable to lead to other complications, but always keep on hand a box of Banta's Pills. If they fail to do what we claim for them, return your box to your dealer and your money will be refunded.

Dr. Banta's Kidney and Rheumatic Pills are sold at Lynch's Drug Store, 168 Hunter street. Mail orders attended to promptly. m.w.-84

Housing Shortage Is Very Acute in Rome.

By CAMILLO CIANFARRA.

ROME, Sept. 19.—(United Press).—The lodging crisis and how to meet the growing requirements of even faster growing population is again at the forefront, and with no sign worth mentioning pointing to a satisfactory solution of the question in the near future.

The building experts of the capital and other large cities of the kingdom all agree that unless the Government does something to spur private initiative into some kind of action, thousands of young couples must delay marrying, God knows for how long, on account of the lack of apartments in which to build their home and grow their children.

As to Rome, the present demand as resulting from applications with building and large real estate companies, points to a need of at least 120,000 rooms, of which only some 55,000 are in course of construction and will be ready by the end of the year.

At about that time the demand will have increased to 150,000 on account of the new marriages, and will keep on increasing year after year at about the same rate.

The same situation prevails in Milan, Turin and Naples, where the so-called premium system, under which a certain sum is paid over the renting price, simply to secure a lease for one or two years, has become the terror of the home-seekers.

Up to date the Government has given to co-operative building associations over two billions towards the building of new homes, repayable in twenty-five or fifty years, but the huge sum has been merely the proverbial drop in the bucket when the fact is taken into consideration that the population of Italy is increasing at the rate of 400,000 a year.

Much is hoped from the abolition of all measures restricting the increase of rents, but so far capital has not been very anxious to enter the building field, chiefly on account of the high price of building material and the even higher salaries demanded by the building trades.

CHURCH UNION IN SOCIAL EVENING

Campbellford Methodists the Guests of Burnbrae Presbyterians.

BURNBRAE, Sept. 19.—The Epworth League of the Methodist church, Campbellford, motored on Monday evening to St. Andrews' church, Burnbrae, where they were the guests of the Presbyterian Y.P.'s guild to a social evening.

The president of the Y.P. guild, Mr. Lindsay Anderson, opened the proceedings with an apt story and a brief address of welcome to the visiting friends and then called upon their president, Mr. Harold Wilson to take charge of the program of the evening.

The program consisted of the following items that were greatly enjoyed by all present: An opening chorus by the Methodist Young People's choir; a solo, "My Little Grey Home in the West", by little Master Collison, accompanied by his elder brother; musical selections by the Epworth League Orchestra; piano solo by Mr. Collison, Jr.; recitation by Miss Lyle, (Courting); a solo by Mr. Bates; address by the Rev. J. C. Elliott, who has recently come to Campbellford as pastor of the Methodist church. He spoke appreciatingly of the good spirit that exists among the denominations in this district. A solo by Mr. Turner; a song by Mr. Collison, Sr.; address by Rev. J. J. Black.

A splendid lunch was then served by the Burnbrae Young People, thus bringing a very happy and enjoyable evening to a close.

Mr. Riendeau moved a very hearty vote of thanks to the young people of Burnbrae church for their kind invitation and hope to return the compliment later on.

One very unique feature of the evening was a pantomonic representation of the trip to Burnbrae in autos and their reception on arrival, and the proceedings and programme of the evening, which called forth loud and prolonged laughter.

Anniversary Services

The Methodist church at Wellman's Corners, Rawden township, of which the Rev. F. G. Joblin is pastor held anniversary services on Sunday.

The church was taxed to its utmost capacity in the morning and in the evening the building was altogether inadequate to accomodate the crowds ahat come to hear the gospel message. Many were perched on the windows outside the building.

The Rev. J. J. Black, B.D., Presbyterian minister at Burnbrae was the preacher. Mr. Black preached two very challenging sermons. He spoke on "The place and function of a prophet," in the morning and in the ening, "The task before the Church."

Mr. Joblin, pastor of ahe church was present and took part in the evening service, and thanked Mr. Black on behalf of the board of Wellman's church for his stirring and timely message.

The board was greatly encouraged by the fine response of the congregation to their financial appeal, when ahey found that the amount ask for was over subscribed. Great credit is due to the choir for the splendid music furnished by them at both services. The duet in the evening by Mrs. (Rev.) Joblin and Mrs. Stephens of Stirling was highly appreciated.

Burnbrae Personals.

Mrs. White and Mrs. Bugler of Calgary, Alta. and Mrs. J. Hall of Campbellford, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Craghead, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Moir of Trent Bridge spent Sunday with A. T. and Mrs. Donald, Seymour East.

Miss Thompson of Warkworth is visiting at John Thompsons, Menie.

Mrs. Thomas Oddie, Mrs. Thomuson and Irene Tompson of Menie spent Sunday in Peterboro hearing Dr. Campbell Morgan.

Rev. J. J. Black, A. T. Donald and Mr. John Coutts of Toronto motored to Peterboro to hear Dr. Morgan.

Mr and Mrs. Twigg and son of Toronto spent Sunday at Mr. Norman Masson.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Wetherell motored to Belleville, Saturday.

Mr. Hume, Jr. and Mr. John Rannie of Menie go to Picton Fair, Prince Edward country, with their pure bred Aryshires this week.

Rev. F. G. Joblin of Rawdon Methodist circuit occupied the pulpit of St. Andrews Presbyterian church, Bunrbrae on Sunday and preached a very interesting and helpful sermon on the good cheer of the Gospel.

A combined meeting of the Burnbrae and Rylestone W.M.S. will be held in St. Andrew's church, Burnbrae on Thusrday evening. Miss Alice Hume of Stirling, vice-president of the Kingston Presbyterial will address the meeting and repora on the W.M.S. provincial convention held recently at Windsor, Ontario.

ORGANIZE YOUNG PEOPLE'S LEAGUE

A. B. Burrows President of Lakefield Methodist Society.

LAKEFIELD, Sept. 19.—A meeting was held on Monday evening in the basement of the Methodist church to re-organize the Young People's League which had not met for several months. The attendance was gratifying and genuine interest in the movement was shown by everyone present. After the opening exercises which were conducted by Mr. A. E. Higgins, the president of the league, Rev. C. S. Roddick took the chair and in a short address outlined the plans for the re-organization which should bring the young people closer together and in touch with active church work. The attendance was encouraging and the spirit of enthusiasm very gratifying, making it evident that it was a popular movement.

These officers were elected:

Hon. President—Rev. C. S. Reddick.

Past President—Mrs. A. E. Higgins.

President—A. B. Burrows.

1st vice-president—Miss Bessie Madill, convenor of Christian Fellowship committee.

2nd vice president—Miss Mabel Lemay, convenor of Missionary committee.

3rd vice president—Hilliard Payne, convenor of Citizenship committee.

4th vice president—G. Warren Payne, convenor of literary and recreation committee.

Secretary—Sam Sherin.

Treasurer—A. E. Higgins.

Pianist—Miss Lolva Waldon.

Assistant pianist—Miss Myrtle Harrison.

These officers will form the Council of Executive of the Society, the superintendent of the Sunday School, K. S. Madill is also a member of the Council.

The annual Rally will be held on Monday evening, October 1st when the newly elected officers will be installed and a good programme arearanged by the Council. It was decided to ask Rev. T. L. White, Rev. P. L. Jull and Rev. C. Grant King to give addresses on these subjects: The Place of a National Young People's Movement (1) in the local church, (2) in missionary activity, (3) in the national life.

It was decided to ask the young people of the Anglican, Baptist and Presbyterian churches to attend the Rally.

The following committee was appointed to arrange for refreshments: G. Warren Payne, convenor; Mrs. A. E. Higgins, Miss Webster, Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Northey, Mrs. A. B. Burrows and John Sherin.

The benediction closed the meeting.

FEELING OF UNREST

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich., Sept. 18.—"It is only too evident that the time-honored profession of medical practice is losing its standing with the community. There is a pronounced feeling of unrest, the profession is at cross purposes and the public suspicious."

Such was the solemn warning delivered by Dr. John L. Chester, of Detroit, at the closing session of the Michigan State Medical Society Friday.

"The physician is forgetting that his first duty to the community is service, and neither hope of professional advantage or desire for personal aggrandizement should make him deviate one hair's breadth from this obligation.

"In recent years the dental profession has been pioneering along the avenues of health examination and conversation, and through the medium of a national campaign with terse slogans and unquestioned reasoning, the idea of having the teeth examined periodically has become a habit on the part of the public.

Urges Health Tests

"Health examinations should be made out of regular office hours and on an appointment basis, in order to give the examining physician ample time for a complete examination and not to infringe on his daily office routine.

"Even in the case of an apparently healthy person periodical examination is advisable. Early evidences of disorder would be detected before becoming a discomfiture or an inconvenience and the span of life enlarged. Think what this would mean to nationally valuable lives."

Dr. Frank J. Sladen, of Henry Ford Hospital, in a discussion of high blood pressure, met with general approval because of the lucidity of his treatment and the scope of his inquiry.

"The widespread incidence of high blood pressure has not yet resulted in a clear understanding of its causes or its mechanism or its treatment," said Dr. Sladen, "although the present method of measuring blood pressure was devised about 80 years ago and has been particularly easy to apply for the last 20 years.

Two Errors Common

"As a leader of the forces of death, organic diseases of the heart have replaced penumonia, and hypertension is the most constant and most important factor in causing chronic disease of the heart muscle. High blood pressure has been estimated to have caused 50,000 deaths last year in the United States.

"In the face of this great incidence of the trouble, there is a surprising amount of fundamental error in attitude toward it. Two errors are particularly troublesome; namely, insufficient observation and lack of understanding on the part of the patient."

Mt. Clemens was chosen as the scene of the next annual meeting. There was no opposition.

Dr. Guy L. Connor, neurologist of the Detroit public schools and specialist in nervous diseases, was the only nominee for president and received an unanimous vote.

Red Cross Conference Buenos Aires Soon.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19. — (United Press).—With a view to promoting amity between the nations of North and South America and of raising the health standard of the western hemisphere, the first Pan-American Red Cross conference will be held in Buenos Aires, Nov. 25 to Dec. 6, 1923.

The American Red Cross expects to play an important part at the conference. Col. Ernest P. Bicknell, vice-chairman in charge of foreign operations, will represent the American Red Cross. There is also a possibility that Judge John Barton Payne, chairman of the American Red Cross and chairman of the Board of Governors of the League of Red Cross Societies, will also attend the Buenos Aires sessions.

The rapidly developing Red Cross movement throughout Latin-America has been fostered and encouraged by the American Red Cross, which has several times co-operated with its sister organizations in the southern continent in giving material assistance in times of disaster, such as the earthquake in Chile. It is to further this concord of purpose and action and to build up a great cohesive Pan-American Red Cross organization that it will send representatives to the Buenos Aires conference.

These representatives will outline in detail the work of the American Red Cross throughout the United States, including the establishment of more than 1,000 public health nurses; service to the disabled veterans and in the army and navy hospitals; home hygiene and care of the sick; first aid and life-saving and the spread of the Junior Red Cross, which now has more than 5,000,000 members.

American Red Cross Chapters are already established in some parts of South America and in the American island possessions of the West Indies, where their steady growth has come from the support of the people.

CALIFORNIA WINERIES HOLD 36,000,000 GALLONS

LOS ANGELES, Sept. 19.—There is enough wine in California literally to float a battleship, according to a recent report of Rex B. Goodcell, collector of internal revenue for the southern California district, who says that on July 1, last approximately 36,000,000 gallons were held in wineries throughout the state.

The Million Dollar Doll

By C. N. and A. M. Williamson

Authors of "The Lightning Conductor"

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY

Teresa Desmond (Terry), lovely and unbelievably innocent is impersonating her beautiful half-sister.

Juliet Divine, known as the Million Dollar Doll—whose sketchy career is unknown to Terry.

Miles Sheridan, Terry's Dream Prince, furnished the money for her convent education when she was a child. His wife's infidelity is making him wretched and in order to facilitate her obtaining a divorce, Miles offers the Million Dollar Doll $20,000 to take a yacht trip with him. Juliet is unable to take the trip herself, but working on her little sister's gratitude to Miles, she persuades Terry, who is an exquisite counterpart of herself, to take her place. Miles does not recognize the little girl he befriended so long ago.

Betty Sheridan, Miles' wife, is in love with

Paul di Salvano, a handsome Italian.

Eustace Nazlo, a wealthy Greek who does not know of Terry's relationship to Juliet, is in love with the younger girl.

Mrs. Harkness, Miles' old servant, is Terry's maid on board the yacht. Her early disapproval of "The Million Dollar Doll" is swiftly disappearing under the influence of Terry's child-like charm. Miles has stipulated that he will have nothing to do with the girl, on the voyage, but under the impression that Terry is flirting with him, he breaks his bargain and kisses her.

CHAPTER XLIV.

"A School Feast"

"I suppose after this act you'll prefer that I make my exit, so you can ring the curtain down and rest in your dressing-room," he hinted. "That is, I presume our tete-a-tete dinner is 'off'?"

Terry looked up at him shyly. "I don't know," she answered. "It depends on you. Do you want me to dine with you, or would you rather I didn't?"

He felt conscious of wanting her—to his own surprise. It seemed to him that it would be a singularly dull anti-climax to eat alone this night.

"My steward will think it queer if my dinner guest doesn't turn up, after all the special preparations," he fenced with the girl's blunt question.

"Not that it matters a da— matters a rap what he thinks But I shall be pleased, of course, if you care—to—overlook—"

"Oh, I do care," Terry cut him short, in her anxiety to "make up." "I'll come, please. Because I know that you won't—won't——"

"I won't You can bank on that," he assured her. "Shall we go, then?"

He picked up the ermine stole which he had flung on the floor, as she had flung his ten thousand dollars; and with an almost ostentatious show of courtesy, laid the fur round her shoulders.

It was true: Sheridan's steward, Evans, had made special preparations for the dinner guest, and was inwardly excited by the prospect of her presence. In fact, everyone on board was more or less excited over Miss Divine, the "Million Dollar Doll," and there were stealthy bets as to how long the frigid relations between her and "the Boss" would endure.

Evans' hopes of a change, which had risen high on being bidden to prepare dinner for two, fell to zero during the course of the meal. He wasn't even told that he might go when coffee was served On the contrary, the Boss seemed anxious that he should remain.

"Might a' been a school feast," he grumbled to his pal, Roberts. "The Boss reminded me of a kind uncle treatin' his little niece on a Saturday out of school, and catechizin' her about what she'd learned last week.

"They talked history and geography—honest Injun they did—and nothin' else worth writin' home about. Gee If I'd been in the Boss's place there'd a' been some circus "

They had talked of books.

In sheer curiosity as to her true inwardness, a curiosity which he couldn't suppress, Sheridan "pumped" the girl about what she had read.

He told himself that it was asinine to suppose she'd ever read anything; yet she seemed to remember the literature of her school-days as if she were seventeen instead of seven and twenty. She had loved history, she said, and longed to travel in Europe.

"But you've been more than once, haven't you?" ventured Sheridan.

At that she shut up suddenly, in that odd, secretive way which perhaps she affected (he thought) in order to make him wonder about her, or hide ignorance.

In any case, she had the decency to appear interested in such short anecdotes of his own travels as he "trotted out" to keep up the conversation.

True to her alleged "pose" she drank no wine, even refusing cigarettes, though Sheridan imagined she must be wild for a smoke.

And when she had gone, he found it impossible to banish her face from his mind.

He lived again through the scene which he (or was it she?) had made in her stateroom. He saw her eyes, bright with fear, then with tears: he heard her insisting, "You are good, of course "

"Good " He was not good. He wasn't all bad, either, he thought.

And he asked himself in words for the first time in years, what manner of man he really was.

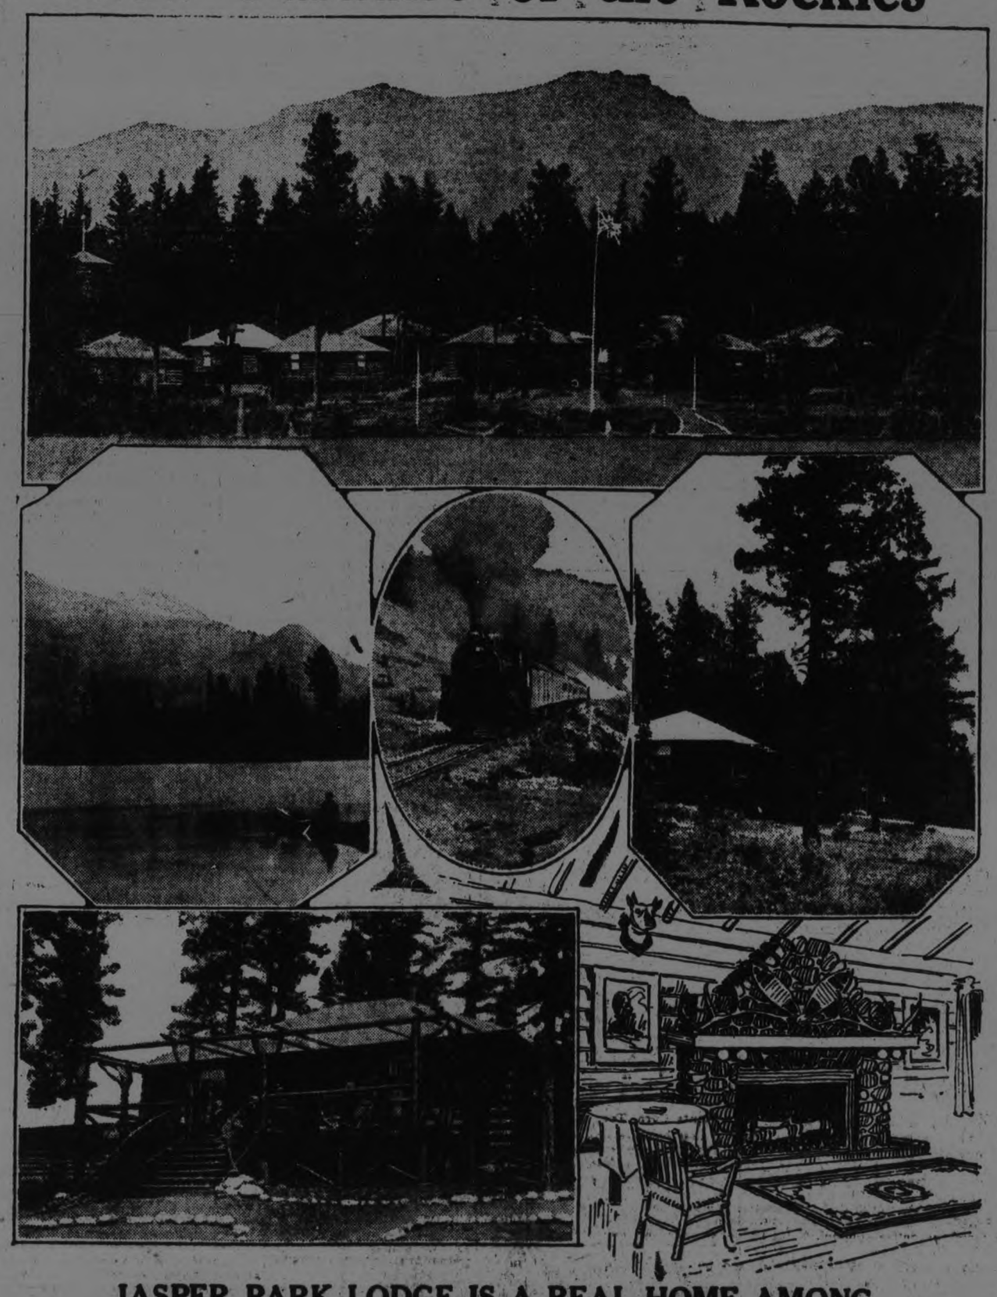
What was he, then?

Long after he had been left alone, Sheridan sat and smoked, reviewing his own character in relation to his own life.

No, he'd never been a thorough "rotter," taking things all round. But as he looked back he couldn't see that he'd ever done much worth doing.

To be continued.)

New Paradise of the Rockies



JASPER PARK LODGE IS A REAL HOME AMONG THE MOUNTAINS

Jasper Park, embracing 4,400 square miles of the most magnificent virgin mountain scenery in the world, has long been known to the sportsman, alpinist and tourist, but this summer it calls to holiday seekers with a new voice. It now offers ideal accommodation in Jasper Lodge, the first of a series of Alpine chalets to be built in the Jasper and Mount Robson districts, and was formally opened to the public on June 15th.

The lodge is beautifully situated among the singing pines and cedars on the shore of Lac Beauvert, while towering in solemn grandeur on all sides rise the rugged snowy domes, sometimes gleaming like opals in the shimmering sunlight and sometimes lost amid the low-hanging clouds. It consists of a group of log rustic buildings blending with the rugged surroundings. A spacious lounge building with an ample stone fireplace, an airy dining-room, a dance pavilion and a number of separate sleeping cabins, each containing four bedrooms and a sitting-room, are electric-lighted and fittingly furnished throughout.

Here in the Northern Canadian Rockies the tourist will find all that makes a worth-while holiday. The joy of adventure in exploring and mountain-climbing, boating on Lac Beauvert, fishing in the wild mountain torrents, riding through the valleys with the fresh mountain breezes in your face, dancing with the guardian purple mountains keeping watch—all offer a most interesting variety of recreation. The best of accommodation has associated with it congenial companionship and scenery rivalling even that of the Swiss Alps.

These lodges not only tend to make Jasper Park one of the great travel centres of the Dominion thereby increasing the revenues of our Canadian National Railways, but also add their share toward ultimately placing Canada on the map as one of the outstanding meccas of the world traveller.

MOUNT OLIVET CHURCH TO HOLD ANNIVERSARY

History of Church Interwoven with Two Prominent Families of the District.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 18.—The fiftieth anniversary of Mount Olivet Methodist church, near Codrington and a short distance off the road to Brighton, will be celebrated next Sunday by special services afternoon and evening. On Monday evening there will be a social gathering at which a fowl supper will be served.

The history of Mount Olivet church is closely interwoven with that of the two oldest and most prominent families in the district and who are related by marriage—the Orsers and the Belfords. The first born gives to the community a musical prodigy and the latter a bright son who first became an Anglican clergyman, rose to the rank of major in the Great War in which he lost one of his three boys, all of whom enlisted, and was at the last general election chosen by a majority of over 300 to represent East Northumberland in the Legislature.

"Origin of Sing Sing"

David Hulbert Orser is the eldest survivor of the family. His grandfather was a prosperous farmer in New York state when the American revolution broke out and rather than surrender his allegiance to the British Crown, he abandoned his property and took up pioneer life with his family in Canada, settling at Beach Creek, near Kingston. The land which he owned in New York, or at least part of it now forms the site of Sing Sing, the famous penitentiary in that state. To make the transfer of the title legal another member of the Orser family who had elected to remain an American, came to Canada after the Revolution and induced his relative to sign away his title to the property. Orsers of those days were so noted for their musical talents that they were known far and wide in New York State as the "sing sing" family as it is of record that this was the reason why that term was used as a designation for the prison built on the site of their former home.

Those were trying days for the family of Loyalists in their home in the Canadian forest. They left all their valuable possessions behind them, forsook their comfortable residence, all for principle, and took up the strenuous life of the pioneer, their only capital being willing hands and indomitable courage. For a time all the bedding which they had was dried leaves gathered in the forest.

Settled Near Codrington

David Orser, son of the Loyalist, when he reached early manhood, moved to Prince Edward County, where his son David Hulbert was born and where the father obtained the Crown deed to 400 acres of bush land, now among the most productive and highly improved in Brighton township. David, the father, was a devoted Methodist, and used to ride on horseback over the forest trail to attend service at Brighton, 16 miles away.

Growth of Community

Over 100 years ago the primeval log cabin was replaced by the commodious brick house in which the Orser family still reside, a comfortable home fitted up with an old fashioned fire place and andirons. It was the second house of that material built in Brighton township and the brick used in its construction was made on the spot from the clay excavated from the cellar. The father died at the age of 94 leaving behind him a record of good deeds and achievements.

The First Church

On one corner of the Orser farm there was a modest log building which for years served as a place of worship for the Methodist episcopals of the district. A short disance west on the same road the Wesleyans had a place of meeting and the two branches held on their several ways until the union of the Methodist bodies was consumated.

In those days the salary of the preacher was five or six hundred dollars a year but the devout worshippers always managed to meet their financial obligations in church as in all other affairs.

A Musical Prodigy

David Hulburt Orser the present head of the family inherited the musical talents of his forbears. It is told of him that he could play the melodion fairly well by ear when he was so small that he had to be lifted by his elders upon the stool. Later in life he made a thorough study of music and was an expert performer on organ and piano up to a few years ago when his hands became partially crippled by rheumatism.

Officiated in Both Churches

Mr. Orser was married early in life to Miss Anneta Newcombe whose father owned the mill of that name at Orland. He played and his wife sang every Sunday for over 30 years in both churches, in the morning in one and in the evening in the other, and remained in that capacity for years after the two congregations were united. The brick church which is standing today was put up after the union.

The Belford Family

The Belfords, whose home is on the opposite side of the road from Mount Olivet church, were originally Wesleyans. Henry Belford, the father of the present representative, Major J. F. B. Belford, was one of the pillars of that congregation and was the financial manager after the union. Often when the funds were low and obligations were pressing the late Mr. Belford made up the deficit out of his own pocket. His two sisters, one of whom, Miss Sarah, is still living on the homestead, at the age of 94, were his faithful helpers. For years they took care of the church and in the cold weather lighted the fires for every service.

The Coming Celebration

A unique celebration of the fiftieth anniversary of the laying of the corner stone is planned. The first minister was Rev. Mr. Rupert who died some years ago; but many other former pastors are living and wherever the addresses of these is known invitations have been sent. Among the former pastors is Rev. T. Cruickshanks, superannuated minister of Peterborough, who served two terms on the Mount Olivet circuit, the other charges at present affiliated with it being Meyersburg and Notham.

Special Musical Programme

Besides Mr. and Mrs. Orser there are a number of the original choir still living and every effort has been made to locate them with a view to having them attend the anniversary. Among these are Mrs. George Benzley of Trenton (formerly Miss Maybee) and Peter Ewing of Warkworth, who sang tenor. An effort will be made to organize a choir of the survivors who can attend and with Mr. Orser at the organ, have them sing some of the hymns that were favorites in the days of long ago. The late Dr. Mallory of Warkworth was at one time a member of the choir.

Rev. W. F. Cafley of Norham is the pastor on this circuit at present.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

BUNCH BEAR'S ACCIDENT

Bunch Bear loved grasshoppers so well he followed the creek down and down from the mountain until he came to a great flat place where there were "fields and grass and lots of land and plenty of deep blue sky."

And wasn't he glad that he came, though, for the grasshoppers were so thick they hopped around him and under him and over him and even sat on his nose!

Suddenly he heard a noise. "Chk! Chk! Chk!" it went right beside him. And looking down, Bunch beheld Penny Prairie Dog jerking his little square tail and barking as though someone were working him with a string.

"Well, of all things!" declared Bunch. "What's this sassy thing? It might make a better lunch than grasshoppers. And he made a grab with one of his paws so quickly that if Penny Prairie Dog hadn't lost his balance at that very second and fallen into his own front door, he would have been like Jack A' Nory and this story would have been done.

But he did lose his balance, and he did fall, so this story isn't finished yet.

Bunch was cross. "I'll get you yet," he howled. "You just wait. I'll—"

Suddenly he stopped and blinked his eyes. There was Penny Prairie Dog again a few yards away, beside another hole! It wasn't Penny really, but his cousin Pete, but Bunch didn't know that, as they looked exactly alike.

He made another rush, but Mister Petey ducked just as Penny had done, and Bunch missed him. By that time every prairie dog in Prairie Dog Town heard the racket and stuck up his head to see.

Bunch got so excited at that that he rushed around from one hole to another like a crazy person, reaching down into each one with his great paw as far as he could reach, but getting nothing.

Pretty soon he came to a hole close to the root of a cottonwood tree.

"Grrrr!" he growled. "I'll get this fellow, see if I don't!" And he reached in.

But all at once he let out a yell you could have heard in Europe. At least the Twins heard him in the mountains and came hurrying as fast as they could.

"Oh, help!" he shrieked, and he pulled out his paw so full of stickers that it looked like a pin cushion.

Bunch Bear had made a mistake and touched Prickles Porcupine.

It took Nancy and Nick two hours to get out the stickers and tie up Bunch's poor paw.

"I think I'll stay in the mountains after this," sighed the foolish little bear as he shuffled away.

MEAT LOAVES

Meat loaves fill an important place in the summer diet. They are perfect for an impromptu picnic if sliced cold and are quite as satisfactory for the home luncheon.

While pork is taboo in hot weather this pork loaf is delicious and offers a welcome change from beef and mutton.

Ham Loaf.

One and one-half pounds fresh ham, 1½ pounds cured ham, 2 eggs, 1 cup fine cracker crumbs, water to moisten.

Have meat ground very fine by the butcher and mix well. The salt in the cured ham makes further seasoning unnecessary. Add crumbs and mix well. Add eggs well beaten and mix. Add water to make moist enough to shape in a loaf. Bake in a roaster in a moderate oven for two hours. If a roaster is not at hand bake in a deep long pan, covered with buttered paper.

Veal loaf is not as rich and moist as the ham loaf, but is perhaps a little more delicate and better suited for very hot weather.

Veal Loaf.

Two pounds lean veal, ¼ pound lean pork, 2 eggs, 4 large soda crackers, ½ cup cream, 1 dessertspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, 4 thin slices bacon.

Have meat ground very fine. Mix well. Beat eggs and add to meat. Add remaining ingredients, alternating the crackers with the milk or cream. Shape in a loaf and put in a deep pan. Cover with bacon and bake an hour in a moderate oven. Roll the crackers on a molding board.

This loaf can be served hot or cold. If served hot accompany by a tomato sauce.

Meat Loaf.

Three-fourths pound lean pork, 1 pound lean veal, 1½ pounds lean beef, 1 cup dried bread crumbs, 1 cup milk, 1 dessertspoon salt, ½ teaspoon pepper, 2 eggs, 3 slices fat salt pork.

Have meat ground very fine by the butcher. Season with salt and pepper and mix well. Add bread crumbs, milk and eggs slightly beaten. Mix well and shape in a loaf. Put in a long pan and cover with slices of salt pork. Pour three-fourths cup boiling water in pan and bake in a hot oven 20 minutes. Reduce heat and cover with buttered paper. Bake an hour and a quarter longer. Serve hot with tomato sauce or let cool and serve cold.

Meat loaves can be made with vegetable combinations and are delicious. Onions and peppers always add much to a meat dish.

Meat Loaf—II.

Two pounds lean beef, 1 pound lean pork, 3 peppers, 1 onion, 1 egg, 3 large crackers, 1½ cups stewed tomatoes, 2 teaspoons salt, ½ teaspoon pepper.

Have meat ground very fine. Put onion and eppers through food chopper. Mix well and add egg, salt and pepper and tomatoes. Roll crackers. Shape meat mixture in a loaf, roll in cracker crumbs and put in a well buttered pan. Bake one hour in a hot oven.

These rules make good sized loaves, large enough to serve eight persons. Any one of them can be made smaller by decreasing the proportions. In this case less time will be needed for baking.

This rule makes a small loaf that will be found very good.

Small Veal Loaf.

One pound lean veal, ½ pound lean pork, 1 egg, ½ cup bread crumbs, ½ cup water, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper.

Have meat ground fine. Mix ingredients as in preceding recipes. Shape in a loaf and bake 45 minutes in a moderate oven.

FALL FAIR AT STIRLING FEATURED BY PROGRESS

Exhibits Were Worth While, Especially Those of Horses and Cattle—Some Prize-Winners.

STIRLING, September 19. — A visit to the Fair Grounds at Stirling is worth while, even if there is no show or other entertainment in progress, as the place is highly picturesque ,an ideal spot for a picnic, or a quiet stroll. In one corner is a beautiful grove, which is in itself an attraction to those who are seeking a resting-place, and the view that can be had of the surrounding country ,every acre of which is productive and every farm set off with comfortable homes and modern outbuildings, is excellent.

Stirling Agricultural Society is fortunate in having an enterprising staff of officers and a live board of directors, and as a result the annual Fair is always looked forward to as one of the best in the district.

That which was held yesterday was no disappointment. The attendance was up to the mark, and competition was keen in every department. The village is the centre of a flourishing dairy industry, and no fewer than 78 cattle were exhibited yesterday, not a beef animal among them, but all of the milking type.

Those who exhibited herds yesterday, carrying off the bulk of the prize money in each of the classes, were as follow:

Charles Fox, Sydney, Philip Carr, Rawdon, and Michael Shea, Sydney, Holsteins; Fred Howes, Rawdon, and G. G. Kerr, Campbellford, Ayrshires; Mrs. Cora Falconer Rawdon, and Henry Leonard, Stirling, Jerseys.

Good Show of Horses.

L. L. Cooke, of Ottawa, Departmental judge of light horses, who awarded the prizes here yesterday in that class, said that the animals shown were fully as good, action and conformation considered, as any he has seen this year, and he has been on the circuit ever since the opening of the fair season. Mr. Cooke submits every driver or handler of an exhibit to a severe test, and his awards, made after the closest study of the various points, are rarely questioned, as he has been before the public for years, and his judgment is regarded as excellent.

In judging the lady drivers, Mr. Cooke did what few acting in his capacity at country fairs do, when he had each of the drivers change rigs, and also to give a demonstration of the manner in which she gets in and out of a rig. According to his ruling, the lady should hold the reins in her left hand and get out backwards, using the steps on the side of the carriage. To drop the lines and to jump out with a swish of skirts has a tendency to startle even the best-poised horse and to occasion a runaway.

The lady driver who understands her business, according to Mr. Cooke, will not attempt to climb into her carriage until she has first secured the reins in her right hand. Paying attention to this point will prevent many an accident.

An Automobile Race.

When the three autos that entered for this race lined up before the judges for the word "go," any person not understanding the rules of the event, who expected to see records smashed or the speed attained earlier in the afternoon by the pacers and trotters surpassed, were sadly disappointed. The cars on the word "go" proceeded around the track as though they had been following the remains of a friend to the cemetery.

The object of this race was to find out how nearly the drivers could go once around the half-mile track at the rate of 20 miles an hour, the highest speed at which any autoist is supposed to travel on the country roads. No timepiece or speedometer was allowed.

The winner of this price was Mrs. Charles Vahce, of Rawdon, the only lady to compete, who made the circuit in 1.47½, which figures out at about 24 miles an hour. To any one who has ever seen a car travelling on an improved highway these days, this pace looked mild.

An Incipient Downybrok.

For a time it looked as if the peaceful gathering would develop into something like a riot. After the last heat in the free-for-all, C. I. Turley, of Frankford, owner and driver of South Dakotah Maid, and Dr. Johnston, of Port Hope, owner of Harry G, got into a wordy dispute in front of the judges' stand, each claiming that his horse had been fouled in the heat. The crowd gathered around from all directions to hear the argument, and Police Chief James Montgomery, who rather gracefully bestrode a black charger, attempted to clear the track. When the crowd refused to be moved by moral suasion, Officer Montgomery backed his horse far enough to secure a running start and charged full tilt at the spectators, who scattered in every direction. One quiet and innocent looking visitor from the country, however, was pinned against the side of the grand stand, and, instinctively, laid his hand on the bridle rein of the Chief's horse to save himself from injury. The officer resented this liberty by cutting the other over the head with his riding whip, putting, apparently, all the strength of his arm into the blow.

If the Chief was looking for a lion he certainly got it. The quiet individual was at once transported into a pugulistic fury and in his then state of mind probably would not have hesitated to face Jack Dempsey himself. Getting out of his sack coat like a flash he cast that garment into the dust with a reckless disregard of the damage it was sure to sustain. Some things he said are best omitted from the record but the general tenor of his remarks was a hearty invitation to the Chief to dismount and fight it out like a man. When this invitaion was not accepted it required a large force of spectators to restrain the visitor from tearing the Chief from the saddle and to restore something like order.

The cause of all the trouble was a decision given by the judges. Cy. Mack, owned by C. Garrison of Frankford had taken the first two heats, with South Dakotah Maid, owned by C. I. Turley of the same place, second. In the third heat Dakotah Maid finished with two full lengths to spare but the Judges allowed a foul and gave the heat and race to Cy Mack. Dr. Johnston also claimed that Turley had fouled his horse, Harry H., and was the first to get the ear of the Judges. Turley, too, climbed down from his bike to protest that he had been cut off at the first turn but the Judges told him that the race was ended. Turley took the names of all the officials from starter to timekeeper and if he does to them half what he promised the outlook for them is certainly dark.

Turley's mare was given second money in this race and Harry H., third.

J. Vasseau from Trenton, had the aged campaigner; Swift Lane, in this race but the best he could do was to finish outside the money.

The best time in this race was 2.34.

The Other Races.

Mac R. Armstrong and McQuigge Hivelock won the 2.30 race; Starlight Dan, W. Smith, Belleville, second; City Patch, Bert Collins, Plainfield, third. Best time 2:39¼.

In the green race Dolly K., W. Sherman, Plainfield, was first; Willo Mac, A. McLaughlin Havelock, second; Barney Kelly C. Garrison, Frankford, third. Best time 2.49¼.

Clayton Tucker, President of the Society, was starter, H. R. Seymour, Bobcaygeon and W. E. Mills of Frankford judges; J. McNaught of Tweed, timekeeper, and W. T. Sine, clerk.

Stirling wins Game.

Ther was a baseball game between the Stirling team and a team from the English line won by the former, the score being 12 to 6.

It is expected that the receipts will be equal to those of any former year.

STRIKE ORDER IS SPREADING

Employers Taken as Hostages by Communists in Germany.

(By Carl D. Groat, United Press Staff Correspondent.

BERLIN, Sept. 19.—Martial law was extended to additional towns in Baden to-day, as a general strike order by the Communist party went into effect. Rigorous military discipline was enforced by the authorities in all Communist strongholds. Public meetings were prohibited.

Meantime early reports indicate that the general strike was only partly effective. The Communists demanded the withdrawal of the police and the restoration of pre-war wages.

More employers were taken as hostages by the Communists, who also demanded the release of all their imprisoned comrades. Severe rioting was reported from Lorebach, where a mob attacked the police with hand grenades.

The police retaliated with their rifles. One man was killed and two wounded. An orderly demonstration was staged by the Radicals in Mannheim.

THE NEW DAIL MET FIRST TIME TODAY

What is Expected to Be Long Session Has Been Opened.

DUBLIN, Sept. 19. — (Canadian Press).—The new Dail met for the first time to-day, and initiated what is generally expected to be a prolonged session.

The swearing in of the recently elected representatives has been in progress during the last two days. The oath was taken in private before the clerk of the House in accordance with an arrangement made at last session to avoid the possibility of unpleasant incidents on the floor should any members refuse to subscribe to the pledge of allegiance to the head of the British Empire, as stipulated by treaty.

No protests have been raised, and all has gone on smoothly, but no Republicans have presented themselves for the ceremony. All De Valera's followers are maintaining their determination never to swear fealty to the King.

A FOUR-OUNCE EGG.

NEW LISKEARD, Ont., September 19 (Canadian Press). — What is believed to be a record egg produced in Northern Ontario this season was produced by a White Wyandotte belonging to a local poultryman, and measured 8 3-8 inches long and 6 1-2 inches in circumference, and weighed slightly over a quarter of a pound.

MOYSEY CASHIER MISSING.

NORTH BAY, Ont., September 19 (Canadian Press). — No trace has been found yet of J. E. Irwin, the missing bookkeeper and cashier, who is alleged to have absconded last Thursday with funds belonging to the brokerage firm of Arthur E. Moysey & Company.

The amount which is reported to be missing since his departure has now reached $3,900, and the auditors believe that this amount has been spread over at least five months.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

Sister of Deputy-Reeve Wilkinson Dies in England—School Fair This Afternoon.

CAMPBELLFORD, September 19. —Deputy Reeve J. R. Wilkinson has received word of the death of his sister, Mrs. H. R. Eddy, of Frystone, Yorkshire County, England, who passed away recently after two weeks' illness aged 64 years. Her husband died 11 years ago, but the deceased is survived by three sons every one of whom is a cripple as the result of the late war. Mr. Wilkinson last saw his sister in 1918 when he was returning from military service overseas.

Home from Chicago.

Dr. W. A. Murphy has returned from a trip to Chicago and will resume the practice of his profession. The doctor says that business in the Windy City is on the very crest of the wave of prosperity, that building are going up everywhere and that it is no fairy tale that plasterers are earning from $18 to $20 a day

School Fair.

The schools are having a holiday this afternoon as the annual school fair is being held on the grounds of the Agricultural Society. To-day is also the date of the fair at Castleton.

Pastor to Remain.

At the earnest request of the members of his congregation, Rev R. Bloye has been appointed by conference pastor of the Free Methodist church here for the third year.

Personal.

Milton E. Maybe, M. P., for Northumberland County, whose home is in Trenton was in townon Tuesday on business.

Mrs. Earl Williams, Mrs. Thomas Free, Mrs. W. H. Abernethy, and Mr. and Mrs. Alex. McGregor motored to Stirling fair on Tuesday.

IN MILLBROOK AND DISTRICT

Making an Appeal for Japanese Relief—Personal Mention.

MILLBROOK, Sept. 19.—The funeral of the late Charles Stephenson Lough took place from the family residence, Emily, to St. John's Cemetery, Cavan, on Sunday, August 26, and was very largely attended. Mr. Lough's death occured after a brief illness during which all that medical help could advise was tried in vain to save his life, and his sudden passing away produced a very deep and sincere sympathy for the bereaved family and from the entire community. In the absence of Rev. M. Weir, Rev Cannon Allen, a former pastor of the deceased conducted the service at the home, assisted by Rev. M. Black, of Omemee ,and Rev. Mr. Nicholls, the latter a near relative of Mr. Lough, and all spoke in feeling terms of the unassuming, manly, Christian qualities of the departed brother. Rev. Canon Allen also officated at the service in St. John's church, and at the graveside, Mrs. Allen presiding at the organ and leading in the singing of the hymns.

The late Charles Lough was the youngest son of David and Margaret Lough, and a brother of Mr. Wiilam Lough, of Ida. He was born on the old homestead on the Ninth Concession of Cavan, migrating to the West several years ago where he settled first in Dakota, and subsequently in Manitoba. Finally, however, he returned to the more familiar scenes of his youth locating in Cavan and in later years in Emily township. His occupaton throughout life was that of a farmer to which he brought a conscientious and intelligent thrift and management. His wife, formerly Margaret Runnings, and two children, Alfred and Gwendolyn, are the immediate survivors, and upon them falls the heavy responsibility of carrying on the work from which the head of the family has been so suddenly removed. To them, and to the other relatives, the entire community joins in extending heartfelt sympathy.

Rev. S. T. and Mrs. Tucker, Rev. J. Wilks, Misses E. and N. Hetherington, Mrs. E. S. and Mrs. G. E. Burnham, Messrs J. Douglas, Cavan, and H. Monk, Bethany, were among those from this vicinity who attended the opening Bible study meeting conducted by Rev. G. Campbell Morgan in St. Paul's church, Peterboro, on Monday afternoon. Rev. A. McLaughlin, of Keene, and Rev. C. S. Reddick, of Lakefield, were other clergymen from outside points noted at the meeting.

The combined mission bands of the General and Women's Missionary Societies of the Methodist church are making a special appeal for funds to assist in the rebuilding of the schools, colleges, homes, etc., destroyed by recent earthquake and fire in Japan, the offering ot be taken up on Sunday, October 7th. While the complete account of the amount of property damaged has not yet come through to head-quarters, sufficient information has come to hand to show that the loss will be very heavy, and a generous response to the special appeal in absolutely necessary.

Mrs. James Dawson is in Peterboro, the last two weeks on account of the serious illness of her cousin, Miss Kerr.

Mr. Bruce Dawson, of Warsaw, spent the week-end at his home here.

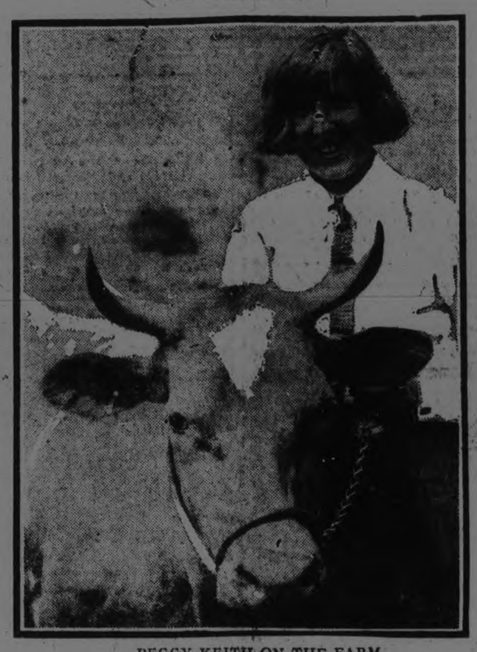
The Champ Farm Girl



PEGGY KEITH ON THE FARM.

By HARRY B. HUNT.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 19.—Uncle Sam's prize farm girl is Peggy Keith, aged 15, of Farquier County, Virginia.

So well does Uncle think of Peggy and her accomplishments that he is taking her and some samples of her farm products all the way to Springfield, Mass., where they will be shown at the Eastern States Exposition of boys and girls club work at Camp Vail, Sept. 10-23.

What Peggy has accomplished will be held up as an example of what ambitious girls and boys can do when they mix brains with energy and enthusiasm, and as a lesson to older folks on the advantages of adopting modern practices in agriculture and home economics.

Starting as a member in girls' club work in 1916, at the age of 8, Peggy has climbed to the top in seven years. And as a visible product of her efforts can show a herd of 20 fine Shetland ponies, blooded Guernsey cows and bulls, prize-winning chickens, blue-ribbon collies and a stock of health and enthusiasm that would be worth millions in Wall Street.

Plants Corn, Too.

Peggy's first venture in agriculture was made as a member of the county potato club in 1916. She planted a small patch and worked it herself, with fair results. The biggest gain was in deeply rooting her enthusiasm for club work.

The next year she joined a corn club and put in a whole acre of corn. Things were coming fine. She had plowed and worked the land herself, and the hardest of the cultivation was past when cattle broke into the field and played havoc with the prospects. Next year, however, she had better luck and harvested 75 bushels of corn from her acre.

In 1919, at the age of 11, Peggy signed up with a canning club. She grew a tenth of an acre of tomatoes and canned and pickled enough of the product to feed the family over the winter.

So successful was she in her canning operations that her fruit and vegetables for two successive years pulled down the prizes in the open classes for canned goods at the Farquier County Fair.

Craved Work.

It was the outdoors, however, that appealed most to Peggy. She looked for a year-round agricultural interest and found it in livestock.

From one setting of eggs she has developed a flock of 100 standard bred Langshans and Rhode Island Red chickens.

She joined the baby beef club and in 1919 grew two fine Shorthorn beeves, which she tended and fed according to methods advocated by the Department of Agriculture. In 1920, with a better knowledge of selecting her stock, she made a profitable business out of baby beef. In 1921 her Hereford beef calf won first prize at the Richmond State Fair, gaining 400 pounds in a short feeding period.

Peggy now plunged into the study of livestock in earnest. She took a course in livestock judging at the Virginia Agricultural College and soon could tell the good points of her animals as fell as much more experienced judges. In a competition among club members, she was selected as Virginia's representative in an international livestock judging contest.

Peggy proves that bobbed hair and knickers do not necessarily denote the flapper, for certainly no one would accuse her of flapperism. But for the active, outdoor life she leads she finds the bifurcated garb and short hair both more practicable and pleasant than plaited braids and swishing skirts.

CARLOAD OF BRICKS MINIMIMUM RAISED

Increased to 50,000 Pounds By Agreement.

OTTAWA, Sept. 18.—(Canadian Press). — Four applications were heard by the Board of Railway Commissioners to-day and a decision was recorded in one case by consent. This was in regard to the application of the Canadian freight association for a rehearing of the Milton Pressed Brick Company request for a carload minimum for their product. By an earlier order this minimum was fixed at 40,000 pounds and the freight association sought to have the minimum raised to 50,000 pounds. By agreement between the parties the former order was varied to provide for the higher minimum.

The board reserved its decision on the application of the Grand Trunk to have the city of London pay 20 per cent. of the cost of the Waterloo Street electric crossing and also on an application of the Dominion Millers Assoiciation for reductions in export rates. The Dominion Millers who were represented by C. D. Watts, asked for a transit milling rate of one cent per 100 lbs. on shipments to New York as to Montreal, and also for the removal of an alledged discrimination as against Goderich and other Ontario points in favor of Port William in the rates on grain.

Argument was begun by Peter White, K. C., in the application of the Ontario Department of Agriculture on behalf of the Ontario Horse Breeders Association and of certain Montreal horse dealers for a reduction in the freight rates on horses similar to that made on cattle in 1921 Mr. White had not concluded his argument when the board rose for the day. G. C. Ransome of the Canadian Freight Association will argue the case for the railways to-morrow.

Disease Germs Doomed

Many have lost terrors for the Scientist

The progress of recent years in medical research is little short of marvellous. Daily, science kills germs by the million. Daily, new ones are being discovered, isolated and exterminated by the march of medicine.

Science is winning. What were once regarded as serious diseases are now laughed out of countenance by the doctors. Fearlessly they plunge naked hands into swarms of them, their only precaution being to rinse their hands afterwards with a reliable germicidal preparation. We are witnessing the birth of an era when the world will have little to fear from microbes.

Absorbine Jr., besides being the all-purpose liniment that removes pain and soreness, and hastens healing, is a powerful antiseptic that is death to the microbe world.

Absorbine Jr., is just what is needed in the house in case of accidents and to correct the many little household hurts that constantly occur. $1.25, at your druggist.

CANADA "STEAMERS" WAR CLAIM HEARD.

Item of Insurance Premium Referred to Government.

MONTREAL, September 18. — Final argument in support of the $6,119,000 war reparations claim of the Canada Steamship Lines was presented before the Hon. Dr. Wm. Pugsley, War Claims Commissioner, here this afternoon. This represents the total value, plus interest, of 11 vessels owned by the company that were sunk by the enemy during the great war.

This part of the claim had Mr. Pugsley's approval. Insurance had been received on the vessels to the amount of $3,979,360, and against this the company asked to be allowed the sum of $1860,679 which had been paid out in premiums for the insurance of all the company's vessels, torpedoed or not torpedoed.

Mr. Pugsley regretted that he had not been convinced that this latter sum should be allowed as a counter-claim against the insurance received. He would however place the matter before the Government.

DRYING UP GOLF CLUBS.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(United Press).—Efforts of the Temperance Council of Christian Churches to dry up the "nineteenth holes" of English golf courses are causing trouble. A bill before Parliament would permit local option. Golf clubs whose members do not reside in the voting districts in which clubs are situated fear the effects.

The Golf Clubs' Protective Association is going to do something about it, according to the association.

FORMTR PREMIER OF GREECE DEAD.

Dragoumis Was Implicated in Constantine Conspiracy.

ATHENS, Sept. 18.—The death is announced of Stephen Dragounis, former Premier of Greece.

M. Dragoumis was head of the Greek Cabinet in 1910, when he served also as Minister of Finance. His term as Premier came to a close within a few months, and later he was appointed Governor-General of Crete.

In 1919, Dragoumis was placed under arrest charged with treason and conspiracy in favour of Constantine.

A STORY OF GRATITUDE.

A visiting clergyman is touring a state penitentiary, Irvin Cobb tells it. When his round is almost completed, he is joined by one of the keepers.

"My friend," says the caller, "I am glad I came today to this dismal place and spent hours wandering through its stone-walled corridors. For now I am more convinced than ever that in the mind of the lowest and most depraved creature here there is some love left. Every heart beats to some tender throbbing som lingering sentiment of affection. In fact, at this moment I have before me proof of it. Look yonder." And the minister pointed a finger toward the barred front of a nearby cell.

"They tell me," he went on, "that in yonder cell is confined a man serving a life sentence for having committed a cold-blooded murder. And yet see what he now is doing? He has made a friend and a companion of an ordinary rat. At his call it comes from a hole in the wall. It plays about him. He divides his food with it. It perches on his hand while he strokes its back. It is his friendly and confiding companion in the long hours of his solitude. The turnkey on duty in this hallway informs me that the two are inseparable.

"So I ask you, is not this evidence of what I have been saying? But hold: I shall demonstrate my theory beyond a doubt."

The Reverend gentleman advances to the cell door.

"My dear brother," he says, addressing the inmate, "would you mind telling me why you are so deeply attached to this dumb animal?"

"Sure I'll tell you," answers the criminal. "It's because once he bit the warden."

BLAMED FOR TRAIN WRECK.

NORTH BAY, Ont., September 19 (Canadian Press). — On a warrant issued on instructions from the Attorney-General at Toronto, Provincial officers yesterday arrested J. H. Dwyer, former T. and N. O. despatcher ,at his home here.

He is blamed jointly with Joseph Gillice, former relieving operator at Englehart ,for the wreck in which three men lost their lives at Dane.

He was released immediately on $1,000 bail.

It is understood that the case of both men will be fought by the union.

JUST LIKE IZZY.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(United Press).—English policemen have been reading about "Moe and Izzy," America's liquor sleuths. A London bobby visited a night club recently, introduced himself as a Russian Grand Duke out for a lark, and pinched the joint when the proprietoress tried to give him a flock of drinks and a pretty drinking partner after hours.

CURRENT KILLS HYDRO LINEMAN

R. B. Houston Touched 4,000-Volt Wire While Working at Pole Top.

LINDSAY, September 19. — R. B. Houston, aged 21 years, a lineman in the employ of the Hydro, was electrocuted yesterday afternoon about two poles north of the railroad crossing at Mariposa Station.

He was strapped to the pole at the time, assisting another lineman, when he accidentally touched a wire carrying 4,000 volts.

The helper was obliged to cut the wire in order to get Houston down.

A hurried call was sent to Lindsay for the pulmotor. Drs. Hall of Little Britain, Rich, Shier, and Logan (coroner) of Lindsay were quickly on the scene, and all were agreed that death resulted immediately after Houston had come in contact with the wire.

The deceased, who was a former employee of the Bell Telephone Co., was a well-known hockey player.

eH is survived by his widowed mother, two brothers, and a sister.

U.S. TOURISTS PAY THE BRITISH DEBT.

Spend Huge Sums in England on Way to the Continent.

By LYLE C. WILSON.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(United Press).—Englishmen who died hundreds of years ago are helping to pay the British debt to America.

William Shakespeare, who wrote plays and was born at Stratford-on-Avon, is helping.

The Romans, who lived here before England was England, are carning dividends today.

It is all because American tourists come here to see the things with which their school days have made them familiar, according to the European manager of a world-wide travel agency.

More than 150 000 American tourists are estimated to have passed through England on their way to or from the Continent this summer. They are estimated to have spent between 200 and 400 millions of dollars.

Ambassador George Harvey was reported last winter to have told King George that he needn't worry about the American debt, because 200,000 Americans would be over this summer and every summer hereafter and each would leave $2,000.

Managers of travel agencies estimate a minimum expenditure by each American visitor of $750 above transportation, hotels and meals.

Outside London there are three Mecas for those of the tourist faith —Oxford, Shakespeare's birthplace and the English lake country.

Eight out of every ten Americans, who arrived in England this summer, visited one of those places first and the other two afterward.

The old walled city of Chester, near Liverpool, is a favorite spot with Americans. The Roman walls circle the city and its two main streets were cut out of solid rock by Roman invaders, nearly two thousand years ago.

This summer marked the arrival of Scotland as an American resort. Heretofore only seasoned travellers have taken advantage of the beauties of the rugged highlands. Fifty per cent. more Americans included Scotland in their tour this year than last.

In London are cathedrals, the Tower, other buildings of religious and historical importance and the royal family.

Americans see them all.

England is believed to be gaining in favor with visitors from the United States.

At present 80 per cent. of all summer tourists visit England, either going or coming.

WETTEST YEAR IN NORTHERN ONTARIO.

Some Grain Half Ripened Still Standing in Fields.

KAPUSKASING, Ont., September (Canadian Press). — Granting the most optimistic weather prophets and more than 4 inches above the the year 1923 will go down in official records as among the wettest in Northern Ontario's history.

Figures compiled by Smith Ballantyne, superintendent of the Dominion Government Experimntal Station, show that since 1st January the precipitation of snow and rain is 27 inches or more than 8 inches in excess of the precipitation last year and more tha n4 inches above the average precipitation for the past five years.

As a result of the continued wet weather farming operations which opened so auspiciously this season are at a standstill. Some of the grain, only half ripened, is still standing green in the fields, and it is impossible to use a binder. One of the most serious effects may be the resulting delay to farmers in getting at the fall ploughing.

PAY RESPECTS TO NEW GOVERNMENT.

Ambassadors Arrive in Madrid to Exchange Courtesies.

MADRID, Sept. 18—All the Ambassadors including the British representative have arrived in Madrid to exchange courtesies with the new administration.

A new offensive in Morocco is planned by Primo Rivera, president of the military directorate in Spain.

The Madrid correspondent of the London Daily Express quotes the head of the new government as follows:

"We are sending Gen. Aizpuru to Morocco with orders to settle the whole problem there. We will respect our treaties with Raisuli but will make no treaty with And-El Krim (the Riff chieftain) and will launch a new offensive in the Melilla zone in accordance with the plans of the general staff."

It is stated in Madrid, the correspondent adds that the great offensive in Morocco will probably begin within a week with 150,000 troops.

Temporarily, at least, constitutionalism has received a heavy blow in Spain. A council of 11 generals, headed by Capt.-Gen. Pfimo Riviera is to rule the country, without aid from parliament or a cabinet, which are abolished as superfluous until some indefinite future date, when the present rulers may deem it wise to restore them.

Essentnlly the new regime is a military dictatorship responsible only to the King. In a certain way it resembles the Bolshevik dictatorship in Russia.

QUEEN MOTHER OF ITALY ANXIOUS FOR PRINCESSES

TURIN, Sept. 18.—Queen Mother Margarita unexpectedly arrived here to-day from Gressoney, where she had been spending, the visit was due to alarm over the grave news she had received concrning the condition of Princess Mafalda and Princess Giovanna. At the station here she was met by Dr. Peccarolo who informed her that the Princesses were in no immediate danger. He also told her that a visit by her to Racconigi might alarm the Princesses, and therefore Margarita returned to Gressoney.

Princess Yolanda, the Duke and Duchess of Genoa and Premier Mussolini are in constant tedephonic communication with Racconigi.

SIX NATIONS ARE NOT ADMITTED TO LEAGUE.

BRANTFORD, September 19. — Canadian Press. — The League of Nations has received the petition of Chief Levi, General Deskaheh, of the Six Nations has filed it, and will take no action.

That was the blow handed to the advocates of complete independence of the Six Nations Indians Tuscarorra Reserve, by Lieut Colonel Andrew Thompson, yesterday, when he commenced his investigations into conditions connected with lief on the Reserve.

The inquiry met with no support from the Councils of chiefs which is controlled by the Deskaheh faction, council having decided on advice from their legal advisor to adopt this attitude.

How to Stop Sour Stomach

Chronic With Many People—Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets Bring Quick Comfort—Sweeten and Stop Acid, Sour Risings and Such Dyspeptic Distress.

When the fact is considered that even careful people, those who follow diet rules, get attacks of indigestion, no argument is needed to recommend the best means of relief. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets are used by lawyers, doctors, teachers, by business men, high livers, society women, industrial workers, clerks, and the worst abused stomachs in the world, those of a host of travelers.

For thirty years people have learned that they may eat what they like or what is set before them, and no matter what the condition of the stomach, if due to dyspepsia, these wonderful tablets stop gassiness and sour risings, they give the stomach the alkaline effect which overcomes acidity and thus they either avoid distress after eating or else they quickly relieve it. Be fortified. Get a 60-cent box of Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets at any drug store and arm yourself against indigestion.

GREECE DISCHARGED APOLOGY TO ITALY

Saluted Flags of Three Allied Nations—Dangerous Incident Closed.

ATHENS, Sept. 19.—(Canadian Press) — Greece today discharged measures of apology prescribed by Allies for the Janina murders and the incident which for time threatened peace of the Balkans is regarded as closed.

At ten o'clock this morning the allied squadron led by Italian's warship Conte-Cavour, steamed through the haze into Phale-Ron Harbor, where waiting Greek ships rendered a salute of 21 guns to each flag.

At the same hour memorial services were celebrated at the Roman Catholic cathedral in Athens, in the presence of the Greek Cabinet and Allied diplomats whil, at Preveza, bodies of the murdered Italians were embarked for Italy with military, naval and civil honrs.

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Peterboro, Sep. 19, 1923.
To the editor.

Dear Sir,—as A subscriber as well as A reader of your paper there has been so much refering to the weather man and I thought the time had been reached when in mandays issue it appeared that the fair board was going to send him A copy of their prise list as he evidentley did not know the date this year would it not be wise to stop and consider who the man is for God himself who framed and formed the universe is still controlling the eleaments which govern it. I do not think the fair board is responsible for this ascercain but it would be well for any who use the word to think it carefully over before putting it in print.

RE BABY SHOW.

To the Editor.

Sir,—I would like to call the public's attention to the way the re-exams. were conducted. My name was in the paper to appear, which I did. After waiting 3 hours among a lot of crying babies and excitable officials the prizes were awarded without a lot of the babies being examined, my own included. My name was called twice. I answered each time, and was told it was a boy baby wanted, not a girl. Then I was told it was unfortunate I hadn't answered my name. Who is to blame for the mix up? Thanking, you, Mr. Editor.

To the editor of The Examiner

Sir,—How many of your readers realise what the Rev. Dr. Campbell Morgan meant when he said as reported in your issue verbatim of Tuesday:

"It means that the Bible declares that morality is rooted in religion, and that there is no sanction to compel right conduct between man and man other than the sanction which comes when a man is right with God."

Let those coercionists calling themselves reformers who do not know that "sanction" means permission, right, or authority look the word up and read this quotation again and profit by it.

Your Health

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

YOUR CLOTHES

Your clothes may carry germs into your home. Some of these germs may be dangerous, and sickness would be the result.

Don't wear the same clothes, day in and day out. Some people wear them without cleaning month after month until they become so soiled and germ laden as the old boarding-house towel.

It has been proved that many people are disease carriers and are not aware of the fact. They transmit contagion to others by means of their clothing or by personal contact, also by handling tools or other objects in common use, by unhygienic habits and soil pollution.

Typhoid is carried in this way. Those who come in contact constantly with the clothes of tubercular persons also subject themselves to disease germs. Clothes that are hung in crowded factory rooms or in contact with the garments of strangers in public halls, hotels or coat rooms, may bring you unlooked-for trouble. Those who are constantly out of doors in winds and dust, carry bacteria which ride on the dirt and dust collecting on garments that are not well cleaned and sterilized.

Clothing hygiene should include the careful selection of those materials which will provide the maximum body protection and allow for skin ventilation. This means having loose, warm, porous garments for the free passage of air.

Be sure to have your clothes carefully cleaned and sterilized at least three or four times a year—the more the better.

MOSCOW'S HOUSING PROBLEM A CALAMITY

MOSCOW.—(By Mail to United Press).—The housing situation in Moscow is nothing short of a calamity.

Before the war the available living space was 26,511,380 square feet.

During the war and the subsequent revolution 10,593,716 square feet of housing space was destroyed.

In addition, 280,000 square feet have been occupied by various Governmental institutions.

Add to this the fact that the working class is now demanding better houses and quarters. Practically no construction is under way.

The net result is practically an impossible situation.

FORD MOTOR COMPANY OF CANADA LIMITED, FORD, ONTARIO

Jocelyn of the Staff — by Jack Lait

THERE is nothing—that is paid for—quite as easy as "writing for the papers." Any messenger boy, school teacher, telephone operator or shoe clerk will tell you so.

What is there "to it?" One need only write what one sees, hears and knows; and anyone can do that, and most people will bet you they can do it better than it is being done in this or any other section of this journal. Why, it isn't even necessary to be able to spell correctly. Proofreaders are there to look after that.

The veriest boob realizes that running an elevator requires technique; that curving a baseball is a gift; that spinning and bricklaying and tooth-pick-sharpening and other trained trades require study and application; that professoring and doctoring and tooth-pulling aren't guesswork; that prizefighting calls for unusual talents, and drawing pictures is a tricky stunt. But journalism—gee, you don't even have to be good looking, as you must to get in the movies, or popular, as you must to be elected to office.

That one newspaper writer gets $25 a week and another gets more than that an hour, is pure luck, then. That one newspaper is a mighty power and another is a blowsy rag is a whim of chance.

It might astound a few of these lay buddies to know that the profession of writing for newspapers is one of the most complex, intricate, elusive and intensively specialized of all callings, as well as requiring a natural vocation; and that writing is only one of dozens of branches of the labyrinthian and inter-involved science, art and business of "getting out" a paper.

Jocelyn Hanleigh, daughter of the aristocratic late J. Bernard Hanleigh, whose sudden demise had left the girl and her mother with one of the best names in the country and little else except mortgages and expenses, turned toward "journalism" when commerce and the stage had proven inhospitable. True, she was better equipped than most neophytes, for she had been polished in seminaries and finished in academies; had travelled, had read, had been in interesting surroundings and situations, and knew at least one thing thoroughly, and that no negligible item in the daily news of the city and world: society.

Knowing a thing and reporting it are, of course, widely separated faculties. But knowing them is one of the essentials, and, therefore, a start. Command of vocabulary, though not decisively important, is another.

But, against her meagre assets, she had, like her father's estate, an overwhelming array of liabilities. She was young, and that is a handicap that only time may overcome. She was inexperienced, and that is a blowhole that only time and work and application and aptitude may stop. She was female, and that——

Well, that requires at least a paragraph to itself. In this era, when it is popular to sound the slogan of feminine equality, when it is no longer just unchivalrous, but is decidedly abysmal to intimate that girls aren't as wise and capable as men, when newspapers are seeking women's circulation and candidates are prostrating themselves for women's votes—in this era it is a perilous thing to say that there is a "refined" calling in which a girl can't measure up to a man. Like a coward, I will, therefore, take refuge behind the statement that newspaper work is not "refined." Let us put it in a category with sewer-digging, structural ironwork and stevedoring. Put it in any category you must, but take my word for it that it is no haven for those to whom the politicians refer as "our wives, our sweethearts and our mothers."

Here and there a girl makes good in a newspaper office. But she is either a freak or a genius, and in either event a grateful editor marries her and puts her in a suburban cottage, where she raises children and keeps a scrapbook of her clippings, like the overseas veteran hangs up the uniform with his insignia, his medals of valor and his discharge diploma.

It isn't that girls aren't as clever as men—heavens, no. But they have congenital disabilities. It's in their viewpoints. They are sentimental, temperamental, enthusiastic, opionionated. They want to be mothers and big sisters to the readers, not reporters. They suffer with the dying and weep over the dead instead of compiling lists of the identified and getting the names of the engineer and fireman.

There are departments in the comprehensive branches that these days make up the scope of "covering" the daily news of a community, in which girls are better fitted by nature than in others. Most papers have columns devoted to women's especial needs and interests, which women can compile and edit almost as well as men—sometimes; they can also qualify at society news, though most girls go overboard on the job, because they soon become involved as partisans in local social rivalries and disputes; they have never been able to carve much of an impression into the dramatic criticism of the nation, though as movie editors they have made somewhat of a dent.

Jocelyn found herself on a bench outside the city editor's office of the fastest morning paper in town, with a letter of introduction from Mrs. Schuyler Little. Mrs. Schuyler Little was the most active clubwoman in town, and as such was a valuable "news source." Every reporter of any standing knew her personally, and all the editors knew her telephonically, for she was of the type—familiar to all daily "desk men"—who called up and gave the papers fits whenever she disagreed with their editorial expressions, became indignant over their negligence in playing up the women's end of every public movement, or caught them in some inaccuracy of the sort that cannot be avoided in the hurry of gathering a hundred million loose ends every twelve hours for publication before the scrutiny of all eyes among the people who both make and read the pages and pages of solid type that go into a newspaper.

Mrs. Little, having heard (as she seemed to hear everything) of the financial plight of the Hanleighs, had called on Jocelyn's mother. Mrs. Little was a good enough reporter herself. Though Mrs. Hanleigh, a white-haired old gentlewoman, who scarcely knew her, was little inclined to discuss her troubles, Mrs. Little soon bombarded her out of her trench and riddled her in the open until the inquisitive lady had the earful she had come after. When she learned that Jocelyn had determined to earn a living instead of cadging on her friends, the square-jawed Mrs. Little rose and cheered.

"Bully for Jocelyn," she barked. "That is the spirit of '23. Your daughter is an example that women should follow. We women can stand on our own feet, eh, Mrs. Hanleigh?"

Mrs. Hanleigh looked up at her, quite sunk. She was very conservative. She had never wanted to stand on her own feet, or tried. Work for feminine hands was to her abhorrent. She had no interest in feminism and had never subscribed to the principle of equality of the sexes, having been taught and reared to believe that women were far superior.

"I knew you'd agree with me," bellowed Mrs. Little. "The mother of such a brave, progressive, manly girl would—naturally. Now, I'll tell you. When your daughter gets home, give her this card; tell her to take it to the city editor of the 'Eagle.' He'll put her on the staff immediately—or he'll hear from me."

"The 'Eagle'?" asked Mrs. Hanleigh, faintly. "But we do not read the 'Eagle'. My husband disapproved of its sociological and political policies."

"Pish, tush. The 'Eagle' is the most aggressive champion of women's rights in the city. It has the biggest circulation in the State. It makes more money than all the other old fogey sheets put together."

"But—but Jocelyn knows nothing of journalism."

"Journalism? Fiddlesticks. There's no such thing. She can get news, can't she?"

"Can she? How?"

"From me. The papers run me thin for it. I'll give your daughter more scoops in a week than all the other reporters on all the other papers get in a year. I'm the livest, busiest citizen of this town, Mrs. Hanleigh. And what I'm not running, I hear about. Leave it to me—I'll put Jocelyn in and I'll put her over. . . . Well, I'll be toddling. Give Jocelyn this card and tell her to shove it under Ed. Velmer's nose. And if she has any trouble, ring me. . . . Bye, bye."

Jocelyn was delighted. Newspaper work! It had an inviting, exciting ring. And she felt, without appearing to herself to be presumptive, that she should do well at it. In school she had been—and rapidly—with out expert instruction. Among the fleetest and surest writers on machines are the newspaper scribes, who work with one finger on each hand and attain 3,000 words an hour, hand-running, not only transcribing but thinking—composing—grading their statements—even inventing a few.)

On her way to the "Eagle" office, Jocelyn thought up a few editorials to suggest. One was on a woman's view of prohibition, another was on playgrounds for the poor and a third was on unmarried mothers. She bought a copy of the paper, and scanned it with interested and analytical eye. She would suggest, she decided, that there be less news about crimes and weaknesses of people and more about their decent goings-on. In this, though she didn't know it, she was making the same error that almost every well-meaning amateur falls for; also the same error the President of the United States, himself a successful newspaper publisher, pronounced in a recent talk.

She found, later, that the "Eagle" was entirely manned with editorial writers, that women's views on prohibition had been worn thin with discussion, that the poor wanted beer more than they did playgrounds, and the less said about unmarried mothers the better. Moreover, she was about to discover to her great bewilderment, such newspapers as the "Eagle," with all their palpable shortcomings and obvious failings, do not engage novitiates to reconstruct them and haven't much reverence for even the usual parting crack: "Well I'm giving you the opinion of the reader. I'm too new in the business to have your viewpoint. And it's the reader's opinion you want, isn't it?" No, it isn't.

It is the function of an editor to guide opinion, not to follow it. And when he follows it, he follows the extracted essence of mass opinion, not the individual taste of one person, one person untrained to either interpret or command the thoughts of the many. Millions of grown-up voters, scattered through all States in the Union and all conditions and classes of citizenship, vote almost equally divided every four years when the most exhaustive and eloquent arguments have been brought to bear on the most critical differences regarding the most vital issues of the public welfare. Therefore there is no such thing as "public opinion"—not even on murder, marriage, ice water or the veterans' bonus.

It is the function of an editor to report all phases of public opinion, so that every side may know the sentiments and deductions of all other sides; then, to state what he thinks is right, whether it be the conclusion of the majority or of himself, alone, with the world against him. History is replete with instances that have affected all future progress, where one man was right and the rest of the world was wrong. If you don't think so, contemplate Columbus, who didn't even know whither he was going, but turned heaven and earth to go; and the nihilist who was strung up in Moscow more than a century ago because he prophesied that the divine rule of czardom would be destroyed and a reign of the children's children of slaves would take its place.

Jocelyn knew about as much of all this and the eighty-two million other details of newspaper work involved in the process of assembling a working daily as most people who possess "the reader's opinion." About all that she did know was that the "Eagle" was written in English—not always correct English, at that—and that it seemed to be a collection of three elements: type, pictures and advertisements.

She would have told you that their relative importance was thus: advertisments, ads, pictures. Any layman will tell you that a newspaper makes its living from advertisers, and, therefore, the advertisers run the newspaper. Jocelyn was to find that the advertising department was an orphaned step-child and got as much consideration in the editorial rooms as the Czecho-Slovakian parliament (if Czecho-Slovakia really has a parliament) and that the order was: pictures, features, news, editorials. That even the magic word "Circulation" had no definite standing and got consideration only when it harmonized with the far more important factors, such as good will, good taste and that broad, never-specific, all-else-effacing thing, "Policy."

The "policy" of each newspaper is distinct unto itself. It embodies that newspaper's idea, tradition, ethics, principles, conscience, diplomacy, individuality and balance: It means that newspaper's own idea of how it should be run, just as each person has a "policy" which differentiates a savant from a burglar and a cook from a chorus girl. A truly great publisher or editor can make a policy so substantial and so clearly defined that generations after he is dead will conform to it and it becomes, like unwritten laws and accepted habits, stronger than the wear and tear of time and change.

All this affected Jocelyn none—on the way down to the "Eagle" office. She was blandly certain that she could do a great deal for the "Eagle," and the more she thought of it, the more she thought of to advise the editor. She even marked errors and one rhetorical boner, and she made a note in the margin of the editorial page disagreeing with the "Eagle's" endorsement of professional boxing, which she regarded as brutal and an unsavory influence, though she had never, in fact, seen a boxing match; but she had seen published photographs of knockouts, and she could visualize no possible defense of such violence, which must be reversion to the beastly instincts of our savage forefathers.

As she folded the paper and placed it under her arm on leaving the car to enter the "Eagle" building, it struck her that what the paper needed was a "suggestion editor." Not exactly a censor, perhaps, but someone who would register the "reader's opinion," and exercise a corrective influence over matters of taste, public thought, selection in topics of discussion—all with a view of elevating the "Eagle."

It was simple and plausible enough.

Here was she, untainted by the professional prejudices and habits; born in and reared among the exemplars of the nation's highest type; young enough to have some spirit and vibration, yet old enough to realize problems of general projection; well educated, trained in the finer arts, groomed in esthetics and fundamental logic, representing and interpreting the refinements toward which mankind should gravitate in its slow but destined progress to the human ultimate—

That was what the "Eagle" seemed to need most particularly—someone who would not be confined within the narrow requirements of any isolated department, held down to paragraphs on interior decorating or Mrs. Van Rennsellaer's week-end party or the night court.

No. She could see herself, spending the mornings with the editor in council, pointing out the mistakes of yesterday's editions, and, the afternoons reading all proofs as they came up and making changes and corrections, which would then be read to the several editors; not only read, but explained, so that to-morrow would be a better day than to-day, as to-day would be a better day than yesterday.

It grew on her. As she inquired her way to the office of the city editor, she thought of more ways in which she could be useful—more ways in which she could improve the "Eagle."

The boy outside the door took the card she gave him. He sniffed at it, looked up at her and was about to offer a suggestion.

"Take it in, please—at once," she commanded, and was a bit proud of herself for having already taken hold.

The boy shuffled off, within.

Yes, thought Jocelyn, the "Eagle" seemed to need a woman's touch on all sides. The premises could stand a thorough scrubbing and repainting. It was just this same careless, slipshod, inartistic atmosphere which was reflected in the paper itself. She would look after all these things as time permitted. She would first—

The boy shuffled back.

"Mr. Velmer says," said he, "that we ain' got no room for no amachoors."

FIRPO SIGNED FOR BOUT IN MONTREAL

Six - Round Exhibition With Sparring Partner of Dempsey.

MONTREAL, Sept. 18. — Tom Duggan, managing director of the Mount Royal Arena, and local fight promoter, announced to-day that he had arranged to have Luis Angel Firpo make an appearance in a Montreal ring on September 26. Duggan said that Firpo would box a six-round exhibition bout with Elzear Rioux, giant French- Canadian, who was one of Jack Dempsey's sparring partners during the latter's training for the recent heavyweight title bout.

LAKEVIEWS CLOSE AT HOME SATURDAY

First of Junior Finals With Strong Niagara Falls Team

When the Niagara Falls team, Western Ontario Junior champions tie into the local Lakeviews, winners of the Eastern Ontario title, at Riverside Park on Saturday afternoon in the first game of the Ontario finals, Peterboro fans should see one of the snappiest games of the season. The Falls team came here with a great record—in their last two games but a solitary runs has been registered against them and they expect to get a firm grip on the honors by beating Le Lebarr's team here on Saturday and then annex the title by winning the return game next week.

Peterboro fans who have followed the Lakeviews career this season feel that the Cataract crew are carving out a man's size contract for themselves in undertaking any such programme. If the visitors can hit Whitehouse's offering often enough and hard enough to win two games in succession from the Peterboro youngsters local fandom is prepared to admit that the Falls outfit are some team.

The game is called for 3 o'clock sharp and judging by the advance sale of tickets the Petes will be backed as they should be by a real crowd.

With the Ontario championship at stake and the best two junior teams in the Province pitted against each other there is every reason to look for a memorable game.

FIRPO NO "SET UP"

Won Respect of Crowd Who Feel He Can Beat Dempsey.

Whatever the attitude toward Firpo was before his meeting with Dempsey there is but one attitude toward him now and that is one of high respect. The public feels that he is one man who can whip Dempsey and this opinion is undoubtedly shared by Dempsey. He at least realizes that he can not make the same mistake again and expect to win.

It was generally believed that Firpo was simply a "set up." Firpo blasted that opinion. It was again proved that regardless of what public opinion may be it is the actual performance that counts in the end.

Also, after Firpo's exhibition, the wisdom of Tex Rickard in demanding that Firpo fight at this time when the Argentine battler wanted to wait a year, becomes plain. Rickard is a keen business man.

Those who never cared for heavyweight bouts because they lack action must reconsider. A battle that contains 10 knockdowns in three minutes and fifty-seven seconds of fighting is not entirely lacking in action. That was more action than the Wilde-Villa fight held and this bout was regarded a classic for action. Still, the Dempsey-Firpo fight carried more action than any heavyweight bout in history. It was the fiercest of all time.

RUCBY

Excelsiors Practice.

The Excelsior rugby team will practice this evening at 5.15 on Central Park. All those wishing to try out with this team should be on hand.

TEAMS DOWN TO WORK.

The rugby fans of the city seem to be promised something good in the way of a fast City League. The Excelsiors have collected a team of clever players composed principally of old Collegiate players who are practicing faithfully nearly every evening on Central Park. The Belmonts also are strong and are fast getting in form. Last year's Crescents comprise chiefly the C.G.E. team of last year. This team appears to be the dark horse of the league.

C. S .Browne shouldn't have much trouble in choosing a fast outfit from this wide field to represent Peterboro in the Intermediate O.R.F.U.

The Collegiate team are having regular workouts on the Oval and are rounding into shape. They are planning to have an exhibition game or two under their belts before any of their scheduled games.

C. G. E. MUST WIN HERE TOMORROW

Meet Oshawa's General Motors Team at Riverside —Game Starts at 4.

C.G.E. are fighting with their backs to the wall in tomorrow's intermediate O.B.A.A. game with Oshawa at Riverside Park inasmuch as the Oshawa crew got the jump on them and won the first game of the series, which means, of course, that the Electricians must win the verdict tomorrow or pack up their equipment for the season. Manager Primeau's outfit, however, have no intention of putting their gloves away yet and they are confident of shoving Oshawa into the discard, the first step towards that end being a victory over the Motors here tomorrow.

Oshawa after winning their own league have disposed of Cobourg and Bethany and reports from Motorville declare that they are sure of adding the C.G.E. scalps to those already dangling from their belts.

It should be a real lively tussle and attract a big crowd.

The game is called for 4 o'clock sharp.

SOLD TO GIANTS

TOLEDO, O., Sept. 18.—Bill Terry manager and first baseman; Fred. Lindstrom, second baseman, and Pitcher Pat Malone of the Toledo American Association team, have been sold to the New York Giants it was announced to-day by Roger Bresnahan, president of the local club. Terry is to report to the Giants immediately while it is expected Lindstrom and Malone are to be called in a few days.

Tied Own Record For Double Plays

WASHINGTON, Sept 18. — Washington tied its major league record of 168 double plays in one season, tablished last year in the second game with St. Louis here to-day.

Bluege took Ezzell's grounder tagged Gerber on the base line and retired the batter at first to complete the play which tied the mark. The Nationals have sixteen more games to play this season.

All Star Central League Teams Picked by Writers Have Heckman, Williams

Al Heckman of Peterboro and Jack Williams were unanimous selections of sporting writers in three of the towns of section B of the Central League as the pitching staff of a representative All-Star team.

The panel was made by the Belleville Intelligencer eliciting the following opinions:

The following is the selection of Clair Delvin, sporting editor of the Kingston Standard who made his choice on the basis of the players records and general all-round play:

Dear Sir,—Replying to your letter of August 27, regarding the selecting of an all-star team I would like to pick the following according to their records and general all-round play:

	B.	F.
1st Base, H. Mills (B)	319	977
2nd Base, Twigg (K)	33	1000
3rd Base, Batstone (K)	329	896
Shortstop, Weir (B)	357	776
Centre, Ross (B)	371	948
Right, Wolfe (P)	368	875
Left, J. Kenny (C)	333	980
Catcher, W. Mills (B)	341	971
Pitcher, Heckman (P).
Pitcher, Williams (B).

Exclusive of the pitchers, this team would bat .339 and field .932.

Peterboro Preference.

F. D. Craig of the Peterboro Examiner picked the following team:

In naming my choice I have endeavored to select the strongest both offensively and defensively, based on their seasons' record.

Pitcher—Williams, Belleville .
Pitcher—Heckman, Peterboro.
Catchers— W. Mills, Belleville; Swanston, Peterboro.
1st Base—H. Mills, Belleville.
2nd Base—Skitch, Cobourg; or Sommerville, Kingston.
Shortstop—Ansaldo, Peterboro.
3rd Base—Batstone, Kingston.
Outfield—Ross, Belleville; "Huck" Kenney, Cobourg; Wolfe, Peterboro.
Utility outfielder—Cherry, Kingston.
Utility Infielder —Brownscombe, Belleville.
Manager—Solomon, Peterboro.

This lineup, I think, possesses the maximum of offensive strength, a team of hitters strong enough to give any pitcher a busy afternoon.

In pitching, it would be very strong with Heckman, who led this league this year in the number of victories, as the right hand flinger, and Williams with his southpaw curves as a contrast. The two catchers, by reason of their experience, throwing ability and their habit of coming through with a hit when one is needed, justify their selection .

I have named Mills for first base, not only because of his fielding, but because of his tendency to interject a long drive when it will do the most good for his team's cause. Comolli of Peterboor would have earned the position had the second half only been considered, for he hit safely in every game of the second section and the three playoff games and played errorless ball in the same period. His slump in the first half, however, puts him behind Mills on the season's play.

Frankly, I cannot decide between Skitch of Cobourg and Somerville of Kingston for second base. Both are classy fielders and good hitters.

Ansaldo of Peterboro is my choice for shortstop because he made the fewer errors at that position during the season, hit for .325, led in stolen bases and in two-base hits. Weir's unsteadiness, which cost him his position with his own club, would bar him, and Brownscombe has not been in enough games at shortstop to justify his selection, although I would name him as utility player without hesitation.

There is no question in my mind as to third base. Batstone's steady fielding, good hitting and run-getting ability make him stand out in an all-star aggregation.

The outfield has been chosen, first with an eye to their hitting strength and includes Wolfe and Ross, the league's two leading hitters, and Kenney of Cobourg, who had a .333 average for the season. The three can "go and get them" in the outfield and all three have good arms as well. Cherry would be a good substitute.

Picking all-star line-ups is often merey a matter of personal opinion. This is mine, for what it is worth.

Belleville's Choice.

The selection of The Intelligencer is as follows:
Pitcher—Heckman (P) .
Pitcher—Williams (B).
Catcher—Swanston (P).
Catcher—W. Mills (B).
1st Base—H. Mills (B).
2nd Base—Skitch (C).
3rd Base—Batstone (K), or J. K. Williams (B).
Shortstop—Brownscombe or Weir (B).
Outfield—Ross (B), Legon (P), Wolfe (P), Cherry (K).

ATHLETIC COMMISSION DISCUSSED THE FIGHT

No Official Statement Issued of Deliberations of Referee's Conduct.

HIS DECREE FINAL.

NEW YORK, September 19 (Canadian Press). — The New York State Athletic Commission took no cognisance, officially, of the Dempsey-Firpo heavyweight championship battle, yesterday, despite the reports that it might act upon the criticism directed at Referee Johnny Gallagher because of his neglect to compel Dempsey to follow instructions on several occasions during the fight.

The Commission discussed the match, but at the close of its regular weekly meeting late yesterday afternoon issued no formal statement of its proceedings.

It was understood, however, that the Boxing Salons felt that though there may have been some ground for finding fault with Gallagher's conduct, his judgment in the ring, nevertheless, was final, and could not be questioned after the bout.

The Commission received a number of communications concerning the title fight, particularly from Firpo partisans, who charged that Dempsey should have been disqualified for alleged infractions of the rules several times before he knocked out the "Wild Bull of the Pampas." The specific accusations in one of these communications were that Dempsey did not adhere to regulations, agreed upon before the fight, in failing to go to a neutral corner after each knockdown; that he hit Firpo once before the Argentine's knee had left the floor, and that he struck the South American several times after the bell had rung for the end of the first round.

Official Figures.

Official attendance and gate receipts announced yesterday, revealed that the total paid attendance of 82,228 established a new record for fistic attractions anywhere, eclipsing both the Dempsey-Carpentier fight two years ago, and the Firpo-Willard bout last July at Boyle's Thirty Acres.

The total attendance at both of these contests was between 90,000 and 100,000, according to Promoter Tex Rickard's figures, but net paid attendance at each was only about 76,000.

The total Dempsey-Firpo attendance was 87,000, while the gross receipts amounted to $1,188,822.80, placing the match second in this respect to the Dempsey-Carpentier spectacle, which attracted a "gate" of $1,600,000. Deductions of a Federal tax of $180,074.80 and State tax of $57,197, left net receipts of $951,551.

Dempsey Gone West.

Dempsey left this afternoon for Chicago, where he will spend several days before continuing to Salt Lake City to spend a few days with his parents. He then plans to go on to his home in Los Angeles.

Firpo has postponed his trip to Canada until next week. His proposed match in the spring with Harry Wills is still hanging fire, though Promoter Rickard has hopes of closing it before the Argentine leaves New York.

Firpo will return to the Argentine after his Canadian tour.

GOLF FAVORITES SURVIVE ROUND

Except Chick Evans, Who Was Eliminated in Championship Play.

CHICAGO, September 19 (Canadian Press). — After a day of hectic golf that threatened the extinction of several favourites, the national and former national champions survived the first round of match play at 36 holes in the United States National Amateur Championship at Flossmoor, except Chick Evans, of Chicago, who was eliminated by Willie Hunter, of Los Angeles, formerly British titleholder, 2 and 1.

Jess Sweetser, of New York, defeated Albert Seckel, of Chicago, once inter-collegiate champion, 10 and 9.

The national open champion, Bobby Jones, of Atlanta, did not have an easy time winning from T. B. Cochran, of Wichita Falls, Texas, 2 and 1. At one time the Georgian was down to the Texan, but Cochran never got a commanding lead.

An even narrower escape was the experience of Jesse Guilford, of Boston ,titleholder three years ago, for Louis Jacobs, of Dallas, not only held him even for 18 holes, but after throwing a hole to Guilford on the third nine, yielded no further, taking the Bostonian to the thirty-sixth green, where he won one up by halving that hole.

Francis Ouimet, of Boston, the tamer of Vardon and Ray in 1913, lost the morning round to Anthony Haines, of Rockford, Ills., being one down to the former Yale athlete at noon, but he took four holes from Haines in the first half of the afternoon session and turned into the home stretch 3 up, only to lose part of the advantage, and finally finish winner 2 and 1.

Bob Gardner, of Chicago, twice winner of the title, won his match with Ruddy Knepper, of Sioux City, Ia., by 3 and 1.

Another former champion to get through yesterday's play was Dave Herron, of Chicago. He had an uphill battle with Russell Martin, a Chicago youth, who led Herron by 2 holes on the first nine and was even with him at the end of 18 holes. Herron got a lead of 2 up on the third nine, and increased this to 5 up at the thirty-second hole, winning 5 and 4.

The seventh national title winner in the contest, W. C. Fownes, of Pittsburgh, held the lead all day over Tom F. Rainey, of Chicago, and finally won, 3 and 2.

In the second round Guilford will meet Cummings, Herron will play Sweetser, Shute will face Allis, and Fownes will try his skill against Gardner in the upper half. In the other half of the bracket, Marston will play Jones, Wells will compete with Davis, Ouimet with Hunter, and Manion with Von Elm.

Many of yesterday's spectators followed Bobby Jones over the sodden course, which an overnight rain had made heavy, but the largest gallery watched Evans go down before Hunter's deadly run-up approaches and no fewer than four stymies. Without the stymies, Evans likely would have won, for Hunter was wild from the tee, driving three balls out of bounds on the sixth hole of the afternoon round, and allowing Chick to square the match for the first time.

Ex-Kaiser Told Germany Doesn't Want His Return

Sad News Broken to Wilhelm By Helfferich, Former Minister and Leader of Conservatives —One Prince Happy.

By FERDINAND C. M. JAHN.

DOORN.—By Mail to United Press).—The ex-Kaiser has been told that scarcely anybody in Germany wants the Hohenzollerns back.

Former Minister Helfferich, who is now the leader of the conservative party in Germany, made this clear to him when he visited Doorn castle recently.

Until then Doorn castle had in many respects resembled the castle of the sleeping beauty. The inhabitants and visitors had made it the rule in their conversation with the ex-monarch not to touch any subjects which might hurt the ex-Kaiser's feelings. Therefore Wilhelm still believed that deep rooted in the German nation there still was a longing for his return, although this feeling was not reflected by the papers.

This spell was broken by Heifferich, who told Wilhelm that since his second wedlock he hardly had any followers left in Germany and that the nationalist movement, which was growing stronger and stronger in Germany, is in no ways accompanied by a resurrection of a monarchistic feeling in favor of the Hohenzollerns.

Since Helfferich's visit, Wilhelm shows signs of deep depression, although his physical health is perfect.

One Prince Satisfied.

However at least one of Germany's former reigning princes is glad to have lost his job. That is the Kaiser's son-in-law the Duke Ernst August of Brunswick.

During his recent visit to Doorn the Prince did not conceal his satisfaction with being rid of his boresome throne. He really enjoys the privacy of family life. Although the marriage with the Kaiser's only daughter, Victoria Luise, was in the origin not of a love-match but a marriage for state reasons, it has turned out a model wedlock. The ducal couple has been married for more than ten years, have five children and is still as happy as a pair of turtle doves.

Unlike most of his colleagues, who, with their crown, have lost the greatest part of their incomes, the loss of the throne hardly affected the Duke's revenues. Being a son of the wealthy Duke of Cumberland and related to the British royal family, Duke Ernst August still commands a nice round capital, which is based on solid English pounds.

Incidently, it may be mentioned, that the ex-Duke had a sort of premonition of his overthrow when he first came to Brunswick. Visiting the Brunswick castle for the first time, the young Duchess Victoria Luise remarked to her husband that the upholsterings on the furniture in some of the reception rooms were rather worn out and therefore ought to be replaced.

"Never mind," was the Duke's answer, "we are not going to stay here very long, anyhow." That was 1913.

AKRON PUTS 'ON HONOR' PAYS EXTRA CENT FARE

AKRON, O., Sept. 19.—Akron car riders have been placed on their honor by the Northern Ohio Traction & Light Co. The company's franchise calls for a five-cent fare, but the company asserts it costs 5.7 cents to carry a passenger.

So the officials of the concern have asked car riders to voluntarily drop six cents in the fare box.

So far, according to company records, 21,000 pennies over and above the required rate of fare are being dropped into the fare boxes daily.

The franchise has been an issue in municipal elections for the last six years.

ELECTRIC ANGLING.

LONDON, Sept. 19. — Electric light as an aid to sea angling is being experimented with at Sandown, Isle of Wight. A London merchant resident there takes an accumulator with him in his boat at night and lowers the light into about 24 feet of water near the bait. It attracts some kinds of fish.

CHAMPIONSHIP TEAMS IN FINALS SATURDAY

All Four Teams May Be Playing Important Games at the Week-end —Long Trips.

It is probable that all four Peterborough championship-chasing ball clubs will be playing important games at the week-end. Lakeviews take on the clever Niagara Falls Juniors at Riverside Park, and the Maple Leafs journey to Hamilton for the first games in the Junior and Juvenile finals. C.G.E. should dispose of Oshawa here to-morrow afternoon, making a third game necessary, to be played on Saturday on neutral grounds. The Midget Curlers and Typos of Hamilton are finalists in the series and may get a ists in the series, and play a sudden death game at Oshawa Saturday.

The Niagara Falls-Lakeviews fixture has all the earmarks of a hummer. The Falls team is strong all the way from backstop to the right garden, and the Eastern Ontario champs will have to be on their best behaviour to get away with a win. The Western title-holders are a big team, with a wallop in every club, and Peterboro fans are assured of an interesting bill of baseball.

In their invasion of the Ambitious City, the Maple Leafs will face a collection of good ball players on the 2-in-1 line-up, several of them having played on the Juvenile runners-up last season, when Hamilton lost the honors to Moss Park of Toronto. The Hams have a pair of pitchers, and Litzen, their youthful catcher, is said to be particularly good. Hamilton fans place their third baseman on top of all others in Juvenile ranks, and the shortstop's crown falls to one of their own production. But as hits and runs win ball games, the Leafs ought not to fare too badly in the conflict.

A win in the series with Oshawa will send the Canadian Generals against the winner of the Brockville-Picton round, in which Brockville won the first game after a rally that brought forth ten runs in one frame. Picton are still favorites to land the series, and if the stage should be set for another scrap between Croft and Frost, it will be no place for weak hearts.

The Curlers can hardly wait for the big day, that will see them into an Ontario championship contest. For the majority of the players the scenery is entirely new, Carl Wood being the only member of the team who has been up near the top before. The Curlers' heaver took part in the O.B.A.A. Midget semi-final game here last season.

DRAWING CONTEST SHOWED STRENGTH

Winning Team In Heavy Class Pulled Load Of Three Tons Over 98 Feet.

Drawing three tons of pig-iron on a stone-boat on the soft dirt race track at the Exhibition on Saturday evening proved a real test for the teams entered. The contest was won in the heavy class by a team owned by P. Wilson, Norwood, which pulled the load 98 feet 11 inches. In the light class teams, those under 2,900 pounds, E. Lynch won with his team in a pull of 160 feet 11 inches. Mr. Lynch came from North Monaghan.

Other contestants in the heavy class were W. Stinson, city, 68 feet 1 inch; E. McManus, Smith, 67 feet 2 inches; W. Hooten, Cavan, 64 feet 11 inches; and W. White, Smith, 54 feet 8 inches.

In the light class other competitors were F. Manley, city, 146 feet 3 inches; E. McManus, Smith, 109 feet; W. Milne, city, 99 feet 9 inches; F. Doughty, city, 91 feet 8 inches; and E. Kennedy, city, 89 feet 9 inches.

The horses taking part in the contest were highly praised by the judges and the driving in most cases exhibited a high degree of skill. The long straight pull demonstrated its efficiency over the jerky, see-sawing method.

C. G. E. READY FOR BIG BATTLE

Galbraith May Get a Chance in Tomorrow's Game.

The C. G. E. team will hold a practice to-night at five o'clock at the Riverside Park in final preparation for their important fixture with Oshawa to-morrow.

The champions are confident they can defeat the motor crew both in to-morrow's game and also in the play off. Manager Primeau has not made any announcement as to who will draw the pitching assignment to-morrow but may start Scotty Galbraith. The youthful southpaw showed great form early in the season but has been nursing a sore arm all summer. He is ready and anxious to go now and may get a chance to-morrow.

The reliable Bun Frost is also anxious to get back at Oshawa after Saturday's defeat and Scotty McPherson is also in reserve if he is needed.

However the fans are sure to see a real battle no matter who is selected to hurl, as Oshawa with Bennett saved for to-morrow's game may be depended upon to put up a hard fight to wind up the series without a third game being necessary. The game will start at 4 p.m., and should draw a large crowd.

ANOTHER DESTROYER FOR AMERICAN CASUALTY LIST

SANDWICH, Mass., Sept. 19. — (Canadian Press). — The United States destroyer McFarland was rammed in the bow by the battlship Arkansas in manoeuvres near the eastern entrance of Cape Cod Canal here to-day. It was reported that no one had been injured. The damage was believed to be slight.

OILS DISTURBED WHOLE MARKET

Reflected Another Increase in California Crude Production—Industrial Leaders Heavy Today.

NEW YORK, September 19. — (United Press.) — Oils continued to exercise a disturbing influence on the whole market at the opening, and starting in generally lower, reflected another increase in California crude production, which averaged 852,903 barrels in August against 814,906 in July. Industrial leaders were especially heavy. Steel, Dupont and Baldwin made new lows on the current reaction. While foreign news continued without definite trend. Wall street was encouraged by the hope expresesd from London that the passive resistance would cease in ten days. This thought served as a sustaining force amid the general heaviness.

Selling pressure lightened in the general list as the first hour progressed and slight rallies were scored by some of the leading industrials, but the oil shares continued to be pressed for sale. Five thousand shares of Cosden oil appeared on the tape at a new low for the year at 23, while California petroleum also established a record 1923 low at 17 1-8.

The rails showed a relatively good tone under the leadership of the New York Central which held within a few points of its recent high despite the heaviness of the industrials.

Opening Prices.

Speculative gossip had it that hope had not been abandoned of creating a better market among the rails, when the general list has been straightened out. Opening prices included: United States Rubber 39 5-8 up 1; Kelly Springfield 28 1-8 off 5-8; Sinclair Oil 16 1-8; American Sugar 63 up 3-4; Dupont 119 off 1 1-2; General Motors 13 7-8 up ½; Anaconda 39¼ off 1-4; Baldwin 114 7-8 off 1-8; Pan American B 53 3-4 off ¼; Bethlehem Steel 48 off 5-8; Continental Can 51½ off 1-8; Corn Products 121 3-4 off 3-8; American Telephone 12 5-8 off ½; N.Y.C. 100 3-8 up ¼; U.S.S. 87½ off 1-2, Westinghouse 58 1-8.

UNHEEDED SCREAMS.

PLAIN TALK

the Spirit—the Church was on fire—the city became amazed, thea perplexed—and the question was asked, "What meaneth this?", giving Peter his opportunity to preach the truth.

"Did anyone ever think you were drunk because of your Christianity? That's what is the matter with the Church to-day. It has lost its passion; tears are almost absent; spontaneous songs are unheard of, devotion lags. I am not asking for excitement. The fire is there, the force, power, fury are there for the Church to draw on. People will ask 'What does it mean?' and give you your chance to preach the living word and live the truth."

Afternoon Session.

At St. Paul's Presbyterian Church yesterday afternoon, Dr. Morgan expounded the Gospel of Matthew, whose conception of Christ was that of "The King." The speaker divided his discourse into three sections, the first dealing with the Person of Jesus, the second with His propaganda or public ministry, the third with His Passion.

"Never once did Jesus foretell His death but He foretold His resurrection. He did not go to the cross as a victim, but as a victor," said Dr. Morgan, who referred to the first year of public work, the Judean ministry, as a year of quiet preparedness. It was when John was thrown into prison that He blazed into publicity, and when Peter made his supreme confession of faith in Christ, that the Master revealed the three secrets: that of the church, the cross and the second advent. The first chapters of Matthew's Gospel speak of the birth of Jesus, then comes the account of His baptism, anointing and Divine attestation, then the temptation, in chapters illustrating the Saviour's relation to earth, to heaven and to hell.

Speaking of the virgin birth, Dr. Morgan said that Matthew wrote according to the practice of the Jews in recording the genealogies of their people. He recorded the royal descent of Joseph from David, and David's son Solomon. Luke, on the other hand, recorded the royal line through David's son Nathan, and Jesus came from that line. When Matthew spoke of the "generation" of Jesus Christ, he spoke as an archivist, writing for the records of the Jewish nation. On the other hand, when he spoke of the "birth" of Jesus, in the 18th verse of the first chapter, he recorded his descent as a son of Mary, not of Joseph. Although Jesus was the son of Mary alone, and not of Joseph, Mary could not have Jesus enrolled in her own name in the official archives, but rather He must be recorded under the name of Joseph, her husband. Matthew wrote for the official archives, Luke gave the actual generation through Mary, His mother.

Dr. Morgan went on to describe the manner of Matthew's Gospel in his description of the King's enunciation of laws, and his massed illustrations of the King's power.

THEATRES

TRANS-CANADA THEATRES LIMITED

AT THE GRAND.

When the tuneful musical extravaganza, "Listen To Me," with book, lyrics and music by Charles George, author of "My China Doll" and "Go Easy, Mabel," is presented at the Grand Opera House to-night, our theatre-goers will get their first gimpse in many years of most loved of all musical offerings.

The expense in producing and operating a big extravaganza in recent years has increased so much that it has not appealed to the big producers, therefore, the scarcity of this type of entertainment. Unlike musical comedy, it requires gorgeous scenic effects, scores of novel and costly costumes, wonderful lighting changes, and a big company to properly stage the production, to say nothing of the number of mechanics required.

Le Comte and Flesher have taken the risk and have invested thousands of dollars in the production of "Listen To Me," which is in two acts and seven scenes, whirling the audience from New York City to the North Pole, then through Candyland, back stage of the Ritz Theatre, New York, where a rehearsal is in progress, then to Cupid's Post Office, where the romance is ended, presenting a bewildering effect.

A cast of metropolitan excellence, including Ross Robertson, Joe B. McGee, Gates Austin, Eddie Walkup, Peggy Earle, Valerie True, Marguerite Williams, and others are supported by a chorus of fascinating femininity, who present novel ballets and ensembles fetchingly.

AT THE ROYAL.

Famous English Comedy Drama, "Me and My Gal," at the Royal To-morrow.

The famous English comedy success, "Me and My Gal," will have its local premiere at the Royal to-morrow. This cinema has created quite a furore in the old country, where the winsomeness of the star, Betty Balfaur, has captivated critics and public alike, and those remarkable characters, Sam 'Opkins, Bully Dawson and P. C. Chas. Lee have made the whole country roar with laughter.

"Me and My Gal" is a delightful story of London life, at times saucy and piquant with the charm of an English love story, and at other times uproariously funny with the English humor that made famous "Alf's Button" and the "Beter 'Ole."

"Me and My Gal" has met with phenomenal success in the old country playing to big crowds, and turning them away everywhere and it is confidently expected to meet with the same popularity in Canada. Incidentally the patrons of the Royal are asked to come early and avoid any inconvenience of standing in line.

Prices for this attraction are only 20c and 30c. The aded attractions include "The Social Bucaneer," and Buddy Messenger's newest comedy.

The music score ararnged by the Royal Orchestra is typically English.

"THE BROKEN WING" THRILLS AS IT ENTERTAINS

To-night close a successful engagement of a picture version of a noted Broadway success, "The Broken Wing." Playgoers who are looking for something decidedly different should not overlook this at the Royal.

AT THE CAPITOL.

To-day is the last chance Peterboro will have to see Gloria Swanson in her most gorgeous production, "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," at the Capitol Theatre. This is by far the most elaborate picture that this star has yet appeared in and delighted large audiences on Monday and Tuesday nights.

One of the biggest and most sensational thrills ever recorded by a motion picture camera can be found in Elmer Clifton's "Down to the Sea in Ships," the feature attraction at the Capital theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

This scene shows where Raymond McKee who plays the leading male role in this production, harpoons a whale, and later the wounded and angry monster of the deep turns upon the small boat and catapults the occupants into the water, smashing the boat to kindling.

When Mr. Clifton decided on paying a last tribute to the now almost-forgotten whaling industry, by filming the actual harpooning of a whale, he planned to photograph the real stuff. As a result Mr. McKee was forced to sign ship's papers and enlist upon a regular whaler.

This particular scene it is said, shows the small boat being towed at express train speed through the water by the angry whale. It then shows the whale make a turn and charge the boat. Critics and experts have said, wherever this production has been shown, that this thrill is one of the biggest sensations ever seen upon the screen. It plainly shows Raymond McKee risking life and limb in the taking of these realistic scenes.

The management of the Capitol theatre feels confident that the motion picture public will find this scene truthful in every detail, and recommends "Down to the Sea in Ships" as one of the best and most interesting photoplays of the year.

WEDDNG BELLS

MURPHY—CALVERT

The marriage was solemnized at half-past two o'clock this afternoon at Bethany Tabernacle, of Mary Marjorie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Calvert, McClennan Street, and Joseph Alexander Murphy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Murphy, Bobcaygeon. The retiring pastor, Rev. A. G. Doner, officiated. Mrs. C. Bottum of Bobcaygeon played the wedding march.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a suit of navy duvet de laine with small hat of navy velvet trimmed with silver lace, and corsage bouquet of ophelia roses.

Attendants were Miss Dorothy Calvert and Mr. Harold Doner.

After the ceremony, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Murphy leaving later by motor for a honeymoon trip. They will reside in Peterboro.

DARLING—BURNHAM

A very pretty house wedding took place at one o'clock to-day at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Burnham, 543 Water street, when their only daughter Lillian Pearl, was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Aleck C. Darling, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Darling. The ceremony, performed by Rev. W. Harold Young took place in the drawing room against a background of massed ferns, palms and rose-pink gladioli. Pale pink and mauve aster, and pink snapdragon carried out the floral decorations, and the long staircase railing and newel post in the hall were covered with dainty asparagus fern, cascaded with gladioli in deep cream and mauve.

The bride, who was given away, by her father wore a beautiful gown of flat ivory crepe. The skirt was deeply banded with ivory Spanish lace and the low belt was held with pearl ornaments. The bodice was made in simple fashion with round neck and cap sleeves. A rope of pearls was worn and slippers of silver brocade, with stockings to match. The long tulle veil had a cornet ruffle of pleated tulle, held in place with tiny sprays of orange blossoms. The bride's bouquet was of ophelia roses and lilies of the valley.

The bridesmaid Miss Betty McDonald wore a striking costume of French blue chiffon velvet, a black hat trimmed with glycerined ostrich, gold brocade shoes and gold-colored stockings and carried columbia roses.

The bride's little cousin, Mary Burnham of Millbrook, made a dainty flower-girl in a frock of pale pink crepe de chine, with wreath of silver leaves and pink roses and quaint basket of pink asters and sweet peas tied with pink tulle bow.

Mr. Claire Stuart of Peterboro, acted as best man. The wedding march was played by Prof. G. H. King and a vocal solo, "All Joy Be Thine," was rendered in sweet voice by Miss Ellen Eagleson, who was attired in orchid canton crepe, trimmed with drawn work, black hat with sprays and stone marten neckpiece. Miss Eagleson's large bouquet was composed of pale pink and mauve asters tied with tulle. The bride's mother wore a gown of French blue canton cord, with jet trimmings, and ermine scarf.

After the ceremony breakfast to about seventy guests was served. The bride's table, centred with the cake, was festooned with pale pink tulle and decorated with pink sweet peas in tiny silver filagree vases.

Mr. and Mrs. Darling left later by motor for a brief honeymoon, after which they will reside in Peterboro. The bride travelled in a gown of grey canton crepe, with wrap of midnight blue fashona cloth, lined with grey silk crepe de chine and collared and banded with grey squirrel fur. Her hat was a small folded turban of grey duvetyn. Grey shoes with cut steel ornaments and grey stockings were worn.

The young people were recipients of quantities of lovely gifts from a large circle of friends, their presents including some beautiful pieces of silverware and dainty china. The bridegroom's gift to the bridesmaid was an engraved gold bar-pin set with whole pearl to the flower-girl a pearl ring, to the soloist a bar-pin with peridot setting, and to the best man a tie pin set with onyx and pearl.

PAMMETT—DERRICK

A quiet wedding took place at 7 o'clock this morning at Trinity Methodist church parsonage when Rev. A. J. Langford performed the ceremony which united in the holy bonds of matrimony Ella Ethel, eldest daughter of Mr. and the late Mrs. Frank Derrick, King street, and Norman Pammett, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Pammett, Chambers St.

The bride wore a suit of navy tricotine, with hat of pheasant shade, trimmed with coq feathers, and seal scarf corsage bouquet of ophelia roses and valley lilies.

Attendants were the bride's sister, Mrs. A. E. Wade of Orillia, wearing a gown of brown canton crepe with black velvet hat, and Melville Pammett of Peterborough.

The young couple left immediately after the ceremony, via the 7.35 C.P.R. train en route to Buffalo. They will reside in Peterboro.

LOCKHART—JEFFREY

The marriage took place at half-past nine o'clock this morning in St. John's church, of Catherine Elizabeth Jeffrey daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Jeffrey, England, and Stanley Lockhart, son of the late Robert Lockhart and Mrs. Elizabeth Lockhart, 124 Maude street, Peterboro. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. H. Lloyd.

The bride, who was given away by her brother Mr. Walter Jeffrey of Peterboro, wore a stylish suit of navy tricotine, blue velvet hat trimmed with grey, seal scarf and corsage bouquet of ophelia roses. There were no attendants.

After the ceremony, a dainty wedding breakfast was served at the home of Mrs. D. J. Eldred, 334 Reid street Mr. and Mrs. Lockhart leaving on the noon C.N.R. train for Toronto and Buffalo. On their return, they will reside at 468 Bolivar street.

The young couple received many handsome gifts among them a clock presented to the bride by the employees of the Weaving Department of the Auburn Woollen Mills.

HEYMOSS—SULLIVAN.

St. Anthony's Church, Detroit was the scene of a pretty wedding on Wednesday, 12th September, at 6.30 a.m., when Miss Violet Sullivan, of Peterborough, became the bride of Mr. Alois Heymoss of Detroit.

The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Bauer, in the presence of a few friends of the contracting parties.

The bride was attired in a suit of navy tricotine, with hat to match, and carried a bouquet of sunburst roses and lily of the valley. She was attended by her sister, Miss Vivian Sullivan, while Mr. Henry Heymoss acted as groomsman.

A wedding breakfast followed the ceremony at the home of the groom's father, Mr. G. Heymoss, of Canton Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Heymoss left on a motor trip to Chicago and New York. They will be at home to their friends at 5689 Parker Avenue, after 1st October.

Home Life Menaced

Never in the history of the world has the life of the famly as a social unit been menaced as it is to-day. Social unrest, the independence afforded women by opening up almost every profession and every line of industry to them, equal rights with men all of which are perfectly justified if not abused and women have the health and strength to carry out their inclinations in these matters. But alas, when a woman is almost at the point of breaking from her household cares and social life, to take on outside duties often means the breaking point and homes are often neglected for lack of strength or some ailment develops because of overwork. Weak and ailing women will do well to remember that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made from roots and herbs benefits 98 out of every 100 women who try it, and let it help them.

BICYCLE AT FAIR RAN 220.9 MILES.

White's Cycles and Sports Ltd., Announce Winners In Mileage Contest.

In the bicycle mileage competition at the Peterborough Exhibition conducted by White's Cycles and Sports, Ltd., the contest C. M. C. Massey wheel ran exactly 220.9 miles during the four days of the Fair.

It is interesting to note that two tied for the first place, both estimating that the wheel would run 221 miles. They are J. Gainey, 550 Armour Road, and W. E. Thornton, 493 King Street; and on a draw by Secretary Leon Frazer of the Chamber of Commerce, Gainey was awarded first prize, and Thornton second prize.

Five other competitors estimating the wheel's mileage at 220 miles, it has been decided that each of them shall have a third prize.

These lucky estimators were: J. Trussler, Charlotte Street; J. Thompson, 491 Hunter Street; Francis Carbery, R. R. No. 1, Ennismore; G. Armour, 145 Rubidge Street; and Francis O'Toole, R. R. No. 8, Peterborough.

HOMICIDES FEW WITH WET LAW IN MONTREAL

Chief Detective of Canada's Metropolis Cites Contrast Between His City and Detroit.

INTOXICATION RARE

DETROIT, September 20. — Crimes such as homicides and hold-ups ,rampant in Detroit and other large cities of the United States, are comparatively rare in Montreal, according to Inspector E. D. Egan, head of the Montreal Detective Department, who is visiting in Detroit.

Montreal, with a population of 865,000, has had only three homicides this year, said Inspector Egan.

Detroit police records disclose that there were 79 homicides in this city up to 11th September this year.

Montreal has only two pay roll hold-ups in a year, the inspector declared. In Detroit pay roll hold-ups average about one a week.

It is a rare occurrence in Montreal when as many as three persons appear in Court on one day to answer a charge of intoxication, declared Mr. Egan. As many as 200 appear in Detroit Courts on a single Monday morning, while a large number answer the same charge every other day in the week.

Mr. Egan blames liquor for crime conditions in Detroit and other large cities in the United States.

"But Montreal is wet, legally wet," it was suggested.

"Very true, but it isn't wet with poison bootleg whisky," he replied. "It's the brand of whisky that is being drunk in the large cities of the United States that is causing so much crime. The stuff seems to make the consumers wild; they go out and commit any kind of a crime. In Montreal, because it is legally wet, no bootleg or poison whisky is sold. There are no so-called saloons in Montreal. Beer and light wines can be purchased at the hotel bars, and the stronger stuff, real whisky, not poison, can be had by the bottle at a number of Dominion Government stores. And the sight of a drunken man on the streets of Montreal is a rarity.

"I haven't been around Detroit much since my arrival, so I haven't seen much drunkenness here yet. But I spent some days in Buffalo, a smaller city than Montreal, and I saw more drunken persons there in a day than than one would see in Montreal in a month. I saw the same thing in New York and other cities in the United States that I have visited. My opinion is based strictly on my own observations in those cities.

"I wouldn't say that the people of these American cities are drinking any more than the people of Montreal, but Americans are drinking poison, while those in Montreal who want a drink can have the real stuff."

AN IMPROVED TONE IN STOCKS TODAY

NEW YORK, Sept. 20. — (United Press).—Crude oil production for the week ending September 15 showed a slight falling off from the previous week. Another source of encouragement was the basis of accord on the reparations dispute found by the British and French Premiers at the Paris conference. Stocks showed an improved tone in the early deals. American Can. advanced nearly a point on the initial transactions and sizable fractions were gained by Baldwin and other industrial leaders.

Speculative interest fell off after the display of spirit in support of the early tradings and the trading dragged along in sluggish fashion through the first hour. Bearish attempts to start a reserval of the decline produced a sagging tendency in the general list, but stocks were not for sale in large quantities and offerings from the shorts for the most part were taken at the recessions.

Opening prices included: U. S. Steel 88 3-4; Pan-American B 54 3-4, up 3-8; Northern Pacific 58¼, off 3-8; Baldwin 117, up 3-4; American Can. 92 3-4, up 1-8; Anaconda 39 5-8, up 1-8; Bethlehem B 48 3-4, up 3-8; American Telephone 121 3-4; Sinclair 18l 1-8; Southern Railway 32 5-8 up ⅛; American Sugar 65, up 1-8; Southern Pacific 86 3-4, up 1-8; Reading 74, up ¼; Studebaker 101 3-4; Pan-American 56⅛.

PRICES AND INTEREST NEW REFUNDING LOAN.

TORONTO, September 20. Canadian Press. — It is anounced here in regard to the new fifty million dollar Dominion of Canada refunding loan, 1923, five per cent. bonds, that prices and interest returns from the new issue will be as follows.

Twenty year bonds, due October 15, 1943, 98.25 and interest yielding 5.14 per cent.

Five year bonds due October 15, 1928, 99 and interest yielding 5.23 per cent.

Special commission privilege, consisting of concession of two weeks' additional interest has been arranged for present holders of Victory bonds due Nov. 1, 1923, who desire to convert their holdings into bonds of the new issue.

League of Nations Withholds Judgment

GENEVA, Sept. 20.—(Canadian Press). —Council of the League of Nations failed to take definite action to-day on questions of Italy's repudiation of the League of Nations competency to intervene in Italo-Greek situation. Council decided, however to proceed to discussion of League's covenant, with assistance, of experienced jurists.

Council sat behind closed doors, but shortly after noon it was learned that it had been determined to avoid dangers of an open debate, on Italy's attitude.

MORAL DEBRIS STREWS RUHR

Spiritual Loss Overbalances Any Possible Material Gain in Invasion.

BERLIN, September 20. — The Ruhr struggle now drawing to a close after eight months of "passive resistance" by Germany, has cost an enormous total of casualties—human, financial and moral.

To the end of August, 126 persons had been killed, of whom several were minors, and at least two-thirds innocent persons shot by mistake. Ten were sentenced to death, five to life imprisonment and others to prison terms totalling 1,237 years.

One hundred and forty-five thousand persons were driven from their homes, of whom 131,000 were expelled from the occupied territory.

Newspapers to the number of 173 were suppressed, 209 schools housing 128,000 children, were occupied as barracks by the troops.

Hundreds of Millions.

The amount of money it cost Germany to finance the campaign of passive resistance has not yet been established, but it is certain that it will be hundreds of millions of dollars. The funds were provided by inflation of the currency, which completed the ruin of German finances, brought millions to the verge of starvation, killed all respect for government authority, imperilled the food supply, induced rioting with much bloodshed, and caused the setting on foot everywhere of plots for the violent overthrow of the government.

Finally the struggle has delayed by several years Germany's ability to begin real payments of reparation.

The cost to France and Belgium also has been enormous. Their receipts of coal and coke have been only about two and a third million tons compared with eleven millions for the corresponding period of 1922. Other reparation payments from Germany have entirely ceased.

Huge Indirect Losses.

Besides the direct costs of the Ruhr occupation, various indirect expenses must be taken into consideration, such as increased prices of coal and other raw materials; the crippling for several months of the French steel industry, the fall of the franc from 14 to 18 for a dollar, and the resultant rise in the cost of living and the increased cost of imports.

If the present negotiations bring a final settlement, the cost of restoring the Ruhr and the unoccupied portion of Germany to normal productivity will be enormous, even under the best conditions. If the settlement terms are unfavorable Germany will be in imminent danger of civil war, which would delay reconstruction indefinitely.

Finally the idea of peace and international reconciliation will have suffered a severe set back.

Throughout Central Europe the belief is spreading that salvation lies only in violence.

FELL SIX STORIES TO DEATH.

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 20.—Benjamin J. Ostrander, 41, a prominent member of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange, fell to his death late yesterday from the fire escape on the sixth floor of the Grain Exchange Building.

WILL PREVENT OUTBREAK OF ANOTHER WAR

To This End France and Britain Agree That Their Entente Shall Be Continued.

BALKAN SQUABBLES

PARIS, September 20. (United Press.) — The cabinet at its meeting in Rambouillett to-day, unanimously approved the outlines of the French policy as furnished to Prime Minister Baldwin by Premier Poincare and President Milerand yesterday.

The president and the premier personally reported the details of the conversations.

No further conferences between Baldwin and Poincare have been arranged for the present.

No Political Results.

The British Prime Minister was to leave for Versailles this morning on a sight seeing visit. He intended to see the room where the peace treaty was signed, and other historic spots. It was learned from a well-informed British source, in a position to give acurate information,that yesterday's conversations will have no immediate political results.

The main object of the meeting was to create a better Franco-British atmosphere for effect upon Europe generally and Germany in particular.

No atempt was made to reach an agreement on details, both the British and French statesmen maintaining their view points as previously expressed in a series of notes on the reparations question.

Prevent another War.

It was agreed however that the Franco-British entente must be continued, at least as far as the Balkan and Mediterranean squabbles were concerned, to prevent the outbreak of another war.

One of the most important results of the conversations was the certainty that when the Franco-Belgians start their open negotiations with Germany, England will insist upon and Poincare will agree to another allied conference if there appear to be good possibilities of a complete agreement on reparations.

MAN MISSING AS RESULT OF FIRE

SUDBURY, September 20 (Canadian Press). — Fire which originated in the engine room, totally destroyed the big sawmill of the Spanish Mills, Ltd., at Cutler early this morning.

The plant was operating on night shift, and the fire was discovered at about 4.30 this morning.

Early to-day the efforts of the fire fighters were directed to the saving of the large blocks of lumber in the yards.

It is feared that B. F. Rogers, of Burk's Falls, was burned to death. He has not been seen since the fire started.

Cutler is about midway between Sudbury and Sault Ste. Marie, and the mill was one of the largest in the Algoma district, employing 400 men.

The loss is estimated at between $125,000 and $150,000.

AUTO HIT BY ENGINE.

PLAINVILLE, Conn., September 20. — James Parsons of Hartford, drove on to a crossing this morning in a small auto, as a switching engine with freight cars approached. The train hit the auto broadside and threw it into the ditch. Witnesses helped Parsons to place it back on road. He cranked it and drove off.

BIG CHIEF OWSLEY.

Court Orielles tribe of Chippewa Indians from Hayward, Wis., made Alvin M. Owsley, national commander of the American Legion, a Chief. He is Chief No-Nau-Ong-G a-Be, which means "the beautifying bird," in Chippewa language. This is the first time in history a white man has been so honoured by the Chippewas.

LETS THE WORLD GO BY

The coal strike, the Grecian-Italian imbroglio, the Spanish revolt, and other disconcerting news stories haven't been able to erase the smile from this young man's countenance. But should there be a milk famine—well, we won't make any guesses about his smile lasting. This is the way he smiled at the Baby Show.

EARTH TREMORS WERE FELT IN VARIOUS PARTS ENGLAND

Windows Shaken in Parts of Norfolk County--Shock Felt by People in Upper Floors of Large Buildings

LONDON, Sept. 20.— (Canadian Press).—Stiffest earth tremor occurred yesterday on the East Coast and was felt at Cromer, Mundesley and Sheringham, in Norfolk. The vibration was felt by people seated or lying down and was clearly perceptible on the upper floors of large buildings, windows, brica brac and china were saken in numerous places One suggested the cause of the tremor was an explosion at sea, but nothing of this nature so far has been reported.

TRUCKLOAD CEMENT STRUCK BY A TRAIN

Passengers on Train Felt the Impact--One Man Hurt.

TORONTO, Sept 20.—(Canadian Press).—Canadian National train leaving Toronto for the western Ontario points at 8 o'clock this morning, struck truck loaded with cement on level crossing at Oakville. George Norie of Toronto, driver of truck, who was hurled forty feet by impact was brought to hospital here Passengers on train felt severe shock when truck was hit and air was filled with flying cement.

Steel box car wheels and axle of truck were carried by engine and became wedged so that two front wheels of engine left track and only guard rail on sixteen mile creek bridge, on which train was brought to stop prevented more serious accident.

LOCAL POLICE DID NOT SEE CONVICTS

Outside Papers Carry Story of Thefts in Peterborough.

That two garages in Peterborough were broken into on Tuesday morning and a quantity of gas stolen by the four escaped Kingston convicts was learned from Provincial newspapers this morning.

On inquiry at the Police Station, however, Chief Constable S. Newhall informed The Examiner that he was unaware of such depredations.

Locks were broken on two gas tanks, but one of the tanks was empty, and so far as could be learned, no gasoline was taken from the other.

The allegation that the burglars were the escaped convicts is merely surmise, the Chief declared. No information as to their identity has been obtained, and the fact that the convicts could have reached Peterborough by that time on Tuesday morning does not prove that they did so, he says.

APPOINTMENTS TO DOMINION CABINET

Deputy Speaker G. N. Gordon, M.P., Interviews the Prime Minister.

OTTAWA, Sept. 20. — Deputy Speaker G. N. Gordon, M.P., of Peterboro, was in Ottawa to-day, and had lunch with the Prime Minister, the Right Hon. Mackenie King.

Your correspondent asked Mr. Gordon what his special mission was and he said that the Prime Minister had intimated he wanted to see him about some matters concerning organization, and some appointments to be made.

However, Mr. Gordon said his main business in Ottawa was to visit the Japanese Consular-Agent to see if he could not arrange for flour, woollen goods, pork products and lumber, which the Japanese Government requires, to be purchased from Peterboro concerns.

He also had a conference with the Minister of Trade and Commerce, and asked for a share of the products the Canadian Government are sending to the destitute people of Yokohama, to be purchased in Peterboro.

The Peterboro member said he had given the names of the firms who could give immediate supplies, at close figures, and hoped that some orders might be forthcoming to Peterboro.

GREENING SHATTERED A RECORD WITH HIS BEAT.

WINDERMERE, Muskoka, September 20 (Canadian Press). — Harry B. Greening, of Hamilton, Ontario, in his 26-foot motor boat Rainbow III., shattered all daily record runs of any Transatlantic liner and established a new world's record for 24 hours for any kind of boat yesterday.

The Rainbow made 1,064 miles in 24 hours, averaging 44.33 miles for the entire distance, including ten stops for gasoline.

Greening started in an effort to lower the world's mark of 263 miles for 24 hours set by the Mauretania.

LOCAL PEOPLE INSPECT COAL FROM ALBERTA

Expressions of Approval Heard From Mayor, Aldermen and Other Interested Citizens.

ASH IS LIKE FLOUR

Alberta coal which arrived in the city yesterday was not received, as in a northern town, with a civic holiday and band parade but there were a large numbers of people to inspect the quality of the fuel this morning. Mayor W. H. Taylor and several Aldermen were present with Leon Frazer of the Chamber of Commerce and many prominent business men. Several coal dealers were among those interested, and general expressions of approval were heard.

Among those who visited the car were several men who had burned Alberta coal in the western provinces and they were glad to renew their acquaintance with it. Dr H. O. Langford, 545 King Street, was one of these visitors. He burned Alberta coal for 12 years, and said this morning he would not burn anything else if he could get the western fuel at the same price. Dr. Langford used the coal for heating by hot water. hot air furnace and stoves.

James Gray, 263 Charlotte street, also burned the fuel in the west and remarked on the way in which it burns out to the last ash.

"The ash is just like flour," he said. Mr. Johnston of East Ctiy is another who used the coal and was an enthusiastic advocate this morning.

Everybody Satisfied.

Ed. Cooney, who is distributing agent for the Alberta Government, said that everyone to whom he had delivered coal this morning is satisfied with it. The coal is well graded and screened and souvenirs carried off by visitors failed to blacken their hands, showing that this coal is not, as alleged, "soft coal."

Excelsior will start a fire with the Alberta coal, it was pointed out by Mr. Frazer, and the abundant gasses are not wasted on the outside air, but are consumed in the stove with a corresponding increase in the heating quality.

Apprehension Unfounded.

Several people who read the instructions given in the Examiner yesterday expressed the fear to-day that the Alberta coal would be too much trouble to use. This apprehension is unfounded.

No instructions have been issued by coal dealers as to how to burn anthracite and people have used it in the way they thought best, often with resulting loss in heating power. The policy of the Alberta Government is to conserve fuel, and their instructions, based on years of experimenting and practical experience have this end in view.

Probably the Alberta coal could be burned in the same hap-hazard manner that characterizes the burning of anthracite, but the Government way is the better way, and teaches how to utilize every atom of burning power in the fuel.

TAG DAY FUND.

Further contributions to the tag day fund of the Children's Shelter have been received from: J. W. Meyers, $10; F. D. Kerr, K.C., $5; G. J. Sherry, $5.

BUT PLEASE DO NOT TRY IT!

A person can bluff bees into making their stingers behave, declares E. R. Root, editor of a bee culture magazine. And he proceeds to prove it, as the photo shows. The occasion of the unique 'demonstration' of bee-hypnotism was the session of the Cook County, Ill., Beekeepers' Conference.

Organizations For Relief of Japanese

TORONTO, Sept. 20.—(Canadian Press).—Good progress is reported from all parts of Ontario in organization locally of units of the Canadian Red Cross for the Japanese relief fund, according to an announcement here to-day by Mrs. H. P. Plumtre, Provincial President of the Red Cross. It is interesting to note that first subscription from school children were received from Junior classes in schools in smaller cities of Province.

ANOTHER RISE PRICE SUGAR

A Jump of Over $11 Wholesale Expected To-day--Raw Sugar Market Also Higher.

Sugar has risen steadily in price throughout the past two weeks, and another rise is anticipated to-day, which will bring it over $11.00 wholesale, a local dealer said to-day.

According to a telegram received by this man last night, prices on the American market were withdrawn yesterday, and the closing price was $10.57 wholesale.

The raw sugar market is higher than it has ever been before.

Further disheartening advice for housewives was received by a fruit dealer this morning in response to his order for plums. This stated that Lombards are not procurable, and there will be no further supplies as the fruit is too ripe and is now out of season.

Other varieties of plums are becoming scarce.

Peaches, too, are increasing in price, one man adding 10 cents a basket this morning.

It is reported from the peach growing district that not half the crop has been harvested that was obtained last year.

EXPRESSMEN HAD SOCIAL EVENING

Local Service Conditions Discussed -- Instructive Address by A. F. Stillman.

Last night the Canadian National Express employees held a local staff meeting in their local offices at the Grand Trunk Depot. Those present were: Supt. A. F. Stillman, supt., Belleville, Ont. Local: Agent W. F. Skitch; Mr. E. M. Pym, cashier; Miss Pearl Twigg, Miss Irene Lockhart, Cecil Armstrong, Sam. Perry, J. W. Ridyard, Harry Rome, Herbert S. Delahaye, Robt. Bruce Telford, D. M. Copperthwaite, Thos. O'Brien.

DECLARES WORD EDUCATION HAS BEEN OVERUSED

There Must Be a Drawing Out as Well as a Putting in of Knowledge, Says Preacher.

DR. G. C. MORGAN

"Train the child according to his own way," was the definition given last evening by the Rev. Dr. G. Campbell Morgan, to the old Biblical injunction that says to "Train up the child in the way he should go and when he is old he will not depart from it."

"The word education has been overworked. There must be a drawing out as well as a putting in of knowledge in the mind of the child. The Hebrew word which we translate as 'train' means dedicate or initiate. Initiate the child in the way he should go. You have got to find out what God meant when He made Johnny, and then you have to train him acording to that. Oh, I know what you will say. If you give Johnny Noah's ark to play with, the first thing he will do is to try to lick the red paint off of Shem. But that isn't his way. It's just his wish. You must correct his wish, that his way may not be thwarted."

George street Methodist church was filled almost to the roof last evening with the immense crowd of people who packed it on every side, and who joined the whole hearted will in the hymn requested by Dr. Morgan, the old childish favorite, "Jesus loves me."

The Old and the New.

"The Old Bible and the New Child," with reference to the Bible in its entirety, and the re-discovered child of this generation, was the subject of Dr. Morgan's discourse last evening, which considered the reason for Bible teaching to the child, and the proper method of such teaching. Quoting form the Second Epistle of Paul to Timothy, the speaker alluded to the description of Timothy's religious training from his mother, as "God-breathed"—the eternal definition, glorious in its indefiniteness.

"The goal of religious instruction is the salvation of the child, and when you say 'salvation' don't think meanly but magnificently. It is a word of many tenses, not of one. Salvation in its past tense is, 'I was saved,' in its present progressive, 'I am being saved,' and in its future tense, 'I shall be saved.' Salvation records weakness and declares that strength is available. That is your goal."

"Salvation does not come by knowledge of the Sacred Writings. It comes in only one way, through faith in Christ Jesus, a personal, individual faith. There are thousands of secondary ways, but that is the primary one. It is not intellectual conviction that brings salvation. You can be the most orthodox person in the world and yet be damned. You can run around with the Bible under your arm, and say you 'believe it from cover to cover,' and go straight to hell. Salvation comes from a volitional surrender to intellectual conviction. That may be an imperfect definition, but it is mine."

Method of Teaching.

Dr. Morgan went on to explain the proper method of teaching the Bible to the child and growing youth, in relation to stages of intellectual, emotional and volitional development.

"Every human discovery, in any realm, is a divine revelation. That is my philosophy of life and the universe. You have your charter for scientific investigation in the words of Christ. "Ask and ye shall receive. Seek and ye shall find, Knock and it shall be opened to you." The whole art of teaching has been revolutionized in my lifetime by a simple principle; if you are going to teach a subject, it is not enough that you know that subject. You must also know the mind that you are going to teach."

"The fundamental necessity in teaching the Bible to the young is that you never lose their interest, and I don't know anything more wicked than using the Bible as a means of punishment. If Johnny is naughty, and you give him the 119th Psalm to learn as a means of punishment, you are going to make him hate the whole thing."

Kant's analysis of personality was quoted which divided the subject into three classes, that of intellect,

DECLARES WORD

that of emotion, and that of volition or will power.

First Period of Life.

In the first period of life, with its lack of cohesion and consistency, up to the age of six or seven years, the period of "perpetual motion," the bodily unrest which was a sign of mental unrest, Bible stories only were recommended. For the period between seven and 12 years when emotion and intellect were in the ascendant, and volition at a standstill, Biblical biographies should be studied, the speaker giving his experience from a 13 years' trial of such methods in an English charge.

In the years from 13 to 17 or 18 years, "the time when we hold or lose our bearings forever," when the intellect is arrested, emotion suppressed, and when volition comes up by leaps and bounds, in these years, said Dr. Morgan, "quit commanding and begin communing. Don't try to break that spirit that is bulking so big. No child of mine has ever heard a command from my lips after he or she had passed the age of 12 years, unless the fixed rules and regulations of my house demanded it. I am going to hold my children because they trust me. I am not going to lose them by commanding."

"Do you remember when you were 16 or 17? I can feel it yet. That age when volition slips in between and passes under the mastery of intellect and emotion. They come together, and if at that time, the light of intellect be light indeed, and emotion be touched with fire, you have a destiny of blessing, not a destiny of blasting. They act together, and you have personality, cohesion and poise."

Scrap Old Ideas.

The old idea of graded lessons should be scrapped, said the speaker, who declared that the Bible stories told to the little child in the Primary classes would be listened to —and loved for the moment. "Then he runs off and forgets it, but he remembers it in thirty years."

For the tiny little children, three for one teacher was sufficient, and teachers might be recruited from the senior classes; for children between seven and twelve years, sequence was held by Bible biographies; for the Intermediate class, with its awakening of the clan spirit, there should be 30 or more, with the teacher as a sort of president of a little republic managed by the members. The Bible should be presented from the standpoint of its history, as the record of one throne that is never vacant, that has never trembled, high above the earth, that moves in relation to it.

Dr. Morgan concluded with a reference to one of his own books that gives a descriptive outline of a course of Bible study extending over five years.

"Christ as the Servant of God," was the subject of Dr. Morgan's adress in St. Paul's church yesterday afternoon, heard by a large number of attentive listeners. The Gospel according to Mark was the reference, where, declared the speaker, the evangelist spoke of Jesus so as to reveal that in Him was fulfilled the Gospel prediction to be found in the prophecy of Isaiah.

Alluding to the theory promulgated in some quarters that the Book of Isaiah had been written by six different men, the speaker said, "Do not quarrel with secondary things."

The Gospel according to Mark begins, "The beginning of the Gospel of Jesus Christ, the Son of God, as it is written in Isaiah the prophet," and the speaker went on to draw out the meaning of the words "servant of the Lord," as exemplified in Jesus, the Person who fulfilled the ideal in which the nation of Israel had failed. Through travail to triumph, the servant of the Lord came for the redemption of the world.

SQUARE

After touring 35,000 miles in his auto R. C. Bruce says: "The thing which has impressed me most on this wonderful trip is the security of life and property we have found everyyhere. We have seen no violence, we have met with no personal disagreeable experiences. We have not had so much as a tent-peg stolen from us, and we have met no extortion."

That's a picture of Real America that is rarely held up to view. But it's the true picture.

A Thought

"And why take ye thought for raiment? Consider the lilies of the field, how they grow; they toil not, neither do they spin; and yet I say unto you, that even Solomon in all his glory was not arayed like one of these."—Matt. 6:28, 29.

Beauty is Nature's coin, must not be hoarded,
But must be current, and the good thereof
Consists in mutual and partaken bliss.

—Milton.

OBLIGATION OF LEAGUE MEMBER IF WAR CALLED

Shall Decide Extent of Military Action If the Council Appeals to Arms

CANADA'S REQUEST.

GENEVA, Sept. 20.— (Canadian Press Cable via Reuters).—The committee dealing with judicial questions coming before the assembly of the League of Nations has adopted at the request of Canada, a resolution interpretative of article ten of the league covenant, which guarantees the territorial integrity and existing political independence of all members of the league, in the following terms:—

"It is in conformity with the spirit of article ten that in the event of the council of the league, considering it necessary to recommend the application of military measures as a result of aggression, or danger or threat of aggression, the council will take into account notably the geographical situation and special conditions of each state. It belongs to the constitutional powers of each member to judge, as regards the obligations to maintain the independence and integrity of the territory of the members, to what extent is the said member required to assure the execution of this obligation by the employment of his military forces. However, the recommendation by the council shall be considered as of the highest importance and taken into consideration by all the members of the league with the desire to carry out in good faith their engagements."

Sir Lomer Gouin of the Canadian delegation observed that the definite text was of a transquilizing nature and he expressed acknowledgements of the sentiments of sympathy shown to Canada.

MAN ACQUITTED OF CRIMINAL ASSAULT

Brother Imprisoned on Evidence of Same Girl.

MONTREAL, Sept. 20.—(Canadian Press)—Joseph Lorrain was acquitted here to-day on a charge of criminal assault against a young girl. She was the only witness heard and she swore positively that Jos. Lorrain was not the man. Emile Lorrain, brother of the accused, was sentenced to fifteen years in the penitentiary three years ago on the same charge, the same girl indentifying him positively as being the man who had assaulted her. Following that conviction, the prisoner's brother, Joseph, made a confession to the effect that he was the guilty man and that his brother was innocent. On instructions from the judge the jury found a verdict of not guilty.

BETTING JUDGMENT NOT RETROACTIVE.

Ottawa Magistrate Imposes Fines For Selling Racing Sheets.

OTTAWA, Sept. 20.—(Canadian Press)—Magistrate Hopewell, who fined a number of local news agents some time ago for selling publications containing racing information, expressed the opinion that today's supreme court judgment would not affect these decisions in any way. Magistrate Hopewell felt that the Ontario Betting Information Act was a legal statute at the time that the local news agents were prosecuted. He did not see how the judgment of the Supreme Court could be made retroactive.

New Lamp Burns 94% Air

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas or electricity, has been tested by the U.S. Government and 35 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94% air and 6% common kerosene (coal oil).

The inventor, F. S. Johnson, 246 Craig Street, W., Montreal, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial, or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

One thing's certain. We can't have a war before November. World series leaves no space for cue.

If Germany ever runs out of ciphers for her marks she can have a few from U. S. national debt.

Hunting Season's First Fatality

THETFORD MINES, Que., September 20 (Canadian Press).—The first fatal hunting accident of the season in this district claimed as its victim eighteen-year-old Alphonse Loignon, son of H. Loignon.

The young lad was out hunting along the edge of the woods last evening when some hunters, jacking for game, flashed electric projectors on him, and mistaking him for a deer, opened fire.

The boy was instantly killed, but no trace has as yet been secured of the men who were responsible, and an investigation is being carried on.

NO FUNDS FOR STOCK SHARES

Client of Norris P. Bryant Relates Details of One Transaction.

MONTREAL, Sept 20.—Evidence was continued in the court of Special Sessions here to-day in the case of Norris P. Bryant, local stock broker, charged with the theft by embezzlement of fifty shares of Canadian Cottons Common Stock, the property of J. H. Turner, of Beebe, Que.

Mr. Turner said he had always dealt direct with Mr. Bryant and February 25, 1922, had sent him fifty shares of Canadian Cottons common stock and a thousand dollar victory loan bond to be sold at the market. A few days later he had received a cheque for $1,042, after he had been sent a receipt for all the securities in payment of the Victory Loan proceeds. The firm of Bryant, Izard and Co. had failed March 3rd, 1922, and the cheque was not paid. He had never had any trace of his fifty shares of Cottons. Taking other transactions into account which he had with Bryant, he estmiated his total losses as being between $8,000 and $9,000.

C. A. Fickett, former manager in the office of Bryant, Izard and Co., testified that the 50 shares of Cottons belonging to Turner had been pledged with the Silver Leaf Mining Company's Concern of which the accused had been president. He had not received any instructions from Bryant to pledge the shares with that company, could not recall any similar transactions and suggested that the pledging had occured through an error.

H. F. Bryant, brother of the acused, was the next witness. He produced two books of the Silver Leaf Mining Company, and said they were the only books of the company of which he had knowledge. The court issued an order for the production of all books and documents of the Silver Leaf Mining Company, particularly such as had reference to dealings with Bryant, Izard and Company, and especially in regard to the 50 shares of Canadian Cottons common stock belonging to Mr. Turner.

The case will be resumed to-morrow.

CONFERENCE ON SHIPPING GRAIN.

"Terrible Jam" Unless More U.S. Vessels Enter Trade.

WINNIPEG, Man., Sept. 20.—(Canadian Press)—In an effort to secure United States boats for the handling of the grain crop from Fort William and Port Arthur, Chief Commissioner Leslie J. Boyd, K.C., of the Board of Grain Commissioners, is meeting representatives of vessel owners at Cleveland this afternoon, according to information obtained at the grain exchange here to-day. It is understood Mr. Boyd has new proposals to make but the nature of them has not yet been revealed.

The United States owners are determined to hold out against the tariff filing regulations of the new Inland water freight rates act, according to H. Wolvin, manager of the Standard Company, who returned from Chicago today.

"Something will have to give somewhere," Mr. Wolvine said "or else there will be a terrible jam."

COURT OF WAR CLAIMS HEARS MORE APPEALS

Chemical Company Presents Bill For $187,000 Loss in Brussels.

OTHER CASES.

MONTREAL, Sept. 20.—(Canadian Press).—Losses sustained by the Franco-American Chemical Company, Limited, through the occupation of Brussels and part of Belgium by the Germans during the Great War, were cited to Hon. Dr. William Pugsley at the War Reparations hearings here this afternoon, and a claim of $187,000 was presented.

Col. Arthur Mignault, president of the company, presented evidence showing that the company had been established for about thirty years. In 1900 an agency had been opened at Paris and in 1910 another agency had been established at Brussels to build up business created over a period of ten years. Four years later when the Germans took Brussels the entire business of the company was reduced to nothing.

The claim of $187,000 is made up of amounts expended for organization purposes, capital invested, large sums spent in advertising, profits put back into the business, and the fourteen years of work bring the Belgian branch to the status it enjoyed at the time of the German occupation of Brussels.

Brewery Destroyed.

A. Rabin asked for $35,000 for the destruction of a brewery and hotel by the German army in the town of Alexandervosky, County of Kossiem; Russia. Mr. Rabin is a Pole by birth, but was naturalized in 1903.

Died From Immersion.

Death due to tuberculosis resulting from immersion after being torpedoed twice within a month was the foundation of the claim of Mrs. Ernest Bray, of Montreal, for the loss of her husband, Ernest Bray, who died on June 1, 1918. Mrs. Bray asked $20,000 on behalf of herself and two children.

BIG TRADE INCREASE REVEALED IN REPORT.

Substantial Increases in Both Imports and Exports of Canada.

OTTAWA, Sept. 19. — (Canadian Press).—There was nearly $160,000,000 increase in the total trade of Canada for the first five months of the current fiscal year, according to a return made public to-day by the Department of Customs and Excise. The betterment was larger in imports than in exports, but was great in both.

The total trade of the Dominion, according to this return, for the five months ending with August, was $785,000,000, against $626,000,000 during the same period a year ago, the exact increase being something over 159,000,000. Imports during the period were about $393,000,000, as against $303,000,000 a year ago. While the exports of Canadian products rose from $316,000,000 approximately to $386,000,000, trade in foreign merchandise exported showed an increase also, but only to a slight degree.

The largest increase among imports was in the class of non-metallic minerals and their products, where the figures for the five months this year were over $70,000,000, as compared with $39,000,000 last year. The next largest increase in a single class was in iron and its products.

COSGRAVE REFUSES TO PARDON REPUBLICANS ELECTED TO THE DAIL

Reminds Farmers' Party of Shooting of Families and Burning of Homes of Government Members

EIGHTEEN IN JAIL.

DUBLIN, September 20 (Canadian Press). — The opening sitting of the new Dail Eireann was an uneventful one, aside from one exciting incident. This was when the Farmers' Party, representing the Opposition in the absence of all the Republican deputies, sought unavailingly to induct the Government to liberate imprisoned Republican members of the Chamber so as to enable the Republican Party to hold a meeting and discuss its future policy.

This proposal provoked brief but somewhat heated debate, which showed that the Government had not the slightest intention to recede from its previous attitude toward the Republicans.

As has been anticipated, William T. Cosgrave was re-elected President of the Executive Council of the Irish Free State by acclamation, and Michael Hayes was unanimously chosen as the Speaker of the Dail.

Mr. Cosgrave was the recipient of a great ovation on his election. All the members of the House stood and cheered him.

Richard Mulcahy, who in the previous Dail always appeared in the uniform of a General, yesterday wore a rough brown suit of civilian clothes. He will now be Minister of Defence only, which is a civilian and not a military office.

Gaps in Labour Ranks.

About one hundred members of the Dail attended the opening meeting. In general appearance, the Chamber differed little from the preceding Dail. The Independents sat together in a group in the centre. Prominent among them were Captain William Redmond and Major Bryan Cooper, both formerly members of the Westinster Parliament.

As the Independents generally approve of the Government's policy, there is a tendency toward fusion, and already two prominent Cork members of the group, Richard B. Beamish and A. O'Shaughnessy, have joined the official Government Party.

A conspicuous gap in the Labour benches showed the defeat suffered by the Labourites in the last election.

In the last Dail the Labour members acted as the official Opposition, but now the Farmers are more numerous and hope to play that role, as seemingly was shown by their action yesterday in endeavouring to procure the release of prisoners.

Public Admitted.

One noteworthy difference in yesterday's session from the last sessions of the Dail was admission of people to the public gallery. This was crowded with men and women who had to be called to order by the Speaker for indulging in applause.

There was very slight public interest manifested in the assembling of the Dail. The crowd outside the building was meagre, and with the exception of a slight demonstration by some women in favour of the Government releasing prisoners, there was no disorder.

Deputy Gorey, leader of the Farmers' Party, in urging the liberation of Eamonn De Valera and the other Republicans under arrest, argued that 44 Republicans had been elected to the Dail by the people, and that they should at least be given the opportunity to meet together in order to determine whether they would obey the rule of the majority and adopt constitutional measures.

Mr. Wilson, also of the Farmers' Party, in seconding Mr. Gorey's resolution, contended that it was desirable for the 44 deputies to be in a position to advise with the other 12,000 Republican prisoners. He declared that their release might facilitate an undertaking to enable a general release of prisoners.

Cosgrave's Reply.

Minitser of Agriculture Hogan replied that it had cost £15,000,000 and the lives of many gallant men, including Michael Collins, to jail these prisoners, and argued against release.

Then Mr. Cosgrave spoke. In quiet tones he began by saying that the present was not the proper time to raise such a question. He also revealed the fact that the Government was aware of midnight visits by Republicans to certain members of the Dail to have the question of the release of prisoners and the question of the abolition of the oath raised in the Chamber.

The country, Mr. Cosgrave continued, had given its verdict. The Government had done everything to meet the Republicans a year ago, and thereby had brought the treaty into jeopardy and to the edge of an abyss. Yet homes of members of the Government had been burned and their families shot.

Only 18 Members in Jail.

With increasing warmth the President declared that the Government would not yield to sentimentalism in favour of men who had done their utmost and failed, and now hoped for positions as generals or presidents. He pointed out that there were only eighteen members of the forty-four members of the Dail now in jail, and asked what the others are doing. He added that there must be evidence of a real change of heart on the part of the Republicans before the Government would change its tactics.

Throughout Mr. Cosgrave had the House with him and no division was requested.

The House adjourned without further incident. It will reassemble at three o'clock this afternoon, when the President will nominate his Cabinet and a committee will be elected to choose Ministers not members of the Cabinet, who will be directly responsible to the House.

They were the first of the thirty men thus far indicted by the military tribunal to be released.

NATIONALISTS OF INDIA REFRAIN FROM VIOLENCE

But Will Not Co-operate With the Government—Oppose British Rule.

GANDHI IN PRISON.

DELHI India, Sepet. 19.— Canadian Press Cable via Reuter's).— Heated debates have been taking place in the Nationalist Congress here the past few days in efforts to hammer out a policy that will hold all the contending sections of the Nationalists together in pursuing their campaign against British rule, and for the purpose of the attainment of swaraj (Home Rule).

The congress finally by an overwhelming majority, adopted a resolution reaffirming its faith in the policy of refusing to co-operate with the British, but refraining from violence as advocated by the leader, Gandhi, who has been in prison for some time, terming this the only method to win self-Government.

Ban Removed

The resolution, however, removes the ban which the congress had put upon any participation in elections for the various provincial and central legislatures thus permitting the section led by Das to put forward candidates, though without the direct support of the congress.

Both sections of the congress supported this compromise, in order to abolish the dissensions which were threatening to break the Nationalist movement by growing Hindu-Muslim conflicts. Das declared that the only intention of his party in entering the councils was to create deadlocks and deprive the Government of legislative machinery.

Expect Keen Contests

Despite the permission to participate in elections thus given by the Nationalist Congress, it is not likely that the Swaraj party will capture a substatial number of seats, but keen contests are expected.

Another important decision taken by the congress by a small majority is to boycott British Empire goods as a protest against the Imperial Government's recent decision in the dispute between the Indian and European settlers in Kenya colony over the political status of the Indians and other matters in question which were not settled to the satisfaction of the Indian residents of Kenya. A representative of the merchants of Bombay promised to establish a committee for the purpose of making the boycott effective by the committee selecting a list of British Empire goods which were to be rejected.

Fiery Attacks

During the discussion on the boycott question some of the speakers indulged in fiery attacks on the British Government and urged that labor should be organized to give assistance by refusing to handle British goods. Other speakers pointed out that the congress already was committed to boycott all foreign goods with a view to achieving economic independence and that by limiting the boycott to British goods they would injure the consumer by eliminating a competitor and also delay the progress of economic independence by purchasing from non-British foreign markets.

Police Called to Girl's "Wake"

DETROIT, Mich., September 20 (Canadian Press) —A riot call was sent by the police last night when a mob estimated at 5,000.... persons attempted to gain entrance to the home of John Larnec, to view the body of his thirteen-year-old daughter, Gladyslava, who, the father alleges, died from ill-treatment at the hands of the police after her arrest on 11th September, on a charge of larceny.

Three patrolmen were slightly injured by the crowd who fought the officers attempting to maintain order.

IMPRESSED BY LOYALTY HERE

Devotion of Canadians For Mother Country Touched Visiting Colonel.

LONDON, Sept. 20.—(Canadian Press Cable).—Discussing his impressions obtained on his trip to Canada as secretary of a detachment of the London Scottish regiment, Lieut.-Colonel Webb said one of the things which struck him most was the intense patriotism of the people.

"Everywhere and in everything the people stand by the mother country. Their devotion is really touching; so is their hospitality. In our case it was unbounded and we came back with warm gratitude for the kindness shown us."

"I saw no evidence of unemployment or hard times in Canada", continued Col. Webb. "In Toronto certainly there was plenty of work for any man who would give a decent days' return for a decent day's pay. If I were a younger man and something to start with I would not hesitate to take up life in that go-ahead country."

FIFTY MILLION SALE OF BONDS BY GOVERNMENT

Underwritten By Canadian Brokers and May Be Converted For 1923 Victories.

A RECORD DEAL.

OTTAWA, Sept. 20.—(Canadian Press)—The finance department this evening announced the sale of $50,000,000 five percent bonds to meet maturing obligations. The issue was announced in the following statement:

"In connection with his plans for meeting maturing obligations, the minister of finance announces the sale of $50,000,000 five percent twenty year bonds. The issue is to be Canadian, principal and interest payable in Canada. The purchasers are a Canadin syndicte. The price to the government is little more favorable than that of the recent very successful loan of twenty two and a half million dollars for railway purposes. The railway loan was the largest operation of the kind ever handled in Canada. The present transaction is even larger, and again testifies to the strength and enterprise of our Canadian financial institutions. The plan is practically one of conversion, inasmuch as it is the intention of the syndicate to at once offer the bonds, on terms which, it is believerd will be deemed favorable, to the holders of the Dominion bonds, which fall due November 1st. Details of the syndicate's plan of operation are being prepared and a public announcement will follow immediately.

"The syndicate which will offer the bonds will include practically all the important financial houses in Canada. The names of the syndicate members will be announced in the course of a day or two.

ASK INVESTIGATION OF CONDITIONS.

In asking the Imperial Government to send a special investigating officer to the United Kingdom to study the conditions there, the woollen and knitted goods manufacturers of Canada are basing their request upon a precedent.

Twenty years ago Sir Wilfrid Laurier sent a commissioner to Great Britain, and as a result of that visit action was taken by the Government which resulted in the present industry being built up as the manufacturers put it on "the ruins of the old."

The situation now is worse than it was twenty years ago, and Peterborough is vitally interested in an improvement in the conditions.

The importations from Great Britain since the last tariff changes were announced have increased to a huge extent, and the woollen and knit goods followers of this country are feeling the effect of this condition to such an extent that there is bound to be more and more unemployment among the workers in this industry.

The consumer is not benefitting, Canadian industry is suffering, loss of employment is threatened, and the only persons who are helped are the manufacturers and workers abroad.

That is the condition against which Canadian manufacturers are complaining, and their request for an investigation into the facts seem entirely justifiable.

NEW ONTARIO'S CASE.

A telling sentence used by Jim Curran of the Sault Daily Star when representatives of the Provincial daily newspapers visited Sault Ste. Marie recently, gives a mighty good reason why the people of this Province should take more interest in the development of the northland.

"Ninety cents of every dollar made in Algoma goes to Old Ontario," is the way the Soo newspaper man put it.

The average business man down this way does not stop to figure it out in that way.

He is indifferent to the problems of the north, scarcely troubles to read newspaper articles dealing with mining development, takes little interest in the great resources that are to be found there.

And yet it is true, as Mr. Curran expressed it, that for every dollar that is made in the north there is ninety cents to be spent in this section of the Province.

By helping New Ontario we are helping ourselves, and looking at it from that angle we can scarcely wonder at the feeling of the people of the north that they have been neglected by the Government of the Province and by the business men as well.

The greatest development has been done through the assistance of American capital.

Our people perhaps will realize when it is too late that a splendid opportunity has been lost.

Money comes forward freely for dubious Texas oil schemes and similiar shaky propositions located too far away to be investigated, but the chances existing right in our own Province are left to outsiders to develop.

THE EXAMINER'S TEST.

The first car-load of Alberta coal has arrived in Peterborough, and is being distributed to those whose orders had been listed.

The arrival of this fuel from the West is a history-making event.

There are many people who are firmly of the opinion that before long Ontario will look to Alberta for the bulk of her coal supply, and that the millions of dollars that hitherto have flowed across the international boundary to purchase American anthracite will be kept in Canada.

The first condition, of course, is whether or not the coal from Alberta can satisfactorily take the place of the American article.

If it does not approach the quality of anthracite it is idle to expect that it will be brought in preference to the Pennsylvania product except in an emergency.

The people of the West say that it will stand up to the test, and this claim is borne out by demonstrations given in the East.

The Examiner, believing that this is a matter of public interest, is inaugurating an investigation of the Alberta coal as it works out under every-day use in Peterborough.

Post-cards with a number of questions printed thereon are being given each purchaser of Western fuel, and the Examiner urges every citizen who tries the coal to answer these questions and mail the card in order that a comprehensive idea may be attained as to the suitability of Alberta coal as a domestic fuel.

It will only take a minute to fill in the post-card, but the information gathered in this way should be of invaluable assistance in helping to solve the fuel problem.

Co-operation with the Examiner in this respect will be serving the general interest.

SAFER TRAVELLING CONDITIONS.

Now that the farmers are out of the saddle, so far as political control is concerned, there is reason to hope for a Provincial measure that will make travelling at night on the roads of Ontario much safer than it is under present conditions.

The first step is to chase the unlighted vehicle off the highway.

Next to the glaring headlights which are found on many automobiles, the horse-drawn vehicle without lights is the greatest death-trap on the road.

A few nights ago a Simcoe woman with several other people was riding in a buggy that was unilluminated when a motor car, the driver of which was blinded by the headlights of another automobile coming in the same direction as the buggy, crashed into the latter vehicle, killed the woman and seriously injured her husband.

A combination of conditions like these was almost certain to produce an accident, and when a heavy motor car smashes into a horse-drawn conveyance it is the latter that is sure to suffer the most.

Yet, for some reason or other, the majority of rural residents are utterly opposed to a precaution designed primarily for their protection.

Conditions along the highways are not as they were twenty years ago, and it is about time the fact was realized and some attempt made to deal with the problem.

As a contemporary puts it, "it is impossible to amble along in the listless, happy-go-lucky style congenial to a former generation."

Banish the unlighted vehicle and curb the headlight evil and a long stride towards safer travelling conditions will have been taken.

A MORAL FROM AUSTRALIA.

It is gratifying to have the statement just issued by Sir Henry Thornton showing marked improvement in the finances of the National Railways.

The task which Canada has on hand in making a success of the National Railway system is a big one, but at least it is a task which has as a basis the justifiable principle that the National Railway system is one of those services which represent what should be a natural public monopoly. There are two species of public ownership, whether Governmental or municipal. One is the ownership or operation of public services which are or should be by their nature public monopolies; the other is the ownership or operation of services which are not naturally of a monopolistic nature—services in which competition is likely to be permanent, and in which competition is not likely to be objectionable—and which should therefore be left to private effort.

A striking illustration of the difference between the two species of ownership, and of the unquestionable mistake of trying to apply the principle of public ownership to services which are not in their nature monopolistic, is being afforded in Australia.

Let us make clear for a moment what we mean by service that is naturally of a monopolistic nature. We mean such things as public transportation, whether by steam railways or street railways; we mean the postal service of a country; we mean the telegraph service of a country; we mean the telephone service; we mean the supply of water or electricity or gas in the municipality. These are things in which competition is almost always a mistake. One system and one control should usually be advantageous for the public.

In Australia, both the Federal Government and the Provincial Governments went into various sorts of public ownership. This was partly because of war necessities but some of the undertakings were not excusable even on that basis. The Government of New South Wales was particularly enthusiastic in going into all sorts of enterprises. It operated timber yards, metal quarries, a clothing factory, brick works, saw mills, a drug store, a bakery, motor garages, a power station and a fleet of trawlers. Most of these enterprises showed continuous deficits and down to the end of June, 1922, the net losses totalled something like a million dollars, and most of them are being abandoned. The Government of Queensland operated private undertakings running all the way from railway refreshment rooms to the retailing of meats, and up to the end of last year the result was a deficit of about a million and a half. The Federal Government of Australia operated pools in wool and fruit and also did a lot of building. These were war measures in a large degree and had for their main purpose the stabilization of prices. In that regard they were successful, but the final loss will be in the millions.

Now, it is possible that even where public ownership is undertaken in connection with national or municipal service which should be of a monopolistic nature there may be superficial financial loss; but at least the public has control of the conditions and the conditions are often such that it is not safe for any but the public representatives to control them. But in connection with much of the business which was gone into by Governments in Australia it was tolerably certain that there would be direct financial loss; and it was equally certain that the public interest could be as well served by competition and private operation as by Government service.

It is very important that the public should keep this distinction in mind. There are two great dangers in overlooking it. One is the danger that unless public ownership is confined to service which is naturally monopolistic, the principle will get a great deal of discredit from the almost inevitable loss resulting from the extension of the idea into what should be private competitive business; and the other danger is that in ill-informed minds there should persist an idea that a principle which is desirable and efficient in regard to services which are natural monopolies, can be equally effective or useful or safe if carried into services which are not of such a necessary general nature that a single control is desirable.

The state or the municipality may have excellent reason to operate service which pertains to the whole people under conditions that render private competition inexpedient or extravagant or dangerous; the state has no excuse for going into business where private competition is reasonable and safe and likely to be permanent.—Ottawa Journal.

EDITORIAL NOTES AND COMMENT.

Baron Renfrew is one British harvester whom the Immigration Department will not be able to induce to remain in Canada.

According to some commentators, Canadians are waiting in breathless anxiety for the results of the Imperial Conference. But the odds are that the man on the street does not evne know when it is going to be held.

Level crossing accidents are growing more numerous. The old slogan, "Stop, look and listen," should be posted on the windshield of every automobile.

The Canadian Red Cross Society is the proper body to organize relief for the Japanese earthquake sufferers. And knowing that the fund is in good hands, the response of the Canadian people should be hearty and immediate.

An expedition which went to India in search of a pink-headed bird failed to see one. They might have had better luck by patronizing a bootlegger.

Lindsay authorities find a number of citizens who own automobiles are unable to pay their taxes. That condition is not peculiar to Lindsay, for everywhere the motor car seems to have the right-of-way when expenditures are being considered.

The Montreal Star declares that Canada should advertise—but surely not with the kind of publicity the Star has been handing out.

"One more September is rising to the full glory of autumnal glory," says a contemporary in a poetic vein. The trouble is, however, that too many citizens are rising to an empty coal-bin.

TORONTO CATTLE.

TORONTO, September 20. — Receipts to-day were 956 cattle, 272 calves, 1,465 hogs, and 2,163 sheep and lambs. Of Monday's and Tuesday's receipts of 6,286, less than 500 were held for sale yesterday. The demand for good handy weight butchers continues unsatisfied and those of poorer quality have to be used. A few loads of good quality feeders are filtering in, but the packers are taking some owing to the scarcity of finished beeves, and few are going back to the country. One load of these was taken for a nearby farm this week at $6.70 a cwt. For a load averaging a little under 1,000 pounds each $6.30 was bid yesterday morning, but they went for butchering at $6.50 a cwt.

Only one load of Westerns arrived yesterday, but others are on the way. The exporters have bought about 60 head of the heavies since Monday to fill up space and have paid steady prices. Prices in all directions are ruling firm, but any decided advances are in the bulls and butchers' cows. Good heavy bulls are bringing 5 cents and over and cows, not the choice kind, are selling at about the same money. Scarcity of bologna bulls found sellers asking 3 1-4 cents a pound yesterday, an advance of fully 50 cents a cwt., and one choice cow sold at 6 1-4 cents. A few heavy steers brought $7.60 and choice medium weight butchers $7.50 a cwt.

The best evidence of the state of the market was the fact that most of the commission men were able to return to their offices around noon, with most of their consignments disposed of.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

CHICAGO, September 19. — Gossip that European buying of wheat was in progress on a larger scale than most traders were aware of led to moderate gains in price to-day. The close was firm 1-8 to 5-8 net higher with December $1.02 5-8 to $1.02 3-4 and May $1.08¼ to $1.08 3-8. Corn finished unchanged to 1-8 and 1-4c lower; oats varying from 1-8c off to 1-8c and ¼c advance and provisions unchanged to 17c down.

At first the wheat market averaged lower as a result of weakness in Liverpool prices and because of assertions that offerings of Canadian wheat were being pressed for sale in Great Britain. On the downturns in price here however the demand from commission houses broadened somewhat and except during the first hour the course of values was favorable to the bulls. Persistent buying of future deliveries at Winnipeg apparently for exporters, was noted, a circumstance which in some quarters was conected with talk that a new German reparations offer within ten days was looked for.

Considerable commeut was caused by the reported booking of 3,000,000 bushels ocean freight room, but the wheat bears asserted that such a circumstance lacked special significance, as charterings are running up to 6,000,000 or 7,000,000 bushels a week at present. The most definite estimate of to-day's new business with Europe was upward of 500,000 bushels. Minneapolis reported indications of large flour sales and a decided falling off in the amount of wheat arrivals there and at Duluth.

Demand for corn and oats was wthout much energy, despite government reports confirming frost damage to corn.

Provisions were weakened by a break in hog values.

CHICAGO CATTLE.

CHICAGO, September 19. — Cattle receipts 12,000; fed steers and yearlings weak to 25c lower; top matured steers 12.90; best yearlings 12.50; bulk fat steers and yearlings 9.50 and 11.25; bulls and vealers strong; stockers and feeders firm; bulk 6.25 and 7.50; bulk vealers to packers 12.75 to 13.50

Hogs, receipts 2,700; market 15c and 25c lower; bulk good and choice 160 to 240 pound average 8.55 and 8.75; top 8.75; desirable 250 to 325 pound butchers 8.20 and 8.50; packing sows 7.30 and 7.60; better grades strong weight killing pigs 6.75 and 7.25; estimated hold over 17,000.

Sheep, receipts 30,000; fat lambs steady to 25c lower; feeding lambs, cull natives and sheep generally steady; better grades native lambs, 13.25 and 13.65; cull natives 9.50 and 10.00; odd lots yearling wethers to killers 9.50 and 11.00; medium and handyweight fat ewes 5.50 and 6.50; feeding lambs 13.50 and 13.75.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Sept. '20.—(Canadian Press)—Trade in cash grain on the local market today was not large but the tone of the market was firm. Owing to the recent declines in cash wheat prices in the Winnipeg market a weaker feeling was developed on the local flour market and prices were marked down twenty cents per bag, this being the first official change since the crop season opened. A much stronger feeling developed in millfeed with prices up two dollars a ton for bran and shorts, and four dollars a ton for middlings. There was no change in the baled hay market. Feeling is firm with a fair trade passing in eggs. The tone of the potato market was firm. Butter prices advanced 3-8 to 1-2c per pound in improved demand. Prices for cheese ruled firm.

STERLING RATES.

MONTREAL, Sept. 20.—(Canadian Press)—Sterling exchange rates were quoted here today: Demand 4.6513; cables 4.6358.

WINNIPEG CATTLE.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 20.—(Canadian Press)—Receipts 2,300 cattle and calves, 810 hogs and 230 sheep and lambs.

Bidding on the cattle market was not quite so brisk this morning. Butcher cows, desirable stockers and feeders were steady but prices generally showed a weaker tendency for the remaining classes and grades.

The lamb market was brisk, prices topping at $11.00 with shop in fair demand at $6.00 to $7.00.

Bidding on the hog market was steady. Thick smooths weighed up at $11.00 and select bacons at $12.10.

PAYNE CASE WILL COME UP IN FALL.

Will Is Still Going Through Process of Litigation.

Israel Payne, sole surviving executor of the estate of his late wife, Isabella Payne, applied at Osgoode Hall on Monday, before Mr Justice Kelly, for an interpretation of the will of his late wife, and particularly as to his power to sell, over which there has been recent litigation.

After argument, the matter was adjourned until the non-jury sittings in Peterborough in October, at which Mr. Justice Kelly will preside, the house in the meantime to be sold and the money held in trust by the official guardian.

Mr. Joseph Wearing appeared for Israel Payne, Mr. G. N. Gordon, K.C., for the executors of Pricilla Payne Estate, and the official guardian for the daughter of Mrs. Hester Payne.

DISCUSS PROBLEM EMPIRE WIRELESS

Settlement of Vexed Question at Imperial Conference Hoped For.

LONDON, Sept. 19. — (United Press).— The problem of Empire Wireless which is regarded as essentially important ,not only to the Mother Country, but to the Dominions, will be discused at the Imperial Conference, and it is believed that an agreement will be reached which will clear up the present muddle. The Dominions have for two years waited for the British Government to take action in the matter, and the delays have probably been caused to a large exten by the frequent changes in the post-master generalship, for Neville Chamberlain Joynson Hicks and now Worthington Evans have all held this post since the Conservative Government assumed office.

Last March, the government announced that private enterprise was no longer barred, the only stipulation being made was that no commercial wireless messages were sent out of England to the Dominions because the British Post Office was in the field as a competitor in this area. An agreement was reached at that time with the Marconi Company but this has never been signed and the whole qestion has since been shelved.

A new scheme has now been devised under which the Post Office takes absolute control over private enterprise, and this extinguishes the schme that was believed to be acceptable by the Dominions, so the whole question will come up at the conference.

PRIEST TRANSFERRED.

SHERBROOKE, Que., Sept. 20.—(Canadian Press)—The Rev. FRUIT SUPPLY REACHES PEAK.

Big Week For the Peach Crop—Grapes Are Beginning To Reach Market.

Fruit stores are to-day packed to the doors with the pick of the fruit crop in great variety. This is the banner week for peaches, and the first large consignment of grapes has arrived in the city.

Crawfords, considered the best freestone peaches for preserving, are on sale at 60 to 80 cents a 6-quart barket and from 80 cents to $2.40 for 11-quart baskets.

Rogers grapes are 55 to 65 cents a 6-quart basket, with a strong market.

Turkey grapes, luscious in their transparent colours, sell at 30 cents a pound.

Plums Plentiful.

Blue damsons are offered at 85 cents for 6-quarts, or $1.40 for 11 quarts.

Greengages are 75 cents for 11 quarts.

California pears, the big fruit so favoured for table use, are 50 and 60 cents a dozen, while Anjou pears sell at $1.00 an 11-quart basket.

Oranges have a wide range from 25 cents to 60 cents a dozen, selling at 25, 30, 50 and 60 cents.

Cucumber Season Over.

Cucumbers are conspicuous by their absence, the specimens shown being small and dried.

Cauliflower is offered at 25 and 50 cents a head. Corn is 25 and 30 cents a dozen for Bantam.

Tomatoes are strong to-day, with the ripe variety selling at 60 to 75 cents for 11-quarts, and green tomatoes, excellent for chow, 40 cents per 11-quart basket.

Dealers do not anticipate a substantial drop in the prices of preserving fruits. Supplies are expected to be good this week.

Cobourg and District

COBOURG, Sept. 20.—An old-time dance was held at the pavilion at Victoria Park on Friday evening last, Ben Hokea's Orchestra furnished the music for dancing.

Hydro in Northumberland.

The Hydro Electric Power Commission, it is understood, is preparing to extend their rural lines in the Trenton district, and a meeting of all farmers in the Trenton-Wooler area is to be called at an early date, when questions of costs, power, etc. will be fully discussed.

To Salvage Cargo.

The Donnelly Wrecking and Salvage Company has sent the tug "William Johnston" and crew with steam pumps to the wrecked schooner Jamieson that sank recently in the Bay of Quinte with a cargo of hard coal. Efforts will be made to salvage the coal. The present price of anthracite makes the wrecking o a coal vessel a heavy loss.

Death of Gordon Hill.

Mrs. Munroe, wife of Mr. David Munroe, and before her marriage, Catherine Lingard, passed away at her home at Gordon Hill on Saturday last. She was in her 57th year.

Granted Charters.

The Rice Lake Fur Company of Cobourg and the Northumberland Fruit Growers Cooperative Association of Brighton have been granted charters.

Shower For Hilton Bride.

Friends from Bethany and Hilton assembled to the number of about sixty to show their esteem for Mr. and Mrs. Ernest McQuilkin of Hilton, whose marriage took place recently, and to present them with pretty and useful gifts. A very pleasant time was spent socially as well.

Rural Deanery at Brighton.

The Rural Deanery for Durham and Northumberland opened its sessions in St. Paul's church at Brighton on oMnday. Rev. J. W. Elliott, M.A., rector of St. John's church, Port Hope, preached the sermon.

Death of George H. Giddy.

Mr. George H. Giddy, who was born in Cobourg in 1861, has passed away at Detroit, Mich. He was one of the family of twelve children born to Richard and Mary Ann Giddy. Mr. Giddy is survived by his wife and a family of four children.

Blessing of Group.

An impressive ceremony took place at St. Michael's cemetery here, when Righ Reverend Monsignor Murray, P.A., blessed the beautiful Cavalry Group erected by his congregation as a memorial to their departed members. At 3.30 o'clock on Sunday afternoon the procession left the mortuary chapel, led by the cross-bearer, the acoylytes wearing surplice and soutane. The Venerable Monsignor Murray, wearing the purple robes of his rank, was assisted by Rev. K. A. Corkery, wearing surplice and stole. Forming a semi-circle around the platform were the surpliced altar boys behind them being the choir of St. Michael's church and further back the congregation, men, women and children being duly interested in the unusual event.

Rev. Father Corkery delivered in eloquent and appropriate sermon, in which he congratulated Monsignor Murray and his parishioners upon the memorial which they hade erected.

Local and Personal.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Harvey and family of the Carrying Place are going to Oshawa to reside.

Mr. W. G. Foster has left for Pittsburg, Pa., to take a course in the Carnegie Technical school.

Capt. and Mrs. Charles Rheault have left for Charleston, North Carolina, where it is understood he will manage a large saw mill owned by his father-in-law, Mr. Bradley of Boston.

Mr. J. H. Davidson was at Cornwall, where he acted as judge of horses at the Cornwall Fair.

Mr. Norman Reeson of Tampa, Florida, motored up from the Southern state to visit old friends here.

Miss Grace Delanty has gone to Enterprise where she is teaching school this term.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Whimsett, Port Perry, visited with friends here for a few days.

Mr. R. J. Graham of Belleville gave an interesting talk on Japan before the Cobourg Rotary Club on Friday evening.

To Free Your Arms of Hair or Fuzz

(Boudoir Secrets)

No toilet table is complete without a small package of delatone, for with it hair or fuzz can be quickly banished from the skin. To remove hairs you merely mix into a paste enough of the powder and water to cover the objectionable hairs. This should be left on the skin about 2 minutes, then rubbed off and the skin washed, when it will be found free from hair or blemish. Be sure you get genuine delatone.

YOUNG PEOPLE HAD VERY HAPPY TIME.

Omemee Methodist Church League Opened For the Season Under Promising Auspices.

OMEMEE, Sept. 20.—On Monday evening, the Young People's League of the Methodist church, opened their meeting for the Fall and Winter season, with a social evening, there being a splendid attendance.

The president, Miss L. Parsons presided, and after the opening hymn and prayer, Miss Parsons extended a hearty welcome to all particularly the many new students who were present.

The Misses Eva and Lillian Race delighted the audience with a piano duet which was rendered in their usual skillful manner. Miss Jean Sandy led in the responsive reading of the eighteenth psalm followed by a solo, "Beautiful Isle of Somewhere" which was rendered in sweet voice by Miss Pearl Widdis.

The pastor, Rev. E. W. Rowland, was then called on and in a brief talk, he outlined a plan, which, if it carries, will create great interest for the next few weeks. Judges are to be appointed and the next four meeting wills be taken, first by the young men; second, the young ladies; third, the married men and fourth the married ladies. The punctuality with which the meeting are started, manner in which they are conducted, etc., will count as points in the judging. The losing group will put on a social evening on evening on the fifth night. Much enthusiasm was created by the plan, and the meetings for the next five Monday nights hold promise of great interest.

A singing contest was next indulged in, the leaguers forming two groups and singing a verse or a chorus of a hymn; if the opposing side did not respond within the count of three with another hymn the first side could sing again. Rev. Mr. Rowland proved a real leader with his group, winning a box of candy as a prize while the losing side won a box of bird-seed.

A series of novelty races such as potatoe, peanut, needle-threading and cone race were run off causing much merriment. A number of rounds were rendered by the party, the pastor proving an efficient leader.

Then followed the serving of choice home-made candy and lombard plums.

At about nine- thirty the happy gathering joined hands in a huge circle and sang "Auld Lang Syne" followed by the doxology and the benediction. Thus ended the first league meeting for 1923.

SCHOOL EXHIBITS GOOD AT BRIDGENORTH FAIR

Attracted Five Hundred Visitors and Had Three Hundred Entries — Judges Praised Exhibits

SPORTING EVENTS.

BRIDGENORTH, Sept. 20.—The School Fair held here yesterday was crowned with success beyond the most sanguine expectations of its well-wishers. Upwards of 500 people attended, and there were more than 300 entries of high quality. Arts were entered into with enthusiasm and every event was hotly contested, there being an average of 15 entries for each of the novelty races and other sporting events.

The judges declared the flowers, vegetables and poultry exceptionally good. Singing and public speaking contests were held successfully, the winner in each event being only a few points ahead of the runner-up. The judges remarked on the small number of entries in the livestock section, and remarked that they would like to see this department given more attention.

The nature study collections, including insects, wood, weeds and seeds, were worthy of special mention, and attracted much favorable comment.

The judges were: W. Barrie, livestock; G. Gayner, poultry; Mrs. F. C. McCrea and Miss Scott of Norwood; cooking, Mr. Downie; Public School Inspector assisted in judging the public speaking, singing and writing. F. J. Webster, the acting representative of the county, replacing E. C. McCrea, who is ill, assisted materially in the success of the Fair.

CROP REPORTS

The following is a summary of returns made by the Agricultural Representatives to the Ontario Department of Agriculture:

Fall pastures as a rule are now in excellent condition, and the milk flow has a most satisfactory recovery.

Frost did considerable damage in several parts of the Province to tender crops such as cucumbers, melons and tomatoes during the latter part of the past week.

Early frosts have also started silo filling in many counties. A large number of silos are alreay packed, but the work will continue for a few weeks yet, as workers are still very scarce.

Fall plowing is going on as lively as men can be found for the job, and a large area will be turned under should favorable weather continue. Mioddlesex says that considerable shallow plowing is being done with the idea of controlling weeds.

A good deal of fall wheat was sown during the week, and a full acreage will likely be got in this season if suitable weather prevails. A large number of farmers have been holding back from early sowing in order to avoid the Hessian fly.

Threshing is progressing fairly well considering the rush prevailing for fall plowing, fall wheat sowing and silo filling. It is satisfactory to know that in many cases both yield and quality of grain are turning out better than was expected from the appearance of the fields at harvesting.

In some of the Northern Districts grain has been later than usual in ripening, and harvesting has been delayed still further by frequent rains, which have made it difficult to work the machines on flat land. As a rule the cereals have headed out well.

Port Arthur: Sunflowers are a good crop this year and many farmers are contemplating growing them next year.

Waterloo: A number of farmers have been making well on early turnips. Car loads have been shipped from Branchton, Galt, Ayr, and Dumfries. The price paid has been 30c a bushel. A good crop of turnips will net $150 to $200 an acre.

Hastings: Many farmers are feeding their cattle grain and green feed in addition to pasture. Hogs are being marketed in larger numbers.

Bruce: A number of shipments of grass cattle are still being made, and some farmers are also buying cattle for winter feeding.

Middlesex: Two carloads of horses were shipped out of the county this week. They were of the draft type and averaged $200.

Timiskaming: There still seems to be a keen demand for horses throughout the District, and dealers are bringing in a number of carloads, which are being sold throughout the Timiskaming and Cochrane districts. Prices are ranging from $350 to $500 per team. Sheep and lambs have done well this year, and lambs are showing splendid development as a result of having an abundance of pasture, due to showery weather.

Manitoulin: Lambs are starting to be shipped, but only in small lots as yet. Cattle are being held back so that they will improve in flesh on the pastures, which at present are much better than they have been all summer.

Elgin: Dairying is becoming a stronger branch of farming. The price at the condensory has raised to $1.95 a cwt., and the price of dairy cows is on the rise.

Dundas: A local cheese factory making whey butter paid off patrons last month at the rate of $1.80 per cwt for milk. Local feed dealers report a 50% falling off of feed purchased due to the new crop of home grown feed and recent sharp advances in feed stuffs.

There's time in the package

Time to do the many things ordinarily put off on wash-day. For Rinso does not keep you standing over the wash-tub, rubbing until your back aches and your hands are red and sore.

Rinso, an entirely different kind of soap, soaks clothes clean. Rubbing and boiling are unnecessary. The big soapy Rinso suds gently loosen the most ground-in dirt without weakening a single thread.

The Million Dollar Doll

By C. N. and A. M. Williamson

Authors of "The Lightning Conductor"

WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY

Teresa Desmond (Terry), lovely and unbelievably innocent is impersonating her beautiful half-sister.

Juliet Divine, known as the Million Dollar Doll—whose sketchy career is unknown to Terry.

Miles Sheridan, Terry's Dream Prince, furnished the money for her convent education when she was a child. His wife's infidelity is making him wretched and in order to facilitate her obtaining a divorce, Miles offers the Million Dollar Doll $20,000 to take a yacht trip with him. Juliet is unable to take the trip herself, but working on her little sister's gratitude to Miles, she persuades Terry, who is an exquisite counterpart of herself, to take her place. Miles does not recognize the little girl he befriended so long ago.

Betty Sheridan, Miles' wife, is in love with

Paul di Salvano, a handsome Italian.

Eustace Naslo, a wealthy Greek who does not know of Terry's relationship to Juliet, is in love with the younger girl.

Mrs. Harkness, Miles' old servant, is Terry's maid on board the yacht. Her early disapproval of "The Million Dollar Doll" is swiftly disappearing under the influence of Terry's child-like charm. Miles has stipulated that he will have nothing to do with the girl, on the voyage, but under the impression that Terry is flirting with him, he breaks his bargain and kisses her.

After his dinner with Terry, Miles sits and smokes, reviewing his past.

CHAPTER XLV.

Crushed Apple-Blossoms

There'd been the war, of course. But that didn't count as a part of normal life.

The one deep love of his past had been for old Mrs. Parmalee, Betty's grandmother, who had taken the place of both his parents.

He'd asked Betty Sheen to marry him because her grandmother wanted him to be the girl's husband. Not that he hadn't admired Betty. She was one of the prettiest girls he knew, and had ways that appealed to a man.

Engaging himself to her was no sacrifice; but when he had his accident, and the marriage was put off, there had been a disturbing thrill of relief, repressed with a sense of self-horror.

Perhaps, (he told himself the night before his wedding) he was the sort of man to be bored by the thought of marriage; he'd always been so free. There were other men who would have liked to marry Betty, however, and she had flirted with them all till the last minute.

Several were good looking and well off. Their admiration gave Betty a becoming background; and it didn't occur to Sheridan till later that not one of those men had half as much money as he had.

Miles and Betty got on well enough after their wedding; as well as most of the married people they knew; but Sheridan began to feel before long that marriage was a deadly institution.

When he was younger, he had had vague dreams of romance. But after all, there seemed to be no such thing outside novels and the visions of poets. He'd drifted into moodiness, and the cynical streak in him had developed.

Betty's spoiled-child airs of being "the only girl" got upon his nerves. From being an easy-going, good-natured young man, he became irritable, even arrogant. He had been glad to get away from Betty, and into the war.

War had looked like the Great Adventure—until he was in it. Then the hideousness of the world's slaughter-house sickened his soul. He thought himself a coward sometimes, but pride saved him, and he did well as a soldier.

When he sailed back to America some months after the armistice he had a French Croix de Guerre, with two palms, and the American D.S.C. He meant to begin life again with Betty, who had written that she was working for the Red Cross. And Betty was at first more charming to him in manner than she'd been as a bride.

It was only when he and Phillips stumbled upon her secret that he learned the truth; how she had loved Paul de Salvano ever since the Italian Prince arrived in America, and how the wish of her life was to marry him; but she dreaded an open scandal for the sake of the future.

Sheridan had always been fastidious. This characteristic—virtue, or fault—had kept him straight in the face of temptation during boyish days; and now the knowledge of his wife's year-long intrigue filled Miles with disgust.

His first impulse was to divorce her. But he had promised the angel of his boyhood that he would "watch over the child, and protect her through thick and thin no matter what might happen." He had to keep this promise because it was sacred; and Phillips had helped him find a way to keep it, a way which Betty didn't deserve.

He had been keeping it sullenly, however, hating Betty, feeling murderous towards Salvano, loathing himself and despising Juliet Divine. He imagined that what he had gone through, and the thing he'd been forced into doing, had embittered his nature forever.

He had told himself that all joy of youth had gone. He didn't believe in women. He didn't believe much in men, and he seldom thought about God. If the generosity his friends had once praised in him, had not been squeezed out of his heart like juice from an orange, it was because he valued nothing enough to care whether he kept it, or gave it away.

Highly strung, disappointed in himself and others, reckless of the future; this was Miles Sheridan as he saw himself on board his own yacht—the yacht bought to please a woman who had betrayed him.

It was a true enough picture. Morally, spiritually, he had changed for the worse since his marriage; slowly, at first, and with a quick slide downhill since he had found Betty out for what she was.

Yet, on this night when—in his own judgment—he had fallen to his lowest, the man discovered that interest in the present and future had revived with an odd spurt. He was younger, more alive than for many weeks.

"Sea air," he said. Yet his subconsciousness knew that there was more in it than sea air. It was not sex only that thrilled to the lure of the girl shut up with him in this floating house.

Something mysterious looked out of her eyes, and called to him, and would not be ignored or forgotten. All that night was full of dreams of her; a girl like her, yet a girl who was not Juliet Divine.

And Terry?

In her cabin again, she flung herself on the bed, without taking off Julia's filmy gown of apple-blossom pink and gold. She felt crushed, and so it did not matter if the frock were crushed too.

Your Health

By DR. CLIFFORD C. ROBINSON

YOUR BREATH

Offensive breath is not dangerous, but it's extremely unpleasant and not very sociable. It can be prevented and cured.

The causes are all well known. The nose, mouth and digestive tract are the offenders. A good pleasing mouth wash used regularly and a gargle for the throat will afford adequate prevention in most cases.

The teeth are frequently the cause of bad breath. Remove all food material from your teeth by careful brushing and use of dental floss.

Infection of the nasal sinuses, the nose and throat cause bad breath. Certain types of catarrhal trouble are offensive.

Careful treatment is necessary, if you have allowed "dry" or chronic catarrh to affect you. Consult your physician without further delay. Pus-infected tonsils also cause bad breath. Have them removed on your physician's advice.

Diseases of the digestive organs cause bad breath. If you have a coated tongue in the morning, your breath is offensive. The cause may be the result of a diet which does not demand complete mastication and you overeat. Reverse peristalsis may occur. This is a backward contractile movement from the stomach or duodenum which will deposit the yellow coat "from the bile" on the back of the tongue.

Don't bolt your food or wash it down with tea or coffee. Don't soak your food to avoid chewing. You will rob your stomach of the necessary saliva, which is the first digestive aid. If gastric fermentation or constipation troubles you, bad breath will result.

TELLS DYSPEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas on Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid somach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretions or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bisurated Magnesia, at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antiacid than Bisurated Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a digestent. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthfully without need of pepsin or artificial digestents.

Get a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid milk or citrate and in the bisurated form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."

The rea ltrouble with all narrow-minded people is they are too narrow minded to admit it.

THE NEED GREAT LET ALL RESPOND

Red Cross Offers Local Opportunity For Relief of Japanese.

Baron Byng of Vimy, in his proclamation regarding the relief measures to be instituted by the Government of Canada in aid of suffering Japan, refers to Article 25 of the Covenant of the League of Nations which provides that:

"The members of the league agree to encourage and promote the establishment and co-operation of duly authorized voluntary National Red Cross organizations having as purpurposes improvement of health, the prevention of disease, and the mitigation of suffering throughout the world."

The proclamation also alludes to the amendment to the Act incorporating the Canadian Red Cross, which was passed in 1919, in which one of the purposes of the society is set forth as follows:

"In time of peace or war to carry on and assist in work for the improvement of health, the prevention of disease and the mitigation of suffering throughout the world."

Implementing the professed aims and objects of its National organization, the Canadian Red Cross Society is making an appeal for voluntary contributions to a relief fund for Japan to assist in mitigating the suffering caused by the recent stupendous disaster, and the Peterborough branch is asking for contributions, large or small, to swell the central fund.

If every home in Toronto, with its 110,000 homes, had lost one member of the family, the total would not be any greater than the total of casualties reported in Yokohama, which has been practically wiped out of existence, with 60,000 bodies cremated in its smouldering ruins.

A series of some 1,300 earthquake shocks occurred in southeast Japan on September first and the following days. After the earthquakes came terrible fires, destroying thousands of the light Japanese homes which are built mainly of wood and paper. Tokio alone is said to have lost over 300,000 homes.

Along the sea coast, great tidal waves overwhelmed the shipping and broke down docks and bridges. All the elements appeared to be in league to destroy life and property.

The whole area affected by the shock is about 13,000 square miles, and the number of persons who have suffered is reckoned at six million.

Toronto Red Cross has placed its objective at $100,000. If Toronto gives $100,000, it is estimated that the rest of Ontario should raise $150,000. The message from G. H. Ferguson, Premier of Ontario, says:

"The people of Ontario have always been foremost in responding to appeals for help. An opportunity for assistance to Japan is now offered them through the Red Cross, an international society, especially organized and equipped to administer relief in times of disaster.

"The school children of this Province will doubtless wish to help the children of Japan, and arrangements will be made through the Junior Red Cross for their contributions to be used for this purpose."

Money may be left at the Examiner office, or forwarded to Miss Emma Morrow, 484 Weller street, Treasurer of the Peterborough branch of the Red Cross Society.

TRY EAMONN DeVALERA IN THE NEAR FUTURE.

LONDON, Sept. 20. — (Canadian Press). — Eamonn De Valera and some of the other leading Irish Republicans will be brought to trial at an early date, according to a report in Dublin quoted by the Daily Mirror.

The newspaper adds that De Valera is being continually removed from one military prison to another in order to avoid the possibility of an attempt at rescue.

SPANISH MILLS LUMBER COMPANY PLANT ON FIRE

SUDBURY, Sept. 20.—(Canadian Press).—The large lumber mill of the Spanish Mills, Ltd., at Cutler, in Algoma district, is reported to have caught fire at 4.30 this morning, and to be practically a total loss. The fire was still burning early today. One man is missing, and is believed to have been burned to death. The damage may run well over a hundred thousand dollars, and possibly twice that if the flames spread to the reserve lumber.

Two Minute Tours

"The earthquake and fire that have destroyed Tokio and Yokohama in large part seem to constitute the greatest calamity, measured by the reported loss of life, that has ever fallen on any of the great cities of the world," says the National Geographic Society.

"The next greatest calamity in modern times was the earthquake that in 1908 shook a great slice of Messina, Sicily, into the sea and killed more than 75,000 people.

"The disaster which long stood out as the greatest and most destructive of recent centuries was the tidal wave which swept over the city of Lisbon, capital of Portugal, in 1755. The loss of human life in that catastrophe was between 50,000 and 60,000.

"America's outstanding calamity to a large city resulting from an earthquake was the destruction of San Francisco in 1906. Although only about 700 people lost their lives, the property damage amounted to some $200,000,000.

"Charleston, S. C., is the only other city of importance in the United States that has suffered from an earthquake. In 1886 a severe quake shook down chimneys and houses in Charleston, but resulted in the loss of only twenty-seven lives.

"In the West Indies the most dramatic earthquake incident that has occurred was the slipping of a large part of old Port Royal, Jamaica, into the sea in 1692.

"The chief cities of Central America, excepting those of Honduras and Nicaragua, have repeatedly been destroyed by earthquakes since the advent of the Spaniards in the sixteenth century.

"The city which has suffered most greatly in South America is Valparaiso, Chile. Great damage was inflicted by earthquakes in 1730, 1822, 1839, 1873, and most recently in 1906.

"The earliest historic earthquake, which caused a tremendous loss of life, and the most destructive, save perhaps the recent quake in Japan, occurred in Antioch and nearby towns in Syria in 526 A.D. This was then a city of some half a million or more inhabitants, the capital of the east, and save Rome itself, probably the most important city of the Roman world. In addition to the residents of the city, large crowds were gathered for a Christian festival. The great convulsion that shook the city and the neighboring towns, and the fires that followed are said to have caused the death of more than 200,000 persons."

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

IMMORTAL SOUL.

Editor of Examiner.

Dear Sir,—Seeing that we have an able Bible scholar in our midst, in the person of Dr. Campbell Morgan, I thought possibly it would not be considered out of place to ask him, through the medium of your paper, if there is any verse from Genesis and Revelation, inclusive, that speaks of an immortal soul. If there is such a verse, will you please give it out as I have searched the Scriptures, with the aid of a complete Concordance, and can find nothing to substantiate this old heathen theory; but many verses which teach the contrary.

Yours for the free gospel,
B. O. W.

MILITARY OBJECT PRIVATE WIRELESS

TOKIO, Sept. 20.— (Canadian Press). —Efforts of a private wireless corporation to popularize the radio in Japan are being met by the opposition of Japanese military authorities.

Officials of the military department fear that should a private wireless tower be erected, official messages of a strictly confidential nature would be picked up and deciphered. The opposition has relaxed somewhat, however, following the undertaking of the company to instruct its operators to make no effort to tune in on the government radio and to dismantle its plant and voluntarily go out of business should this agreement be broken.

The promoters of the radio in Japan ties that such a project as they contemplate would bring immense benefits to the Japanese people in the form of entertainment, education and culture, and that for this reason their plans should be allowed to progress without interruption.

WASHING SOLUTION

Heat one pound of soap in four gallons of water over a slow fire, then add one pound of soda. It will make a good solution for washing clothes where the water is too hard for good work.

SOLD $800 WORTH OF FURS FOR $22

Woman Found Guilty of Receiving Stolen Goods

MONTREAL, Sept. 20.—Olive McCallum wife of Charles Mooney, was found guilty of receiving stolen goods in the Court of King's Bench yesterday.

Mrs. Mooney, giving evidence on her own behalf, admitted having sold some of the good produced in evidence, but claimed that she did so under the instructions of her husband not knowing that they were stolen. She also admitted having given a false name when selling some of the goods.

The evidence showed that the accused had been married twice. Her first husband lost his life in the Great War. Her second choice was Charles Mooney, against whom a warrant is issued for another crime, and whom detectives were seeking when they found the accused to be in possession of stolen goods.

She had, it was stated, sold furs and other goods valued at around $800 for $22.

Sentence will be pronounced later. Three other charges of a similar nature are to be heard against the accused.

Feels Better Than For Months

Mr. McNabb finds Dreco a wonderful system-cleanser and health builder and recommends it highly.

Mr. D. McNabb, who resides at 40 Ford street, Toronto, and who has been watchman for six years at the Suburban Express Company Office, found Dreco a splendid remedy and tells you about it in the following statement:

"Before taking Dreco," says Mr. McNabb, "my liver was sluggish and my stomach weak and I often had spells of sourness and gastritis that were distressing. My bowels were constipated so badly that I had to take a laxative every day, and a cold settled in my kidneys. It seemed as if I could not get rested. My appetite failed me and my condition got so bad that the thought of food even fairly sickened me. The result was that I was getting no nourishment and my system was getting weaker each day.

"Since last spring I have taken several different medicines, none of which gave me the least result. Then Dreco was suggested to me and I thought I could do more than give it a trial. This I have done and the improvement that has resulted in three short weeks is little less than marvellous.

"My constipation is greatly relieved, my appetite is improving and no longer do I have that tired weary feeling. My food digests well and I have been freed of my gastric trouble and sourness. My liver is active once more and my kidneys much stronger and I can notice that since my system has been purged, that the yellow jaundice, which has developed during the course of my sickness, is gradually disappearing.

"All in all I am wonderfully improved and gladly give the credit to Dreco."

Anyone's system is apt to get run down, but it can be readily built up again with Dreco. This grand herbal remedy contains no mercury, potash or habit forming drugs and is the most reliable tonic and regulator for digestive troubles ever put on the market. Let it free you from unnecessary suffering by putting your stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels in proper working order.

Dreco is being specially introduced in Peterboro by Bond's Drug Store. It is also sold in Lakefield by E. H. Northey, and by a good druggist everywhere.

SLEW HIS WIFE AND TWO DAUGHTERS.

ALEXANDRIA, Minn., Sept. 20—(Canadian Press).—J. Willis Knox, aged 41, slew his wife, aged 39, and fatally injured his daughters, Dorothy, aged 10, and Virginia, aged 8, with a hand axe while they were sleeping yesterday, and then hanged himself. The girls died in the hospital. The tragedy was discovered when neighbors heard the pitiful groans and cries of the dying children.

CROSSED THE ATLANTIC IN A THIRTY FOOT BOAT

Alain Gerbault, French Aviator and Tennis Star, Near Death Often on Daring Trip From Gibraltar to New York.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—Alain Gerbault, French aviator and tennis star, landed at Fort Totten, S.I., alone in his 30-foot boat. It had taken him exactly 100 days to cross the Atlantic in it from Gibraltar.

The daring navigator had many a narrow escape during his hazardous trip, but he is still undaunted, and has apparently not yet satisfied his lust for adventure.

"I shall spend the rest of my life in a little boat," he said, as he unwound the sail which consisted mostly of patches. "I am going to sell this one, if I can get a reasonable offer, and buy a smaller one, then I will start on a voyage around the world, touching all French possessions. After that I shall spend the remainder of my days in a small boat in the South Seas. I am going back to Paris to sell everything I have and put all my money in the bank. Then I shall have no worries of that kind."

For nearly a month of the voyage the only drink Gerbault had was one cup of water a day. This was due to the fact that his five oak-casks were not properly seasoned and the water in them fermented with the juices in the wood, making an undrinkable mixture. He suffered from fever and a swollen throat for over a week, but never lost consciousness, and was never unable to do his day's work. He was blown out of his course for weeks, so that his log showed a total sailing of 5,600 miles. The straight course from Gibraltar is less than four thousand miles.

His little vessel, the Fire Crest, was swamped at one time by a tremendous wave, which carried away the bowsprit and some of the sails. Water leaked through the deck and rose ankle deep in the hold, rusting the pig-iron ballast. Added to this, his pump broke, and he nearly despaired until he discovered that a watch in the valve was causing the trouble. Gerbault had to dive into the water after the broken bowsprit and was nearly washed off by the waves several times. Once in a furious gale he had to work on the ropes, hanging head downwards with his knees gripping the mast.

Cargo of Books.

He suffered greatly from thirst while rationing his water, he said, but several days' heavy rain proved his salvation. He caught gallons of water in the sails and re-filled his casks, which by that time had become seasoned.

Gerbault's cargo, besides his food, consisted of numerous tennis trophies, including a large bowl presented to him by the King of Spain, and a collection of fine volumes by seventeenth century French and Italian printers. When he was not attending to his sails he passed his time reading Poe's poems and a library of sea stories, the latter being all written in English.

"My favorite of all sea stories is 'Captain Courageous,'" he said.

Among the old volumes owned by the solitary voyager to these shores, perhaps the finest is "The History of the New and Old Testament," with hundreds of engravings by Pierre Mortier. This contains maps giving the precise location of the terrestrial paradise and tracing with an unhesitating hand the winding courses of the four rivers that rolled through the Garden of Eden.

Trip Was Dry.

This work is in two huge volumes in a fine state of preservation. There are three other fine early printings and a sheaf of detached engravings for which the solitary navigator is looking for a market in this country.

Apart from the dampening influence of the ocean, Gerbault's trip was a "dry" one, he claims. He did not have a drop of liquor on board when he started out, and although he got some brandy from the Greek steamer Byron, he gave it away later to a fishing boat, the captain of which gave him fresh fish and meat.

Gerbault has three missions in this country. First, he wants to sell his old books and buy some new ones. His second desire is to take some airplane flights, and lastly, he is anxious to play tennis.

To Publish Book.

He writes English as well as he does French, and intends to publish a book on his voyage. Included in this will be a treatise on fishing for bonitas. Excellent results in this direction, he claims, can be obtained by trailing a white shirt in the water and stabbing the fish with harpoons. Flying fish are caught easily in the tropics. All he had to do each morning was take them out of the sails.

"I don't know what record I have made exactly, but I don't think so long a trip has been made in so small a boat before. I think the record of 100 days for one man alone in a boat is also unique."

During the war Gerbault was an airman, and is credited with bringing down four German planes. After the armistice, he tried to get various French firms to build him a plane to fly across the Atlantic in. Not being successful, he resorted to his boat, which has been his home for three years. It is a little too large, he said, to be comfortably manageable by one person, and sometimes kept him awake for four days at a stretch in the course of his long trip. He slept for eighteen hours on arrival, after being without sleep for eighty. He is an engineer by profession, but says he will never practice.

Now here is an opportunity for a courageous mind, with a wistful longing for romance, for apparently marriage is not outside the adventurer's sphere.

"If by chance I should marry, my wife must be a sailor. For her I would get a boat, a tiny bit bigger than this one."

What more can he offer than that?

SHUT MANY COAL MINES THROUGH LACK OF HELP.

Fewer Anthracite Workers Return Than at First Reported.

WILKESBARRE Pa., Sept. 20.—After working a few hours yesterday most of the collieries of the larger coal companies in this vicinity closed down because of a shortage of help. The return to the mines after the more than two weeks' suspension while wage negotiations were being carried on was on a smaller scale than was at first reported from coal company officials.

In some sections only about twenty percent. of the men reported for work.

The Lehigh Valley Company had onl about ten per cent on hand and did not reopen. The Lehigh and Wilkesbarre Company reopened all but two of its collieries, but was forced to close all before noon. More men are expected to report to-morrow and succeeding days.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By Olive Roberts Barton

WOBBLY WILD CALF'S PREDICAMENT.

Missez White-Face Wild Cow had lost her baby and she mooed so hard her voice came down from the mountain meadows like rolls of thunder.

It came down the mountains. Missez Wild Cow's voice did, until Nancy and Nick and Mister Gallop heard it and stopped their ponies where they were racing over the plain to see who could go the fastest.

"My goodness!" said Mister Gallop. "Something dreadful must be wrong to make the old lady yell so. The last I saw of her she was eating grass as quietly as a spring lamb up there in her mountain meadow, with Wobbly Wild Calf beside her. Come, we'll have to hurry as fast as we can to see what the matter is." And Mister Gallop turned his pony in its tracks and shot off toward the mountains like a comet, with the Twins trailing after him like a tail.

They climbed the narrow road up and up till at last they saw Missez Cow standing near a high rocky cliff, her nose stuck up in the air.

"What's up?" called Mister Gallop loudly. "For goodness sake, do quit that racket long enough to tell me what's up."

"Wobbly's up," said Missez Wild Cow, shaking her head at him reproachfully. "He's up there on top of that high rocky cliff and he can't get down and I can't get to him. I didn't want him to go, but he said he saw some white stuff that looked like salt and he was going to try to get it. And now he's stuck. Just take a look and see for yourselves!"

So they craned their necks and there, sure enough, was Wobbly Wild Calf standing on a little narrow place that would have made a mountain goat dizzy.

Wobbly was whimpering weakly, for being only a week old, he hadn't as much voice as his mammy.

Mister Gallop shook his head soberly. "I'm afraid I can't get at him, Missez Cow," he said. "My lasso would reach him but I couldn't get him down. I'm sorry but—"

"Oh, look!" cried Nancy suddenly.

There was a great rush of wings and Grandaddy Golden Eagle swooped down on Wobbly and picked him up in his claws before anybody knew what was happening.

Then very softly he dropped him beside his mother.

ANOTHER FISH STORY ABOUT PRINCE WALES

TORONTO, Sept. 20.—(Canadian Press).—Travelling as private citizen has its disadvantages as well as its advantages for heir to British throne on his visit to Canada four years ago, the Prince escaped curious attentions of immigration officials. As Lord Renfrew, he had to run gauntlet of whole series of personal questions demanded of persons about to enter Canada.

But Lord Renfrew did not shirk ordeal. An immigration official who reached Toronto yesterday from Quebec said that his lordship survived whole list, from color of his eyes to state of health of his ancestors. In all seriousness, some of questions and answers were: present occupation—nothing. Future occupation—nothing. Purpose of coming to Canada—To enjoy myself. Amount of cash—Enough for my present needs.

PRESSMEN'S STRIKE TO BE FIGHT TO A FINISH.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(Canadian Press).—The pressmen's strike has evolved itself into a fight to the finish. Such is indicated by a statement issued by the publishers of the New York newspapers after a conference at the Waldorf Hotel, lasting several hours, and which broke up shortly after midnight. In this statement the publishers announced their flat reejction of the alternative proposals advanced by the strikers yesterday afternoon, and they further declared that they would absolutely decline to negotiate with an outlaw organization. They expressed their readiness, however, to deal with representatives of the international body.

SOMETHING LIKELY TO HAPPEN EARTH

When Attracted Near the Sun Within the Next Million Billion Years-

LOS ANGELES, Cal. Sept. 20—(Canadian Press).—Professor McMillan, Chicago, yesterday announced that the sun would meet another star at distance equal to distance between earth and sun once in every million years, a mere instant for astronomers. Whenever this occurs something is likely to happen to earth in its orbit.

The orbit, which is now practically a circle, will be transformed into an ellipse. Generally this ellipse will still bear great resemblance to the original circle but it is conceivable that a heavenly body might pass us in such a way that our circular orbit would change into a very eccentric ellipse which would make us approach the sun to less than a tenth of its present distance which separates us from the sun. This would accordingly end all life on earth, but fortunately chance for such an occurrence is extremely remote. There is no cause to worry.

Face Disfigured With Large Pimples Cuticura Healed

"For some time my face was affected with pimples and skin eruptions, which by times would be very irritating. The pimples were very hard and large, and turned bluish when rubbed or picked, which caused disfigurement.

"I was treated but it did not prove satisfactory. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and Ointment and decided to try them, and after using two cakes of Cuticura Soap and two boxes of Cuticura Ointment I was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Earl Cooke, Box 374, Napanee, Ontario.

Cuticura Soap daily, with Cuticura Ointment occasionally, prevents pimples or other eruptions. They are a pleasure to use, as is also Cuticura Talcum for perfuming the skin.

PEAR RECIPES

PEARS.

Do you ever use canned pears for salad in place of pineapple?

Do you ever use pears canned in a heavy syrup for a company dessert with nuts and whipped cream?

Do you ever pickle pears and serve them with meats in the winter time?

If you never have canned pears for these purposes try it this year and see if it isn't very much worth while.

Pears for salad should be canned in a light syrup. The old pack method is preferred.

Cold Pack Pears for Salads.

Wash and pare fruit and cut in halves. Remove cores. Dip in boiling water and let stand one and one-half minutes. Dip into cold water and drain. Pack in sterilized jars, adjust rubber and pour over thin syrup. Half seal, process 20 minutes, counting the time after the water begins to boil. The water in the hot water bath outfit should cover the tops of the jars by at least an inch when the one-period process is used and a home-made outfit must do the work.

Thin Syrup.

Three cups sugar, 2 cups water.

When water is boiling sift in sugar. This prevents scum from rising and saves time and sugar, as no skimming is necessary. When sugar is dissolved the syrup is ready to use.

Pears canned for use in desserts are canned in heavy syrup. Perperfectly ripe, choice fruit should be used. The fruit is prepared and blanched and processed the same as in the preceding rule. The syrup is boiled until a ball is formed when tried in cold water and the syrup clings to the spoon sluggishly instead of pouring in an even stream.

Ginger pears are delicious and hard green pears which seem worthless can be used.

Ginger Pears.

Nine pounds pears, 6 pounds sugar, 4 cups water, 6 ounces crystalized ginger, 4 lemons.

When water is boiling sift in sugar. When sugar is dissolved add pears which have been pared and cut in thin slices. Pears discolor very quickly, so drop them into a large pan of weak salt water as they are sliced. When ready to use drain from water and let stand in clear cold water for five minutes. Drain and put in syrup. Boil until fruit begins to look transparent. Then add the grated rind of one lemon, the juice of four and the ginger cut in small bits. Cook until the pears are clear and the mixture is thick. Put into sterilized glasses and seal when cool.

Pickled Pears.

Six pounds pears, 4 cups cider vinegar, 2 pounds sugar, 12 sticks cinnamon, 2 teaspoons whole cloves.

Heat, vinegar, sugar and spices to the boiling point. Pare pears, cut in halves if large and core. Pour over hot vinegar and let stand over night. In the morning boil slowly until fruit is tender and clear. Pack in sterilized jars, cover with boiling syrup and seal.

Pear Conserve.

Five pounds pears, 5 pounds sugar, 1 cup water, 1 pound raisins, 3 lemons, 2 oranges, 1½ cups English walnuts, 1 cup preserved ginger.

Pare pears. Cut in thin slices. Put water and pears in preserving kettle, sift over sugar and bring very slowly to the boiling point. Simmer until pears are tender. Add raisins, seeded, juice and grated rind of lemons, juice and grated rind of oranges, nuts and ginger cut very fine. Boil for half an hour or until thick. Pour into sterilized pint jars and seal. The rind of the oranges and lemons can be parboiled through two waters, drained and cut in shreds and added with the juice.

Pear and Pineapple Conserve.

Pare and core pears. Weigh. To each pound of pears use the grated rind and juice of ½ lemon, grated rind and juice of 1 orange, ½ small pineapple cut in cubes, ¾ as much sugar as fruit.

Cut pears in thin slices or cubes. Put pears and pineapple in preserving kettle and cook until tender. Measure and add sugar, oranges and lemon. Cook until transparent. Pour into sterilized glasses and cover with paraffin when cold.

THE SIX NATIONS FREELY STATE CASE

Session of Inquiry Into Indians' Affairs Held in Camera.

BRANTFORD, Sept. 20.—(Canadian Press).—All yesterday's session of inquiry into the affairs of the Six Nations Reserve, near Brantford, were held in camera by Lieut.-Col. Andrew T. Thompson, commissioner enabling opponents of the Deskaseh independence faction to freely state their case.

Samuel Styres expressed the opinion that the white man was afraid that if the Indian learned too much he would know more than white man He felt this was why Indian children were not given as much education as white children. David Davis felt that one trouble with the soldir settlement was that some of the soldiers would not work and pay their bills.

THE PORTRAIT.

Casey decided to go into business, so he bought a small livery stable and had a sign painted showing him astride a mule. He had the sign placed in front of the stable and was quite proud of it.

His friend Finnigan came along and stood gazing at the sign.

"That's a good picture of me, isn't it?" asked Casey.

"Sure, it looks something like you," said Finnigan; "but who the deuce is the man on your back?"

THEY TELL THEIR NEIGHBORS

Women Tell Each Other How They Were Helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Woodbridge, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for female troubles. I would have headaches, backaches, pains between my shoulders and under my shoulder-blades and dragging down feelings on each side. I was sometimes unable to do my work and felt very badly. My mother-in-law told me about the Vegetable Compound and I got some right away. It has done me more good than any other medicine I ever took and I recommend it to my neighbors. You are welcome to use this letter as a testimonial if you think it will help some poor sufferer."—Mrs. EDGAR SIMMONS, R. R. 2, Woodbridge, Ont.

In nearly every neighborhood in every town and city in this country there are women who have been helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the treatment of ailments peculiar to their sex, and they take pleasure in passing the good word along to other women. Therefore, if you are troubled in this way, why not give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from roots and herbs, has for forty years proved its value in such cases. Women everywhere bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.C

GIRL DESCRIBES THE EARTHQUAKE HORRORS

Vancouver Girl Was on Board Ship in Japanese Harbor When the Quake Occurred.

VANCOUVER, B.C., Sept. 20—(Special).—First hand description of the havoc, devastation and scenes of indescribable horror following the earthquakes in Japan reached Newton J. Ker, 3939 avenue, yesterday in a letter from his daughter, Miss Marion Ker. Mr. Ker is Townsite Agent and Assistant Executive Agent Canadian Pacific Railway here

Miss Ker was on the Empress of Australia at Yokohma, when the disaster occurred and tells in graphic language the story of the fight with the flames the struggle of a mass of frenzied humanity, for life, and the days of suffering and hunger which followed.

Under date of Yokohama, Sept. 5, Miss Ker writes on the Empress of Australia, follows: Just a line to say I am quite all right, except frightfully tired and terribly dirty. We have had the most ghastly time, but the worst is over now, I hope.

"We were only too glad that we were here to help. The first three days were nightmare, some appalling sights and everyone homeless, penniless most without clothes and practically all having lost all or some of their famly."

"At first we had more than 3,000 refugees, but other ships have taken all but the very bad cases on to Kobe. Yokohama is quite all gone. Tokyo too, and all the surrounding places. In Tokyo there are more than 75,000 dead and the landing parties report awful things—murder and looting and summary execution by the military and naval authorities. No attempt is being made to, clear away the dead and you can imagine the state of things. We get the smell away out here. We are very short here, and I am always hungry. However I thank my stars I am alive.

"I was in bed with a bad cold and for once in my life was scared to death. The ship shook like a leaf for at least a minute. I rushed up on deck in bare feet and nightie, and saw the decks all gone and people struggling in the water. A terrible cloud of dust from the shore overwhelmed us the fires started and that is indiscribable. I thought the typhoon in Hong Kong was hell but it was heaven to this.

"We were in awful danger from fire as another ship fouled our propeller and we were helpless. However, our officers and boys were marvelous. They say we saved the day fror the other ship by our fire apparatus even the water was on fire—oil on the surface. You can say this ship isn't lucky, our engines and so on are O.K. now, but I don't know what is going to happen to us as we have been commandered by the British Government and are under orders from London.

RENEWED THREATS JUGO SLAVIA WAR.

Italian Premier Appoints a Dictator Of The Fiumian State.

LONDON, Sept. 19. — (United Press)—Renewed threats of war between Italy and Jugo-Slavia were seen here to-day in dispatches from Belgrade which said Premier Mussolini's appointment of General Giardino as dictator of the Fiumian State had aroused great excitement in the Jugo, Slav capital. Jugo Slavia fears appointment of the General may indicate Italy's intention to annex the disputed city despite the Italo- Jugo Slav conversations now going on in Geneva for final settlement of the status of the Fiumian state.

Belgrade dispatches to-day said the Jugo Slav government which is momentarily embarrassed by local politics, is seeking to minimize the situation, hoping to avoid a rupture with Italy.

There is much vivaing for Italy in Fiume the Belgrade correspondent of the Daily Chronicle telegraphed.

WEDDINGLESS 99 YEARS.

LONDON, Sept. 19.—(United Press).—For ninety-nine years nobody got married in the little Wesleyan Chapel at Downley, a hamlet near High Wycombe. But the record has now been broken. Miss Elsie Lily Dean was the bride and Henry Walton Sellwood the groom. The trustees of the chapel have presented the pair with a Bible and event.

RETURN BIG REVENUE.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 20.—(Associated Press).—Canada's national parks will return a revenue to the Dominion in excess of $30,000,000 in 1923, according to estimates compiled by the Dominion Parks Commissioner.

The volume of tourist traffic to the parks has been unusually heavy this year. The number of visitors is expected to total nearly 200,000 before the end of the season.

PURSUE "PREYING BANDIT."

PUEBLA, Mexico, Sept. 20.—(Associated Press).—Best known for his unfailing custom of dropping to his knees daily when the Angelus sounds and praying for the souls of 20 persons he has killed, Feliciano Machorro, 19-year-old outlaw, is being pursued through the mountains by a special squad of police agents detailed to the chase. In two days Machorro is credited with having murdered four persons and escaping with many thousands of pesos.

WANTS CHEAP COFFINS.

WASHINGTON, Sept. 20.—(Associated Press).—Expert advice to American coffin makers has been received by the Department of Commerce from Alexander Dye, its commercial agent at London.

Concerning coffins, coffin lumber and similar materials, Mr. Dye advises American manufacturers that the British market for American products is at low ebb because the British, since the war, have lost their taste for expensive funerals and ade cheaper coffins the vogue.

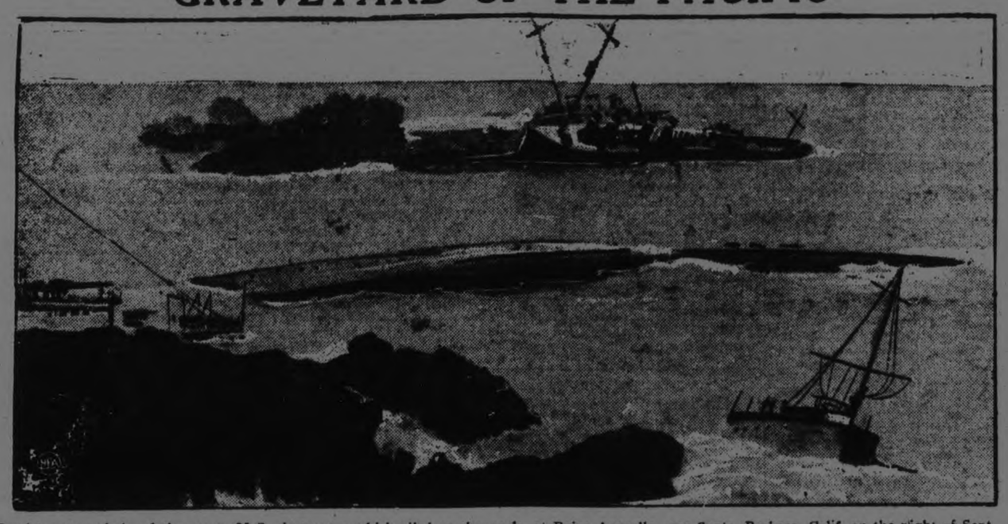
GRAVEYARD OF THE PACIFIC



Steel corpses of six of the seven U.S. destroyers which piled on the rocks at Point Arguello near Santa Barbara, Calif. on the night of Sept. 8, in a heavy fog and strange rip current believed to have been induced by Japanese quakes. Over a score of sailors were believed to have perished pending final check-up, and the monetary loss is placed at $15,000,000, every ship having been wrecked beyond salvage. This picture shows in the immediate foreground the mast and charthouse of the Delphi squadron flapship, which was first to crash and behind which the other six ships running in line under speed, piled up. Back of the Delphi is the capsized hulk of the Young, in which 19 men were believed to have been entombed. The Chauncey and a sister ship can be seen grounded on the farther point.

SEYMOUR SCHOOL FAIR ATTRACTED BIG CROWD

School Times of Pioneer Days Recalled by Unique Parade Section—Athletic Event a Feature.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 20. — The older members of the large crowd that the annual school fair for Seymour Township called together at the ground of the Agricultural Society, Wednesday afternoon had a reminder of the school days of pioneer times when Miss Laura Williams teacher of what is known as the Masson School of Hoard Station, No. 7, marched at the head of her 12 pupils past the judges of the parade. The banner carried by one of the pupils proclaimed it the "hard times" school and the costumes of each boy and girl bore out the slogan. All were arrayed in nondescript clothing, plentifully patched and some wore shoes and socks or stockings that the makers never intended for pairs. It is only fair to state that the Masson school is situated in one of the wealthiest sections of the township so that the get up of the children was not a matter of necessity. The novel sight however was thoroughly enjoyed by the crowd.

Seven of the township schools were represented at the fair and the rising generation in Seymour is made of healthy and well trained boys and girls who are enjoying all the educational advantages of the children in the rural sections. Each school was distinguished by the costumes worn by the pupils in which sashes adorned with maple leaves were prominent. The school yells, too, were features.

The schools that took part in the parade with the teacher and number of pupils in each were as follows:—No. 10 (Trent River) 32 pupils Miss L. Engisch teacher; No. 5 33 pupils Miss L. Locke, No. 7, 12 pupils, Miss Lenora Williams; No 1 34 pupils Miss M. Upton; No 2 18 pupils E. Fairman, the lone male member of the profession present; No 3 20 pupils Miss Dorothy Huycke; No 4 10 pupils Miss F. E. Nelson, teacher.

The two gentlemen upon whom devolved the difficult task of deciding the merits of each school in the parade were Rev. J. J. Black of Burnbrae and G. J. Anderson of Cobourg who taught school for 34 years, but who was superannuated a year ago. Their decision was as follows:

Winners of highest number of points Nos 1 2 and 10 in the order named.

Marching —Nos 5, 3 and 2.

Singing —Nos 10, 1 and 2.

Special features Nos 1, 10 and 7.

The winners of first prize in the latter class carried a huge wooden shoe to typify the piece of footwear that sheltered the old woman of history and her numerous progeny.

The third prize went to the pupils of the "hard times" school in the quaint costumes.

Miss Engisch and her 32 pupils from Trent River, made an exceptionally fine showing both in singing and in the special feature class, taking first prize in the former and second in the latter. Their marching was perfect as that of a well trained military company. The girls wore white dresses and all the boys blouses of the same hue. They sang "The Maple Leaf" with spirit, and when it came to the petition, "God Save the King and Heaven bless, the Maple Leaf for ever," the singers droped to their knees, folded their hands and turned their eyes upward.

The manager of the fair was Harry Sirett of Brighton, agricultural representative for Northumberland who was assisted yesterday by his two stenographers, Miss Jewel Simpson and Miss Edna Cornwall. George Mall of Brighton was announcer, C. W. Armstrong, Brighton, and E. W. Ferguson of Cobourg, judges of sports. Mr. Sirett was judge of the poultry exhibits, Messrs. Ferguson and Armstrong of fruits and vegetables, Mrs. John Faunian and Mrs. Harold Wood of the local women's institute, judges in the domestic science department. H. B. Wood of Trent River, who taught school in Toronto for 15 years before taking up farming and adopting the principles of the U.F.O., was one of Mr. Sirett's most valuable assistants.

In the physical culture competition, which was held in the forenoon, the schools that won first and second respectively were Nos. 5 and 4.

There were a large number of entries in the different athletic events and all of the programme was carried out with two exceptions. When the lady teachers' race was called there was no response. The trustees' race, too, fell through for lack of entries. Robert Innis, one of the trustees of No. 4, report said, had been practising for over a week, and had shown such speed that the other trustees in the township felt that it was useless to go against him.

During the afternoon musical selections were given on a victrola belonging to No. 4 School, the musical instrument being handled by Miss Gladys Innis.

CAMPBELLFORD AND DISTRICT

High School Preparing for Annual Field Day—Personal Mention.

CAMPBELLFORD, September 20 —At a meeting of the High School Athletic Association held yesterday, six boys and as many girls were selected from among the pupils to canvass the town for donations with which to purchase prizes for the annual field day which will be held early in October.

Those selected for this work were Helen Black, Ada Smith, Irene Davidson, Grace Blue, Evelyn Reynolds, Dorothy Ackerman, Jack Twigg, Gerald Wilton, Leslie Clegg, Allan Bonnycastle.

The committee set to work at once in teams of two, and met with encouraging success. The first citizen approached was Mayor Meyers who headed the list with a cash contribution of $5.00.

The town will be divided into districts, a team to be allotted to each, and a thorough canvass will be made. A list of the donations will be published when the work is completed.

Principal Greig some time ago decided to change the method of awarding the prizes. Under the old system, cups were given to the champions in the various classes, and as a result the number of awards was so limited that only the best athletes cared to compete.

This year two prizes will be given in each event, and only two prizes to any one contestant, although there is no limit as to the number of events in which each student may take part. The championship cups will be awarded as in the past.

It is expected that the new system will arouse greater interest in the annual event on the part of both pupils and parents.

The exact date has not yet been decided upon ,but it will be announced in a few days.

Bandsmen With Minstrels.

Three of the members of the Campbellford Band were impressed into the musical service of the Guy Brothers Minstrels, who showed here last night, to fill vacancies.

These were Clarence Williams, bass, Sergt. George T. Salter, euphonium, and Roy Bell, cornet.

The local bandsmen wore quite a professional air as they appeared in the dazzling uniform of the visitors, and caused a surprise to their friends when they appeared in the street parade, hardly recognisable in their new setting.

A PRETTY WEDDING AT CAMPBELLFORD

Fifty Guests Attended the Vanderwater - Diamond Nuptials.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 20. — A pretty house wedding was held here at 11 o'clock Wednesday morning when Ruth, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Diamond was united in marriage to Mr. W. Glynn Vanderwater of Toronto, formerly of Campbellford. The ceremony was performed in the presence of 50 guests at the home of the bride's parents, by Rev. P. H. Neville of Peterborough, a friend of the groom.

The floral decorations of the home were beautiful. The front-parlour was bright with ferns and white asters, the back parlour in which the ceremony was held, with pink gladalus and the breakfast room was decorated with white and pale pink chrysthanthemums.

Miss Helen Wood played the wedding march as the bridal party entered and also played during the signing of the register. Miss Evelyn Irwin was bridesmaid and Mr. George Kimmerly of Toronto, cousin of the groom, was the best man. The bride who was given away by her father, wore a dress of white crepe with side panels of Valenciennes lace, and a bridal veil with a wreath of orange blossoms. She carried a shower bouquet of ophelia roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Irwin, the bridesmaid, wore a dress of toast crepe, with black picture hat and carried a bouquet of American beauty roses.

Mrs. Diamond, mother of the bride, wore a dress of sand crepe, with corsage bouquet of American Beauty rose.

Mrs. Vanderwater of Napanee, mother of the groom wore a gown of black canton crepe, with black hat.

Following the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served, after which Mr. and Mrs. Vanderwater left by automobile for a honeymoon trip to Geneva Lake and other points in New York State. They will return by way of Buffalo and Niagara Falls to Toronto, where they will make their home in the Gloucester Apartments, 596 Church Street.

The wedding presents were numerous and costly, including a number of cheques and gold coins.

The groom's gift to the bride was a white gold wrist watch, to the bridesmaid a silper combination purse and vanity case, to Miss Wood, who played the wedding march, a silver chain and vanity case, and to the best man a sterling silver match holder.

The out of town guests were Rev. P. H. and Mrs. Neville and Miss Viola Payton of Peterborough, Miss Nellie Davidson and Mr. George Kimmerly of Toronto, Mr. and Mrs. George Geury of Stirling, Mr. and Mrs. Vanderwater, parents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. J. Allison, and the Misses Loyst of Napanee, Mr. and Mrs. H. Bullock, Mr. and Mrs. George Little, Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Thorne of Brighton, Miss Bella and Mr. Ernest Diamond of Grafton.

The office staff of the C. G. E. presented their associate, Mr. Vanderwater, the groom, on Saturday last with an electrical silver coffee percolator, a silver tray, and tea service.

PIGEONS, CATS, DOG AND 9 HUMANS IN ONE ROOM.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(Canadian Press).—New York's East Side added further weight to its claim as a thickly populated centre when Salvavtor Crivollo appeared in Essex Market Court on a charge of violating sanitary conditions. In his non-too-spacious four-room apartment at 636 East 14th Street, the police testified, were found nine persons, fifteen pigeons, two cats, one dog, and two canary birds. Neighbors had complained that the cooing of the pigeons kept them awake.

BEECHAM'S PILLS
For Sick Headaches

Restored By Tanlac Years Ago and Has Not Been Sick Since

"For eight years previous to taking Tanlac I suffered almost every day from stomach trouble, but this treatment restored my health completely five years ago and I have not had a sick day since," is the striking statement made recently by Mrs. M. Gumbrell, Country Club, Barriefield, Ont., Canada.

"Gas forming on my stomach after eating would make me gasp for breath, and sickening pains would force me to lie down to get relief. The odor of food cooking nauseated me, and I was so nervous I could hardly read the paper. I seldom slept much, and was so tired and weak all day my work was a burden.

"Tanlac gave me almost immediate relief, and soon had my stomach in perfect order, I eat heartily of anything I desire without pain or discomfort. My nerves are calm, I sleep splendidly, and work is a pleasure."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are Nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere.

PREPARING FOR MARMORA FAIR.

Races and Lacrosse Game, With Vaudeville Attraction the Features.

MARMORA, Sept. 20.—Material is being placed on the ground and work commenced on the new Anglican rectory.

On Sunday evening the society of "True Blues" attended in a body the service at the Methodist Church.

The church was tastefully decorated with flowers and autumn leaves. Special music was provided by Mrs. Taylor of Warsaw and the Rev. D. R. Clare, in the form of a duet.

Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Kennedy of Toronto, and Mr. Carmen Kennedy of Oshawa, are visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Kennedy.

A number of young people motored to Ivanhoe Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Elliott and family of Bancroft, called in town on Saturday on their way to Peterboro. They were accompanied by Mr. Knox of South Dummer, who had been visiting his sister, Mrs. (Rev.) E. M. Cook of Bancroft.

Mr. and Mrs. Greenwood of Saskatchewan, who left here in the spring for a trip to England, have returned. After visiting the British Isles they travelled through the war regions of France.

Mr. Stafford Clement was home from his school at Marlbank for the week-end.

Mrs. Taylor, Miss Graham and Mr. Percy Kennedy of Lindsay, spent the week-end at Mr. Alex. Kennedy's. Mrs. Percy Kennedy and two children who had been visiting her mother, Mrs. Naylor, returned home with them.

A number from Marmora attended the organ recital Monday evening in the Methodist church, Madoc.

Building Bridge

Workmen are busy on a new cement bridge over the small creek which crosses the road just south of the village.

The prize list of the Marmora fair is out and beside the usual prized, many special ones donated by the citizens and merchants are on the list. The usual speed events will take place and will include free-for-all, 2.30 class and a named race. A lacrosse match between Havelock and Marmora junior teams will be played on the grounds during the afternoon.

The usual athletic sports will be held, for both boys and girls.

A special performance by comedians and entertainers, engaged for the occasion, will take place on the platform.

Mr. Reggie Lynch, who has been in Brampton for several weeks, returned home Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Jos. McFarlane are visiting the former's mother, Mrs. Michael McFarlane.

Mrs. J. A. McDonald, who has been visiting friends in Marmora, returned to her home in Moose Jaw on Wednesday.

Several from town attended the Stirling fair on Wednesday.

Dr. Murphy of Campbellford was in town on Tuesday.

SUSPICIOUS OF GIBBONS FIGHT

Openly Said Now That Dempsey Didn't Try to Put Him Away.

Since Jack Dempsey's showing against Luis Angel Firpo last Friday night the belief that the Dempsey-Gibbons bout at Shelby, Mont. was not all it should have been in gaining new circulation and importance. It is openly said that Dempsey did not try to put Gibbons away and pulled his punches through the 15 rounds.

The Shelby promoters paid Dempsey only two-thirds of the amount promised him and Gibbons, who depended on the gate for his share, got nothing.

According to the story told, the participants decided their only chance of getting big money out of the match was to hold two bouts, staging a return engagement in the east.

It is said that the reason for Mike Gibbon's absence from Shelby was not a disagreement with brother Tom but a business mission. Mike, the story goes, was going through the west betting money wherever he could that Tom would stay 15 rounds.

Dempsey waned to knock out Firpo as soon as possible. This was his plan announced by both Dempsey and his manager, Jack Kearns, ebfore the fight. More substantial proof of the sincerity of their plan is furnished by a bet that Kearns lost. He laid $500 to $2,500 that Dempsey would knock out Firpo in the first two minutes of the bout. This Dempsey honestly tried to do.

If Dempsey and Firpo meet next year the bout will undoubtedly be held on Boyle's Thirty Acres in New Jersey.

Rickard was asked last week why he did not pick the New Jersey site in preference to the Polo Grounds and he replied that he could not break even in New Jersey by charging $15 a seat as his top price. He would be glad, he said, to use the New Jersey lot providing he could charge an admission fee large enough to permit him to make money. Steps are now being taken to bring about legislative action which will make a charge of $50 a seat legal. If this change is made Rickrd will undoubtedly pick Jersey.

Firpo's handlers say the first remark the challenger made after the fight was: "I made him dizzy anyway.' In this fact Firpo apparently found complete satisfaction at that moment.

Firpo is as tight-fisted as he is big-fisted. Only Harry Lauder, among public performers, has received as much publicity for being stingy as Firpo is getting. The miser trait in Firpo brought him much unpopularity before his fight with Dempsey.

They tell a story about a banquet given in Firpo's honor in Boston. After the meal the hat was passed to pay the musicians.

Firpo, unable to understand the announcer, asked his interpreter what it all meant. This fellow jokingly explained, "They are passing the hat to get carfare for you."

When the hat reached him Firpo stuck in his hand and solemnly extracted a dime.

FIRPO DOESN'T KNOW IF HE'LL COME HERE.

Denies He Will Undergo a Serious Operation As Result of Fight.

NEW YORK, N. Y., Sept. 20. — Firpo when interviewed told the correspondent in Spanish; "My plans are what you will call 'up in the air.' I have much pain, but please say the truth. I need not go under a serious operation as some writers say. I would be delighted to go to Canada and will, if I go, probably stop at Montreal and Toronto, but I am less interested in big cities than your beautiful country. I hoped to be able last night to tell you about my Canadian trip, but I can say nothing definite for a few days at least. Perhaps I shall go back direct to Buenos Aires.

He looked well, despite the fact he claims severe abdominal pains. His arms also are bumped and doctors say some bones are broken. He is also taking care of special suits and sale of certain rights.

Donoghue Announced As Rider of Papyrus.

SOUTHAMPTON, Sept. 20.—(Canadian Press)—It is definitely settled that Steve Donohue, Great Britain's premier jockey over the flat, will ride the Derby winner, Papyrus, when the English thoroughbred races the best three-year-old in the United States at Belmont Park on October 20. Passage for Donohue has been booked on the Olympic, sailing for New York on October 10.

BETTER PROSPECTS FOR M'GILL SQUAD

Coach Shaughnessy and His Helpers Have Promising Material.

MONTREAL, Sept. 20—Not since 1919 has there been such an air of optimism in the McGill University Rugby Camp as that which prevails around the Stadium and campus at the present time. It is too early even for a mild conjecture as to what the red and white squad might do this season in the inter-collegiate series, but there is no gainsaying the fact that coach Frank Shaughnesay and his band of assistant coaches have more promising material to work with among the Rockies than has fallen to their lot since the first fall after the war period.

While the majority of the regulars are up in the Mountains going through a hardening-up process under the direction of Captain Doug. McGregor and Graduate Manager Stuart Forbes, coach Shaughnessy and his assistants are working out at the stadium with the newcomers and aspiring material from last year's intermediate and junior squads.

Dr. Vee Heney, Dr. "Punch" Parkins, George Draper and "Boo" Anderson were the assistant coaches who helped the McGill mentor put the recruits through their paces this afternoon and it was a fast workout that was meted out to the 30 odd candidates. The newcomers are for the most part a husky lot of youngsters, averaging around 160 pounds who have had a fair amount of rugby experience in the prep schools and colleges and from them the red and white should be able to fill up the gaps left vacant by the graduation of stars during the past three seasons.

Hughes, from Royal Military College and Hannah, from Sarnia, fitted in nicely to-day on the half-line with "Bones" Little and Philpotts, the former two appearing the most promising back division recruits to the McGill squad in several seasons.

COLONIAL GIRLS WIN BOND TROPHY FOR SECOND TIME

Defeated C.G.E. By 7-4 in Final Game of Softball League.

BIG CROWD OUT.

The Colonials won the championship of the Girls' Soft Ball League, and the Percy Bond Cup, for the second time, when they defeated the C. G. E. team 7 to 4.

The game was witnessed by the largest crowd of the year, nearly a thousand missing their supper to line three sides of the diamond at Central Park.

The game was fast throughout, both teams standing well up under the strain of the final game. The fielding was good, with two fast double plays, one for each team, one being pulled by Miss Taylor, the C.G.E. first baseman unassisted. The C. G. E. fell behind the winners however, making four errors to their two. The C.G.E. were better at the bat, collecting twelve hits to the Colonials nine. However many of the C.G.E. clouts were wasted and the Colonials came through with a hit when it was needed most. Miss M. Batley came through with a flukey homer and the only other long hits were two base clouts by Miss Hayes and Miss Sanders.

The C. G. E. scored one in the first innings when Miss McCarthy getting on with a hit tame in on Miss Hayes' drive to centre field. With two down the Colonials got two in their half when Mrs. Lee reached first on a walk and came in on Miss Sander's homer. The C.G.E. failed to score in the second although they obtained two hits. The Colonials also failed to counter. Miss V. Wade was robbed of hit by a fine running catch by Miss E. White in left field.

Neither team counted in the third —fast fielding stoping all opportunities.

Miss Hayes crossed the plate for the C. G. E. in the fourth. Then hits bunched before any were out gave the Colonials two in this half. A nice catch in the fifth by Miss Green haugh stoped any C.G.E. chances to score. The Colonials looked dangerous in this innings but a fast double play by Miss Taylor turned them back. The C.G.E. in the sixth popped out in order. The Colonials had a big innings getting three runs, a couple of bunched errors aiding them. Three hits by the C.G.E. went hustling due to a fast double play by Miss Lee and Miss Bradshaw in the seventh.

The Colonials failed to score, although they cracked out three hits. The C. G. E. staged a rally in the eighth, netting two runs. The Colonials retired in order. The C. G. E. failed in the ninth, a nice running catch by Miss V. Wade making the last out.

Line-up.

C. G. E. — McCarthy cf; Sanford rss; Stapley c; Hayes 2b; Taylor 1b, Milard p; McLaren 3b; E. White lf; D. White rf; Bolam lss.

Colonials—Plunkett c; Bradshaw 1b; Lee p; M. Batley 2b; Sanders 3b; I. Tod lss; Greenhaugh rss; J. Wade rf; V. Wade lf, Goodwin lf.

Score by innings:

C. G. E.	0	0	1	0	0	2	0	0	4	12	4
Colonials	0	0	2	0	2	0	3	0	0	7	9	2

After the game a short address was given by Mr. F. Gandy, president of the League, in which he reviewed its history and prophesied a bright future. The Bond trophy, in the absence of Mr. P. Bond, its donator, was presented by J. E. Sullivan, last year's president of the Men's Softball League.

Mr. W. H. Bradburn presented his beautiful shield to the C. G. E. team. Each trophy is to be held for one year.

WILLIE KAMM HITS WELL BUT STRIKES OUT OFTEN

CHICAGO, Ill., Sept. 20.—Willie Kamm, who is more than making good as third sacker for the Chicago White Sox in his first year in the big show, is having a rather peculiar season of it at the bat. It looks as if he might set a rather unusual record.

During the greater part of the year, Kamm has been in the .300 class as a hitter. If he continues his good showing at the plate he has better than an even chance to hit over .300 when the curtain is rung down on 1923.

Kamm's best work at the bat has been the making of two-base hits. In this department of play he is close on the heels of Tris Speaker, who bids fair to set a new record in that resepct.

However, it is concerning strikeout that Kamm has done the unusual for a .300 batter. In many cases when Kamm has failed to hit safely, pitchers have found that striking him out is a favorite way to send him back to the bench.

Unless Kamm cuts down on his strikeouts the close of the season may see him finish as the leader in that not altogether complimentary feature of play.

Major league umpires say that for a good hitter, Kamm takes more good strikes than any other batter in the league, and has the bad habit of letting the umpire call the third one, when it's always wise to take a healthy cut at any pitch that looks good with two strikes on you.

Many Spring Phenoms No Longer in Spotlight

BOSTON, Sept. 20.—Some of the spring phenoms in baseball have begun to fade. The latest is Dick Reichle of the Boston Red Sox.

For the first two months of the race Reichle was one of the batting sensations of the American League. The big husky left hander secured by Boston in the fall of last year didn't appear to have a weakness at the plate. For a time, used as pinch hitter, he made an enviable record. In fact he looked so good in the emergency role that it won him a place as a regular.

When he joined the Sox, Reichle's biggest handicap was his fielding. There seemed no doubt about his ability to hit, but in the field he bordered on the amateur. Used regularly his fielding has improved, but his batting has suffered.

Instead of pressing the leaders with an average well above the .300 mark, the college recruit has so fell off in his hitting that he was dropper out of the select circle of hitters and has also lost his berth as a regular.

No doubt the pitchers have discovered some certain weakness that he has at the plate and are constanly pitching to it.

REDS IMPROVE THEIR POSITION

CINCINNATI, O., September 19. —Cincinnati strengthened its hold on second place to-day by winning both games of a double header from Philadelphia, 1 to 0 and 6 to 5. The first game was a brilliant pitching duel between Rixey and Betts, each of whom allowed only five singles. The one run was scored on a fumble by Metz, Duncan's single and a sacrifice fly.

In the second game Donohue was hit hard in two innings but won the game by his own long hitting, driving in three runs, in the fourth with a three bagger and the winning run in the eighth with a double.

Scores:

1st game:

Cincinnati	0	0	0	0	1	0	0	0	x	1	5	0

Betts and Henline; Rixey and Hargrave.

Cincinnati	0	0	0	0	5	0	0	0	1	x	6	10	1

Mitchell, Behan, Weinert and J. Wilson; Donahue and Hargrave.

Pittsburgh Lose

PITTSBURGH, September 19 — Boston won the odd game of the series from Pittsburgh to-day 5 to 4 by bunching five hits off Adams in the first inning for four runs. Hamilton who relieved him held the Braves to three hits for the remainder of the game, two of them coming in the third innings when they scored the fifth run. Genewich yielded six of the Pirates' ten hits in the fourth and fifth innings, Russell's home run drive with none on, coming in the fourth. Score:

Genewich and O'Neil; Adams, Hamilton and Schmidt.

Cubs Break Even.

CHICAGO, September 19.—Brooklyn and Chicago broke even in a double header to-day, the visitors winning the first game 5 to 1, and the Cubs taking the second contest 4 to 3 in 10 innings.

In the first game Brooklyn concentrated its attack in two innings with Victor Keen on the mound.

Chicago played an uphill game behind Grover Alexander in the second game, tied the count in the ninth inning and won in the tenth. The scores:

1st game:

Brooklyn	0	0	2	0	0	3	0	0	5	10	0

GREAT INTEREST IN GAME ON SATURDAY

Niagara Falls - Peterboro Junior Championship Clash Coming Sport Event.

Tickets are selling fast for the Niagara Falls-Peterboro Junior Ontario championship game at Riverside Park Saturday and the indications are that the biggest crowd that has ever seen a junior fixture in the city will be out to root for the Lakeviews in their battle to bring a provincial championship to Peterboro.

Manager Lebarr's team have played such consistently good ball and Whitehouse has turned in such a splendid brand of pitching all season that local fandom are confident that the Lakeviews can stop the heavy hitting Niagara Falls crew who have crushed all opposition in the West.

Peterboro will have three or four teams in action Saturday fighting for provincial honors and with a record like that it is up to the fans to patronize the only home on that date.

Smith who only allowed Brantford one run in two games will do the heaving for Niagara Falls while the Lakeviews will call upon Whitehouse to stop the invaders.

It promises to be a game that will long be remembered by the fans.

"Play ball" will be sounded at 3 o'clock sharp.

RECRUIT WINS FOR ATHLETICS

Detroit Pitcher Threw His Arm Out in His First of Double Bill.

PHILADELPHIA, September 19. —Detroit and Philadelphia split a double header to-day. The visitors took the first, 6 to 2, and the locals 4 to 3.

Sylvester Johnson, the Tigers' pitcher, allowed but one hit in 6 2-3 innings of the first game, but was forced to retire after he had strained his arm while pitching to Welch.

A double steel gave the Athletics the winning run in the sixth inning of the second game, McGowan scoring while Dykes went to third.

Denny Burns, a recruit from the Shreveport team of the Texas League, was on the mound for the locals and pitched good ball. The scores:

1st game:

Detroit	0	0	0	1	0	0	2	2	1	6	10	0

Curlers Need Cars For Trip to Oshawa.

If Peterboro has any Big Brothers of the local midget baseball champions they have a chance to help on Saturday by volunteering their cars to take the team to Oshawa for the O.B.A.A. final. Alex Kay and his midget "Curlers" will leave the Charlotte Street rink a 11.30 Saturday moning, and the use of a couple of automobiles would be real financial assistance, besides an encouragement to the boys and an ndication of real interest in their team. If any motorists would like the privilege of easing the transportation problem for the boys their aid will be gratefully accepted by Mr. Kay, who is looking after the team. City championships

Doug Loomis has a full program of events for the city athletic championships which will be held at the Exhibition Park Saturday afternoon. Events are classified under four groups for each of which there is a trophy which is held only from year to year.

REORGANIZE SOFT BALL LEAGUE OF LAKEFIELD

President and Other Officials for Year Elected

LAKEFIELD, September 20. — A meeting was held on Tuesday evening in the Council Chamber to re-organise the Softball League. The meeting was attended by representatives of the six teams which intend entering the league, and the enthusiasm displayed made it apparent that the move was a very popular one. The business was put through quickly and satisfactorily, and the season will probably open next week, as everyone seems eager to open the season.

These officers were elected: President, J. R. Hill; vice-president, H. R. Wagar; executive, R. H. Little of the U.F.O. team, R. H. Everett of the Business Men's team, Dr. M. P. Kennedy of the G. W.V.A. team, E. J. Robertson of the Firemen's team, G. G. Connell and W. G. Morrison of the Masonic team, T. B. Marling of the Grove team.

It was decided unanimously that each player pay a registration fee of 25 cents and also that the entrance fee to all games be 10 cents to everyone, including players.

The officers and members of the executive committee will meet the Lakefield Rink Coupany on Friday evening and endeavour to make an arrangement to secure the rink for the games.

There will be a double-header each evening, and the games will be played twice a week, probably on Tuesday and Friday nights.

The softball games played in the rink attracted a great many spectators last season, and judging from the opinion of the meeting and the "man in the street," this season will be a banner one. There was no lack of "pep" in the meeting, and the unanimous desire of all present seemed to be to "play ball" as soon as possible.

English Polo Team Rush By Americans.

WESTBURY, N.Y., Sept. 20.—(Canadian Press)—In an extremely hard-ridden and roughly played game the United States Meadowbrook Club today eliminated the Hurlingham Club four of England, from the international tournament for the American National Open Polo Championship. The score was 11 to 4.

With a rush that bowled over the defence before it could form, the Meadowbrook Club made five goals, almost one a minute, in the first period, putting the game where the English couldn't touch it.

FINAL GAME IN MIDGET SERIES

Hamilton and Peterboro Curlers Will Battle at Alexandra Park, Oshawa, Saturday Afternoon.

OSHAWA, Sept. 20.— (Special). —W. J. Snyder, first -vice-president and J. J. Soloman, 2nd, vice-predient of the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association have made arrangements with the Oshawa Parks Commission for the playing off of the final game in the midget series between Hamilton Midgets, winners of the West and Peterboro Curlers, who have come through East, at Alexandra Park, Oshawa on Saturday afternoon at three o'clock.

This will be the first opporunity Oshawa fans have of looking at the minors play on a regulation midget diamond, which calls for 82 foot base lines and 50 foot pitching distance. A lot has been heard of Alex. Kay and his midget family and no doubt a large crowd will be out to cheer the East to victory in the midget Ontario sweepstake.

LAWN BOWLING

The Lawn Bowling Club will hold a Scotch doubles competition tomorrow (Friday) night. The draw will take place at 7.30 sharp. All bowlers are invited.

OSHAWA GOLFERS WIN FROM PETERBOROUGH

Peterborough golfers played the return match of the season at Oshawa yesterday, Oshawa winning by 4 points. The best score was made by Robert Henderson, the Oshawa captain, 40-34. The course will soon be one of the best in Ontario. The scores were as follows:

SKEETERS PLAY IN BALTIMORE.

NEW YORK, Sept. 20.—(Canadian Press)—The series between the Baltimore and Jersey City International League clubs, September 21, 22 and 23, in which they will close the season, will be played at Baltimore instead of Jersey City, where the games were scheduled.

WARKWORTH WON BURLESQUE GAME

Brighton Was Short Seven Men of the Regular Line-up.

CASTLETON, September 20. — The baseball game at the Castleton fair to-day was a farcial exhibition, Warkworth winning from Brighton 25 to 5. Archie Zufelt pitched good ball and got real support from the strong line up which Warkworth presented. Baker of Roseneath, Belford of Orland and Hawkins and Wilson of Colborne, donned the Warkworth uniform for the ocasion.

On the other hand Brighton took the field with a make shift team, seven regular being unable to accompany the team. These players were working Wednesday to get away for the Brighton at Picton game, the next day. Loucks, a newcomer, started for Brighton, but gave way in the third to Martin, who played his first game this year. Martin was the victim of miserable support but in spots pitched well. Way finished the game. Some long hits were made, which included triples by K. Zufelt, Baker, Inglis, McKee and Hane, and doubles by Strong, Hawkins (2), A. Zufelt, Mulhall and K. Zufelt.

The teams were:

Warkworth— Hawkins m; McGregor m; F. Wilson lf; Inglis lf, p; A. Zufelt p lf; Mulhall 3b; K. Zufelt 1b; Belford ss; Baker 2b; Beatty rf; J. Wilson c.

Brighton — Archer 2b c; King lf; Strong c 2b; McKee ss; Hare m; Way 3b p; Lamis rf; Sprung 1b; Loucks p 1b; Martin p 3b.

Umpires: Adams and Thompson.

Score by innings:

Warkworth .. .. .. 334146022—25 22 4
Brighton .. .. .001200011— 5 8 11

CULTIVATE PLAYERS IS BELLEVILLE'S ADVICE

Says the Belleville "Ontario" in a postmorten of its 1923 team:

"The team needs patching badly in spots and it is up to the executive and citizens to get busy and remedy these faults before another season rolls around and do not wait till the 24th of May, 1924.

"A suggestion has been offered and is given for what it is worth. Why not take a bunch of youngsters in hand and give them a little financial support from the senior team. Get a sub-executive to look after them and in future years we'll have a lot of nice ball players to step in the shoes worn by the senior team with rudiments and finer points of the game learned. There is a world of material, why not use it.

"We should not be discouraged or downhearted. We are not the first team that has been beaten or we won't be the last. The record of the team has been in many respects excellent and no doubt when another season rolls around we will be in there fighting just the same.

"St. Thomas is already calling a meeting and preparing the weak spots for another season. So let's buck up and get busy."

DFEEAT OF JONES DAY'S GOLF THRILL

National Open Champion Eliminated By Max Marston.

CHICAGO, Sept. 19—Two former national amateur titleholders and the national open champion, Bobby Jones of Atlanta, were eliminated to-day in the second round of the United States National Golf Championship Tournament at Flossmoor. The defeat of Jones by Max Marston, of Philadelphia, furnished the thrilling upset of a day replete with startling developments.

Jess Sweetser of New York, kept in the race to defend his title by over coming Dave Herron of Chicago, a former titleholder, 4 and 3, and Bob Gardner of Chicago, twice holder of the crown also survived by ousting W. C. Fownes of Pittsburgh, another former champion, 2 and 1.

In another close match Francis Ouimet of Boston formerly national open and amateur champion, finally out-golfer Willie Hunter of Los Angeles, formerly premier golfer of Great Britain, and won 3 and 2.

Another fomer titleholder to survive was Jesse Guilford of Boston, who had a comparatively easy time in defeating Dexter Cummings, of Chicago intercollegiate champion, 7 and 6. In the other two matches, George Von Elm of Salt Lake City, playing superlative golf at times, defeated Jimmie Manion, of St. Louis, 6 and 5, Joe Wells, of East Liverpool, Ohio, ousted H. K. B. Davis, of San Francisco, 4 and 3, and Densmore Shute of Huntington, W. Va., eliminated Ned Allis, of Milwaukee, 6 and 5.

The defeat of Jones following that of Evans who had tied with Jones for low qualifying score at 149 caused the greatest excitement of the day although the prospects for a time that Hunter would down Ouimet as he had Evans, kept the followers on edge until the Boston golfer by shooting par on the third nine and three better than perfect golf on the last quarter up to the finish, finally disposed of the Briton. Jones' downfall was all the more impressive because he not only shot a record 70 for the 6,704 yard course in the morning, breaking par by four strokes and adjourning for luncheon two up, but he kept within two strokes of par in the afternoon only to lose to a collection of birdies that netted Marston the advantage.

GOLFERS DO NOT WANT STANDARDIZATION OF THEIR IMPLEMENTS

With only a small percentage of golfers the country over actively interested in tournament play anything savoring of standardization with regard to implements of the game is bound to cause more or less dissatisfaction. A few years ago standardization of implements might not have mattered a great deal, there being less tendency to variety. Furthermore, no thought has been given as to a possible shortage of hickory, but now all that has been changed.

In a magazine article Leighton Calkins, originator of the well known system of handicapping, takes a rap at standardization in part as follows:

"It is amusing to note that standardization is asserted as necessary to prevent a departure from the traditional and accepted form and make, in total disregard of the most sacred of all traditions of the game which confers upon the player complete freedom in the choice of the implements of play. The mallet-headed putter, barred by St. Andrews, was no departure from the traditional form and make of golf clubs. Nor is the steel shafted golf club which has been outlawed by our own governing body.

"The shape of the head and its material and that of the shaft are of no importance, nor are they regulated by the traditions of the game, but its most distinctive feature is outraged by any interference with the player's choice in that respect. Good hickory is probably better than steel, but it is no more orthodox, and it may be dearer and less durable. The rib-faced iron facilitates back spin, but will never put the inexpert on all fours with the technician."

Original Interpretation

Calkins goes on to call attention to the fact that the traditional form and make was properly stated in the original interpretation: plain shaft and head which does not contain any mechanical contrivance such as springs."

In other words, a club must be a club and not a gun. The idea is that there must be an ordinary shaft with a solid head or a striking surface at the end. In other respects such as weight, length, shape and material are matters of individual preference.

Such was the accepted and traditional order of things until oddly enough, first vicated by St. Andrews itself, an organization which has ever stood for conservatism and jealous of all traditions. When the Royal and Ancient barred the Schenectady putter the United States Golf Association refused to follow suit and the latter in so doing undoubtedly acted wisely. Some of the leading amateurs in the country including Jerome D. Travers and Charles Evans, Jr., used the centre-shafted putter, although a majority continued to depend upon weapons moulded on more orthodox lines.

It has been claimed that Evan's game improved after he adopted the mallet-headed putter, though it will ever be a matter of doubt whether or not there was any actual benefit. Imagination plays a large part in this game. If a person thinks he has the right club in his hand nine times out of ten he will get better results with it than if he regarded it in a doubtful way.

Character of Stroke

Golf surely is unique among games played with a ball and club or bat. In baseball, tennis, squash and others the same ball is struck at by opponents. Their's is the element of physical contact, entirely lacking in golf where competitors to all intents and purposes play separate games, merely comparing results.

Students of golf know that the game has only a few constitutional elements, all others being secondary or derivative. Its definition is found in the single sentence: "The game consists in each side playing a ball from a teeing ground into a hole by successive strokes."

In the old days there never was any rule as to what kind of a ball should be used so far as concerning material or weight. The size of the hole was prescribed, four and a quarter inches in diameter and at least four inches deep. The rules also defined the character of stroke by the following: "The ball must be fairly struck at, not pushed, scraped nor spooned."

Practically the only limitations, therefore, were the size of the hole and the character of the stroke. One of the chief charms of the game lies in its individuality and the range of freedom of action for the player.

As to the Ball

If it were not for the fear that became general a few years ago that the increased resiliency of golf balls would be the means of spoiling the courses, or at least marring them to such an extent as to necessitate their having to be rebuilt, it is doubtful if there ever would have been a standard ball; that is, standard as to size and weight. It has ever been open to question, however, if extreme length would have worked a detriment to the game. As it is now, a majority of the holes, even on the longest courses, are little more than drives and pitches or at the most, irons for the leading players.

They tell a story at the expense of a certain golfer who for a number of years had done nearly all his playing over a rather short and comparatively easy course. In a business way he became acquainted with several men who were members of a club on Long Island known the world over for its super layout. Well, these friends kept telling this man from the easy course what wonderful matches they had, how they enjoyed the game, and how it was only possible to enjoy the game where real golf could be had.

In a moment of enthusiasm he allowed his friends to put his name up for membership and in due time he was elected. It so happened that he had never played the course until after he joined the club and the day selected for a round happened to be when the wind was threshing in from the sea forty knots an hour. Not being a long hitter he naturally had his troubles, and of course, the extra wind hazard capped the climax. Anyhow, he played just three holes and walked back to the clubhouse where he promptly handed in his resignation.

The point is that this individual upon realizing that he was completely out of his element lost no time in deciding that for him at least, it would be better to continue to play the game in his own way and where his shots, such as they were, got him somewhere. In other words he knew his capabilities and preferred to play accordingly rather than continue in a futile attempt to ape the "champs".

Here's another story which shows which way the wind blows, as far as the public is concerned with the steel golf shaft.

Quite a prominent golf authority is making an extended tour of the country courses. He carries with him a very beautiful and expensive "special built" driver. It is the delight of professionals and other golfers with whom he comes in contact to wag this club and even drive a ball from the tee.

The other day somebody in the crowd of golfers standing around admiring this ivory headed driver said, "Why, the steel shaft?"

The golf authority looked aghast. His reply was short and snappy.

"Steel shaft, you ask? Man alive, it certainly surprises me to hear you say that. In my travels around the country I hear nothing but talk for the steel shaft. I simply had to have a steel shaft in that driver to have it the best in every way."

The professional near at hand backed up this statement with the reply:

"He's right. In a couple of years you won't see anything else."

SCENE FROM "DOWN TO THE SEA IN SHIPS." THE MOST THRILLING SEA STORY EVER SCREENED, AT THE CAPITOL, TO-DAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY.

HAS LIVED UNDER SIX SOVEREIGNS, NOW 106

CALUMET ISLAND, Que., Sept. —(Canadian Press).—Born four years before the great Napoleon Bonaparte died in exile on the island of St. Helena and a witness to the burning of the Parliament Buildings in Montreal on April 25, 1849, which followed the sanction of the Rebellion Losses Bill by Lord Elgin, then Governor-General of Canada, are some of the claims to distinction of Mr. Joseph Beland, sturdy French-Canadian centenarian and a pioneer of Calumet Island, Quebec. Should Mr. Beland live to see May 3, next year, he will then have attained his one hundred and seventh birthday.

Mr. Beland has lived under six British Sovereigns. He is still vigorous and his general appearance would lead one to believe that he was closer to 80 years of age than considerably beyond the century mark and still going strong. In fact, only the production of the centarian's birth certificate carries conviction as to his exact age.

One would imagine that Mr. Beland, burdened as he is by the weight of 106 years and with a record of sustained arduous work as a lumber jack, pioneer settler and farmer, during a period of more than 80 years, would be quite content to lead for the balance of his terrestrial existence a life of complete repose. But this is not the case with the venerable and stout-hearted centenarian of Calumet Island. Mr. Beland's one worry is that the relentless hand of time will ultimately press so strongly on him that he will be compelled to while away the closing days of his existence in an arm-chair.

Standing about five feet five inches and weighing about 140 pounds Mr. Beland is anything but a frail man. He walks with a firm step. One of his feats last winter was to cut down a towering red pine measuring five feet in circumference. Mr. Beland boasts that he is still able to cut one cord of wood a day, either with the axe or buck-saw. It is no idle boast, and on more than one occasion he has performed this truly remarkable feat for a man of his years.

Mr. Beland leads the simple life. He is as a rule an early riser and until recently was in the habit of getting up before sunrise. His customary hour of retirement is nine o'clock. He is blessed with a hearty appetite. Mr. Beland has been a smoker all his life and will occasionally take a drink of liquor.

Mr. Beland said he came and settled on Calumet Island when about 16 years of age. He remembers being in Montreal when the Parliament Buildings were burned down on April 25, 1849. He also witnessed the rioting that marked the burning of the buildings and the attack on Lord Elgin, then Governor-General. As a boy and young man, Mr. Beland witnessed the birth and growth of one of Canada's greatest industries, that of lumbering. He was in the employ of various companies operating in the Upper and Lower Ottawa valley as a lumber jack and river driver.

"In my day," Mr. Beland stated, "we used to work long hours and were paid 50 cents a day and considered it good wages. The concerns were very strict and if a man "jumped" before his time was up he lost all his wages for the winter's work." Mr. Beland recalled having been associated with Joseph Montferrand, the famous French-Canadian strong man and "bully of the shanty," who is credited with having performed herculean feats and on many occasions beating singlehanded several men who tried to knock him out.

Although the information was not given by Mr. Beland some of his relatives stated that he was a grand-uncle of Hon. Dr. H. S. Beland, Minister of Health and Soldiers' Civil Re-Establishment. Mr. Beland, when 26 years of age, was married to Elizabeth Lapointe. A family of four sons and four daughters all of whom are living with the exception of two daughters blessed the union. There are 137 direct descendants.

THEATRES

AT THE ROYAL.

"ME AND MY GAL."

The Comedy That Took England By Storm—Opens at the Royal To-Night

"Me and My Gal," the romantic comedy drama, has reached Canada from England, where it is now running to capacity houses, and will have its premiere presentation at the Royal Theatre to-night at 8 o'clock. "Me and My Gal" is a story of a London flower girl whose personality has taken England by storm, so much so that she is almost a national figure over there. Miss Betty Balfour, England's foremost comediennes, takes the part of Squibs, the flower girl, and has secured such remarkable success that some of the reviewers acclaim her the Charlie Chaplin of the fairer sex, while others say she combines the fun-making proclivities of Chaplin with all the winsomeness of a Mary Pickford. The film itself was naturally compared with "Alf's Button" and "The Better 'Ole," famous comedy successes of former days. It is a picture well worth seeing and one you won't forget in a long time.

Patrons are advised to patronize the daily matinees when possible and avoid the inconvenience of a line up.

Prices for this attraction are advertised as 20c and 30c for evenings, and 11c and 15c for matinees. No higher.

'DICK TURPIN'S RIDE TO YORK' COMING TO ROYAL.

The famous romance of merry old England will be seen next week at the Royal. The story of Dick Turpin and Bonnie Black Bess has thrilled English-speaking nations all over the world for the last two hundred years, and now it is produced in motion pictures.

The part of Dick Turpin, the famouse highwayman, is taken by the eminent English actor, Matheson Lang, and the film was produced by Stoll, the big English producer, who spent eighteen months' time and spared no expense in making the picture that could be classed as a superfilm. The proof of Stoll's success is the fact that this picture recently opened in London and Liverpool and sold out to capacity for four weeks and was in each case brought back for an indefinite run.

AT THE REGENT.

"ONLY 38" BEAUTIFUL PICTURE.

William de Mille's paramount picturization of the legitimate play, "Only 38," by A. E. Thomas, was the feature of the bill which opened at the REGENT Theatre last night. It proved to be an artistic delight.

Featured in the cast of this splendid comedy are Lois Wilson, as Mrs. Stanley a widow of thirty-eight; May McAvoy as her daughter, Elliot Dexter, as Prof. Giddings, courting Mrs. Stanley, and George Fawcett in a strong character role. The story embraces two romances, that of Mrs. Stanley and her daughter, the emphasis being laid on the former, this being a feature that makes "Only 38" vastly different from the ordinary screen story.

Robert Agnew, Jane Keckley, Lillian Leighton, Taylor Graves and Ann Cornwall comprise an excellent supporting cast.

AT THE GRAND.

LISTEN TO ME

Peterboro playgoers have Le Comte and Flesher to thank for a number of most enjoyable musical extravaganzas and in "Listen to Me" which was the attraction at the Grand last evening the producers have reached their usual standard of excellence. It was not the first performance of this offering here, but the majority of the original cast are still with the company and the presentation was of anything smoother and more entertaining than before.

Charles George is responsible for the book lyrics and music of Listen to Me' 'and he has been fortunate in combining a musical score of more than average merit with an ingenuous plot that permits the principals and chorus to be rapidly switched from one entrancing stage picture to another: moving in rapid succession from Satan's Palace in Hades to the North Pole then to Kandy Land, the Ritz Theatre in New York and finally to Cupid's Post Office, where all the difficulties are straightened out.

The scenic posibilities offered by such a plot are taken every advantage of and the costumes are rich in colouring, albeit somewhat scanty at times in quantity.

The producers have provided a very capable cast. Ross Robertson the baritone whose singing featured the first production of "'Listen to Me" here won fresh laurels last night especialy in his rendition of "Where's the Girl for Me " the song hit of the production. Marguerite Williams in the prima donna role had personality and a very pleasing voice in her favour and Peggy Earle contributed some delightful dancing. The comedienne Valere True scored heavily as "Tilly the Flapper" and Joe B. McGee in black face and Gates Austin as Slats as nut role supplied most of the comedy and earned many a laugh.

"Listen to Me" moves fast, has a delightful score and not a dull spot anywhere.

Among the song hits are in addition to the feature already mentioned are "Girls we Have Known", "Listen to Me", "Queen of the Northern Lights' "Our Bungalow in Winter Time', and "My Bon Bon Girl".

VOICE OF THE PEOPLE

Editor of the Examiner,

Dear Sir,—In company with a friend, I went on Monday afternoon to hear Dr. Campbell Morgan, but was disappointed, not with Dr. Morgan, but with the waste of time before he began to speak — we had about three-quarters of an hour sing-songing with not much enthusiasm in it, and my friend and I felt that there was nice sunshine outside which we'd enjoy better than sitting needlessly inside with a crowd of people singing hymns like a lot of school children. The winter will all too soon be upon us and we who have to work indoors need all the outdoors we can get. We went to hear Dr. Morgan, we can sing at home at our work.

Perhaps after awhile the leaders of the churches will find that some of us have outgrown the swaddling clothes of the church, and some of us in indignation have kicked our feet free, have refused to be treated as babies to be fed with a spoon and sit like good little boys and girls and do all we are told, we know what true religion is, its union with Christ, submission to Him and seeking to live up to the light He gives.

In conclusion referring to the matter in hand could not things be reversed and Dr. Morgan speak first and have the song service after for those who like to stay.

Thanking you in anticipation of your favour.

Yours truly,
M. BURTON.

Editor of the Examiner,

Dear Sir,—With reference to 'Enquirers" letter, in the "Voice of the People," the writer of that letter may consider herself fortunate in being turned down at the Exhibition Grounds, than being among the chosen few, who were supposed to have been examined at G.W.V.A. Hall, last Tuesday afternoon.

Being a mother of a baby marked 100 per cent. at the grounds, I attended the re-examination as requested at 2 o'clock and left at 5.30 o'clock after a show of unfairness to a number of entrants.

I with several other ladies waited in vain for our names to be called and when we tried to investigate the reason why they were not, we were told, they would be better pleased if we got out of the room. A doctor was approached and he said it was very unfortunate that these babies were not examined, but by this time the prizes had been awarded.

There is no doubt the error was caused, by the omission of calling several names, and although the lady responsible for this duty states emphatically that all the names were called. I will tell her once again, that qute a number were not and some few ladies left thoroughly disgusted with the whole affair.

Touching upon "Observer's" letter, birth certificates should have been shown, for I am absolutely certain when I state that one entrant was awarded a prize, who was much over the age limit.

There is no ill feeling over the awarding of the prizes, but in fairness to all, the babies who were requested to attend should have been examined.

There is no doubt the doctors worked hard, and a vote of thanks is due to them, but should the Exhibition Board decide upon another show, next year, they should endeavour to see that it is run on the square, for I feel certain that a duplicate of this last affair, will tend to decrease rather than increase the attendance.

Thanking you, Mr. Editor,
FAIR PLAY.

HEART MUSIC

A laugh is just like sunshine—
It freshens all the day;
It tips the peak of life with light,
And drives the clouds away.

The soul grows glad that hears it
And feels its courage strong;
A laugh is just like sunshine
For cheering folks along.

A laugh is just like music—
It lingers in the heart,
And where its melody is heard
The ills of life depart.

And happy thoughts come crowding
Its joyful note to greet;
A laugh is just like music
For making living sweet

MARTIAL LAW IN BULGARIA TODAY

Severe Fighting Continues and Scores Killed or Wounded.

LONDON, Sept. 20. — (United Press)—Martial law has been declared throughout Bulgaria as a result of the belated counter revolutionary movement started by the followers of ex-Premier Staboulisky, dispatches from Sofia said to-day.
Severe fighting is still under way and scores have been killed or wounded.

LONDON IS WATCHING ADRIATIC SITUATION

First British Lord High Admiral Arrives at Spalato.

ROME, Sept., 20.—(United Press) Italian circles see a subtile British diplomatic hint that London is watching the Adriatic situation, in the News that L. C. M. Amery, first Lord of the British Admiralty, has arrived, unheralded at Spalato, Jugo Slavia.
He came on the admiralty yacht, "Gyrony", the purposes of his visit is not disclosed.
Spalato is a Jugo-Slav port, midway up the eastern shore of the Adriatic.
The visit of a high British official to this desolate, isolated city may indicate concern in Whitehall over the Adriatic situation or may be a quiet warning to Italy that London is watching her.

REPORTS HENRY FORD QUITE NON-COMMITAL

MONTREAL, Sept. 20.—(Canadian Press).—"I am not running for or against anything, no one knows what he will do from one day to another," said Henry Ford to day when asked by a Herald representative if he would run for Presidency of the United States.
Mr. Ford is here on his way from Detroit to Seal Harbor, Maine, where his family has been spending some weeks. Mr. Ford declared that he was neither Republican nor Democrat, according to the reporter. "They will have to show me the difference before I affiliate with either party," said the millionaire. "They are both tarred with the same brush." In regard to prohibition in the United States and other places, he said the law ought to be obeyed. They should put an army and navy into it, he said, presumably referring to the enforcement of the law.

GROWING OPPOSITION TO UNION OF CHURCHES

TORONTO, Sept. 20.—(Canadian Press).—That there is a growing opposition throughout the Presbyterian Church in Canada to the action of the last General Assembly on the matter of Church Union, and to the proposed union legislation, was the substance of the report of the Dominion organization by Rev. W. C. Connell, which he presented at a meeting of the General Committee of the Presbyterian Church Association, in session on Tuesday and Wednesday of this week.
Representatives present from all parts of the Dominion who spoke at the meeting seemed unanimous in declaring that the tide of opposition to the union movement was rising within the Presbyterian Church.

PRESS IS IN NO HURRY TO DRAW CONDITIONS.

LONDON, Sept. 20. — (Canadian Press).—The press here is evidently in no hurry to draw conclusions from the official reports of the Baldwin-Poincare talk yesterday. Several of the leading journals refrain from comment entirely.
The Morning Post says the conversation was fruitful, and infers that the two countries will co-operate on representations, but the Daily News does not see how Britain can co-operate with France in a policy London has already condemned.

GERMANY PREPARES TO END ALL RESISTANCE.

LONDON, September 20. Canadian Press. — A Central News despatch from Berlin says that a long semi-official announcement was made to-day in the German capital to the effect that Germany is ready to negotiate on reparations, but conditionally upon the discharge of all those banished from the occupied area. The wording of the statement is very vague, says the correspondent, but it is generally interpreted as preparing for the ending of passive resistance.

Jugo-Slavia Willing For Fiume Occupation.

LONDON, Sept. 20. — (United Press)—According to a Belgrade dis patch to the Daily Express, Jugo-Slavia is reported as willing to approve of Italian occupation of Fiume allowing the Serbs to use the port, provided the Serbs are ceded the port of Porto Baros on the Fiume Delta.
This is received as a plausable solution of the present Italo-Jugo Slavian solution.

HEAD OF BREWING CO. ACCIDENTALLY KILLED

BRANTFORD, Sept. 20. Canadian Press. — After an all night search the body of Oscar Bixel, the head of Bixel Brewing and Malting Company, Brantford, was found today nine miles from this city with a gunshot wound in his breast.
Bixel went hunting yesterday and as he had not returned late last night, search was made for him. Indications are that he had been climbing over a fence when the gun discharged, and the shot lodged in his body. He had apparently lived for several hours.

GERMAN PUBLIC READY TO CEASE RESISTANCE

Capitulation to France Expected Any Moment, But Sharp Anti-Stresemann Campaign Has Started.

BERLIN, Sept., 20. — (United Press).—Detailed terms of the cabinet's decision to abandon passive resistance in the Rhur were eagerly awaited here to-day, as the Government struggled to maintain united front in Berlin.
It was considered likely, that the Reichstag will be summened to convene towards the end of next week. When it does convene verbal fire works over the Rhur, currency and other topics are expectted. From details already available it was known the new executive had decidedly "capitulative spirit" Chancellor Stressmann no longer insists on immediate restoration to Germany of the Rhur and Rhineland, anticipating capitulation by the public as well as the Government.
The inside re-actionaries, including representatives of 100 Fatherland leagues have begun a very sharp anti-government and anti-capitulation campaign, even suggesting a coup de etat should be attempted. The German Nationalist party had a lengthy session last night and condemned the capitulation idea, warning that it will mean virually slavery while the convention of the Fatherland group declared the nation ought to act rather than talk," meaning a coup de etat is necessary.
The situation demands a "National Dictatory" will full powers, the Fatherland groups declared.
Nationals claimed they have been informed the Reds are plotting early and serious action, against which the right wing elements must be prepared.

TWO ESKIMO MEN MAY BE HANGED ON OWN WORDS

Story of Dramatic Trial Which Followed Violent Deaths in Arctic Regions —White Men Blamed.

EDMONTON, Alta., Sept. 20.—Alik Omaik, 16-year-old Eskimo youth, of the uncivilized Copper Eskimoes of Prince Albert Sound, and Eskimo Tatamagama, an Eskimo man of more mature years, will be hanged at Herschel, Royal Canadian Mounted Police post in the Arctic Ocean, December 7, as the final act in an unprecedented drama of the Arctic, in which two white men were slain, several Eskimo men and women were put to death by violence and one Eskimo girl of four years strangled, rather than have her left a charge on the tribe after both parents had been done to death.

Recommended to Mercy

An aged woman, Ekootuk, medicine woman and sorcerer of the tribe, found guilty of manslaughter, was recommended to mercy by the jury of steamboat men, trappers and traders and will serve one year at the Herschel Island Post as prison. Ulipsi and Amokuk Male, concerned in the strangling of a "bad Eskimo," Ahkak, were found not guilty and were released.
The trail of blood and violence leads directly to the door of Otto Binder, white trader of the Coronation Gulf District, whose determination to possess an Eskimo girl desired in marriage by another Eskimo was the basic cause of the whole calendar of crime among a peaceful and peace-loving and uncontaminated, though uncivilized, tribe of Eskimos. Binder has already paid with his life.
Saddest of all in the story of human passions is the death of R. C. M. P. Corporal Doak, slain in executing his duty by the young Eskimo Omaik, following Omaik's arrest.
Judge Debuc of the Alberta courts and a stipendary magistrate for the Northwest Territory, who conducted the trial, with Irving B. Howatt, Edmonton barrister, who prosecuted, and the police escort under Sergeant Spriggs, must remain another week at Waterways, the boat having failed to make connections which would bring them into Waterways in time to catch the train for the city. T. L. Cory, of Winnipeg, counsel for the defence, is on his way out by the Alaska route.

Bishop's Story

The only eye-witness of the trials to reach the city by train from the Arctic is Bishop Lucas of Chipewyan. Church of England Bishop for the territories, whose charge reaches out from the Indians of Chipewyan to the furthest Eskimo tribes in the north and northeast. Bishop Lucas was making his annual tour of his vast pastorage and spent seven weeks at Aklavik and Herschel, being present at the Eskimo trials which extended from Monday, July 16, to Friday, July 20th. Bishop Lucas left the distributor at Fort Smith, hurried across the portage to Fitzgerald and just made the steamer Northland Echo, which caught the train at Waterways.
The trials at the Mounted Police barracks at Herschel were as quiet as they were unique. In the little barrack-room at the post, with but half of a dozen Eskimos as interested spectators, the two men, Omiak and Tatamagama, were tried and convicted.
Bishop Lucas comments particularly on the frank and honest evidence of all the Eskimos, and even goes so far as to say that so frank was the evidence of both accused men, who at one stage of the trials were alternately principal witnesses for the Crown and the accused persons, each giving evidence against the others as the roles changed, that each man practically convicted himself. The bishop thinks that had these been white men, there would not have sufficient evidence adduced to have warranted the conviction of either.
The death sentences were not announced by Judge Dubuc until some weeks after the conclusion of the trials, when the judge was ready to leave the island. Meantime, however, the gallows had been erected in the "Bone House" an old building used in earlier days by the whalers, for drying whalebone, and a grave had been dug for the reception of the bodies of any persons later hanged.

Took Gallows Too

The fact that the official hangman travelled with the judicial party and that material for the gallows was also brought along in the baggage of the party, created a bad impression throughout the Arctic, stated Bishop Lucas, and so strong was the feeling that residents on Herschel Island insisted that Special Constable Gill, the hangman, be removed to Aklavik to await the carrying out of his task.
The defense set up by Mr. Cory was not a denial of the facts, as these were admitted by the accused persons themselves. Mr. Cory's argument was that the time was not yet ripe to try Eskimo prisoners in the same manner as white men, since the uncivilized Eskimo is practically in the same condition as the early Briton of 2,000 years ago.
Whether the condemned men will hang on December 7 remains to be seen. Inspector Wood must wait word from Ottawa before he can authorize the executions to proceed, and with Judge Dubuc's report a week later than anticipated and the end of the northern season in sight it appears practically impossible that the hangings can be proceeded with until next year.

PETROGRAD IS LIKE AN EMPTY HOUSE

MONTREAL, Sept. 20.—(Canadian Press).—"The people in Russia may not be well dressed, according to the Canadian standard, but they have plenty to eat and lots of work to do."
This sums up the opinion of Sir Donald Mann, who has just returned from a visit to the Land of the Soviet, as to the situation in Russia today. Petrograd impressed Sir Donald as an empty house. It has only half its former population. The city is greatly run down, but repair work has begun on the streets and they are starting to build the houses.
In Moscow the situation is different, according to Sir Donald. Everything is active and business is good, new houses are being built, old ones repaired and new shops being opened. There is every variety of fruit and vegetables in abundance.
"While there is no lack of food the alcohol is very weak," added Sir Donald. "There is some native wine, claret and white wine, and there is also beer obtainable. The tea is excellent, the coffee not so good, but the bread and butter is fine."
Sir Donald spoke of the churches, and said they were crowded. The persecution of the clergy, he said, was due principally because they commenced propaganda against the existing Government.

In Chicago's high schools there are many beauties. Prettier than any, according to a committee of judges, is Miss Ruth Schreiber, 17. She was selected over hundred of other school girls in a high school contest.

THE SIZE OF YOUR HEART

It isn't the size of your house so much
That matters so much at all.
It's the gentle hand, it's the loving touch,
That maketh it great or small.
The friends who come, in the hour they go,
Who out of your house depart,
Will judge it not by the style you show—
It's all in the size of your heart.

It isn't the size of your purse so much
That matters so much to men.
It isn't the wealth that your fingers clutch—
It's the wealth that you give again.
It isn't the wealth that you win by day
In the street, in the busy mart,
It's only the gold that you give away—
It's all in the size of your heart.

It isn't the size of your house so much,
It isn't the wealth you found,
That will make you happy—it's how you touch
The lives that are all around.
For making money is not so hard—
To live life well is an art;
How men love you, how men regard,
Is all in the size of your heart.

IF YOU ARE INTERESTED—say so.
IF YOU ARE NOT—you should be.

SETTLEMENT OF DAMAGE CLAIM WAS RESENTED

Three Aldermen Censure Mayor for Exercising the Authority Given Him by Council.

CITY COUNCIL MET

The sessional atmosphere at the city hall was slightly ruffled last night, when Aldermen Crowe, Stocker and McIntyre undertook to censure the Mayor for settling the Hefferman claim for damages, under instruction from Council. These aldermen contended that the settlement effected by his worship was beyond the amount circumstances warranted.

This is a vexed question of long standing, arising out of elevating the sidewalk grade on Hunter street this side of the river to suit the new high-level bridge. The property affected lies on the south side of Hunter street, and on motion at last council meeting the Mayor was authorized to make the best settlement possible. The result is that Mayor Taylor agreed that the city shall pay damages to the extent of $1,150, and consequently the incident is closed.

Ald. Crowe characterized the settlement effected in his absence as beyond all reason, and the sentiments of disapproval he directed toward the Mayor were rather warm and at times reproachful. He found a ready supporter in Ald. Stocker, who declared the settlement within $150 of the property's assessment. "Why," the latter exclaimed, "the utmost selling value of the dwelling is $2,000."

Ald. Morrison reminded Ald. Stocker and Crowe that his worship had merely followed Council's authority—to which the former was a party—to reach his own conclusions in making settlement.

Ald. Crowe here interjected that he blamed Ald. Stocker and Council also for acquiescing in investing the Mayor with such decisive action.

Ald. Fife remarked that the Mayor had simply done his duty to the best of his judgment, and he could not see the sense in going over the whole ground again, hearing each other's views and getting nowhere. "We have not heard yet," he added, "that the city could have settled for less."

Mayor Taylor assured Council that not a dollar less was acceptable to the Heffernan estate, who were prepared to fight the case, which would have proved costly to the city.

Ald. McIntyre, also disapproving of the Mayor's settlement, said a committee should have enquired closely into the matter and reported. "That was my motion!" he recalled, "which was voted down."

Ald. Phelan found no reason to censure his worship for carrying out his instructions, and he reminded his colleagues of how costly arbitration proceedings and litigation are in such cases

By-laws Adopted

A by-law authorizing the City Trust to execute a quit claim deed to Douglas Joseph Lundy for the land on George street on which the former chicle factory stands passed its several readings. This property, report says, is to be transferred to T. C. Elliot for a knitting factory.

A by-law, fathered by Ald. Stocker and adopted, authorizes Council to construct the following sections of street pavement:

On Smith street from George to Water; on Water street tfrom Smith to G. T. R.; McDonnel street, from Aylmer to Reid; on Water street, from Brock to Dublin; on Water street, from Antrim to Smith; on Aylmer street, from McDonnel to Dublin street; on George street, from Romaine to Lansdowne; all as local improvements and under the provisions of the local improvement act.

Application by the medical fraternity that George street from Smith to Argyle be paved was sent to the Board of Works.

Locomotive Nuisance

His worship drew attention to a complaint by South city residents of the noise made by C. N. R. locomotive whistles; and on motion of Ald. Maher and Morrison, the company will be requested to have this nuisance curtailed as much as is practicable.

On motion by Ald. Fife and Stocker the question of desk room for F. H. Dobbin, secretary of Mothers' Allowance Commission went to the property chairman for action.

To Repair Boiler

On motion by Ald. Stocker, Ald. McIntyre, chairman of the property committee, was authorized to have the boiler in the city building repaired at a cost of $435. Twenty-five 3 inch by 10 feet tubes are to be replaced by the William Hamilton Co.

The city engineer is to report on the petition for a concrete sidewalk on Caddy street.

There were present Mayor W. H. Taylor, Aldermen M. J. Maher, R. Morrison, Joseph Crowe, Malcolm McIntyre, Walter Stocker, J. W. Meyers, J. O. Fife, W. T. Holloway, and Nagle Phelan.

Asks Divorce From Husband Who is on Long Silence Strike

SPOKANE, Wash., Sept. 21. (Canadian Press),— Because her husband has been on a silence strike for the last twenty years, Mrs. Nettie F. Hammerly asks divorce from Henry Hammerly.

Mr. and Mrs. Hammerly were married at Luverne, Minn., in 1889 and have ten children. Mr. Mammerly avers that her husband has refused to talk to her for the fifth of a century, except in cases of absolute necessity, and that they have carried on their conversations through their children.

UP GOES PRICE OF ANTHRACITE

Increases From 30 to 90 Cents on Domestic Sizes at Mines Announced Today.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., September 21. — Increases ranging from 30 to 90c a ton on the domestic sizes of anthracite coal at the mines were shown to-day in the new price lists of three large producing companies.

M. A. Hanna & Co., who operate the Susquehanna Collieries in the Wilkesbarre district announced an advance of 60c a ton on egg, stove, and chestnut sizes, while the new price of the Lehigh Coal and Navigation oC., will be $9.25 a ton instead of $8.35, and that of the Delaware and Hudson Co., $9, an increase of 70 cents. Increases on pea coal range from 30 to 50 cents a ton.

C. P. Waldron, General Manager of the Hanna Co., was quoted as saying that the increases in prices at the mines had been figured at the lowest possible figure to meet the advance in wages of the mine workers.

"I do not htink," he added, "that many of the retailers will add the entire increase to the retail prices."

ITALIAN GOVT. ORDERS EVACUATION OF CORFU

ATHENS, Sept. 21. — (United Press).—The Italian Government officially ordered the formal evacuation of the Island of Corfu, to start to-day.

Previously airdromes had been dismantled and munitions turned back from the island, which was seized by Italy as a punitative measure against Greece after the slaying of the Italian commissioners at Janina.

It is understood here that the order for the evacuation of Corfu as a result of the Greek apologies for the incident made when the Greek warship saluted the Italian flag and the Allies in the Bay of Phaleron and Greek Ministers attended the memorial services for the victims.

DEPUTATIONS WAIT ON THE WORKS BOARD

Trustee Board of Trinity Church Ask That Sidewalk on Rubidge Street be Widened.

START SEWER WORK

Council's Board of Works spent best part of an hour last evening clearing the business slate, preparatory to Council session at 8.30, and in hearing a couple of deputations seeking permanent improvements. Before adjourning the members were notified by chairman Ald. Walter Stocker that he proposed a start should be made next week in the outfall sewer necessary for the sewage disposal plant approved of by the Provincial Board of Health. To this the board agreed. All the council were present, excepting Ald. Mel. Turner.

Sidewalk Too Narrow

A deputation from Trinity Methodist Church, composed of J. M. Greene, W. C. Switzer and R. J. Kidd, interviewed the Board in regard to widening the sidewalk opposite the church on Rubidge street by two feet.

Mr. Kidd pointed out that Sunday congregations, leaving the church, find, the present 4-foot sidewalk congested, and it was hoped Council would extend it to passable width.

To the Mayor, Mr. Kidd replied that any extension decided on should be toward the street, for six or eight shade trees would be affected by widening the walk westward.

Mr. Greene emphasized that since Trinity Church had been built more pedestrians travelled the 4-foot walk running past its doors than on the five-foot walk on the east side of the street. He also complained of surface water lying boot-top deep over the side walk on the south side of Simcoe street extension each spring.

In reply to Mr. Greene's suggestion that the Rubidge street walk be extended two feet, Ald. Stocker explained that he was afraid the state of the board's finances would not allow of such expenditure this year.

City Engineer Parsons pointed out that at the locality in question, with a road only 33 feet wide there is already quite a sharp turn, and he would not advise narrowing the street by two feet for sidewalk extension. As to widening the walk westward, trees within a foot of the sidewalk's present limit seem to prohibit such a proposition. Regarding spring flooding the engineer stressed the absence of storm drainage to take care of that situation.

Ald. Morrison was decidedly opposed to narrowing the road for sidewalk extension, and Ald. Maher stressed the fact that were a permanent paved tarvia road built, pedestrians would find it good walking when the sidewalk was too crowded.

The board, which is composed of all the council, concluded to personally investigate the situation next Monday at one o'clock.

To Lay Sidewalk

On representation by J. J. Hartley, the board agreed to construct a concrete sidewalk up to the former Children's Shelter on the Hilliard property. Since the fire this shelter has been converted into three desirable dwellings, which are city property vested in the City Trust Commission, and in good

SHE WOULD NOT RECOMMEND MARRIED LIFE TO ANY GIRL

Oliver Belmont, President of the U. S. National Women's Party, Declares Statistics Indicate That Marriage is a Failure

COLORADO SPRINGS, Col., September 21 (Canadian Press). — Chiefly because "Marriage is a sort of slavery," Mrs. Oliver Belmont, of New York, president of the National Women's Party, who is here to preside over the Western States Conference, declared yesterday that she would not recommend marriage for any girl.

"I would not say so in so many words that marriage is a failure," she said, "but it seems to me that statistics speak for themselves."

Most of the opposition to the equal rights movement came from women of the "clinging vine type," Mrs. Belmont said. "Intelligent men are with us."

Modern economic conditions, she asserted, have much to do with the failure of marriage.

"Many girls have supported themselves before marriage, and after they feel that someone else is supporting them they become discontented. Marriage can only be successful when people marry sensibly. They should go into it with their eyes open.

"Men so often tire of a 'clining vine type.' They like intelligent girls best."

Mrs. Belmont opposed women smoking on economic grounds.

"Those who want to get ahead cannot afford to drug their brains."

FOUND DROWNED IN LITTLE LAKE

Believed Mrs. Matilda Latimer, Formerly of Fraserville, Jumped From George St. Wharf

Mrs. Matilda Latimer, 57, widow of the late James Latimer, formerly of Fraserville, was found drowned in Little Lake this morning. It is believed that she jumped from the George Street Wharf in the early hours of the morning.

At 7.10 a.m. a message was received at the Police Station to the effect that Mrs. Latimer was missing from her home since 2 a.m. She resided at 68 Aylmer Street with her daughter, and the message was sent by a neighbor. A. C. Mitchell, 78 Aylmer Street, who was called by Miss Latimer at 7 o'clock, went to George Street Wharf where he found the body at 7.25. Dr. D. C. King, assistant coroner, was called, and the remains taken to an undertaking parlor.

Loss By Fire.

Mrs. Latimer was bereaved of her husband about two years ago, and in the early spring of this year her farm in Fraserville district, leased to tenants, was completely destroyed by fire without insurance protection. These calamities, it is feared, preyed upon her mind. Mr. Mitchell said he went straight to the lake this morning as he thought that was what had occurred.

CHURCH ORGANIST AT 11.

LONDON (United Press).—Two years ago Frederick Ralph Huggins attended, with his mother, an organ recital at Albert Hall. He was then nine. The instrument captivated the child's imagination. He told his mother he would be an organist. At the age of 11 Frederick has been appointed organist of the Emmanuel Baptist Church, Trowbridge, Wiltshire.

OLD RESIDENT OF CITY DEAD

William H. Pendry, Prominent in Politics and Professions, Passed Away in Buffalo.

William H. Pendry, a former resident of Peterborough, who had a varied and successful career as lawyer, veterinarian, newspaper man and politician, died on Wednesday in Brooklyn. He was a guest here in August with his brother-in-law, Edward Courtney, Armour Road, after an absence from the city of 45 years, and spoke highly of the progress made by Peterborough during his absence.

Mr. Pendry was born in Cheltenham, England, in 1849 and came to this country in 1873. He was for a time reporter in the Times office here, but finaly settled in Brooklyn in 1879, where he resided until his death. His wife, predeceased him 20 years ago. His son, Bryer H. Pendry was born in Peterborough fifty years ago, and is the active head of his father's law firm. He is also Lieut. Colonel of the 13th Regiment of New York City, and served overseas during the war.

In 1881 the deceased took up the old family profession of veterinary medicine, receiving the degree of Doctor of Veterinary Surgery in 1883 He was twice president of the Alumni Association of his college and for a time filled the chair of veterinary jurisprudence and hygiene. He was twice elected president of the New York State Veterinary Medical Society.

Legalized Profession

Mr. Pendry was the author of the first bill that legalized his profession in the State. He drafted the first bill to regulate the extirpation of bovine tuberculosis in New York state and

KIWANIS CLUB HEARD HOW TO LEAVE A WILL

Mr. G. N. Gordon Reveals Some of the Trade Secrets of the Legal Profession.

A GOOD MEETING

How to make a will without the aid of a lawyer, was the subject of an interesting address by Mr. G. N. Gordon, K.C., M.P., at to-day's noon luncheon of the Kiwanis club. President J. A. McKone presided in his usual effective style. Guests today included Rev. O. Glyn H. Lloyd, Mr. John Ormsby of Lindsay and Mr. E. Erwood of Toronto.

A feature of to-day's gathering was the presentation of a fountain pen and pencil to Kiwanian Edgar Burnham who on Monday next will leave for Florida where he will make his future home. Mr. Burnham was taken by surprise when he was called to the front for the presentation honors. Kiwanian J. Wearing was a master of ceremonies and his remarks concerning Mr. Burnham's valuable relations with the club, were heartily endorsed by the members.

Expressing his regret at leaving the city Mr. Burnham said he would not like to say that he would never return to Peterboro. He was going to Florida because he had business interests there and the opportunities of the South appealed to him. Mr. Burnham gave some intersting statistincs concerning the citrus fruit industry of Florida and the present efficent means of marketing the crop. The climate is also a big factor in inducing people to locate there.

Making a Will

Dealing with the subject of will making Mr. Gordon said it was a simple matter for any person to make their will without the aid of a lawyer providing their intentions were clear and free of complications In the old days many wills were made by clergymen and doctors. To make a will a person must be twenty one years of age or over. The will must be in writing and bear the signature of two competent witnesses. It remains for the testator or testatrix to say in ordinary plain English what he wants done with his estate after death. Referring to insurance which is frequently represented in the assets of an estate with the result that when he died the creditors had first claim over the preferred class. By preferred class is meant the wife or other next of kin. If a man dies without a will one third of his estate goes to his wife and the other two thirds to his children. A will is automatically revoked by marriage. Any alteration to a will must be made in the presence of the two original witnesses and properly endorsed. The ordinary every day will is a very simple affair and may read as follows, "This is my last will and testament; I will to my wife (or son, etc.) my whole property." Then follows the neces-

COLLECT TOTAL TAX AT SOURCE

Tentative Draft of Plans for Collection of Sales Tax—Old Plan Discontinued.

Peterborough Chamber of Commerce has received a copy of the first draft of the regulations to govern the operations of the Sales Tax Act passed at the last session of Parliament. It is explained in connection with the draft that the regulations are of tentative nature and not final. They arise out of the provision in the budget of Hon. W. S. Fielding during the last session for the consolidation of the sales tax at a rate of six per cent. to be collected at the source instead of an assessment of two per cent. on both manufacturer and wholesaler, which at present is the rule.

An authority on the subject explains that on the old basis the total amount of sales tax collected often exceeded the 4½ per cent. set down to intermediate transactions, thus the revenue in some instances was greater than it had been the intention of the government to provide.

The result of this was the change in the sales tax which allows for the collection of six per cent. to be effected at the source in order that only the specified amount may be collected. The change in the method of collecting sales tax is effective at the beginning of next year.

Recovery of Refunds.

The most important feature of the new regulations provides for the recovery of refunds and reductions. This section provides that: "Licensed manufacturers or wholesalers who desire to make application for deduction of sales tax paid on materials on hand on the first day of January, 1924, in respect of goods which have been, are being, or are to be used in, wrought into or attached to articles are subject to sales tax, shall signify their intention of so doing in writing to the collector of customs on or before the first day of December, 1923, and shall submit an inventory in duplicate to the collector of customs and excise at the port in which the business is located, not later than March 31, 1924.

"Such inventory shall show a description of the goods and trade number, if any, and the quantity and value of each kind of goods, such value being the value upon which tax was actually paid. Each item shall be serially numbered. Goods in transit on January 1, 1924, upon which the tax was paid or payable shall be regarded as goods on hand."

It is further set forth that licensed manufacturers or producers or licensed wholesalers or jobbers must submit their claims on or before June 30, 1924. A regular form will be supplied by the department for these claims.

The regulations direct that deductions may be made from the tax returns of licensed manufacturers or producers for tax paid on materials used in the manufacture of goods sold during the period covered by the return. The deductions from licensed wholesalers' or jobers' tax returns may be made as the goods are sold. Another ruling is that in connection with claims for return of sales tax on goods bought for domestic consumption, but subsequently exported. "Claims for refund for tax paid on domestic goods exported shall be accompanied by a certified copy of customs export entry and proof of payment of tax. Claims shall not be allowed on goods sold or used for domestic consumption, and subsequently exported."

Returnable Retainers.

With regard to the computation of the sales tax a further regulation directs that—

"In respect to goods subject to sales or consumption tax sold by retail by the manufacturer or producer thereof in Canada, the value of the goods for the purposes of the tax will be determined by the minister of customs and excise in each class of goods.

"In respect to goods subject to consumption or sales tax sold or transferred by the manufacturer or producer thereof in Canada to his own wholesale houses, the value for the purpose of the sale tax shall not be less than the wholesale price."

The regulations also provide that

NO EDUCATION IS COMPLETE WITHOUT BIBLE

Study Explained and Urged Over Mere Reading—it is Not a Book of Magic, Says Dr. Morgan

STUDY METHODS

"No young man or woman can consider himself or herself well educated who knows nothing about the Bible. I speak not from a religious standpoint, but of a literary education," declared Dr. Campbell Morgan last night in addressing the usually large audience in George Street Church on "The Study of the Bible."

The speaker said three tests might be applied to books—how is the book accepted; how long does it live; and how far is it of sufficient human interest to demand translation into other languages? Applied to the Bible these tests show the Bible to outdistance every other book ever published. Referring to the romance of figures, the speaker said the British and Foreign Bible Society has been in existence only 119 years, but during that time it has circulated nearly 300,000,000 copies of the Bible, and the American sister organization has circulated nearly 200,000,000. "Where are your best sellers now?" demanded the speaker. "Some of the best sellers don't last long, thank God."

In the test of translation, Homer has been translated into just over 20 languages; Shakespeare into just over 40, and two books—Thomas A. Kempis' "Imitation of Christ," and John Bunyan's "Pilgrim's Progress"—had been translated into over 100 languages. The British and Foreign Bible Society is printing and circulating the Bible in 358 languages, and in their library they have copies of the Scripture, or parts of the Scripture, in over 700 languages. Of the 558 languages there were 300 that had no written form until it was created for the writing of the Scriptures.

The speaker told of the great work of the translators, describing the making of a written language as the most romantic thing in all literature. "If you don't know something about the Bible you are a back number," declared Dr. Morgan.

Bible Is Not Magic.

"By the rank and file of the Christian Church in all its branches the Bible is not being studied," continued the speaker. "It is being read and used, but not studied. Some people have Bibles in their homes and they may even attack higher critics. They tell us they find it useful — when they are in trouble they open the Bible and put their finger down and get help. That is juggling with the Bible; treating it as magic. I tried it once and my finger pointed to the story of Balaam and his ass.

"Some people treat the Bible as a book of texts, but listening to expository sermons on texts is not Bible study.

"Some people read every morning and night as instructed by a committee, but that is not Bible study."

Dr. Morgan said there are certain preliminary matters which must be given attention before a study of the Bible is commenced. The student must approach the study with an open mind and a devoted will. "The fundamental of a study of the Bible is that you come with an open mind, without prejudice for or against."

Absolute Authority.

Declaring the Bible to be God-

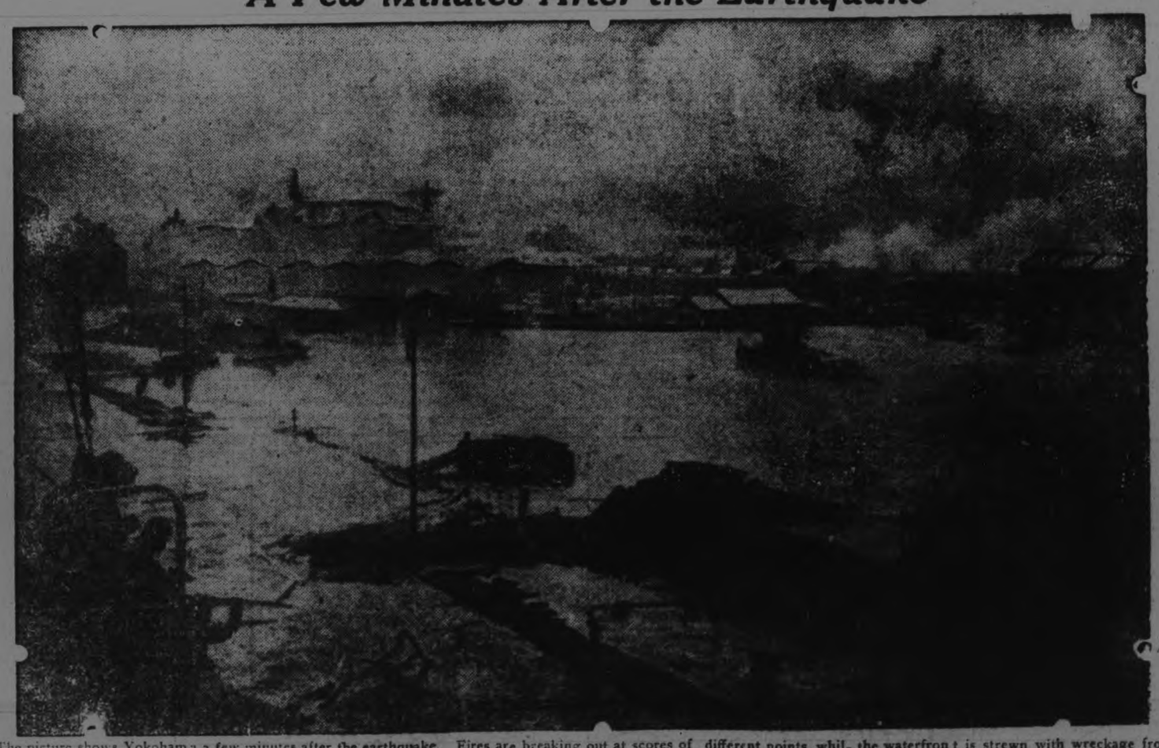
A Few Minutes After the Earthquake



The picture shows Yokohama a few minutes after the earthquake. Fires are breaking out at scores of different points, whil, the waterfront is strewn with wreckage from the collapsed dock in the foreground. The shattering of this dock threw a number of persons into the water.' This picture was taken from the custom house at the Canadian Pacific docks.

CHINA PAINTING
Mrs. Langley McCarthy Teaches Biscoffs' New and Beautiful Work in CHINA PAINTING

There is a lot of difference between a girl who is simply perfect and one who is perfectly simple.

The secret of happiness sometimes consisits of not knowing what other people think of us.

A woman rarely puts off till tomorrow what she can say today.

Efficient Housekeeping

The modern idea of economy extends into the household as well as into every branch of business. Most housewives pride themselves upon the fact that their homes are conducted in an efficient, business-like manner.

Every housewife knows, too, that the business of running a house, providing for the wants and needs of the different members of the family and meeting the almost daily emergencies is second to none.

The Want Ads. in the Examiner are a great boon to the efficient housewife. In securing helpers, in purchasing various articles of household equipment, disposing of discarded furniture, in fact in countless ways, the Want Ads. are the housewife's most valuable assistant.

GERMANY WILL NEVER RECOGNIZE LEGALITY OF RUHR OCCUPATION

Semi-official Statement Sets Forth Conditions For Successful Negotiations.

PRESS IS BITTER

BERLIN, Sept. 21.—A semi-official statement referring to reports current in Paris of possible Franco-German negotiations makes it quite clear that no practical results can be obtained without the restoration of normal economic activity in the Rhur, with amnesty and permission to those expelled to return and that the administration must be placed in the hands of German officials and freedom of traffic between occupied and unoccupied Germany restored.

The statement declares that such conditions would permit reparations payments, commencing with the evacuation of the Rhur, but that Germany can never agree to recognise in any form the legality of the occupation of the Rhur.

Belgium Meditates.

That Belgium is attempting to meditate in the Rhur conflict is admitted at the Foreign office, where it is stated, the Belgian Minister has been a frequent caller of late and has candidly discussed the situation with Chancellor Stressmann in what is considered to be something more than a merely informal manner.

The Geramn Government also is reported as being prepared to offer France an early, if not immediate, cash payment in the event of its plan of hypothecating German properties is accepted as a basis for new reparations. In such case, it was stated, the Government would be in a position by virtue of its lien on the holdings of industrialists banks, commerce and agriculture to mobilze sufficient ready cash to appease the French demand for something tangible at the earliest possible date, as it was Germany's desire to give concrete evidence of her good faith as soon as the Rhur conflict was adjusted.

Press Recriminations.

Now that reparations and the Rhur are again topics of formal conversations between Great Britain and France, and a decisive turn in the Rhur deadlock is likely to occur, the Berlin editors are indulging in the familiar recriminations respecting capitulation.

"Rather a breach with France than surrender of our honor by capitulation on the Rhur," says the Kreutz Zeitung, which charges inasmuch as he was continually emphasising Germany's inability further to finance passive resistance.

Vorwaerts declares: "The manner in which Rhur credits are squandered suggests a Panama affair of monstrous proportions."

That the Rhur and Rhineland industrialists are heavily indebted to the Government in this connection is asserted by the Vossische Zeitung.

BRODEUR RESIGNS SUPREME COURT

Denies Succession to Quebec's Lieutenant-Governor.

OTTAWA, Ont., Sept. 21. — (By Canadian Press).—Hon. Louis Philipps Brodeur stated to- night that he has handed in his resignation as Judge of the Supreme Court of Canada. He has taken the step, he said, on account of ill-health.

Asked as to romur that he would succeed Sir Charles Fitzpatrick, whose five-year term as Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec expires on October 21, Mr. Justice Brodeur replied:

"There is nothing in tha."

Mr. Justice Brodeur was appointed to the Supreme Court bench in August 1911. He was during four successive parliaments dating from 1891, member in the House of Commons for Rouville and under the premiership of Sir Wilfrid Laurier held the portfolio respectively of Inland Revenue and of Marine and Fisheries. In 1907 he was one of the Canadian delegates to the Imperial Conference at London, and with the Right Hon. W. S. Fielding, the present Minister of Finance, he negotiated the first Franco- Canadian commercial treaty

DISORDERS IN BULGARIA OF SOVIET ORIGIN

Communistic Plot Inspired From Moscow Revealed—Few Casualties Reported.

NO REVOLUTION

PARIS, Sept. 20.—The Bulgarian Legation in Paris denied to-day the existence of any revolutionary movement in Bulgaria. The Legation suggested the reports of the attempt to overthrow the Government, contained in Belgrade advices Wednesday, arose over the searches made in some remote Bulgarian villages after the arrest on September 12 of a number of Communists found to be in touch with the Russian Soviet Government. Disorders broke out at that time between the police and civilians, during which some casualties occured. An official telegram received late last night by the Legation said that the killed number only three or four and the wounded about a dozen.

A WESTPORT BULL DRUNK FOUR DAYS

PORT HOPE, Sept. 21.—The story comes from Westport near Kingston that a farmer near that village made a few gallons of "home-brew," not so much for his stomach's sake as for his pocket's sake, and left the mess in a cooler out in the back yard. While in this stage the farm bull came along and the odor of the seductive fluid attracting him to the danger spot, the attraction, as in the case of many a two-legged animal, being too strong to be resisted. He tasted and drank on until the whole of the contents of the cooler was in his stomach, with th einevitable consequences. When the farmer came along some time later he saw an empty cooler and a bull lying prone on the ground motionless and helpless, whether dead or not was not then apparent. For four days the bull lay there without change, and then it staggered to its feet, showing that it had not been dead, but only dead drunk.

ENLARGED PETITIONS RE THE HOME BANK

TORONTO, September 20. Canadian Press. — In enlarging until Oct. 5th the hearing of three petitions to wind up the Home Bank of Canada Mr. Justice Fisher to-day urged despatch on the part of the curator in preparing the report on which he is now engaged.

"The curator's report should be ready as soon as possible, as the whole matter is one of public interest," said His Lordship.

The opinion is expressed among counsel that when the curator's report is prepared it will be of such a nature that a Royal Commission for public investigation of the conducting of the bank will be demanded.

Fires at Threshing Wipe Out Two Farmers' Crops and Stock

LINDSAY, Sept. 21.—The number of barn fires in this section during the past several weeks has been increased by two which occurred on the borders of Victoria county within the past week.

Mr. A. Serple, who resides on the Amey Estate in Brock, lost his barn along with the season's crop, threshing machine, several head of stock, etc. The thresher belonged to Mr. Lillico and had just been placed preparatory to commencing threshing. The loss is a heavy one to the estate and also to Mr. Serple, as there was very little insurance carried.

Mr. Alex McDougall, who lives near Argyle, in this county, lost his barn on Tuesday last during threshing operations. The straw caught fire over the pig pen, where it was being blown in, and in less than three minutes the whole barn was in flames. Besides the barn, Mr. McDougall lost a valuable bull, 17 pigs, 100 hens and a manure spreader. Six other small buildings out from the barn were also destroyed, together with a grain separator, the property of a neighbor.

The barn was partly covered by insurance. The men in the mow had a narrow escape, The fire was burning for some time before it was discovered and they were obliged to jump for their lives.

NOTHING IN WAR LIKE HORRORS OF THE QUAKE

First Refugee to Reach Montreal Crawled Out of Heaving Office.

A DREADFUL DOWN

MONTREAL, September 21.—The first refugee from the recent earthquake in Japan to pass through Canada arrived here to-day in the person of Major M. H. C. Brackley, advisor to the Imperial Japanese Naval Air Service. He stated that in his war service he had seen nothing like the Japanese horror.

Major Brackley was standing in the offices of the Japanese Navy Department at Tokio at exactly noon when suddenly there came the tremendous shock. The whole face of the earth seemed to move, first vertically and then horizontally, in real earth waves. He with hundreds of others who were in the building, unable to keep their feet, crawled out on all fours. "Then we saw fires breaking out in all directions. The second shock came soon after I got out of the building and it was eevn worse than the first. There were terific rumblings and thunders coming from below the earth, while the whole surface was quaking and we could see great buildings toppling in every direction. The whole effect was so terrible that people could hardly keep their senses. I do not know that the war produced anything more terrible. I know Europeans who chopped off their legs in frenzy with axes being pinned under falling buildings, and others who met an equally awful fate, but the whole thing was such an inferno that no one could imagine a fragment of its horrors."

Major with other refugees walked the twenty miles to Yokohama until they encountered the huge oil tank explosions of the Standard Oil and the rising Sun Oil Companies, with burning oil rushing in all directions. They escaped by taking the higher ground.

Dawn over Yokohama presented a spectacle of everything wrecked, burned, dead or dying. At that city they were cut off from the sea by burning oil, but finally succeeded in getting through to the Empress of Australia, on which there were easily 6,000 people crowded.

PRIZE WINNERS IN CORN CONTEST

Results of Competition in Campbellford — Bright Prospects for Fair.

CAMPBELLFORD, Sept. 21.—D. English of Burkton, departmental judge, has completed his judging of the ensilage corn grown by the farmers who entered the competition put on by the Seymour Agricultural Society. The winners, in order of merit, are as follows: A. H. McKelvie, Campbellford; Lorne Evans, Norham; Roy Walker, Campbellford; W. A. Wynn, Campbellford; E. A. McCook, Campbellford; Garnet Curle, Campbellford; Charles Bonnycastle, Campbellford.

Messrs. Curle and Bonnycastle were also among the winners when the oat crop was judged some time ago.

The ensilage corn crop in this district is far below the average but there is no danger of a scarcity of feed as the yield of hay was excellent. Corn is a crop that usually flourishes when the weather is warm and dry but this year there was an excess of heat and drought just at the most critical stage of the corn's existence.

Offers Special Prize

Charles Macoon has offered a special prize of $5 to be divided into three awards of $2.50, $1.50 and $1, to the boy under 17 years of age who at the Fair next week proves himself the best judge of dairy cattle of the Ayrshire breed. There are a number of boys who have been familiar with this type of cattle all their lives and here is an excellent chance for the young fellows to display their knowledge.

Prospects For The Fair

The directors of the Fair which will be held on Thursday and Friday of next week, are gratified by the prospects for a successful show. Secretary Stone says the number of entries so far this year are ahead of the record. Over 100 cattle have been entered for competition in the various classes to date. These include Ayrshires, Holsteins, Jerseys, Herefords and Durhams. The first three classes are all of the milking type and the two last mentioned will be beef animals.

The horse races, always popular here, has attracted all the best horses in this section of Ontario and the track is in excellent condition.

The new rest-room for ladies has been completed and it is a comfortable place in which lady visitors to the Fair can take care of their children when the little ones become tired out by the excitement of strange surroundings.

Enters New Business

EMPIRE TRADE EMIGRATION AND DEFENSE MAJOR PROBLEMS FOR BRITISH NATION'S CONFERENCE

Canada's Delegation Expected to Press for More Direct Methods of Consultation and Communication of Information — Premier Keeps own Counsel.

POLICY NOT KNOWN

(By George Hambleton, Canadian Press Staff Correspondent)

OTTAWA, September 21. — Premier King left early this morning for Quebec whence he will sail on the Montcalm in the evening to attend the Imperial and Economic Conferences. In London he will meet Sir Lomer Gouin, Minister of Justice, and the Hon. George P. Graham, Minister of Railways, who, with Mr. King and technical advisers will comprise the Canadian delegation.

Both conferences meet on 1st October, the Imperial Conference proper considering such questions as foreign policy, national defence, constitutional relations, and the like; the Economic Conference dealing more particularly with questions of trade and Empire development.

As the conferences approach, the economic side seems to be assuming an increased importance. World events and developments in foreign affairs may exert considerable influence within the next few weeks, but there is a feeling that it is in the economic field—in arrangements for the improvement of Empire trade and in the development of Empire settlement — that the conferences are likely to be productive of effective results, although consideration of Empire defence will hold first rank at the main Imperial Conference.

Armed With Data.

Masses of data have been collected for the use of the Canadian delegation. For weeks past experts have been at work, gathering, sifting. The material touches on all phases of the agenda; and from various quar-

COMPETITION IN EFFICIENCY

WINNIPEG, Sept. 21.—(Canadian Press). — Grain producers of Western Canada are marketing their.... products in an increasingly large volume, and returns received from the local railway offices today show a heavy increase as compared with the corresponding figures of last year. Marketing on the Canadian Pacific Railway for Tuesday and Wednesday aggregated 8,082,063 bushels, while 2,771,000 bushels were marketed on Canadian National lines on Wednesday. For the two days, Canadian Pacific loadings totalled 2,824 cars, and for Wednesday 1,408 cars were loaded at Canadian National points.

The grain is moving forward to the head of the lakes in increasing volume, and the Canadian National Railways has dispatched several 70 and 80-car trains from the terminals here.

PEACE RECEDES IN YEAR OF GLOOM AND MENACE WRITES LLOYD GEORGE IN NEW BOOK

Predicts Poincare's Policy on Reparations Will Yield France Less Than the Plan of 1922.

DISCUSSES THE RUHR

LONDON, Sept. 21. — Europe as viewed from outside No. 10 Downing Street is a sad spectacle indeed, and is going from bad to worse, in the eyes of David Lloyd George, who, in a 300-page book entitled: "Is It Peace?" to be published September 28, reviews the whoe ambit of the present European problems, the Rhur predominating, comments thereon in the vigorous style, replete with sonorous metaphor, which is characteristic of his writings.

The book is an amplication of the former premier's recent articles, with a preface in which the author says it has not been necessary for him to revise any of the estimates of the various institutions he has made from time to time. He is convinced that peace has gone back, perceptibly and unmistakeably.

Up to 1923, say the ex-premier, each year after the end of the great war showed a distinct improvement over its predecessor, but " the present year has been one of growing gloom and menace; the international temper is distinctly worse all around.

Lloyd George says Europe's patched up peace pacts will leave the Continent in a more precarious plight than ever but he is still hopeful that the settlement will be left to the diplomatists and not to the "gunmen."

The Rhur situation particularly receives the ex-premier's attention. He is confident that the program of his government for getting reparations from Germany was the only one possible of fulfillment and he continues to demand full publicity for the British proposals submitted to the Allied Conference of August, 1922, which he says were substantially accepted by all the Allies with the exception of France.

"Poincare refused to agree and his refusal alone rendered the conference fruitless," says Lloyd George. "Over a year has elapsed since then. He has pursued a different policy, and so far it has brought him nothing. I am bold enough to predict that in the future it will bring France considerably less than the 1922 plan would have yielded.

"If Poincare is out for reparation, his policy will inevitably fail in comparison with that he so rashly threw over, but if he is out for trouble it has been a great success and in the future it will be an even greater triumph for his statesmanship. The permanent garrison in the Rhur has possibilities of mischief which it does not require any special vision to foresee."

Lloyd George's concludng sentences in the preface of the book are: "Peace can only be restored by full recognition of the equities as well as the humanities — of the humanities as fell as the equities. I have sought in these pages to deal fairly with both.

ELECTRIFY C. N. R. AND CONNECT WITH COBOURG

PORT HOPE, Sept. 21.—The Toronto and Eastern are hard at work between Oshawa and Bowmanville replacing ties. The entire road between Bickering and Bowmanville will have to be re-tied. Two large track gangs, as well as a large bridge gang, under the supervision of Engineer W. B. Wass, are putting the right-of-way into shape. The old Canadian Northern line will be linked up with the T. and E. at Bowmanville and electrified to Cobourg, with a connecting link with the same road at Pickering.

TO TRY DE VALERA AT AN EARLY DATE?

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Eamon De Valera and some of the other leading Irish Republicans will be brought to trial at an early date, according to a report in Dublin quoted by the Daily Mirror. The newspaper adds that De Valera is being continually removed from one military prison to another in order to avoid the possibility of an attempt at rescue.

OUR COAL SUPPLY.

The greatest difficulty in getting Ontario people to interest themselves in Alberta coal and in the desirability of this Province making itself independent of the United States mines for its fuel is the fact that the strike is over and the anthracite miners are back at work.

Like most folks, we do not look very far ahead.

Most of us cannot see beyond the fact that with the strike at an end there is little likelihood now of an acute shortage of anthracite during the winter.

And satisfied with that outlook the need of looking elsewhere for fuel appears to have grown very small.

Were there an emergency now and the Pennsylvania coal impossible to obtain it can be imagined how wild a rush there would be to secure the Western article.

The present efforts to establish an Ontario market and to secure a cheaper freight rate would have the unanimous support of the people of the Province under such conditions.

They should have it now—if enough citizens would look at the matter from a broad standpoint.

Canadian coal for Canadians is a slogan that should be emphasized.

If the West can supply us with an ample quota of good quality coal then there should be an united effort to have the transportation cost trimmed down as low as possible.

What if there is plenty of anthracite now, for there may not be next year, and it is necessary to plan for the future.

PUT ONTARIO ON THE MAP.

The Minister of Agriculture for the Province has announced the intention of the Ontario Government to inaugurate a more ambitious and more vigorous policy in regard to immigration.

This promise should be gratifying to the people of Ontario generally, and to the farmers in particular.

The farms of the Province have never been so short of labour, save perhaps during the war, as they are at the present time.

Apparently the supply cannot be obtained in the cities of Ontario, for it has been proven that the majority of men even at a period of acute unemployment refuse to accept farm work as a way out of the difficulty.

The only course open then, if the farmers are to be provided with the help that they need, is to endeavour to attract to this Province British farm labourers of the right calibre, and that cannot be done by simply sitting down and waiting for them to come.

Ontario, particularly rural Ontario, has not been very successful in recent years in securing an adequate share of this class of immigrant, and it is evident that the fault lies to a great extent in the fact that our efforts have neither been energetic nor enthusiastic.

Hon. Mr. Martin proposes to put Ontario on the map in the British Isles, and to see to it that henceforth the claims of the Province for consideration are set forth vigorously enough to attract attention.

It is work worth while, and Ontario will wish the Minister of Agriculture every success.

VALUABLE PUBLICITY.

The fact that Peterborough has four baseball teams competing in various series of the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association tomorrow, three of them in the final championship round, is splendid publicity for this city, for Peterborough will be before the public in a way that could not be effected by any other means.

A reputation as a live sporting town is a very useful reputation to obtain, for it is generally recognized that a good sporting town is a good business town.

Manufacturers like to locate in such a centre, for they know their employees will be glad to remain—and continuity of labour is something every industrial concern seeks to obtain.

Community spirit is developed in a town of that kind because successful sporting organizations in competition with those of other places form a rallying point for loyalty and civic pride.

The health of a community is likewise improved under such circumstances, it being accepted as an axiom that the more people who take part in and take an interest in athletics the higher is the health standard.

For these reasons, as well as for their own fine records, the members of the various Peterborough ball teams who tomorrow will spread the name of their home city far and wide deserve general thanks and generous support.

There is no "whisper of death" in a city that can produce such organizations.

THE ACCOMPLISHMENT OF BRITAIN.

Premier Baldwin addressed the bankers and merchants of London. In his address he gave facts and figures that show the serious way in which Britain addressed herself to the task of cutting her peace-time garment according to the cloth on hand, says the London Advertiser.

Expenditure has been decreased from £2,000,000,000 a year to but little over £800,000,000. Or in our money, and in lesser terms, Britain is spending $2 where she previously spent $5.

The staff of Government offices has been so reduced that there are now only 10 per cent. more on the payroll than before the war. And this in spite of the fact that the work has been enormously increased through the handling of pensions and numerous other war claims and details.

Nearly half of Britain's income is taken up in paying interest on debt, yet in three years the public debt has been reduced by £450,000,000. The floating debt was £1,500,000,000; it is now £800,000,000.

Britain has paid off all her foreign war debt, with the exception of that owing to United States. She paid £20,000,000 to Japan, £25,000,000 to South America, and £25,000,000 to Canada.

Britain has balanced her budget and established a sinking fund.

Through all those figures there stands out one thing above the others, viz., the sense of honor and responsibility that seems to be uppermost in the mind of British public men.

It is not a popular thing for a Government to cut and prune; to do that means to offend the office seeker and the applicant for Government money. A Government is more popular with the masses when it is spending money freely.

What a lesson Britain could read to every Council, Provincial or Federal Government in Canada.

Britain could have drifted deeper into debt, sacrificed her independence, and allowed her people to go on carrying a great load that would have impeded their every movement.

Britain did no such thing. She came down to the level of her ability to pay. She practised the economy we love to preach. It is just such accomplishments as the above that have kept the name British clean and made it a power for what is best and most honorable in world or domestic dealings.

THE IMPERIAL CONFERENCE.

Mr. King will have abundant opportunity to indicate at least what he thinks to be the mental attitude of the Canadian people. We in this country are confronted with a situation quite different from that which we faced when last compelled to take a stand in peacetime on the question of Imperial defence. Then the British Government was appealing to "the cubs of the lion" to come to the help of the threatened Mother Country who saw a growing menace rising across the North Sea. It was the thrust of a "spear point" at the heart of the Empire which was feared and which must be parried.

Canada responded with the gift of three capital ships. The dangor proved to be more real and imminent than the British Government as a whole believed (Lord Roberts knew, it will be recalled), and very soon we were contributing—not ships—but our best blood to stop the rush of the Hun. We stopped him. We broke the power of the Hun; and today there is no danger across the North Sea.

The danger, according to the centres of intelligence in London, is on the outer marches. Great Britain is not asking contributions today; she is giving them. She sees peril on the horizon for Australia and New Zealand, and she proposes to plant a great sea-base at Singapore which will enable the Imperial Navy to throw a shield over these Sister Dominions of ours. To say that she is doing this because she wants to, is only to say that Great Britain is recognizing the unity of the Empire—one for all and all for one. To say that she profits by it, is a very dubious statement; and only means—if true—that, like the rest of us, she finds advantage in membership in the Empire. If the Empire were unprofitable all-round, it would infallibly fall to pieces.

* * * *

But the point is that Great Britain is spending her money now, defending—not the British Islands—but the Overseas Dominions. So far as we are invited to help at all, we are invited to join in a policy of defending communities which bear precisely the same relation to the Empire and to us as we do to the Empire and to them. For Canada to stand absolutely aloof would be to say to Great Britain that we are wholly indifferent to the defence of the Overseas Dominions, of which we ourselves are one.

We have, of course, another connection with this enterprise. We are a Pacific Ocean people. Our ports of Vancouver and Victoria are among the most important on that sea. Our ships are the best that plough its waters. Viscount Grey gave it as his opinion that, if any war arose which called Singapore into action, it would be a war which would draw the United States to the side of the British Empire—a race war. If he is right, then how could Canada remain indifferent to a struggle into which her next-door neighbor felt it necessary to plunge.

Mr. King could very easily make it known by some gesture of friendly co-operation that Canada appreciated this solicitude for the safety of the Overseas Dominions and joined with Australia and New Zealand in preparing to meet any peril that might arise in the Pacific. The last thing the British people would expect is that we should give out of our empty pockets. But we could spend a little Canadian money in Canada and send some tall Canadian timber to Singapore, and possibly some strong Canadian steel. Or we could establish an oil-base in British Columbia—Canadian money spent in Canada—which would strengthen the power of the fleet to defend Canadian ports, should the need arise.

We can do many things out of our poverty—poverty of purse but not poverty of heart.—Montreal Star.

TORONTO CATTLE.

TORONTO, September 21. — There was a very light market yesterday, with only a few fresh cattle offering. These were speedily cleaned up at good, steady prices, together with what few remaining odd mixed lots of cattle were left over from the earlier markets. There as practically no change in prices from Wednesday's quotations.

A telegram received yesterday from Winnipeg to the H. P. Kennedy Company would seem to indicate that there will be comparatively few Western stocker and feeder cattle coming to Toronto and eastern markets in the next few weeks. The telegram notified the firm that no stocker cattle would be shipped east next week, except on definite order. None would be sent on speculation, for the reason that Toronto prices were now below the prices in Winnipeg.

Returns from cattle shipped from Winnipeg over the border to St. Paul this week showed an average of half a dollar higher than Toronto prices for the same class of cattle. There was a good inquiry for feeders in Toronto market this week, but the offerings were light, and under present marketing conditions it is hardly likely that the Ontario farmer can look to the West to build up his stock for feeding purposes.

H. P. Kennedy Company sold a couple of loads of Western cattle, one load butchers, 1,100 pounds, at $6.50, and one load mixed cows and heifers, from $4.50 to $6.00.

Union Stock Yards.— Receipts yesterday: 7 cars, 77 cattle, 16 calves, 138 hogs, 116 sheep and lambs. The cattle receipts included two cars of Western stock:

WINNIPEG CATTLE.

WINNIPEG, Sept. 21.—(Canadian Press)—Receipts: 1,840 cattle and calves; 580 hogs and 130 sheep and lambs. The cattle market displayed a weaker undertone this morning with prices ranging from barely steady to 25 cents lower.

The hog market was unsettled. A few thick smooths sold at $10.75, but packers were bidding $10.30, or 50c below the close of yesterday.

The sheep and lamb market was firm. Lambs sold from $11.00 to $11.25 and sheep from $6.00 to $7.00.

MONTREAL PRODUCE.

MONTREAL, Sept. 21.—(Canadian Press)—Prices were advanced one cent per bushel in the local oats market today. There were no further developments in the flour market. A very firm feeling prevails in the millfeed market, but trade in rolled oats was quiet. There were no special features about the baled hay market. The egg market is very firm. A fair trade is passing in potatoes. There was a quiet market in butter while the tone was firm and steady in cheese.

CHICAGO WHEAT ADVANCED.

CHICAGO, September 20.—Wheat scored a material fresh advance in price here to-day largely as a result of the fact that the Winnipeg market was strong notwithstanding big rural deliveries. Chicago closing quotations were unsettled, 3-4 to 1¼c net higher with December $1.03 3-4 to $1.03 7-8 and May $1.09¾. Corn finished 7-8c to 1 3-8c up; oats at 1-8c to 1-4c, grain and provisions varying from 2c decline to a rise of 12c.

Obstinate resistance which the wheat market here has shown against recent selling pressure, gave bulls an initial advantage that was enhanced by talk of an early settlement of the differences between France and Germany, and by gossip about Washington plans for farm relief measures.

Reports of snow and rain in the Canadian northwest tended also to lift values, but the chief focus of attention was the evident upward tendency of Winnipeg quotations,despite the fact that Canadian farmers were delivering about 5,000,000 bushels every 24 hours, a total considerably more than was the case a year ago.

It was explained that so far the huge deliveries of wheat in Canada had proved to be no burden because the growers were retaining ownership to a large extent by taking storage tickets. In addition much of the wheat held in Canada was said to be to apply on previous sales owing to the smallness of the Canadian old crop carry on. On the other hand the independent strength of the corn market here also was more or less effective as a stimulus to wheat values.

Wet weather unfavorable for maturing the new corn crop, especially in fields damaged by frost, was chiefly responsible for lifting the corn market. Oats were firmed with other grains.

Provisions averaged higher as a result of an upturn in hog values.

CHICAGO CATTLE MARKET

CHICAGO, September 20. — Cattle receipts 11,000; generally steady bulk beef steers and yearlings $9.00 to $11; top matured steers $13.25; best yearlings $13; desirable heifers and canners steady to strong, other grades she stock steady; yealers to packers $13.25 to $13.50, outsiders paying upward to $14; stockers and feeders weak to 15c lower; bulk $6 to $7.50.

Hogs, receipts, 25,000; opened 5c to 10c higher; good weighty butchers, 10c to 20c higher at the close; bulk good and choice 170 to 240 pound average, $8.65 to $8.85; top $8.85; desirable 250 to 325 pound butchers $8.35 and $8.60; packing sows $7.40 and $7.65; few desirable strong weight killing pigs $6.75 and $7.25; estimated holdover 14,000.

Sheep, receipts, 32,0000; fat lambs steady to 15c higher; cull natives and sheep steady; feeding lambs steady to easier; natives $13.50 to $13.65; a few to city butchers upward to $14.10; fat 110 pound two year old wethers $9.40; best fat ewes around 118 pounds $6.50; feeding lambs $13.25 to $13.50.

EGG PRICES FIRM.

OTTAWA, Sept. 21.—(Canadian Press)—The movement out of storage to supply current trade requirements is steadily increasing. Receipts of fresh are light and prices very firm. Some further shipments of eggs from the prairie provinces are arriving Toronto and Montreal.

Toronto firm, specials 48, extras 44 to 45, firsts 39, seconds 32 to 33.

Montreal steady, specials 47 to 48, extras 40, firsts 35, seconds 30. Further exports enquiry reported.

RAILWAY EMPLOYEES MEETING AGREEABLE

Canadian Brotherhood Convention In Calgary

CALGARY, Sept. 21.—(Canadian Press)—The biennial convention of the Canadian Brotherhood of Railway Employees had not developed anything to indicate that there was any internal trouble whatever, according to a statement made today by President A. R. Mosher. He said that everything was proceeding along in the most harmonious lines.

At the present time he said, committee reports dealing more particularly with amendments to the constitution of the organization being dealt with. A number of amendments from various locals and officers regarding the internal functioning had been submitted.

Mr. Mosher said that he did not know when the election of officers would take place.

From what can be gathered in a general way the probabilities are that the convention will be in session until Saturday night.

GRAIN ACTIVITY ONLY BEGINNING

Present Delivery of 1,000 Cars a Day May be Doubled.

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Sept. 21. Immense though activity may be along the waterfront in the opening days of the grain clearances, only an indication may so far be gleamed of the expected variety when the Fall trade is at its height. About one thousand cars a day are being delivered to elevators in both ports daily and this number will be doubled before the month is out. All elevators are cleared for action and have practically doubled their staffs over the summer time estimates, about 1,600 being carried on the rolls. To-day thirteen ships are loading at the elevators. Seven are on the way.

New storage space will be available next month. The western terminal addition, Fort William, is to be completed by October 1, says J. H. Irwin. Bawlf and Stewart elevators will be ready later in the Fall together with the Richardson addition but all will participate in the handling of some part of the crop this year.

Railways say their system of car clearancee here is wonderfully efficient compared with a year ago. The Canadian National Railway Neebing yards are partly responsible together with the improvements in the Canadian Pacific line and sorting yards.

There is probably less unemployment in Fort William to-day than at any time in the past six years.

IN TWENTY YEARS

"HE was only a little morsel of humanity one year old when I took out a 20-year endowment policy in the Mutual Life of Canada for him. It seemed a long way ahead then—it doesn't seem far looking back over those 20 years now.

"But the other night, when he came to me in the den, where I sat reading, it struck me very forcibly that my boy had grown into a man. He fairly towered above me where I sat in my lounging chair.

"'Father,' said he, 'can you lend me $1,000?'

"'What do you want with $1,000?' I demanded in surprise.

"It seems he had an opportunity of entering a motor agency and garage business with some other young fellows whose fathers I knew well as successful business men. I looked up the date of the Mutual Life policy before I gave my answer.

"'Yes,' I said. 'I will have $1,000 for you on your 21st birthday—a little coming-of-age present from your mother and me.'

"Do you know, it was a wonderful satisfaction to be able to say that!"

Agonising! weakening!

Before finding a remedy in Zam-Buk, many piles sufferers say that they hardly knew where to put themselves for the agonising, itchy, burning pain. Loss of blood made others so weak and ill that they despaired of ever being well again.

But inflammation, pain and swelling vanish under the influence of herbal Zam-Buk that is why it is such a fine soothing remedy for ulcers, abscesses, piles, boils, eczema, ringworm, poisoned wounds, burns, scalds, etc.
